MONETARY TIMES DISCUSSES MORATORIUM

"What has been the effect of the moratorium in Manitoba? That question is being asked by investors and by the heads of companies placing large investments in the province. From inquiries made by The Monetary Times, many hold the opinion that the moratorium has not protected anybody except the speculator. As conditions for him are steadily growing worse, he will probably wish some day, as one observer says, 'that he had taken his medicine early in the course of the disease and had perhaps by this time recovered from its effect.' One of the worst features of this moratorium legislation is that it is preventing the reconstruction of titles. The sooner speculative properties fall into the hands of strong men the better. Bolstering up weak and speculative holders and postponing the day when necessary action will be taken to dispossess them, will only aggravate the evil and put off the restoration of normal conditions. As to the farmer and workingman getting protection against the rapacity of the mortgage companies, it is, of course, pretty well understood that such talk was simply a little play to the gallery when the law was introduced. The farming community is taking but little notice of the moratorium. Loan companies are collecting their interest and renewing their loans to the farmers without any mention of legislation, while the speculators are taking advantage of the act to have their agreements carried at 6 per cent in place of getting the money elsewhere or renewing the amount at the current rate of 8 per cent."

MINING PROPERTY REVERTS TO OWNER

L. C. Knauss, who arrived from Victoria yesterday, left today for the Interior to look after some mining interests he holds at Fiddler Creek.

This property was sold under bond to a Spokane firm, which had a force of men at work on it since last July. Notwithstanding the fact that the property is looking up excellently the developing firm was not able to meet the second payment of $7,500 which is now due and Mr. Knauss has been compelled to take back the property. He proceeds to Hazelton today, where he will make arrangements to look after the property.

The Spokane firm did a large amount of work on the property. A trail was built from the river costing about $4,000 and a tunnel was driven in the rock about 190 feet besides a large amount of stripping and clearing. Harry Howson has been in charge of the work.

The values in this property consist of gold, silver and lead and run as high as $90 in gold alone. Mr. Krauss expects to start development in the spring.

ADDS JITNEYS TO STREET CAR LINES

Olympia, Wash., Feb. 6.—Manager L. B. Faulkner, of the Olympia Light and Power Company, which operates the street car system in Olympia, announced that in the near future his company will operate an auto service as an extension of the street car line, to cover the territory between Central Street, the present end of the street car line, east to Lacey, a distance of three and one-half miles.

The jitney has invaded this city and has been running as far east as the Boulevard Road, which competition the Olympia Light and Power Company will meet by giving a transfer from its lines to the bus running to the Boulevard, and for additional fares will carry passengers to way points as far as Lacey, which includes a service to the Olympia Golf and Country Club.

This is said to be the first time a street car company in the state has decided to operate motor busses on a regular schedule as a part of its system and give transfers to passengers. The exact date the new service starts is not announced, but it is declared that if it is a success a line will also run to Priest Point Park.

SWEDEN AND ITALIAN PRESS DENOUNCE ATTACK ON NEUTRAL SHIPPING AND THE EVENT MAY LEAD THEM INTO THE WAR.

(Special to The Daily News.)
London, Feb. 6.—The German Admiralty's announcement that their submarines will attack all shipping found in British waters after February 18 has called forth the indignation of the French,

Swedish and Italian press at what they call an attack on neutral shipping. The British press, on the other hand, refer with ridicule to the "paper blockade," and do not consider the threat very formidable.

MAJOR GENERAL HUGHES BRINGS BACK BOOTS

Ottawa, Feb. 6.—Major General Sam Hughes, who has returned from an extended tour of the west, spoke in terms of highest praise of the western volunteers he inspected during his absence. The physique and spirits of the men he described as admirable.

Owing to the inclement weather he said Western troops had not had much opportunity to maneuver, but otherwise their training had been all that could be desired.

The minister brought back with him a number of pairs of boots secured in the West. Some were good and others bad. He intimated that the report made by the Board of Inquiry would be taken up at once with a view to prompt action. During the morning the minister conferred with Sir Robert Borden as well as the legal advisers of the department, presumably in regard to the boot matter.

GREECE IS READY TO HELP SERBIA IN FORCE

Paris, Feb. 6.—A dispatch to the Balkan agency from Athens says: "Greece with all her forces will come to the aid of Serbia in every fresh invasion of Serbia by the Austro-German armies. The greatest activity prevails now in military quarters."

London, Feb. 6.—According to the Daily Mail's Venice correspondent, telegrams received there from Bucharest and Uskub say that an immense Austro-German army is concentrated at Tekia Schipka, on the Danube, at the junction of the Hungarian, Roumanian and Serbian frontiers. This force, the dispatch adds, is ready to pour into Serbia, but is prevented from moving by the floods.

SOUTH AMERICAN INVESTMENTS ARE NOT PROTECTED

Washington, Feb. 6.—Samuel McRoberts, vice president of the National City Bank, addressing the third annual convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, urged greater security for our investments abroad.

"In the Orient, in the Caribbean, in the northern part of South America, in Mexico," he said, "we have the opportunity to do great constructive work and by so doing gain a place of our own in the future commerce of those lands. Uncertainty of protection stands squarely in the way. If you want to do anything in these countries, the standing advice is 'Get under the British, French or German flag.'"

SHOW FEELING OF DEPRESSION

People of Germany Now Realize That War Is Not Going Well for Them.

New York, Feb. 6.—A cable from London says:

"Alfred Arnold, a New York Herald and London Daily Express correspondent, who has just returned from a tour of Frankfurt-on-Main, Dusseldorf, Elberfeld, Bremen, Hamburg and Munich, writes that the most significant symptom he observed was the appearance of a definite peace party in the industrial centers and the organization of peace meetings and placarding to stop the war. Posters at Dusseldorf were discovered and led to the arrest of a number of persons who attended a peace meeting.

"On the whole the prevalent sentiment in Germany is one of depression and anxiety. Stories of great victories, especially over the hated British, are no longer credited. War news is scanty, and has lost its power to cheer.

"The coarseness of the now prevalent foods—actually scarce, but the fare is war fare—revolts the German appetite. All dainties are reserved for the hospitals.

"Only paper money now is used in Germany, and all gold and silver has to be surrendered to the municipal authorities."

POINDEXTER SEES FUTURE FOR MOOSE

Senator Says if Party Quits, Its Members, for Most Part, Would Join Republicans.

Washington, Feb. 6.—In response to questions as to the future of the Progressive party, the possible lines of its future activities, circumstances under which it might amalgamate with the Republican party and its present condition following desertions to the Republican party, Senator Poindexter has furnished the following signed statement to the New York Sun:

"I am not fully able at this time to answer fully the questions which you ask in regard to the Progressive party. Whatever the future may determine as to the Progressive party as a separate and distinct political party, the progressive movement is bound to go on and be one of the chief factors in our politics and government.

To Continue in Some States.

"In states where the Progressive element is strong the organization will continue in any event, whether a separate ticket is put in the field or whether its influence is executed in conjunction with the progressive Republicans in Republican primary elections

"I can say in answer to one of your questions, that there will be no amalgamation in the sense of any surrender of the great principles of which the Progressive movement and the Progressive party are incidents. There is fundamentally a vital difference between liberals and conservatives or progressives and reactionaries, whether in one party or the other—Progressive, Democratic or Republican.

Natural Political Division.

"This difference will continue. It is the natural political division, and when some great concrete issue of vital interest to the people is presented party division will take place along this line.

"So far as the present political situation is concerned, the Progressive party has claimed all along to be the party of Lincoln Republicanism. It also favors a reasonable protective tariff. It believes that under existing conditions an active and powerful Federal government is essential. For these reasons, should there be no separate Progressive ticket, the great bulk of those composing the Progressive party would make their fight in the Republican party rather than in the Democratic party."

Other Leaders Coincide.

Charles S. Bird, of Massachusetts; Charles S. Bonaparte, Senator Moses E. Clapp, George Ade, Medill McCormick, Willis J. Hulings and Fred E. Lewis furnished somewhat similar statements. The Sun finds that the consensus of opinion of these leaders is "that unless one of the old parties comes around to the constructive principles of the Progressive party, the Bull Moose will be in the field in 1916 with a national ticket."
