JAPAN UNWILLING TO DROP DEMANDS

Pekin, Feb. 28.—The confer- ences between Eki Hioki, Japanese minister, and Lu Cheng-hsiang, Chinese Foreign Minister, on the Japanese demands on China have been resumed. Japan, it is said, still insists on the acceptance of all her demands, while China will consent to the discussion of only twelve of them.

English and Chinese newspa- pers are reprinting statements from the Jiji Shimpo and other Japanese newspapers that China will derive no advantage by delay- ing her acceptance of the Japa- nese demands until the forthcom- ing Japanese election, it being as- serted that both the Japanese parties have similar policies with regard to China.

FOR JOINT ACTION TO QUIET MEXICO

Congressman Slayden, of Texas, Suggests Plan to Settle Diffi- culties Without War.

Cincinnati, March 1.—Con- gressman James L. Slayden, of Texas, speaking before the Amer- ican School Peace League here, suggested a joint intervention of the American governments to settle the Mexican trouble. He said, in part:

"I thoroughly agree with a large part of President Wilson's Indianapolis speech, in which he touched on the strife in Mexico.

"However, there is danger very great and imminent that forces may be loosened if the Mexican trouble continues much longer which no man can control.

"I feel quite certain that more serious trouble can be prevented. But it cannot be done by ignoring the just demands of Americans in Mexico.

"It may reasonably be assumed that all the peaceful and orderly governments on this continent would like to see the Mexican nuisance abated. I suggest a joint intervention, which really need not go beyond a representa- tion by all, or nearly, the Ameri- can governments. It will accom- plish what we pacifists want and would probably do it without war."

SOISSONS BOMBARDED YESTERDAY BY GERMANS

Special to The Daily News.)
Paris, March 1.—The official report states the enemy has bombarded Soissons with 200 shells. In the Champaign dis- trict we made marked progress on the whole front. We have gained ground in all the woods between Perthes and Beausejour. Our gains yesterday north of Beause- jour represented a mile and a third and these gains were appreci- ably extended today. There were 200 dead in one trench alone. One machine gun was captured. Five hundred yards of trenches were captured at Hill 263 in the Argonne. The total number of Germans that have surrendered in the past ten days number 1,000.

Put His Clothes by Lake as Trick, Wife Believes.

New York, March 1.—Mrs. Elsie Chilson, of Lakeville, search- ed Canopus in vain yesterday for her husband, Ralph Chilson, who, she alleges, eloped after feigning suicide.

Chilson vanished, leaving a note saying he was weary of life and was going to drown himself in Twin Lakes. Mrs. Chilson found his hat, coat and trousers on the bank. The police learned that he had bought a new suit of clothes and gone to Canopus. A woman to whom he had paid at- tention also disappeared.

POLICE COURT

Tony Mack appeared in Police Court this morning charged with stealing a valise from one of the denizens of the underworld. Tony said he thought the grip didn't belong to anyone in particular, but the magistrate taxed him a $15 fine and $2 costs with the option of fifteen days in jail. Mickey Howell was up charged with being a vag. The case was adjourned for five days and per- haps Mickey will take the tip and beat it.

Special to The Daily News.)
Vancouver, March 1.—Lieut. Duncan Peter Bell-Irving, Sixth Field Engineers, of North Vancou- ver, was killed in action in North- ern France on February 26. He was a surveyor, aged 27 years.

LABOR MEETING WAS HELD LAST NIGHT

A meeting was called last night after church in the Majestic The- atre by the Trades and Labor Council to hear the report of the delegate, Wm. Denning, from the Provincial convention which he recently attended.

In the absence of the president, Jack Nicol, Wm. Denning acted as chairman. He outlined the work done at the Provincial convention, laying emphasis on a proposed workmen's compensation act.

The next speaker was Walter Shaw. After regretting the ab- sence from the meeting of some of the supposed leaders of labor, he proposed a resolution dealing with certain Socialistic princi- ples. In this he was supported by Mr. Casey, but the chairman called it out of order as the meet- ing had been called for another purpose entirely. A live discus- sion followed, which was con- tinued, after the meeting adjourn- ed, on the street.

AUSTRIA PLANS ATTACK ON NEUTRAL SHIPPING

Geneva, Feb. 28.—According to an Innsbruck dispatch, Austria is going to follow Germany's lead in her piratical sea progress. Though possessing only a few submarines, Austria now intends to attack neutral shipping in the Adriatic and is only awaiting or- ders from Berlin. This attitude shows that Austria considers war with Italy inevitable.

The same dispatch states the Kaiser and the Austrian Emperor together with their full staffs, will hold a conference at a very near date in a town close to both frontiers. The two emperors have not met since war opened, though their ministers frequently have been in conference. Francis Joseph, it is stated, also wants a personal explanation from the Kaiser on the conduct of the mili- tary campaign.

UNITED STATES IS HELPLESS IF FRANCE AND RUSSIA FAIL

LLOYD GEORGE HAS SAID THIS IN SPEECH ON THE WAR--THE ALLIES MUST WIN OR THE FREEDOM OF THE WORLD IS LOST.

Special to The Daily News.)
Bangor, Wales, March 1.—Da- vid Lloyd George, Chancellor of the British Exchequer, arrived here today, and delivered an im- portant speech on the war.

In his speech he made refer- ence to the attitude of the United States and said that if Germany was triumphant the world could not look to chivalrous America to protect it from German dictat- orship. If powerful military coun- tries like France and Russia, aid- ed by the most powerful navy in the world could not stop the Ger- man war machine, America, who is "more unready than we were," would be powerless.

REFUSED TO PERMIT VIOLATION OF FRONTIER

Paris, Feb. 27.—When tension between Turkey and Greece was greatest last week, says the Petit Parisien, the Turkish minister at Sofia asked the Bulgarian govern- ment if it would permit Turk- ish troops to pass through Bul- garia for an attack upon Greece, should war be declared. Premier Radoslavoff replied, the paper as- serts, that neither country would be permitted to transport troops across Bulgarian territory.

GENERAL SAM'S TRIP COST HUGE SUM

A recent report draws atten- tion to the fact that the Auditor General objected to the payment of $24,620 in connection with the trip of the Minister of Militia and Canadian officers to the military maneuvers in England in 1913. The Department of Militia want- ed this amount charged up to an- nual drill, but the Auditor Gen- eral objected that it was not a proper charge against that ap- propriation. The Treasury Board sustained his objection, and the amount now appears in the bal- ance sheet of the public accounts as a liability against the Depart- ment of Militia and Defence.

ALLIED FLAGS FLOAT OVER DARDANELLES

Special to The Daily News.)
London, March 1.—A dispatch from Athens says the Allies dis- embarked detachments of artill- ery near the destroyed Darda- nelles forts and the British and French flags are now flying over them. The fleets continue the bombardment. A powder maga- zine was blown up, killing num- erous victims. Mine sweeping operations continue. New York, March 1.—"There are no Robert Ingersolls outside of the churches today, throwing stones from the sidewalk, but there are hundreds of Ingersolls in cap and gown, teaching in Presbyterian and other schools, and some of them preaching from Presbyterian pulpits," said Rev. Dr. Mark A. Matthews, of Seattle, in a sermon at the Broadway Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Matthews is a member of the committee investigating the charges made by members of the Presbyterian General Assembly that the Union Theological Sem- inary is teaching "not Christian- ity, but liberal religion."

John Bull has certainly "put one over" on the anti-British element in the United States. This faction was planning big disturbances over the seizure of the Dacia by the British and international relations were tense while the scene was being enacted. Suddenly we wake up one morning and the Dacia is snugly tucked up in the folds of a French warship and the bloodhounds have lost the scent. Their test case has miscarried. Britain hasn't done anything and yet the Dacia has been sent to her fate. It is no use to protest to France for the anti-Britishers have already lost most of their argument and all of their rage. What stunt will they try next. No matter. Leave it to John Bull.

Vance Palmer has an article in the British Review on "The Empire After the War." He says that in a crisis like the present the apparent looseness of the structure of the British Empire tempts politicians into schemes for ensuring a mechanical neatness and uniformity. Hitherto, he says, all these plans have been killed by indifference in Great Britain and other parts of the Empire. "For good or evil the Empire has taken on the nature of a confederacy rather than an individual unit, and must be left to develop along the lines of autonomy and free co-operation."

While this opinion finds support in history and experience, it does not hold the field without opposition. There is another opinion. Canada, it is said, and Australia, are now taking part in a war the causes of which lay entirely outside of their powers. Sentiment may sustain this position for a time, but what will happen when Canada has as large a population as the United Kingdom? By that time Canada will either have become an independent nation, or have obtained a voice in the management of the Empire, commensurate with her area, her wealth, her population, and her responsibilities. We are at the parting of the ways, it is said. We must move either toward independence, or toward a voice in the foreign policy of the Empire.

It is a question fairly open to discussion. Logic seems to be on one side, experience on the other; but, of course, this is only seeming, for perfect logic and full experience would necessarily lead to the same conclusion. Experience says that evolution, or development, or growth, has hitherto been satisfactory. We in the British Empire builded wiser than we knew, or we planned wiser than we knew. Logic says that the system cannot endure; that the United Kingdom and the colonies must come to an understanding—that Canada and Australia and South Africa must have a voice in Imperial affairs, and that under British ideas of responsible government a voice means a Parliament.

A true Imperial Parliament would mean a radical recasting of our institutions, including the Parliament of the United Kingdom and the Parliament of Canada. The Parliament of Canada would have to surrender at least a part of its power over taxation. The Parliament now sitting at Westminster would have to make a still greater surrender, giving up its control over foreign relations and over Indian affairs, and restricting its powers to the domestic affairs of the British Islands. Or there might be separate Parliaments or Legislatures for England, Wales, Scotland, and Ireland. The granting of Home Rule to Ireland would point to the latter solution. Is the United Kingdom to be a federation like Canada, with an Imperial Parliament over-ruling all the Federations? Would England consent to be a province in a United Kingdom federation, as Ontario is a province of federated Canada?

These questions may sound academic, but they must also be considered by those who propose a recast of the British Empire on logical or symmetrical lines. What, again, is meant by giving Canada a voice in Imperial or foreign policy? Foreign policy rests upon a large and complicated fabric of actions, in which Canada could play a very small part. A European statesman must be continually striving to mould European relations so as to bring about justice and order in Europe. His work may extend over many years. At the same time, with all this accumulated experience, he may have to make in a day or an hour some decision involving the gravest consequences. Suppose Canada had been endowed with a "voice" what would Canada have done? A Canadian, it is true, by long residence in Europe and careful study of European politics might become a Sir Edward Grey. But he could do that only by transferring his interest from Canada to Europe. He would be in no real sense a representative of Canada.

The same is true of Indian affairs. The government of India is a business for experts. A Canadian might by study and experience become such an expert, but only by transferring his interest from Canada to India. This is an aspect of the question which must be considered by all who seek to frame a new Imperial Parliament. Parliament is essentially a body of representatives and not of experts, though it may use expert knowledge. If Parliament simply defers to the expert, it is of no real value as a representative and deliberative assembly. These difficulties are pointed out, not in order to dogmatize, but simply to indicate the magnitude and difficulty of the problems we are asked to solve. As a free, self-governing people, we should consider them and decide them for ourselves, not wait until the decision is made for us.—Toronto Star.

BAD MIXUP FOR REAL ESTATE BUYERS

National Finance Company Liquidator Lets Property Go on Which $246,000 Was Paid.

Vancouver, Feb. 27.—The hardships brought on purchasers of lands whose vendors have been made the subject of foreclosure proceedings was mentioned by Mr. Reginald Symes in Supreme Court chambers in the hearing of foreclosure proceedings brought by the Emerson Lumber Company against the National Finance Company. The land in question is at Port Moody and was sold some time ago by the Emerson Lumber Company to the National Finance Company for a price of $574,000. Of this sum $246,000 has been paid in cash.

"It is useless for us to hope to redeem the property by paying the remaining $300,000," said Mr. R. W. Hannington for the liquidator of the National Finance. "We sold part of the land and the two concerns we sold to are each in liquidation, and owe us $260,000."

Mr. Symmes appeared for a client who had bought one-eighth of the land for $70,000, paying $40,000 cash to the Von Alvensleben Company, who were purchasers from the National Finance Company. He urged that while the date of the foreclosure was of no concern to the National Finance Company, his client wanted as long a time as possible to see if he could not save his portion of the property. Mr. Justice Macdonald adjourned the case one week to look further into it. Mr. J. W. deB. Farris appeared for the Emerson Lumber Company.

TIME FOR DECISIVE CONFLICT AT HAND

British Hospital Authorities Are Notified to Extend Facilities.

New York, Feb. 27.—Hospital authorities throughout Great Britain have been notified by the War Department to extend their facilities to the utmost by next April, according to a letter received here from the head of a large hospital in one of the coast towns in England. A structure which will contain 4,000 beds, it is said, is being hurried to completion in Kent, and everywhere in the country, where possible, extra beds are being put in. These grim preparations recall the prediction of Lord Kitchener, when he said in response to a query regarding when the war would end:

"I can tell you when it will begin—in the spring."

There are fewer wounded in the British hospitals at the present time than at any other period since the war started, according to the writer.

"We have been asked to have as many beds as possible by April," he says, "and we are preparing. Everywhere in the country men are drilling and recruiting and everybody feels that the moment for the final and decisive conflict is at hand. My soldier boys are wild to go back to the front, and many of them go back the moment the surgeons permit them to leave the hospitals."

"JITNEY BUS" WAR ON IN CLEVELAND

Traction Company Will Fight the Private Enterprise With Low Fares and Transfers.

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 27.—John J. Stanley, president of the Cleveland Railway Company, has issued a deft to individuals who have declared their intention to operate jitney busses and announced arrangements for the railway company to operate three cent bus lines in case privately-owned jitney busses enter the Cleveland transportation field. Mr. Stanley's deft was directed at Harry E. Johnson, who declares he will have jitney busses operating within the next six months.

"We're not going to be put out of business by the busses," Mr. Stanley said. "If they are coming to Cleveland we'll run some of them ourselves. We'll run cars over the same routes as the private companies, charge a three-cent fare, with a penny charge for a transfer, and, more than that, the transfer will be good from a railway company bus to a street car. If the jitneys intend to break our necks we're going to die hard." Mr. Stanley declared that designs for the railway jitney busses already have been prepared and schedules laid out.

"We'll follow every jitney bus operated in the city and where they charge a nickel or a dime we'll be charging three cents," Mr. Stanley declared. "We'll have a little war of our own."

Mr. Stanley's scheme calls for the purchase of sufficient jitney busses to cover every route operated by any private concern. The railway company busses will be painted yellow, will interlock on some streets with regular street car schedules and will use the railway company's terminals and loops.

ITALY IN WAR MARCH 15.

Brooklyn Man, Returned From Genoa, Quotes Italian Officials.

Boston, March 1.—"Officials of the Italian government told me at Genoa that Italy intends to get into the war on the side of the Allies on March 15," declared Martin Halpin, of Brooklyn, a passenger on the Italian steamship Verona, which has just reached Boston from Genoa and Naples.

"Italy is trying her level best to get 35,000 cavalry horses from the United States," said Halpin. "This, they say, will be accomplished by the middle of March, and then Italian neutrality will be a thing of the past."

Halpin went to Italy with a large consignment of horses.

Dr. Iyenaga laughed. He said: "There is no justification. I do not believe Japan has made such a demand. Those rumors have been going around but until you know exactly what demands Japan has made on China it is risky to jump at conclusions." In answer to another question, as to whether Japan intended to take any more German possessions, the speaker said: "We are not going to take any more territory in the Far East than Germany holds there. Japan will never do anything that will violate China's integrity."

GERMANY BELIEVED NEAR STARVATION. When Mr. Asquith told the British House of Commons recently that the war might end sooner than had been anticipated he evidently knew more about the internal condition of Germany than the general public does even yet. Unless the German press is pretending for political effect, as the London Times believes, that the nation faces starvation, affairs in both Germany and Austria are far more serious than was supposed. The military strength of the Germanic powers is still great, as the whirlwind campaigns in East Prussia and Bukovina prove, but while their armies tackle The Bear on the frontier with a fair measure of success the wolf of famine howls around the doors of the German people, who until a few weeks ago were assured that there was plenty of food in the country to last till harvest time. Now papers like the Lokai Anzeiger speak freely of the German people as "threatened with starvation." The Vossische Zeitung says: "We shall make the struggle against starvation in the firm consciousness that we shall pull through, even if not one single grain of wheat reaches us." In a statement written for the Hamburger Fremdenblatt Admiral Kirchhoff admits that Germany has insufficient war materials, an admission scarcely necessary in face of the extraordinary effort now being made to smuggle in copper, rubber and similar contraband materials. The consuls of the United States in Austria and Germany are beginning to report serious food shortages and high prices in both countries, especially Austria. Mr. Asquith probably knew weeks ago that, as Admiral Von Tirpitz put it, the British navy was "choking" Germany.—Toronto Globe.

PRINCESS PATRICIAS HAVE YET TO SHOW CALIBRE OF TROOPS. London, Feb. 27.—Private C. H. Craig, of Calgary, to whom belongs the distinction of being the first and only Canadian to be taken into the new Canadian hospital, was sent back in consequence of badly frost-bitten feet. Members of General French's headquarters staff have paid frequent visits to the hospital. The Prince of Wales is also a frequent visitor and the impression the Prince has left in the camp is a good one. The Princess Patricias have not yet had an opportunity of showing the stuff they are made of. No attacks of any importance, no bayonet charges have been performed, and so far all stories to the contrary are purely fictitious. Speaking of German marksmanship, Private Craig declared their infantry shots were not brilliant, but of late appeared to be getting worse, due probably to the fact that insufficiently trained recruits had been brought up.

MAJESTIC THEATRE TO PUT ON VAUDEVILLE

To the Public of Prince Rupert: The Majestic Theatre has now been formed into a company and our sole object is to give to our patrons the best service obtainable. What we mean by that is, in courtesy, pictures, and vaudeville. We will always engage the best talent there is and as for pictures, they will be the best that can possibly be procured, regardless of the cost to the management; and the price of admission will remain the same as it has been in the past.

Some of the gentlemen interested in the company have gone to Vancouver to make arrangements for the best pictures and actors obtainable by any theatre, whether Prince Rupert or elsewhere. We think that there is nothing too good for the Prince Rupert people that patronize the Majestic Theatre and we are going to stay right with it.

The music is strictly union and consequently of the best at all times, being under the direction of Mr. Alex. Gray. The orchestra will be one to be proud of. If you want your money's worth and a real good afternoon or evening's enjoyment, don't fail to go to the Majestic Theatre, same place, Third Avenue.

SKIRTS TO SHOW FIVE INCHES OF ANKLE

Some Very Elaborate Frocks Even More, Is the Report From Paris.
New York, March 4.—Very full skirts that stop five inches above the ankle—yes, the ankle, not the floor—and with petticoats underneath them, is the startling style news from Paris. Some of the elaborate frocks are even ten inches above.

"Empire waist lines are the rule in the new suits and gowns, though Worth is showing a nipped-in long bodice," writes a buyer for a New York House now in the French capital in a report of what she has seen at the Paris openings. "Sleeves are three-quarter and elbow length in the more elaborate afternoon suits. There are quite a few bolero jackets. Most of the other coats stop just about five inches below the hips, falling in godet folds from a waist line four inches higher than a natural one.

"Faille is very strong; silk gabardine also. Every one thinks well of the latter. Covert cloth is being shown and a bit of gabardine. Necks of dresses are high in the back and low in front; there are no collars that are high all around. This gives freedom to the front of the throat.

"Up to the present I have attended the openings of Paquin, Bernard, Beer, Lanvin and Doucet. Doucet is showing three-piece Empire long coat suits, also afternoon and evening gowns in black net, Chantilly lace and jet. Afternoon colors are chartreuse, navy blue and dull rose.

"At Paquin's, much net and very full flounced skirts in black and night blue over tinsel petticoats; these are extremely simple and pretty. They also scatter about the skirt small bouquets of roses; I think this is of very good effect.

"For young girls Beer has a dress with a full skirt and Empire waist line; a little short cape goes with this that is no longer than the waist line. It is most young and attractive; I believe in it. It is quite a change from a coat or jacket and makes such a pretty 'throw over.' Some girls here are already wearing it in fur.

"Long capes for evening, with only slashes for the hands, are seen in charming models. The general style note is 1856. Hats are extremely simple. All the smart women in Paris are wearing the 'Tipperary' suit; it is most popular. I have bought one and am sending it by the next steamship."

NEW HAZELTON NEWS (Omineca Herald)

W. S. Harris is in Vancouver on mining business.

A. M. Ruddy took a load of supplies down to the Red Rose mine early in the week.

Dr. McLean, of Smithers, was in town several days this week assisting Dr. Wrinch at the hospital.

Miss McLeod had the misfortune on Monday evening to fall while skating and injure her arm.

F. C. McKinnon left Thursday morning for the South on mining business. He expects to be gone two or three weeks.

The public school board is this week getting out a supply of wood which it is expected will keep them going several months.

A thousand ore sacks were sent to the Red Rose property this week. That looks as if the baby mine of the district would soon be sending ore to the smelter.

Mr. Gunderson was unfortunate enough to sprain his ankle last week while getting ready to participate in the hockey game between bachelors and benedicts, and has since been laid up.

Robert Wall spent the first part of the week with his family in town. He has been at the Red Rose mine since operations began there, and went back to the property yesterday morning.

Word has been received from L. J. Conkey, who is now residing at his home in Seattle. He says that the robins have returned for the new season, the roses are in bud and the lawn needs mowing. It looks like spring in that neighborhood.

Last Sunday morning a large number of citizens were at the depot to bid farewell to Hubert Wrinch and Henry Cram, who left on the train to be connected the Third Canadian Contingent. A number of boys from other parts of the district also went down on Sunday.

PATRIOTIC SOCIETY BY GOVT. EMPLOYEES

A writer in the Terrace Newsletter, deploring the absence of anything in the line of patriotism "in the ancient city of Terrace" has the following to say, which besides its element of humor has a hidden meaning:

As a remedy for this shameful lack of patriotism, I suggest the following: There are seven or eight government servants in this valley who are in receipt of big fat cheques on easy terms from the public treasury, some all the year round, others from six to eight months in each and every year. Let them start a patriotic league to be known as the Kitsumkalum Valley Patriotic League, to be continued until the end of this war, the promoters to pay running expenses, the public to provide the talent free.

I would also suggest that Mr. H. L. Frank take the initiative in starting this league. As he is longer in the government service than any one in this vicinity, and must therefore be a dyed-in-the-wool patriot, I am sure they would get a large number to join. Real patriots admitted free. Patriots without patriotism, admission $10. Let us hear from some of the government bounty men.

"RUNAWAY JUNE" At the Westholme Theatre Tonight—Second Episode.

Since the advent of "The Million Dollar Mystery," serial photoplays, which at first were looked upon in the nature of a more or less doubtful experiment, have become successfully established and have obtained a solid footing with moving picture patrons. "Runaway June," which is the second big serial to be shown at the Westholme Opera House, is a very worthy successor to "The Million Dollar Mystery," and promises to eclipse the latter in popularity. The second episode of "Runaway June" will be shown tonight, together with a very attractive comedy program.

The twenty-third and last episode of "The Million Dollar Mystery" will be shown Wednesday and Thursday. This is the final solution of the "Mystery," for which a prize of $10,000 was paid and solves completely the various riddles presented during the course of the story.
