LIBERAL TIDE SWEEPS COUNTRY-- BIG WIN IN YUKON ELECTION

ALMOST SOLID CONSERVATIVE COUNCIL IS REPLACED BY LARGE LIBERAL MAJORITY--PARTY MACHINE IS BEATEN.

(Special to The Daily News.)

Yukon, Y. T., March 5.—The election for the Territorial Council held here has resulted in a big win for the Liberals. While a few polls in Whitehorse are yet to be heard from, it is conceded that the Liberals won six out of ten seats. A tidal wave of Liberalism has passed over the country for the time.

Party Machine Beat.
The former Council for the Yukon was almost solid Conservative and the turn-over that has taken place there is only an indication of the feeling that is spreading all over Canada.

The late Council, under Commissioner George Black, had developed a Conservative machine second only to the one in British Columbia. No one could get a job of any kind unless he joined their association and pledged loyalty to the party.

What took place in the Yukon is certain to happen in British Columbia if an election is called—and indications are that it is near.

SKEENA TO GET TWO MEMBERS BY NEW REDISTRIBUTION BILL

OMINECA DISTRICT WILL HAVE A MEMBER OF ITS OWN-- PRINCE RUPERT AND REST OF SKEENA ANOTHER--
LEADER OF OPPOSITION TO GET INCREASE.

(Special to The Daily News.)

Victoria, March 5.—The redistribution bill was brought down yesterday in the House. It provides that there shall be forty-seven instead of forty-two members in the new House.

How Distributed.

Vancouver City has been awarded six seats. North and South Vancouver get one each. Ymir is being replaced by Trail, and Skeena is divided into two. The Omineca District will have a member of its own and the rest of Skeena will be known as Prince Rupert District. Okanagan is divided into North and South. The bill allows $1,500 allowance for the leader of the opposition.

Election. Coming.

Everybody here expects to see an election in the near future. It is generally put down for the month of April. It will likely be announced tomorrow, when the House will probably be dissolved.

SULTAN REPORTED FLED-- DARDANELLES MAY BE OPENED

RUSSIAN BLACK SEA FLEET STEAMING FOR CONSTANTINOPLE-- BOMBARDMENT OF DARDANELLES STILL CARRIED ON.

(Special to The Daily News.)

Rome, March 5.—The Russian Black Sea fleet is off the Bulgarian coast, steaming for Constantinople. The Sultan has fled. The greatest of excitement prevails among the inhabitants of Constantinople.

Athens reports that the Turks are likely to open the Dardanelles.

Still Bombarding.

The bombardment of the Dardanelles continues by relays. Fort No. 9 has been entirely destroyed. Six modern guns at Fort B have been put out of action, bringing the total up to forty. The French warships have bombarded the Bulair ports and wrecked the Kavah bridge.

TWO SUBMARINES GONE.

London, March 5.—Two German submarines have been sunk in British waters. It is officially announced that the U-8 was sunk by the Dover flotilla and her crew of twelve taken prisoners. An unidentified submarine was rammed by the collier Thordis.

VANCOUVER ELECTION IS GROWING HEATED

(Special to The Daily News.)

Vancouver, B. C., March 5.—The mayoralty contest here between L. D. Taylor and ex-Alderman Hepburn is developing into a heated contest. Joe Martin is strongly supporting Hepburn, and at a meeting last night stated the tenderloin interests were the chief forces behind Taylor. This Taylor called him a liar, and described him as a Bowery type, using Hepburn as his

30TH BATTALION MAY SEE EARLY SERVICE

A letter has been received by The News from Percy Godenrath, who left for the front with the 30th Battalion. The letter was written from Halifax, and at the time they were on board the R. M. S. Missanabie ready to sail.

The report was current among the battalion at that time that they were destined for reinforcements for the First Contingent now in France. They expected to be landed in England for a short period of training prior to being moved to the Continent.

Mr. Godenrath endeavored to send his message by wire but could not get it past the censor. He conveys greetings from the officers and men and a "last good bye."

The Missanabie, on which the 30th Battalion crossed the Atlantic, is a ship of 13,000 tons. Her length is 520 feet and her beam 64 feet.

VICTORIA LOSES.

(Special to The Daily News.)

Portland, Ore., March 5.—The Victoria hockey team met defeat here last night by 9 to 2 against the Portland team. This is the twelfth defeat for Victoria of the season.

LETTER FLOATS 101 DAYS.

Drayton, March 5.—A bottle containing a letter written by Lieut. G. D. Oulster, 11th Battalion, 4th Brigade, Canadian Expeditionary Force, which was thrown overboard in mid-ocean from the Royal Edward on October 12 last, was picked up at Anglesey Valley, North Wales, on January 21. It was sent by the finder to a friend of the lieutenant's, to whom it was addressed, at Drayton. It was 101 days drifting in the ocean. The addressee considers the letter invaluable.

GREAT BRITAIN'S ACTIVE PART IN WAR

Leading Petrograd Newspaper
Enlightens Russian Civil Population on Extent of Her Exertions.

Petrograd, March 5.—The Novoe Vremya recently published as a leading article, "The Army of England." For the first time the Russian public is made aware of the tremendous efforts put forth by England to turn out a great continental army besides providing all existing armies with good equipment.

England, it says, has had to provide for colonial armies all over the world. Her arms and ammunition factories, originally based on the very small requirements of the forces existing before the war, have been extended so as not only to equip fully huge armies on a continental scale, raised by the splendid patriotism of her people, but also to provide largely in various directions for the special needs of her Allies.

The Novoe Vremya congratulates the British government on having decided promptly to undertake the gigantic task of equipping millions of men to fight Germanism. It further notes that the lead has been given by the British aristocracy of the old school, who have been among the first to fall for their country, exemplifying the priceless value to a fighting force of those lessons learned primarily by Englishmen in the field of sport.

This article will have an admirable effect upon civil population grumblers in Russia. It never has been needed in any quarters in the Russian armies, but among the civil population, especially in the large cities of Russia, a certain influence has been at work for a long time past, which The Novoe Vremya's article, based upon French official information, will effectively counteract.

BRITISH INVENT GUN AGAINST SUBMARINES

Will Distribute Shrapnel Under Water, According to Canon
Hannay, of Dublin.

New York, March 5.—The Rev. James O. Hannay, canon of St. Patrick's Cathedral, who arrived here on the steamer Baltic, from Liverpool, brought a report of measures he said he learned the British Admiralty had undertaken to combat Germany's submarine warfare. A submarine gun had been devised, Canon Hannay said, which distributed shrapnel with great precision under water. One gun of this type had been completed and the construction of others was being expedited, he added.

Ladies invited to millinery display at Demers Monday.

A return to some of the quaint and pretty designs of old is shown in the new spring dress fabrics on display at Wallace's.

LOOKING AHEAD.

The Good Book says that the "children of this world are wiser than the children of the light." W. J. Bowser apparently belongs to that class for he is already beginning to "feather his nest." He is arranging in the new redistribution bill to increase the allowance to the leader of the opposition, knowing quite well that he himself will occupy that seat ere long. Premier McBride expects to move to Ottawa and Mr. Bowser will have to captain the sinking ship. The cyclone that hit the Yukon politics is being felt here. "It's time for a change"; and the change is almost here.

PRINCE GEORGE FORMS LIBERAL ASSOCIATION

Meeting Held on Tuesday Night
Saw Large Crowd Pledged to Party.

(Special Correspondence to The News.)

Prince George, B. C., March 3.—At a meeting which filled the Moose Hall here to capacity on Tuesday night, a Liberal Association was formed, and the three associations of Fort George, South Fort George and Prince George amalgamated.

Although no noted speaker was billed to give an address and the meeting was simply one called for organization purposes, all the seats in the hall were taken up and many stood throughout the meeting.

Several local Liberals pointed out the sins of omission and commission of the McBride government in this district and the necessity of organizing for the forthcoming election.

Many who have supported Conservative governments in the past were present and were not a whit less eager for a change of administration than the most enthusiastic Liberals. They are turning against the Provincial government in large numbers in this district, even the most rabid Tories sensing the change in the feelings of the electorate and the absolute need of a strong opposition, if not a complete turn-over, at Victoria.

If the talk on the streets or any other ordinary indication can be taken as a criterion, the new riding which it is understood will be formed here will be one of those which will send Liberal members to the Provincial House at the first opportunity.

The following resolution, indicative of the sentiment of the people here, was moved by G. C. Macleod, seconded by C. N. Reddie, and passed unanimously:

"Be it resolved, That the Liberals of Prince George, B. C., here assembled, express our confidence in the Dominion opposition, and particularly in the venerable statesman and leader of Liberalism at its head, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, it being our belief that the events of the past few years, and especially the war in Europe, have demonstrated to a larger extent than ever the wisdom of the

KILLED HER EMPLOYER BUT SET AT LIBERTY

Toronto, Feb. 27.—Pandemonium raged in the Criminal Assize at 12:15 this afternoon, when, after half an hour's deliberation, the jury returned a verdict of "not guilty" in favor of Carrie Davies, who was charged with the murder of her employer, Charles A. Massey, on February 8. When the foreman of the jury announced the decision the court room resounded with shouts and cheers. The voices of the court constables could not be heard. Those sitting in the body of the court jumped to their feet and continued the shouting. One man lifting his voice louder than the rest was seized by two court constables, who jumped over the railing and ejected him from the room. It took about five minutes to restore order. When informed that she was discharged, Carrie Davies swooned and had to be assisted to her feet. With the arm of a police matron around her she listened to the words of the judge.

"Carrie Davies," began Chief Justice Sir William Mulock, "you have heard the verdict, in which I concur, if that is any comfort to you. Perhaps the jury has taken a view of the case that was not in strict conformity with the rules. They found that when you killed Mr. Massey you lost self-control of yourself and at that moment had no murderous intent. You have had a strict bringing up and the influence of your parents upon you has fallen upon good grounds. You have had the highest regard for morality and honor. Those qualities caused you to take a strong view of the things which Mr. Massey did, so from the very highest motives you did

REV. DR. HERRIDGE TONIGHT IN EMPRESS

Everybody should turn out tonight to hear Rev. Dr. Herridge in the Empress Theatre. Dr. Herridge is one of Canada's big men. He is typical of the fine combination of scholarship and evangelism that has characterized Presbyterian ministers the world over; but besides that he is an orator of the first water.

As Moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly, his interests extend from the Atlantic to the Pacific. But his interests are not confined to Presbyterians. He is first of all a great Canadian and a good churchman and will have a message for all.

PRINCESS PAT OFFICER SAVED BY BRASS BUCKLE

London, March 5.—An officer of the Princess Pats, writing from the front, says: "The last time we came out of the trenches my subaltern was hit just below the knee, and as we were tying him up I was floored. However, in a few moments I began to feel all right, and got up and we took the subaltern to a dressing room I afterwards examined my kit and found a bullet had gone through my knapsack and stopped at the brass buckle of my equipment. It knocked the wind out of me, but did no further damage. "It is astonishing how little news we hear, but the naval victory in the North Sea was much appreciated. We were in the trenches at the time. The men all cheered and wanted to charge, but we kept them quiet."

The London Times says that the Germans are intentionally exaggerating their shortage of food in order to excuse their foul intention to torpedo merchantmen. "They are whining with full stomachs." "When the German people," says The Times, "cry aloud to the four winds of heaven that they are about to starve, we simply do not believe them. If we reckon in the slightest degree upon the lack of food impairing their fighting capacity, we merely allow them very clumsily to deceive us. At the same time it is manifest that they are feeling the general economic pressure exerted by the royal navy, and the prolongation of the war, which they calculated would be over by Christmas. The need to seek an early decision is more incumbent upon them than ever. They are drawing upon their last two million men, and if they do not win successes soon they can never hope to gain them."

While it may be true that the Germans are not yet in need of actual necessities, it is possible that a real menace is nevertheless pending. According to published statistics, the German grain supply always falls short of the actual demands. If the war is to continue throughout the summer, however, there will be a big drain on their supplies for seed to prepare for next year's crop. The same thing applies to their meat supply. They cannot kill off all their flocks if they are looking at all to the future. The Allies are prepared to fight this battle for years. Can Germany do it?

The prolongation of the war beyond the coming summer will have an important bearing for Canada and the outlying parts of the Empire. If it is to be fought into 1916 it will mean that another one or two million men will be required and that every available man in Canada must shoulder his gun. The issues that will be at stake in the next few months when the big armies begin to move will be immense. The moment must be looked forward to with anxiety by the men who are playing the cards.

The Paris Temps gives extracts from two hitherto unpublished letters of Mr. Rudyard Kipling to a French friend containing observations on the war. Mr. Kipling says: "I tell everyone what everyone tells me, the war will last three years; but in the bottom of my heart I cannot believe it, and then I wonder how long the Boche will hold out when the war is carried into his own country." Mr. Kipling thinks that the German will not long resist on his own soil. Further on the writer expresses the opinion as a layman that the German will not dare to abandon the lines which they occupy at present, but more probably will strengthen these lines, using up their last reserves. In this case it would be possible to break through finally without great loss. Alluding to his recent visits to the New Army, Mr. Kipling says: "I had never seen a volunteer army of a nation. The result astonished me. It is a new force in a new world."

FINED FOR RAGGING.

Penalty for $5 Each Suspended During Girls' Good Behavior.

Pendleton, Ore., March 5.—Seven girls of Pilot Rock were convicted in the recorder's court at that town last night of having ragged at a lodge social and were fined $5 each. The fines were suspended during good behavior. Nine young men had been tried previously for participation in the ragging on the same occasion and seven were convicted. Two served sentences in jail in default of fines. A city ordinance of Pilot Rock makes ragging a misdemeanor.

VISCOUNT BRYCE SAYS THAT AMERICA IS GENUINE NEUTRAL

London, March 5.—Viscount Bryce, in an article which was published in The Daily Chronicle on "The Position of the United States in the War," says it is a complete error to assume that those who bear a German name or who own to German blood belong to the pro-German party.

"The children of Europeans who are born in America," Viscount Bryce continued, "grow up normal American citizens for all practical purposes. Their loyalty is to the Stars and Stripes and their feeling for the land of their parents is comparatively weak. What is called the German vote is in some few cities a force to be reckoned with. But when those who lead try to use it as a means for applying political pressure in such cases as this the native Americans resent such an attempt, for with them it is a fundamental principle that Americans must have no loyalty save to the United States, and the great bulk of even hyphenated German-Americans would refuse to respond."

United States Really Neutral.

As to the neutrality of the American government, Mr. Bryce adds, both sides have blamed it, and the government points to this as the best proof of its impartiality. One party, he says, moved by the tragic fate of Belgium, censured the government for having failed to protest "against the violation of Belgian territory and the flagrant breaches of the rules of warfare prescribed by The Hague convention."

"But," says Viscount Bryce, "it is right that neither side of the case should be put to the United States, the greatest of the neutral powers. The administration might conceive that many questions will arise during the war in which the rights of all the neutrals will be involved, and it might think that the authority with which the United States can speak would be weakened if at the outset its government takes up a position adverse to one or the other party to the struggle. However high the motive, its impartiality would thereafter be questioned."

The Attack on Belgium.

Arguing that the attack on Belgium was a clear breach not only of the convention of 1907, but of the fundamental principles of international law, Viscount Bryce says the breaches which followed rested at first on statements which needed confirmation and that "any government might feel that before protesting against the treatment of noncombatants it needed further evidence which would carry certainty to every fair mind."

"Add to this ground for caution the fact that the United States has always, following the advice of George Washington, endeavored to keep clear of European entanglements in Old World diplomacy."

Regarding the questions of international law and usage which have arisen between the United States and the belligerents, Viscount Bryce says:

"When a neutral is urged by its citizens to remonstrate with belligerents upon the exercise of any rights which the belligerents claim, it cannot, unless convinced that there is no substance in the grievance, do otherwise than comply."

MUST RUN GAUNTLET OF NEW DEFENCES

Paris, March 4.—Reports have reached Paris of damage to the bombarding vessels in the Dardanelles, but so far as it can be ascertained by inquiries at Tenedos, no serious damage has been done.

Although the allied fleet, under the British vice admiral, S. H. Carden, has entered the Dardanelles, it still has a distance of forty-five miles to go before it reaches the Sea of Marmora, and then it has a hundred miles farther to go to Constantinople. The first task will be to sweep away the mines with which the channel of the Dardanelles is thickly strewn, especially at the western end.

Then the fleet will have to run the gauntlet of the new fortifications erected on both the European and Asiatic side, for a distance of fifty miles until the narrowest point, only a mile wide, between Kilebahi and Kaler Kalesi, is reached. Lines of earthworks and entrenchments have been constructed along both shores, and on the hills back of the forts in the Gallipoli Peninsula all the way to the Sea of Marmora. Presumably these will have to be taken by landing parties.

At the narrow point mentioned are the strongest forts guarding the Dardanelles, nine on the European side and three on the Asiatic side, which also must be reduced before the fleet can proceed.

ROCKEFELLER DOCTOR FINDS LOCKJAW CURE

Injection of Epsom Salt Solution in Spine Expected to Save Hundreds of Lives in War.

New York, March 4.—A method of decreasing the great total of losses in the European war through the treatment of tetanus victims has been discovered by Dr. J. S. Meltzer, of the Rockefeller Institute. Twenty-five instruments for use in bestowing the treatment have been manufactured. These will be presented to the foremost surgeons of the nations at war.

According to the announcement of the Rockefeller Institute, Dr. Meltzer found that one injection of a solution of magnesium sulphate (epsom salts) into the spinal membrane will produce a complete relaxation of the body for hours. This injection relieves the convulsions.

The guess that hits the bullseye always passes for good judgment.

FRENCH PRESIDENT WROTE OF PEACE TO KING GEORGE

London, Mar. 2.—Correspondence between President Poincare, of France, and King George, of England, just before the outbreak of the war has been published here. In a letter dated July 31 President Poincare expressed the opinion that "war would be inevitable if Germany were convinced that the British government would not intervene." On the other hand, he said, "there would be the greatest chance that peace would remain unbroken if Germany were convinced that the British government would intervene."

"It is true," added M. Poincare, "that our military and naval arrangements leave complete liberty to Your Majesty's government."

The French President recalled the close friendship between the two countries and the confidence with which they had worked together for the maintenance of peace as justifying him in using the utmost frankness. He closed his letter thus:

"It is, I consider, on the language and action of the British Government henceforth that the last chances of a peaceful settlement depend. I am profoundly convinced at the present moment that the more Great Britain, France and Russia can give a deep impression that they are united in their diplomatic action the more possible will it be to count upon the preservation of peace."

King George, in replying, thanked President Poincare for the frankness with which the latter had expressed himself and added:

"I am personally using by best endeavors with the Emperors of Russia and Germany toward finding some solution by which actual military operations may at any rate be postponed and time thus given for calm discussion between the Powers. I intend to prosecute these efforts without intermission so long as any hope remains for an amicable settlement."

Gratitude does not cost a blamed cent, yet some people are mighty stingy about exhibiting it.

Right never seems to triumph when we are the losers.

CONSTIPATION"Fruit-a-tives" Cured Paralyzed Bowels and DigestionST. DONIFACH DR SHAWINGAN, QUE.
Feb. 3rd, 1914.

"It is a pleasure to me to inform you that after suffering from Chronic Constipation for 2 1/2 years, I have been cured by 'Fruit-a-tives'. While I was a student at Berthier College, I became so ill I was forced to leave the college. Severe pains across the intestines continually tortured me and it came to a point when I could not stoop down at all, and my Digestion became paralyzed. Some one advised me to take 'Fruit-a-tives' and at once I felt a great improvement. After I had taken four or five boxes, I realized that I was completely cured and what made me glad, also, was that they were acting gently, causing no pain whatever to the bowels. All those who suffer with Chronic Constipation should follow my example and take 'Fruit-a-tives' for they are the medicine that cures."

1914.BOY SCOUTS DOING
SERVICE IN ENGLANDHave Done Good Service in Patrolling and Searching
For Spies

Boy scouts are primarily peace organizations, and the 16,000 that comprise the "army" of Boy Scout Commander Lieut.-Gen. Sir Robert Baden-Powell, K. C. B., in England, are strictly so. Sir Robert, we are told by a British writer in The Congregationalist, has taken every possible precaution, even in these times, to prevent the Boy Scouts movement from taking on a warlike complexion. But notwithstanding its peaceful intent, the organization is proving of great service to Great Britain just at present. They can be put at any one of a hundred tasks for which intelligent, faithful, and untiring workers are now needed. We are told that their services were invaluable when war was declared, in calling reservists to the colors. Nor were they less so, when, through the necessitated return of many of the coast-guards to the navy, a host of watchers at the coast-guard stations were needed. We read that:

Hundreds of Scouts took their places and had the time of their lives staying out all night or watching all day through big telescopes for the enemy's ships. It was a hardened northern journalist who confessed that a lump came into his throat when late one night he met a small group of Scouts dragging their trek-cart, laden with bivouac gear, and moving quietly through the dark to their vigil on the cliffs. One senior coast-guard, expecting Scouts to assist him, brought what he considered enough meat for them for a day, but was greatly troubled because he had no one to cook it. When the lads arrived they informed him that the meat was sufficient for two and a half days' rations and they always did their own cooking. At odd times the youthful assistants have tended the coast-guard's garden or nursed the coast-guard's baby, urging the little one, regardless of sex, to grow up a Scout. Is any one surprised that when they had to go home more than once their coast-guard chief has had an ache in his heart for the youngsters he has learned to love? Anybody's place was filled by them at a moment's notice.

Boy Scouts have been well to the fore in all national medical services. Members of the Third Plymouth Troop are at the Salisbury Road Hospital taking messages and attending wounded soldiers in the intervals of listening, wide-eyed, to their yarns. First aid, ambulance work, collecting beds from donors, and preparing wards are common-places of Scout activity. Many Scouts have acted as patients at Red Cross lectures and have submitted, with grins, to the incidental bandaging and posturing. At least once a would-be nurse undergoing examination has been aided by a timely whisper from the patient, whose Scout knowledge of the triangular bandage or the occipital artery has turned failure to success.

But the duty that has the real thrill in it for these peaceful warriors is spy-hunting. In addition to the patrol of the coast, many boys have been put to patrolling the interior, watching all roads, and guarding closely the approaches to all light-houses, powder magazines, and other spots dear to the spy's heart. Some instances of their achievements in this line are given:

Few incidents have thrilled the young hopefuls like those which have involved contact with spies, a real or suspected. One spy not to be known from an Englishman by voice or manner has been going about England on a motor-cycle, disguised as a Scout-master. He offered fresh fruit or mineral waters and even medicines to lads on sentry duty, and tried to engage them in conversation. The posting of warn-

CHEAPER GASOLINE AND DYES BASES
GIVEN TO NATIONSecretary Lane Announces Important Chemical Discoveries
Made by Dr. Walter
F. Rittman.

Washington, March 5.—Two discoveries, both of vast importance to American industries, and one regarded also as a priceless military asset, were announced yesterday by Secretary Lane of the Interior Department. They are chemical processes, developed after years of research by Dr. Walter F. Rittman, chemical engineer of the Bureau of Mines.

One is expected to enable oil refiners to increase their output of gasoline by 200 per cent; the other makes possible the production from crude petroleum of toluol, and benzol, bases for dyes and high explosives, for which in the past the United States and the rest of the world has depended almost exclusively on Germany.

Will Prevent Monopoly.

Dr. Rittman has applied for patents upon his processes to prevent the possibility of any monopoly in their use and will dedicate them to the American people.

"These processes," said Secretary Lane, "are fraught with the utmost importance. The Standard Oil Company has had a big advantage over the independents in production of gasoline, having a patented process obtaining three times the amount of gasoline from a given quantity of petroleum the independents now obtain."

"Now the Federal government, through the efforts of Dr. Rittman, proposes to make free for the use of all a process confidently against him led to his disappearance. Of course, the boys have more than once been mistaken. One suspect duly reported to the police turned out to be a British evangelical preacher. Any one acquainted with the eccentricities, sartorial and otherwise, of certain of our English spellbinders would find it easy to excuse the youngsters.

There are, unfortunately, certain Englishmen who can not resist the temptation of playing jokes on the lads. Two passing cyclists attempted a trick on a couple of the boys on duty. They dismounted, loitered about, examined carefully everything within their range of vision, and finally climbed a telephone pole. One Scout hurried off for the police while his comrades cut the tires of both cycles into shreds, and no one was sorry for the humorists. Scouts are more ready to report their failures than their successes. But here is one entirely authentic case that must serve as a sample of others. A Scout patrol noticed a suspicious-looking person and kept him under observation. He was near an aeroplane station, and after they had tracked him across a golf-links they discovered him in hiding and writing in a note-book. They fetched police to arrest him, and he turned out to be an undoubted and dangerous spy.

expected to increase their yields of gasoline fully 200 per cent and perhaps more. Dr. Rittman claims his process is safer, simpler and more economical.

"With a steadily increasing demand for gasoline for automobiles, motor boats and engines, this fortunate discovery comes at the proper time. It is but two years ago that the automobile industry, fearful the supply of gasoline might not be adequate for its rapidly expanding business, offered a $100,000 prize for a substitute that would cost less than gasoline. This new process adds to the hope that in spite of the wonderful growth in the use of gasoline, there may not be any shortage in the future.

"I am led to believe it will not only be of inestimable value to refiners commanding but limited capital, as well as those of wealth, but also to the hundreds of thousands of users of gasoline.

"When it is realized the gasoline industry each year yields $100,000,000 to $150,000,000, the importance of this discovery is seen."

True in the Main.

"She says she has remained single from choice."

"That's right. I wouldn't undertake to say whose choice it was, but the broad, general statement is unquestionably true."—Stray Stories.

GRAND TRUNK EMPLOYEES CONTRIBUTE $55,000 TO THE PATRIOTIC FUND

Mr. E. J. Chamberlin, president of the Grand Trunk System, on February 23, forwarded to Ottawa a cheque for $40,915.91, being the amount voluntarily subscribed by the officers and employees of the Grand Trunk Railway to the Canadian Patriotic Fund.

In addition to this amount, the officers and employees of the Grand Trunk Pacific have contributed a sum of $14,813.41, making a total of $55,729.32 from the staffs of the two railways.

As the contributions, which were purely voluntary, were received, they were placed on deposit in the bank to the credit of the committee in charge, and have been earning interest pending complete returns from all points of the line. The contributions made by the Western employees are to be distributed in the West, the various provinces being credited with proportionate amounts.

Montreal, being the headquarters of the Grand Trunk System, and the centre at which some thousands of employees are gathered, led the list of cities with a contribution of $15,120.99, other stations contributing with equal generosity.

The Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific Railways are also carrying on their payrolls some six hundred men who have enlisted for overseas service with the various military units. They are in receipt of full pay.

POLICE ASSAULT CASE BEFORE THE COURT

The assault case whereby Harry Smith is accused of attacking Constable Grady came up in the Police Court today. Smith had a story all his own. He said Grady had called him up at the Windsor and said he wanted to see him. They arranged to meet at Third Avenue and Sixth Street. Smith said, on meeting, "What do you want?" Grady replied: "You know, what I want. I've been laying for you for a month." Grady grabbed him by the throat, and Smith "swatted him one"; and the scrap was on, Grady coming out on top, and taking him to the jail in a car.

Grady's evidence was to the effect that, acting on the advice of the chief, he wanted to give Smith some good advice about the company he should keep. As soon as he mentioned it, Smith used a vile term to him, and later struck him on the face. Grady then arrested him, and while walking to the jail Smith struck him again. He then overpowered him and called for a car.

Constable Duff was in the Police Station when he arrived. He said Smith tried several times "to swat him one," but could not make it go. Duff wasn't born the day after yesterday.

The case was adjourned till tomorrow. L. W. Patmore appeared for the accused, and F. Peters for the Crown.

a thing which you will regret all your life.

"It was a mistaken sense of duty. The proper thing for you to have done was not to have returned. Respect for your duty caused you to go back. Your mental training seems to have made it your bounden duty to go back to Mr. Massey's. You were between two forces—your promise to Mrs. Massey that you would not leave and your fear of Mr. Massey. In addition to that, you had the hope that Mrs. Massey would return home before Mr. Massey came home. You are now a free girl."

Carrie Davies Gives Thanks.

Leaning on the arm of her companion, the girl sobbed, "I thank you, Your Lordship." With her eyes filled with tears, she turned to the jury box and said, "I thank the jury which has tried me."

The girl was then freed from the dock and was assisted to where her sister sat. She could hardly walk, and when she reached Mrs. Fairchild flung herself into her sister's arms and sobbed. Several hundred spectators refused to leave the corridor when the court adjourned, and hovered around waiting to get a glimpse of the girl.

CHANGE OF PLACE.

It was originally the intention to hold this meeting in the Presbyterian Church Hall, but there has been expressed by members of other congregations in the city such a widespread desire to hear so distinguished a speaker that it has been decided to engage the theatre. "WE SELL NOTHING BUT THE BEST"

FRED STORK'S HARDWARE

cuts Monday's labor clean in half.

The Sunlight way is so easy—just note. First you soap the garment; then roll it up to soak. After a while you rinse it thoroughly and the dirt drops out like magic.

Why scrub, and rub, and wear and tear the clothes when the gentle strength of Sunlight Soap will do the work with never a hurt to fabric or hands.

Try it once—this Sunlight way.
