VANCOUVER CONSERVATIVES DON'T WANT BOWSER

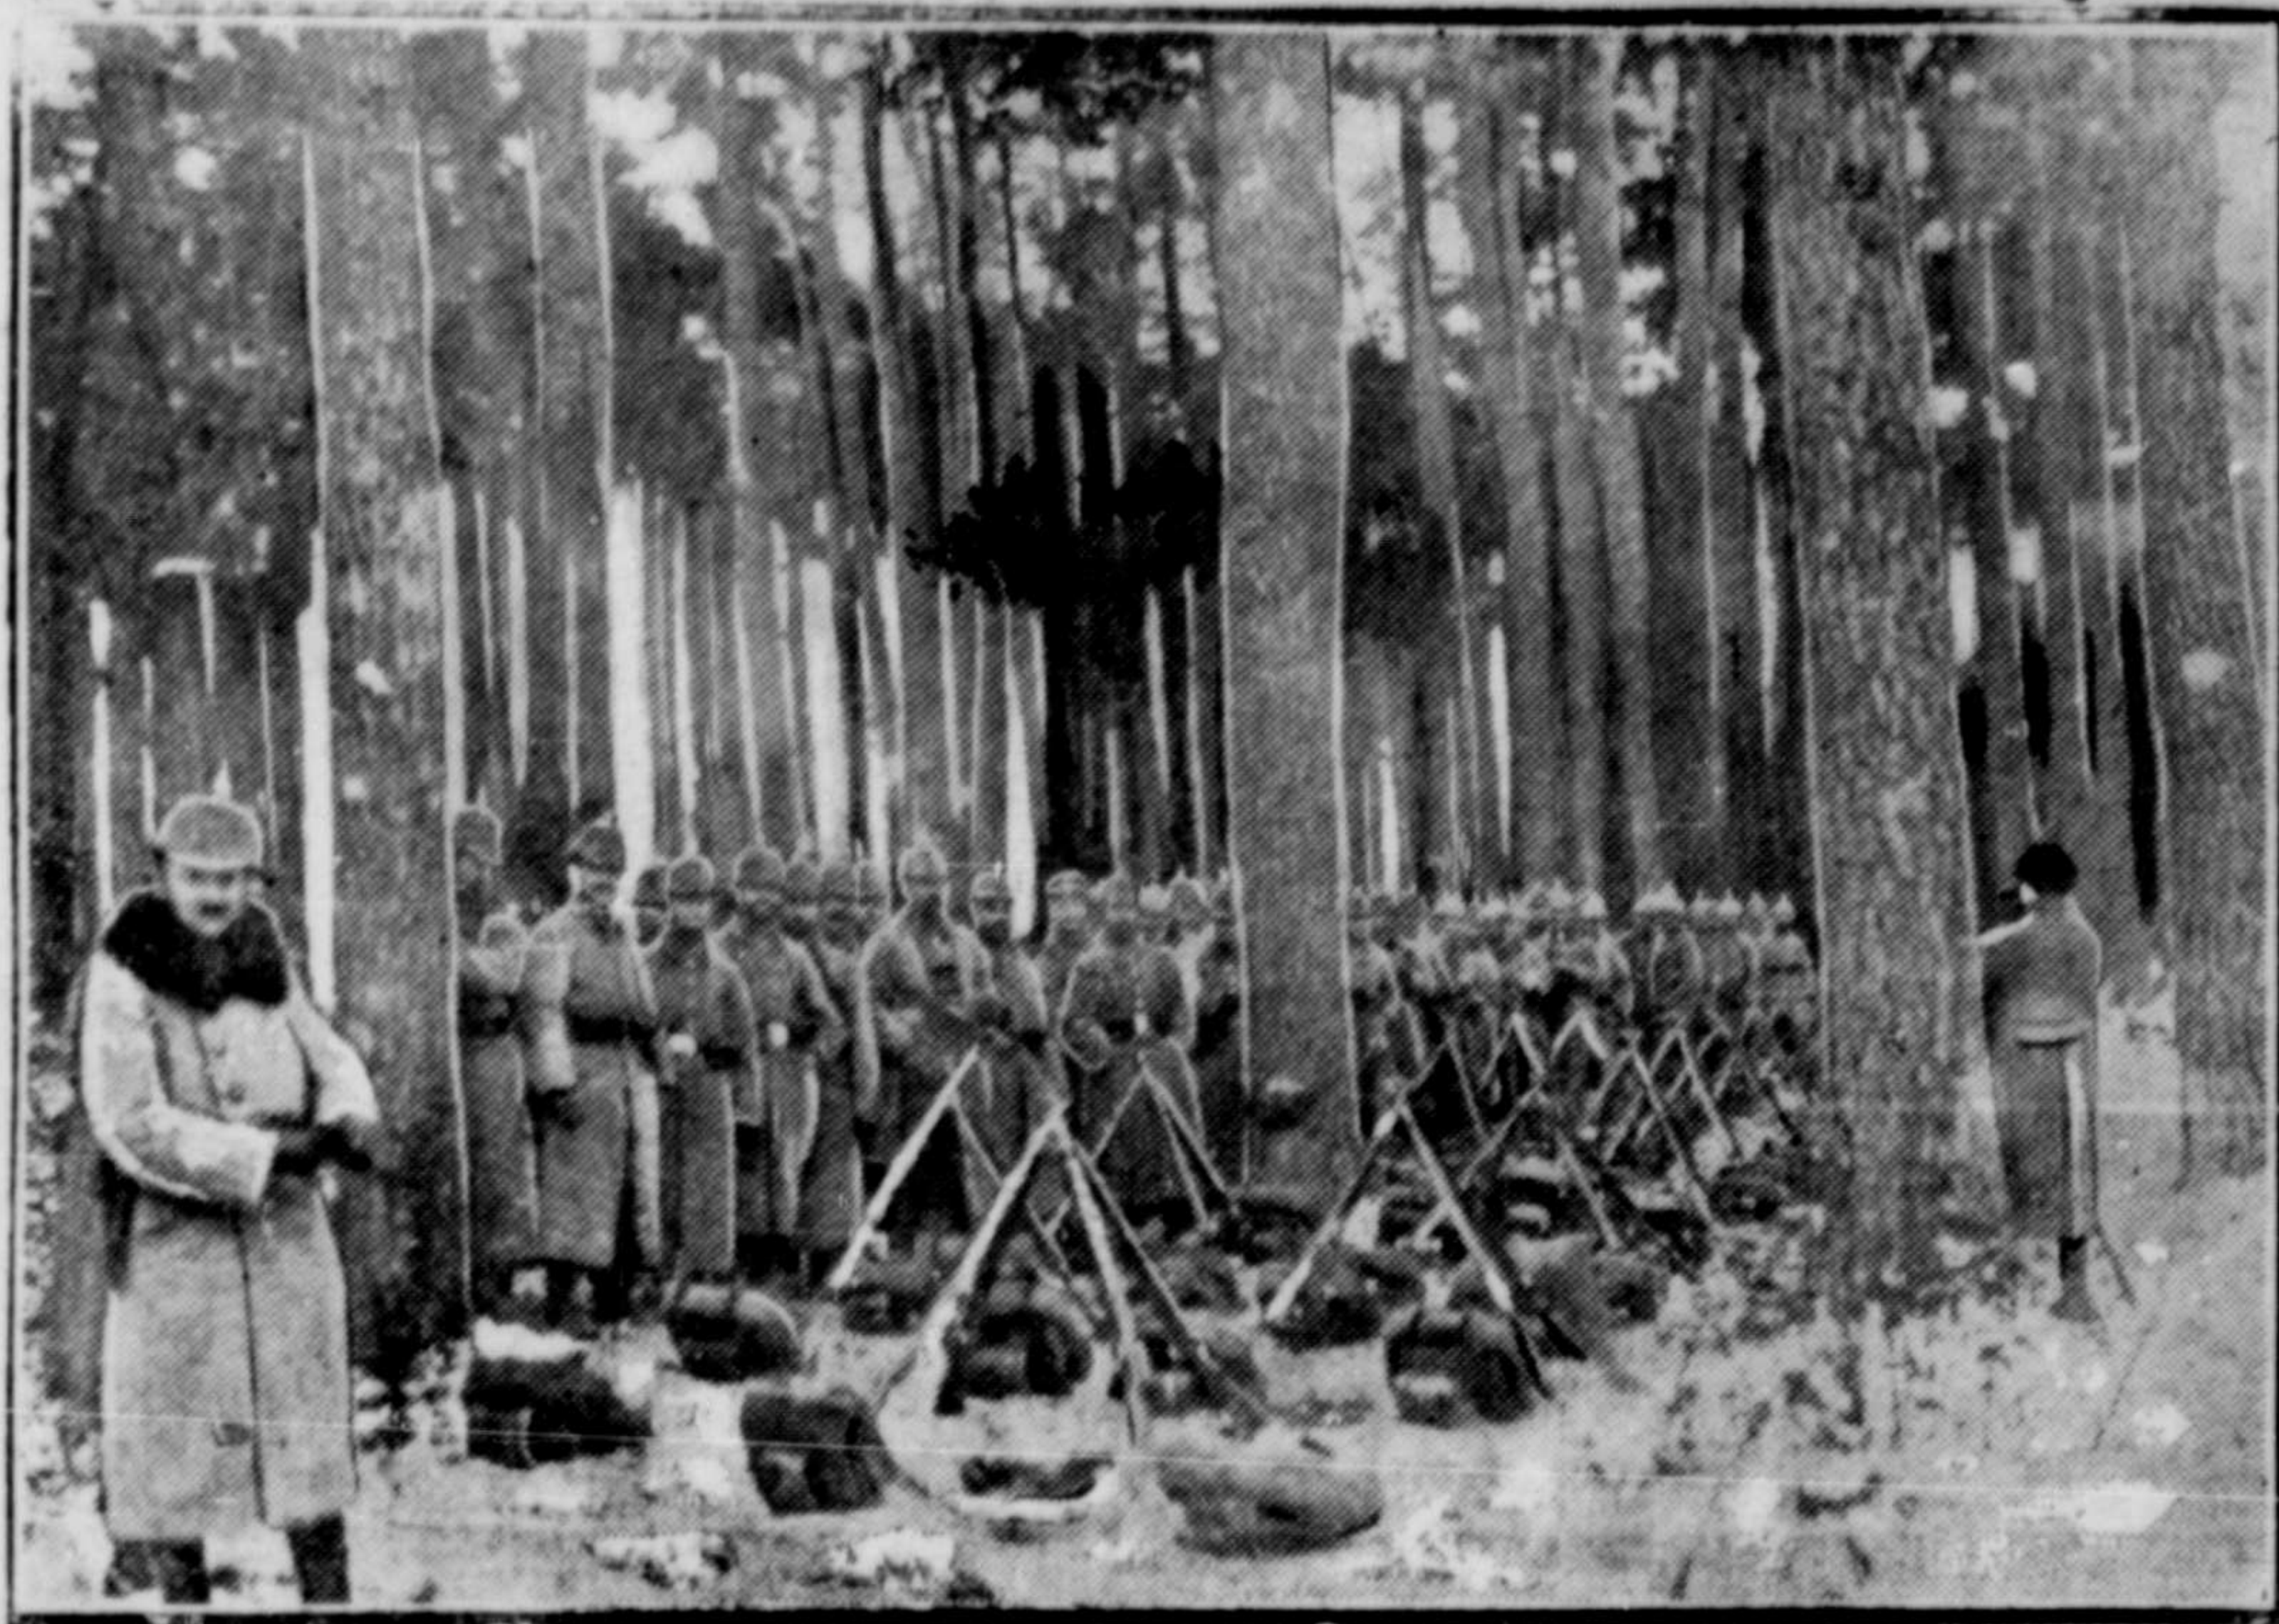

FEDERAL ELECTION EXPECTED TO TAKE PLACE IN JUNE--GERMAN SUBMARINES STILL BUSY

BOWSER WAS HOWLED DOWN AT CONSERVATIVE MEETING

FTER NOMINATING CANDIDATE BOWSER TRIES TO SPEAK BUT MEETING WAS BROKEN UP--J. S. COWPER CHOSEN TO OPPOSE BOWSER.

(Special to The Daily News.)
South Vancouver, March 17.—A meeting held here last night for the purpose of nominating a Conservative candidate for the Federal election, J. S. Cowper, secretary of the Dominion Trust Company, was chosen to oppose W. J. Bowser on the Dominion Trust issue.

Bowser has announced that he will run for Vancouver. At a meeting of 2,700 representatives of the depositors of the Dominion Trust Company, J. S. Cowper, secretary of the depositors committee, was chosen to oppose W. J. Bowser on the Dominion Trust issue. Mr. Cowper was formerly editor of the Prince Rupert Daily News and is now a member of the staff on the Vancouver Province.

GERMAN SUBMARINES GET MORE VICTIMS

(Special to The Daily News.)
London, March 17.—An official announcement says the British battleships, Atlanta, of 519 tons, and the Fingal, of 661 tons, have been torpedoed. Six lives were lost on the Fingal. This makes the British steamers that have been sunk since March 10.

BOWSER "BAWLED OUT"

More evidence is to hand foretelling the crushing defeat which awaits the McBride government. At a Conservative convention held last night in South Vancouver, W. J. Bowser toward the close of the meeting attempted to address the audience but refused to hear him and started an uproar that broke up the meeting. When it is considered that this was a regular Conservative meeting, without any Liberals or Socialists present, the importance of the event becomes more apparent. It simply shows that the best element in the Conservative party will not stand for a man like Bowser, who stands guilty for the failure of the Dominion Trust Company, the brutal treatment accorded the Nanaimo strikers, and many other similar villainies. It surely is a case of "Banish Bully Bowser."

ARRIVALS BY G. T. P. S.S. PRINCE GEORGE

Amongst the first class passengers arriving on the Prince George this morning were the following:
W. W. Campbell, E. Thorson, Brown, wife and daughter, Lucas, L. W. Lovelace, G. Morrison, J. Summers, Mr. Johnson, E. Hough, J. Drury, G. Rex, Otterson, G. W. Otterson, S. Martel, S. E. Anderson and J. A. Lange, David Beatty, S. W. A. J. Cooper, E. H. Fletcher, C. L. Cullin and wife, Miss A. L. Oldershaw, J. H. Murray, W. J. Findlan and wife, F. C. Kinnon, W. E. Hodges, Peter Groves and family, Diamond, A. W. Pridge, G. H. Moore and wife, M. R. McArthur, W. Sargent, J. Dodson, Mrs. A. G. Pearce, H. Taylor, J. Bamford, Mr. Berry, Miss Deane, J. A. Cox, D. J. Ross, Miss John Miller and wife, Wm. Wallace, W. G. Gillette, R. McNeill, W. G. McMorris, W. J. Allan, R. A. Loring, E. Smith, A. Houde and J. Crispo.

JACK DILLON BEATS GUNBOAT SMITH

Milwaukee, Wis., March 17.—Jack Dillon, of Indianapolis, was awarded the popular verdict over Gunboat Smith in a ten-round no-decision bout here last night.

OTTAWA GOVERNMENT MAY ALSO APPEAL

Ottawa, March 17.—The Evening Free Press (Liberal) in an article dealing with elections, says:

"Conservative members are certain that there will be an election. Liberal members expect that there will be and the ministers are saying nothing. Both sides seem satisfied. The Conservatives are declaring that the want of confidence motion by the Liberals justifies an appeal to the people. They claim that the truce has been formally and officially broken. The Liberals say that if the government thought it could win, it would have the election anyway, even if no amendment had been referred to the budget. They say that while they were keeping political truce, the government had been working upon a political ambush.

"Both parties appear to be cheerful over the prospect of an appeal to the country.

"The government is waiting to hear from the country in regard to the Laurier amendment and Sir Wilfrid's speech. Hon. Mr. Cochrane and Hon. Mr. Rogers are keeping a very close watch upon the country and are receiving reports from agents in all the provinces."

INTERNED GERMAN SHIP STEALS AWAY

(Special to The Daily News.)
London, March 17.—The interned German liner Macedonia has disappeared from Los Palmas. She had a cargo of war stores and carried wireless. Los Palmas is on the Canary Islands.

ITALY HAS SQUADRON OF FIVE DREADNOUGHTS

Spezia, Italy, March 16.—Vice Admiral the Duke of Abruzzi embarked on his flagship, the new Italian dreadnought Conte Di Cavour, to command a squadron composed entirely of dreadnoughts. The squadron included the Dante Alighieri, Caio Giulio, Cesare and Leonardo Da Vinci. This is the most powerful commission of units that Italy has ever had in one squadron.

HONORS FOR H. M. S. KENT.

The silken Ensign and Jack presented to the cruiser Kent in 1904 by the ladies of the County of Kent, having been torn to ribbons in the action off the Falklands Islands, when the Kent sank the German cruiser Nurnberg with the loss of all but seven of her crew, a ladies' committee has decided, with the full approval of the Council of the Association of the Men of Kent and Kentish Men, to replace the tattered flag with new colors. It is also intended to collect the fragments of the original colors and deposit them in some position of honor in the country.

CARRANZA TROOPS CAN'T KEEP ORDER

State of Anarchy Is Said to Exist at Manzanillo.

Washington, March 15.—Wireless reports received today by the State Department from the American consul of Manzanillo says anarchy prevails there, the Carranza troops in possession being unable to maintain order and that the food supply is decreasing.

The Villa-Zapata troops are investing the approaches to the town. Admiral Howard, commanding the Pacific fleet, is understood to be preparing to take foreigners away from Manzanillo if conditions do not improve. Several American ships are in the vicinity.

WAR EQUIPMENT BOTHERS KITCHENER

London, March 17.—Progress in equipping Britain's new armies has been seriously hampered by failure to get sufficient labor and the necessary factory facilities. General Kitchener said:

"The supply of war material now and for the next month or two will be a very serious consideration. It is causing me serious anxiety. It is absolutely essential that the output of ammunition must be improved. To do so is of the utmost importance to the operations in the field."

Continuing, he urged firms in certain lines to place their spare labor and machinery at the disposal of the government. He said he considered that men engaged in the supplying of munitions were serving their country as much as the men in the field, and that a medal would be issued to workers on munitions of war on the successful termination of the war.

FAVORITE WHO DID NOTHING MADE A HANDSOME PROFIT

Toronto, March 17.—An editorial comment from The Globe regarding one phase of the boot and shoe scandal follows:
"The Globe hears that a boot contract in which $3.85, or more, was the price paid by the government was farmed out to a sub-contractor at $3. Was a profit of 80 or 90 cents a pair on thousands of boots obtained by a favorite who did nothing but pass on the order? The House committee should tackle this side of the case."

OTTAWA IS TALKING ELECTION-- LIKELY TO TAKE PLACE IN JUNE

TRUCE TO PARTY POLITICS DECLARED BY SIR WILFRID LAURIER HAS BEEN OUTRAGED BY THE GOVERNMENT -- LIKELY TO COME TO SUDDEN END NOW.

(Special to The Daily News.)
Ottawa, March 17.—Election talk is now the general topic of conversation in the corridors of the House. It is believed on all hands that the government will hold a Federal election in June. The Premier has arranged for Saturday sittings.

Truce to Give Way.

The truce to party politics which was declared by Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the beginning of the war is said to have about reached the breaking point. It has been found out that for some time the government has been sending out campaign literature and the preparations now made for an election is likely to be the last straw.

THE CRADLE.

ALLEN—Born, to Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Allen, at the Prince Rupert General Hospital, March 17, a son.

AN EASY MARK

The humor connected with the Montreal trip of the mayor and Alderman Morrissey is gradually coming to the surface. No doubt they expected that when they got to Montreal the general manager of the bank would be there to meet them at the station; but not only was this denied them, but when they approached his office they were told by the porter that they could not be admitted, and were asked to put their requests in writing. All the business was accordingly done by letter and it is not even known that they saw the face (or the rear) of the general manager at all. Besides that, they were so rattled over the trip that they didn't read their letters till they got home. Incidentally, the trip cost in the neighborhood of $2,000. Prince Rupert is surely an easy mark.

BRITISH FLEETS AGAIN BOMBARDS THE COAST

(Special to The Daily News.)
Paris, March 17.—The enemy is furiously bombarding Nieuport with 16-inch howitzers.

The British fleet vigorously bombarded Westende, and the German reply is feeble. The protecting torpedo destroyers shelled a German submarine which attempted to approach. Three of the warships were directed by aeroplanes.

DONATIONS ASKED FOR.

The ladies of the St. John Ambulance Association are asking for donations of clean old sheets suitable for making bandages to be forwarded to the Red Cross Society for use among the wounded. Kindly leave sheets as early as possible at the home of Mrs. J. H. McMullin, Government House, where they will be collected and made into bandages. The lady members themselves are contributing cash, with which will be purchased sterilized bandages, which also will be forwarded to the Red Cross Society.

EDITORIALS

Premier McBride announced over a week ago that the Provincial Legislature was dissolved; at least this announcement was made through the party papers, which also contained the announcement that the order was signed by the Lieutenant Governor. When the row started in the Cabinet, apparently, the Premier was sorry he had dissolved the House and he sought a way out. Luckily, he found that the order had not yet been published in the official Gazette and through this loophole he decided to crawl. At least, the party papers now announce that the order was not really signed by the Lieutenant Governor and that the House still stands. This surely reflects badly on the Lieutenant Governor, if the Premier announces the dissolution of the House before the Lieutenant Governor gives the order; or does it imply that the Premier is just trying to cover up a bad blunder in order to recover from the effect of his recent chill.

One by one the German pirate ships are being rounded up and Britons can again sing "Britannia Rules the Waves." The recent sinking of the Dresden and the cornering of the Eitel Friederich accounts for almost all the German ships that were known to be at large. While Britain has chased the Germans from the seas she must still keep watch, for a powerful German fleet is safely locked up within striking distance of her shores. Whether they shall now turn their attention to digging out the remaining rats is not known, but it will be hard to keep the British tars idle. They will soon be looking for fresh meat.

The last month has on the whole been favorable to the German armies. At several points on the eastern frontier they succeeded in throwing back the Russians, in many cases with considerable loss. In one fight it was reported that forty thousand Russians had been taken prisoners. It has not been so generally known, however that in this attempt they had lost a hundred thousand of their choicest troops. These are the things that tell most on Germany. She can ill afford the loss of so many men on the eve of the grand charge of the Allies. The loss of a hundred thousand troops may mean the turning of the tide when the issue of the war is at stake.

The attack on the Dardanelles is more than a casual part of the military tactics of the Allies. In the first place it will allow the Russian Black Sea fleet an outlet to the Mediterranean; but this is not the important part. Neither is the movement of the Russian wheat their chief aim. The chief advantage of the opening of the Dardanelles will be that Russia can be supplied with guns—both artillery and rifles—and other war supplies. Russia has an abundance of men and many of them are well armed, but she requires military equipment for her new recruits. With the Dardanelles opened this can easily be supplied, and the Russian forces would immediately become more effective.

FRANCE IN WAR TIME.

Before the war many people considered the inhabitants of France decadent, enervated, corrupt. But the Gauls have shown themselves possessed of a type of manhood and of a measure of endurance of which any nation might be proud. They have shown themselves prepared, devoted, resourceful and self-denying. Their bitterest enemies may hate them, but they must feel a very cordial admiration for them.—Detroit Free Press.

GERMAN FLEET WILL STAY HIDDEN FOR WAR

Afterwards, Germany Hopes to Build One Rivaling Britain's

London, March 15.—A Daily Express dispatch from Amsterdam says:

Before long there will be a general shuffle of positions in the higher command of the German navy. Admiral Von Tirpitz and his master are not satisfied with the doings of Admiral Von Ingenohl, commander-in-chief of the battle fleet. They ascribe to his lack of foresight the loss of many German ships.

"What is left for Germany at sea?" That was the question discussed recently at a naval war council in Berlin to which Germany's best admirals had been summoned. No communication was made to the press regarding the outcome of the council, but it is understood from a trustworthy source that Admiral Von Ingenohl's policy of seeking battle was sternly condemned by the Admiral's opponents.

It may be taken for granted that the German fleet will never again attack England's ships in anything like an equal fight, but will remain hidden until peace is declared and then Germany, with what is left of it, will endeavor to build the largest fleet that ever existed and hopes then to challenge England's fleet within fifteen or twenty years.

Canadians at Front Say They Can Not Get Too Many.

London, March 16.—From letters received here from the Canadians at the front, it is learned that it is impossible to send them too many Canadian newspapers. The Canadians are all along a 300 mile battle line, which makes it impossible for one newspaper to serve so many men as was the case when the troops were all practically in one spot. In the case of one section of the Canadian force, papers arrived at the front only two days after the troops themselves.

Another thing desired is French dictionaries. This morning a letter was received by the Canadian Associated Press from Private Harry Murton asking for papers.

"I would be much obliged, too, if you would get us some pocket editions of French-English dictionaries," he said. "We are right up in the firing line, but I can not give any information."

PRAISE FOR BRITISH ARMY'S SNIPERS

Sir John French Says They Are Much Superior to the Enemy's

London, March 16.—One of the semi-weekly reports from the headquarters in the field of the British commander, Sir John French, issued by the official information bureau, says that the situation on that part of the front held by the British forces is unchanged. The report says:

"The situation on our front is unchanged. The mastery over the enemy's snipers, reported in the previous communication as having been acquired in the neighborhood of La Basse, has been maintained, and similar conditions have been produced in other portions of our front, notably in the region of Ypres.

"This result is primarily due to local individual initiative and has been materially assisted by successful mining operations. On the night of March 5th and 6th a mine was exploded under the German trench south-east of Ypres. Several of the enemy were killed. The mine crater was occupied temporarily by our troops and the enemy's trench on either side was rendered unsafe.

"On several sections of our front the enemy's artillery has been more active than usual, but the effect has been slight."

HEART CRIES BECOME RELICS OF THE WAR

Pitiful Messages in Letters Found on Battlefields of Belgium.

London, March 16.—One of the first English speaking persons to visit the field of battle in Southwest Belgium was Edward Page Gaston, an American business man, who has long been a resident of London. Mr. Gaston has just returned from Belgium, and brought with him many relics of the fighting, chiefly from Mons, and those he has in his offices at Salisbury Square.

There are many kinds of soldiers' pay-books, copies of the soldiers' small books, written by Lord Wolseley for the guidance of the rank and file; letters from home; letters written by soldiers and never posted, remnants of uniforms, pipe cases, tobacco pouches, and so forth.

On a sheet of cardboard are a few odds and ends that represent the belongings of a major in the British army. By the side of the cardboard is a large spoon, tied round with a silk handkerchief, inside the handkerchief is a photograph of a soldier and a woman. These were the property of an Irish Lancer, who met his death on the railroad from Mons.

Goodbye, God Bless You.

Of all the relics Mr. Gaston brought back none has a more pathetic interest than the letters. Turning them over, one comes across such an expression as this: "I congratulate you on your promotion. It seems too good to be true. Goodbye and God bless you. Dear God, keep you in health and bring you back safely." The soldier who got the letter did not return.

"If you don't come back, what shall I do?" is the cry that comes from another woman's heart, and he did not come back.

Mr. Gaston will get into communication with the War Office about the relics, and as far as possible they will be sent to their rightful owners.

When a girl looks miserable even a wise man can't tell whether it is because of a broken heart or an aching corn.

KIDNEY TROUBLE AFFECTED HIS SPINE

Suffered For Forty Years Until He Used "Fruit-a-lives"

BRONTE, ONT., Oct. 31st, 1913.

"For about forty years, I was troubled with Lame Back brought on by Kidney and Bladder Trouble. I was never confined to my bed with the trouble, but it affected my spine and I had to rest for a time. I took advertised remedies which never did me any good. Then I saw 'Fruit-a-lives' advertised and decided to try them. They did me more good than any other remedy. My son suffered from the same trouble and frequently had to leave off working, but 'Fruit-a-lives' remedied it for him. I would strongly advise anyone suffering from Kidney and Bladder Trouble to use 'Fruit-a-lives'."

GOVT. WILL OPERATE THE N. T. RAILWAY

Ottawa, March 16.—During the course of a debate on the National Transcontinental railway in the senate, arising out of a request for papers, Hon. Mr. Loughheed made a statement to the effect that it is the intention of the government, pending negotiations with the G. T. P., to operate the road in order to preserve it.

Mr. Loughheed said that until last winter the road had been in the hands of contractors. When the minister of railways went over the line last fall, he found about a thousand settlers in the vicinity of the lines and provided a train service. The contractors who operated trains for business had done so at a loss. The government had to provide train service and had done so at considerable expense. A bi-weekly service was being operated from Cochrane to Hearst, 129 miles, and from Cochrane to Amos, 141 miles. The loss on the service was $12,000 a month for 275 miles for a bi-weekly service. This was what the government had to pay the contractors for operating the road and the contractors stated that they got no other revenue.

Mr. Loughheed said that alleged regrading of the road had nothing to do with the failure of the G. T. P. to take it over. The G. T. P. had been parties to everything done on this line, including the fixing of grades and the location of shops at Quebec. At this time allegations of the G. T. P. should not be taken too seriously.

The government now saw the necessity of almost immediately undertaking the operation of the entire system for the purpose of maintenance, as it was realized that the road could not be left exposed to climatic attacks and to the effect of spring freshets. To leave it unoperated would result in its destruction.

CAPTAIN OF EITEL TELLS EXPERIENCES

German Officer Narrates How His Ship Was in Need of Coal and Supplies Were Obtained.

Newport News, March 12.—Captain Max Thierichens, commander of the German converted cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich, broke his seal of silence today for the first time since he sought haven in this port Wednesday and told something of his four months' roving as a commerce raider.

The commander, as he sat in his ship's cabin, was asked if his historic raid of the sea was over. "Just wait!" he exclaimed. "We haven't given it up by a long ways. We had luck and we shall have more, I hope."

"As you know," he continued, "we cruised for days without seeing a thing off Chile. Our coal was almost gone. We were really in a bad way. Then one day we sighted a sailing ship flying no flag. A squad went aboard and demanded that she show her colors. She admitted that she was the French ship Jean."

"When we read the signal wiggled back by our boarding crew it was as if a roast pigeon were to fly into the mouth of a starving man. 'French ship Jean,' came the message. 'Loaded with best Cardiff coal.'"

"But that wasn't all. There was a heavy sea running and we didn't dare come alongside without risking smashing both hulls. So I gave orders that we sail her to the nearest place—I found an ideal place called Easter Island on an atlas. Our crew took her over, but later I offered the French a chance to sail their own ship under our orders with pay, and they accepted."

Too Slow for Eitel.

"But this was too slow for us, so we put back a chain and towed her. When we were under way again we sighted another ship. We made her out as the English boat Kildalton and took after her with our tow line joking along behind. We soon finished her and then proceeded until we reached Easter Island with out prize. We landed and when we found there was no particular danger we rested and quietly coaled. It was like feeding a hungry man." Next to the coal the greatest need the Eitel felt in her long journey, the commander said, was water. Because of the water shortage, he said:

"The Eitel anchored in the rain belt, near Pernambuco, and spread all sails—not perpendicular, but flat—and waited, and in forty-eight hours the rains descended and the tanks were filled."

"We were out of the track of liners," the captain continued, and could hardly believe it when we saw the French steamship Floride appearing."

Here Commander Thierichens paused to give word of sincere praise for the Floride's captain.

"There is a real gentleman," he said, with enthusiasm, referring to Captain Mossion. "At first his patriotism and the loss of his boat made it hard for him to compose himself, but later when he had accepted the situation, he bore his position like a true gentleman."

Green Sprigs of Wheat.

The commander's glance then chanced to fall on a few green sprigs of wheat growing from a box in his cabin window.

"You can't imagine what that little growing green meant to us," he said. "Even in the cities you can at least look into a florist's shop. But through these months on the sea we yearned for it. So when we reached Easter Island, we filled baskets with earth and then had to plant were beans and peas, and we soon found that they were not growing. We were just about ready to give up ever seeing our window gardens green when there came a wheat ship. We planted some of it, and you see it is growing."

A strange little Christmas tree at the captain's elbow still bearing its gold and candles, was a relic, the officer said, of the Christmas celebration. On the stand was a souvenir of the captain's forty-first birthday, celebrated yesterday in this port. It was an elaborately framed poem, which the commander smilingly explained was the present of the non-commissioned officers, Gesangverin. Later, as the commander went on deck, the poet was congratulated personally with a warm handshake.

Hanging on the walls in the captain's cabin was the shell of a tropical fish and lying on the table were photographs, which the captain proudly displayed as his "farthest south" record. They showed two great icebergs and a wide gray icefield.

"We went far south of the Horn," he explained. "For it was after the battles on the coast and we were afraid of the straits. Then we were up in the tropics, shooting sharks."

"Despite the changes of weather and the hazards of the cruise," the commander added, as the interview closed, "we have not lost a single life and the crew we have today is the same to a man as that which left Tsing Tau many months ago, and they are ready to take another chance."

PAYS TRIBUTE TO MR. L. W. SHATFORD

Sir Richard McBride Speaks on the Bank of Vancouver.

Sir Richard McBride, in the Provincial Legislature, spoke at some length on the experience of the Bank of Vancouver, which had recently decided to close out its business after such a gallant fight. Without criticizing the people of Vancouver, he mentioned how proud that city, and, indeed, the whole province, had been to point to the establishment of the bank when it had secured its charter. He could not but feel that had it received the due support and loyalty from the people of Vancouver, and the encouragement and assistance the other banks should have given it, it would not now be closed. He expressed the belief that ere long it would be enabled to resume business, and felt that it would be a fine thing for the credit of the Terminal City, in whose future all had great faith, but at the present juncture such a rehabilitation of a young financial institution would be a splendid object lesson in loyalty to home matters.

—Fort George Tribune.

FELL OVER A CLIFF.

A story from Caldwell, N. J., to the effect that nine young women saved a man who had fallen over a cliff by tearing up their petticoats and making a rope of them is just another instance of how a telegraph editor, who knows news, but knows not fashion news, can be fooled by a conscienceless correspondent. We'll wager there wasn't enough petticoat in that crowd of nine women to make a dancing costume—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A Footwear Specification.

"I want a pair of button shoes for my wife."

"This way, sir. What kind do you wish, sir?"

"Doesn't matter; just so they don't button in the back."—Philadelphia Ledger.

OFF THE WATER WAGON WHILE HE WAS ON IT

Street Sprinkler Man is Warned by Court Not to Let Anomalous Condition Recur.

Los Angeles, March 16.—E. A. Bernaro, a city employee, was fined $50 in police court yesterday for being off the water wagon while on it. Bernaro drives a street sprinkler for a living and was arrested when he sprayed numerous pedestrians while scouring a downtown thoroughfare.

"How could I be drunk when I was on the water wagon?" he demanded when arraigned.

The judge removed him for unseemly levity and added:

"Testimony of witnesses show that while on the water wagon you were off it."

"In other words," continued the court, "you would have been better off the wagon while you were off it. If that is not sufficiently clear, let me say you had better not get off the water wagon while you are on. Fifty dollars or fifty days in jail."

Bernaro paid and said he would stay on the wagon.

VON DER GOLTZ HAS SUDDENLY VANISHED

German General in Turkey May Have Met With Violent Death.

Athens, March 17.—Field Marshal Von Der Goltz, the German commander of the Turkish army, arrived with a numerous staff some days ago at Smyrna to stay for two months with the purpose of superintending the strengthening of fortifications. Twenty-four hours later, however, he left, it is said, by special train for an unknown destination.

Since then no word has been heard regarding him, and it is reported in this city, and even believed by German officers, that he met with a violent death.

DRESDEN FIGHT.

The Dresden was sunk by the Glasgow and Kent on March 14 at 9 a. m. The entire German crew was saved, but fifteen were badly wounded. They were landed at Valparaiso.

While thankful that the Dresden has been retired from the high seas, the sailor boys of H. M. S. Newcastle, now in the Esquimaux dock, will be jealous in a friendly way, of course, of the good luck that has fallen to the commander of the Glasgow in bringing the fast Dresden to book. The Newcastle is just back from a three-months' cruise along the west coast of South America. Twice she cleared for action, thinking that she had found the Dresden, but on both occasions the news of her presence turned out to be a false alarm. For days on end the Britisher cruised amongst the Chilean islands, dodging in and out of bays and inlets and trying to get an eye on the elusive German. There are hundreds of islands along the coast and it was felt aboard the Newcastle that it would be a matter of luck if they came up with the Dresden. The Newcastle was four or five knots faster than the Dresden and armed with heavier guns. With the Newcastle were operating the Japanese cruisers Asama, Hizen and Izumo and the battleship Australia. The last-mentioned has gone to European waters and probably a month ago had joined the grand fleet of Admiral Jellicoe.

The Dresden was a ship of 3,544 tons displacement and carried a crew of 350 men. She had a complement of twelve 4.1-inch, four 2.1-inch guns and four machine guns.

The point where she was run down was 400 miles directly west of Valparaiso in the South Pacific Ocean.

MANY CONSERVATIVES JOIN LIBERAL RANKS FOR COMING CONTEST

Large Number Attend Meeting of Ward Five Liberal Association and Will Support Party.

Vancouver, March 17.—A meeting of the Ward Five Liberal Association was held on Saturday evening in the A. O. F. Hall, corner Tenth Avenue and Main Street, to appoint delegates to the nominating convention to be held on March 19. The gathering was one of the largest and most enthusiastic ever held by the association in Mount Pleasant and included among its numbers some who had previously opposed the Liberal party but who were now firmly convinced that the time had arrived for the complete overthrow of the McBride-Bowser oligarchy at Victoria.

One of these went so far as to say he would furnish a substantial list of those in the ward who were going to join hands with the Liberal party and that the disension in the Conservative ranks was spreading so rapidly that the present leaders had lost control and were hunting new timber but that it was too late.

The required number of delegates and alternates having been selected, the meeting proceeded to discuss possible nominees at the convention. A number of names were mentioned and a feeling was manifested that a Ward Five name should go before the convention and Dr. J. A. Graham and Alderman C. N. James were proposed, but neither would declare their intention of accepting this request. No formal resolution was adopted pledging the delegates but all were agreed that M. A. Macdonald and Ralph Smith were a certainty and that Mr. P. Donnelly, Principal McKay, Mr. Gordon Drysdale and Alderman McIntosh, if they allowed their names to be placed in nomination, were worthy of their support.

The work necessary for the coming campaign was gone into very fully and the ward is already divided into sections with a chairman and workers in each. Dr. W. D. Murray was appointed chairman of ward organization.

MONSTER ATTRACTION AT MAJESTIC THEATRE

There is a big treat in store for those who go to The Majestic tonight. They will witness what the management claims will be the biggest and best program ever shown in this city for the money.

The first two reels of "The Black Box" will be shown. This serial is even better than "Lucille Love," which is saying a whole lot. "Changed Lives" is a drama in three reels which should please the most critical. The animated weekly, with all the latest war news, and a screaming comedy will complete the splendid program.

The orchestra will render Irish selections in honor of St. Patrick's Day.

KAISERS PLANS ALL BROKEN UP

War Lord Had Intended a Fresh Dash on Calais but Met With Defeat.

Rotterdam, March 17.—Information from the frontier indicates that the British success at La Basse has thrown the whole of the German right wing line into a remarkable state of activity. Men are being hurried from all garrisons and from some of the coast places to stop the advance of the British. For days they had been collecting along the Yser, expecting that the British would attempt to throw them back there, but hoping a quick concentration would give them the advantage of the initiative. A counter plan contemplated a move northwest in the Dixmude region in the hope of cutting off the Allies along the coast at Nieuport, and at the same time trying to push a wedge through in the neighborhood of Ypres. Such importance was attached to this fresh dash for Calais, nothing short of which is expected to satisfy the German people's craving for victory, that the Kaiser himself went in the hope of giving greater sting to the attack of his legions, but the tremendous attack of the British, south of this region, forestalled them, once more robbed them of the initiative, and threw out of gear all their plans. In order to meet the irresistible advance of the British, troops were hurried with the greatest speed from the Yser. So serious was their position regarded that one story from the frontier credits the German General Staff with holding a hasty midnight council in a small village in the immediate rear of their lines, at which the Kaiser is said to have been present.

CARMINE PONBOMBIE WANTED A MATE

It looks as if there were somebody around town who wanted to get a new supply of boots for the Canadian soldiers. At any rate, Louis Tromer had his shoe shop broken into a few nights ago and everything in sight taken.

Yesterday a man giving the name of Carmine Ponbombie walked into the shoe shop of McRae & McLeod and asked them to make him a mate for a boot he carried in his hand. Mr. McRae at once thought of Louis Tromer's loss and stepped to the door and called Constable Grady. Sam told the man he needn't get a mate for that boot, as he had the mate at the Police Station, and invited him to come up and have a look. Carmine started off all right but after going a few steps he got suspicious of his companion and "beat it." Sam is big and heavy but you bet he can run and before long he again had Carmine by the neck and this time landed him safely behind the bars.

The case was up in the Police Court today. Mr. Tromer swore the boot was his and also that Carmine had been in his place looking at his boots a few days before the robbery. Wm. McRae told of the man wanting him to make him a mate for the boot he had. The case was adjourned till tomorrow.
