JOHN MAY ACQUITTED OF MURDER CHARGE

Most of the evidence in the case of Rex vs. May, in which John May, a Hazelton Indian, is undergoing trial for the murder of Albert Taylor on September 28 last, was heard in the Assize Court yesterday. The following jury was selected for the case:

John B. Doig, foreman, C. L. Munroe, W. J. Crawford, Stanley E. Parker, Charles T. Partington, G. A. Sweet, C. H. Thomas, J. F. Joyce, P. V. Rowick, Thomas Sproat, Thomas H. Arneil, W. E. Williseroft.

The balance of the evidence in the May murder case was heard this morning. Counsel for the Crown and the defence then addressed the jury and at 12:20 the judge commenced his summing up, which occupied but a few minutes.

The jury then retired, and, after fifteen minutes' deliberation, brought in a verdict of not guilty.

HOW THE HOSPITAL SHIP SUBSCRIPTIONS WERE SPENT

In a report from the treasurer of the Provincial Chapter I. O. D. E. regarding the sum of $746.20, the surplus collected for the Hospital Ship Fund, which was sent to the treasurer for use as considered best, the following accountings are made of the money: The sum of $184.95 was given to help wives and families of men who have gone to the front. In most cases aid was given to help a wife and child to rejoin her parents while her husband was at the front. The sum of $243.50 was sent to the Queen's Canadian Military Hospital at Shornecliffe. The sum of $94.75 was applied to fit out a contingent of ex-service men from Fiji who arrived in Victoria in mid-winter with nothing but their tropical clothes, on their way to England. The Canadian Red Cross Fund received $100, and another $100 was donated to the soup kitchen started by a British Columbian (Miss K. Dunsmuir), which arranges to supply soup and restoratives to the wounded as they arrive by train. The sum of $26, completing the total of $746.20, was spent on wool to knit socks for the first contingent.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM THE TRENCHES IN FRANCE

DESCRIBES EFFECT OF ASPHYXIATING GASES—HOW BRITISH ESCAPED THE FUMES AND AFTERWARDS MOWED DOWN THE ENEMY.

The following is an extract from a letter received by Jack Bathurst from Jack Bradbury, a well known old-timer, who left here with the first contingent, now at the front as a unit of the 16th Battalion, Canadian Scottish, 3rd Brigade—somewhere in France. Since writing the letter Mr. Bradbury has been reported as wounded:

"The voyage across was fairly good, the uncertainty of German submarines giving it a touch of excitement. Our stay in England was one continuous grind from 6 a. m. until 5 p. m., and the last two weeks we were quarantined in barracks on account of measles.

"Our departure from England was a surprise. Orders to leave were received in the afternoon, and the next night we were in the trenches in Belgium. I dare not mention the places, but probably you have read of the good work of the Canadians, so you can easily guess our whereabouts. We were in the trenches for five days, and I can tell you it was a great experience. We marched to the trenches in the dark, so perhaps you can imagine us under a severe shell fire. I admit I was nervous, and every time a shell burst close to me I dug my hole a little deeper.

"Three times we had to move and dig ourselves in again. The German artillery kept up a fierce bombardment practically the whole time we were entrenched. The snipers were also pretty bad, being disguised, and mixing in the French lines, but the most diabolical stuff you can imagine is the asphyxiating gas which they are using. Every man is supplied with a respirator, but it is only partially useful. One or two sniffs of it will put a man out of action. The Germans have used it against the Canadians several times. Last Sunday they tried it, but it wasn't much of a success for the Huns. After letting it loose, they advanced in solid formation behind the clouds of yellowish green gas. The British retired before it reached our first trenches; then the Allies' artillery and machine guns concentrated their fire on the advancing Germans. The havoc must have been awful. It seemed impossible that anything could remain alive in that area.

"The roar of the guns was like continual thunder, and we could see a stream of bursting shells over the enemy's trenches. After the guns slowed down, we again advanced, and not only took our own trenches again, but two German trenches as well.

"We are now billeted at a farmhouse, and have a week to rest up before going back to the trenches. Soldiering is not so bad as some people make out, and a trench can be made fairly habitable. The rations are good and come along fairly regularly. Our chief trouble is loss of sleep, but if we can get out to billets every four or five days it will be all right."

"Jack" sends his regards to all friends, and expresses a wish to be in Prince Rupert long enough to take one "shot" with a certain Walter, but reserves that pleasure until his return from the war.

LIEUT. WARNEFORD V. C., MEETS DEATH IN FRANCE

Paris, June 18.—Lieut. Warneford, the daring young Canadian aviator, who recently gained the Victoria Cross and world-wide fame for his shattering of a Zeppelin, was killed yesterday in France, when his aeroplane fell. A passenger who was with him was also killed.

SHERIFF AND NEGRO PRISONER ARE SLAIN

Winnsboro, S. C., June 18.—Sheriff A. D. Hood, of Fairfield County; Jules Smith, a negro prisoner, and Clyde Isenbauer were killed and seven others injured in an attack on the sheriff's party here yesterday while the negro was being taken to court for trial on an assault charge. Clyde and Ernest Isenbauer, relatives of the young woman Smith is alleged to have attacked, and William Morrison, a brother-in-law, were indicted last night for murder by the Fairfield County grand jury. Witnesses before the grand jury are said to have testified that Clyde Isenbauer led the mob.

CANADA AND THE WAR.

The war has gripped the very heart of England. Men think and talk of nothing else. Great Britain is a new country. Such is the testimony of the correspondent of the New York Tribune.
He says also that several fashionable hotels are so empty that they had better close down. Smart restaurants have lowered their prices. Women pay no attention to the new fashions. Thousands of khaki figures march along the streets. The country has awakened to the gravity of the situation. Recruiting goes ahead faster than equipment. Nearly all men under thirty have proffered their services. Nearly all the engineering works are making munitions. More than 100,000 women have registered themselves at the labor exchanges as willing to engage in war work. Women are acting as drivers, as postmen, as commissaries.
No such transformation is seen in Canada. Except for a sprinkling of men in khaki nobody would know that the country is at war. Most people say that Canada is willing to place all its resources at the disposal of the British Empire. But as one looks at the streets and observes the daily life of the people, he sees no evidence of any such sacrifice. War has not altered our habits, or diminished our quest for pleasure. No stranger visiting Toronto and unaware of what is going on in Europe would imagine that Canada was at war.
And yet we believe there is a very general willingness to do more than has been done. Recruits come in as fast as they are asked for. Appeals for aid in connection with the war meet with a generous response. The Canadian correspondent of the Round Table points out that there has been practically no protest in the Canadian Parliament or from any section of the Canadian people against the organization of an army of 100,000 men, and an appropriation of $150,000,000—"this huge appropriation for a young country." Nobody is grumbling over the burden of the new war taxes. The chief criticism offered is that they do not raise as much revenue as is required.

The people are willing to act with liberality and patriotism, but they need a lead, and that lead ought to come from Ottawa. We ought to hear ministers talking in this country as Asquith and Lloyd George and Bonar Law talk in England. It is for Sir Robert Borden and his colleagues to mobilize the moral forces of Canada, as well as to recruit men and give them ample equipment.
If the Prime Minister resisted the attempt to bring on an early election, he did well. But he ought to do more. He ought first to say there will be no election until after the war if he can help it; he ought then to take advantage of the unity of the country and the absence of party strife.
The country needs that kind of leadership to bring it up to a realization of what the war means. There are immense resources, in men, in money, in morals, awaiting development. Men, women and children in Canada need to be told what they can do, and what they can do best. The country will respond, we are sure, to an appeal to its patriotism and liberality.—Toronto Star.

KEEN FOOTBALL GAME AT RECREATION PARK

Although sporting enthusiasts had lots of excitement during the baseball series, they still clamored for more, as quite a large crowd attended the league game last night, between the Merchants and Sons of England. The Englishmen were at full strength, and a keen game was expected, with a win for the Sons the prevailing opinion.
Play opened quietly, too much reckless kicking spoiling the play, but it was not long before the Sons found the location of Smart, who had to be alert to save from Hardy. The same player soon afterwards was making for goal when fouled, but the referee allowed the game to proceed, which was rather hard on the Sons. Still persevering, Sid Hardy, profiting by a miskick by Doodson, made progress and gave Smart no chance with his parting effort. This improved the play, but lack of cohesion spoiled many chances for the Merchants. Their short passes, often going astray, never tended towards results, and when Brighton drove in a long shot, nobody expected to see the sphere find the net, as it ultimately did off the upright; Brand seemed to think the ball was going past and he must have been surprised to find himself picking it from the back of the net, thus putting the teams again on level terms, at which the score remained until half time.
A transformation of the Merchants' forwards was noted on resumption, but did not materially improve the situation. Corners were numerous but were taken little advantage of by both teams. End to end play prevailed but it was left to Slocum to have the best scoring chance of the game, but he mysteriously put the ball over the bar. Profiting by this little piece of luck, Brighton and Co. carried play to the English end but they found themselves confronted by a solid defence, who soon were giving their forwards every support, and, but for some good work by Smart, they undoubtedly would have taken the lead. Time was flying fast but still the score stood one all, and a draw seemed likely. However, Darton, got an opportunity with one of his great corner kicks, and the ball sailed right into the net, giving the Englishmen the lead, with four minutes to go. This point was vigorously protested by their opponents. A foolish penalty gave the Englishmen another opportunity, but, with the resultant kick, Eardley put harmlessly over the bar. Two minutes afterwards the game came to a finish with the Sons winning by 2 goals to 1.
Best for the Sons were Darton, Garnet, Eardley, Sid Hardy and Slocum, while Smart, Currie Arthur and Brighton were outstanding for the Merchants.
Mr. Dixon refereed the game.

CONSIDERABLE COST OF STOPPING A TRAIN

In the campaign which the Ohio railroads have been making for higher passenger rates in that state all kinds of statistics have been filed with the Legislative Committee. Probably the statistics which deal with train stops, filed by President Williard, of the Baltimore & Ohio, are among the most interesting.
This memorandum asserts that it costs from $1.35 to $1.85 to stop a passenger train at a station on the Ohio roads, or an average of about $1.60 a stop. In other words, with a train making seventeen stops, there would be a cost to the railroad of $27.50 for starting and stopping alone. Among the items entering into the cost of stopping a train the most important is coal, as when a train is stopped the airbrakes are applied and the coal is used to generate the steam which compresses the air.
There is great wear and tear on equipment because of these stoppages, and the car wheels, the brake shoes and the rails are worn away because of friction. In starting after a stop there is a great expenditure of steam in getting under headway and there is more wear and tear on equipment. Some railroad men say that President Williard's figures are too low and that taking the train with seventeen stops it would require at least thirty through passengers to pay for the cost of starting and stopping the train.

CHAPLIN AT WESTHOLME TODAY AND TOMORROW

The management of the Westholme Theatre presents an exceptional program for tonight and tomorrow. Charlie Chaplin, the world-famed comedian, will be seen in "The Face on the Bar-room Floor." A two-reel feature drama entitled "Sheep's Clothing" will also be screened. Hearst-Selig's Gazette No. 26 will be a splendid addition to the program, showing a giant aeroplane made by the Americans for the Czar of Russia, and also German and Austrian prisoners captured by the Russians.
"The Chicken Inspector" is a very fine comedy, with "Cutey" providing the smiles. A film entitled "The Family Skeleton" and "Cypress Logging in Florida" conclude a splendid show.

TORNADOES DAMAGE RICH WHEAT FIELDS

Hastings, Neb., June 18.—Two tornadoes swept a part of Adams County last evening. No great damage was done by the wind, but the hail storm which followed devastated a section of farming country fifteen miles long and five or six miles wide. The force of the hailstones, which were very large, was terrific. North and west windows were broken, trees were stripped of foliage, fruit trees bared and gardens ruined. The wheat crop is a complete loss. On the north side of buildings hail was piled up a foot deep.

AFRAID SHE WAS DYING

Scattered Terribly Until She Took "Fruit-a-tives"

JEAN DE MATHA, JAN. 27th. 1914.
 "After suffering for a long time with Dyspepsia, I have been cured by 'Fruit-a-tives'. I suffered so much that I would not dare eat for I was afraid of dying. Five years ago, I received samples of 'Fruit-a-tives', and did not wish to try them for I had lost confidence in them but, seeing the confidence in them, I decided to do so and at once I felt relief. Then I tried three boxes and I kept improving until I was cured. While sick, I lost several pounds, but after taking 'Fruit-a-tives', I quickly regained my weight. Now I eat, sleep and am in a word, I am completely well—in a word, I am completely cured, thanks to 'Fruit-a-tives'."

FLIES AVOID BLUE.

A French scientist is authority for the statement that flies have a distinct objection to the color blue. This was first discovered by a farmer who keeps a large number of cows in several sheds.
 One of these sheds happened to be painted blue on the inside, and in this the cows were little troubled with flies. He blueed all the walls and thus protected all his cows. French farmers in the vicinity are now adding a blue coloring to their whitewash. Their formula is as follows: To twenty gallons of water add ten pounds of slacked lime and one pound of ultra-marine. The walls are tinted twice during the summer.

WAR WORKERS AND PROBLEM OF DRINK

London, June 18.—In investigating war work and the drink
 problem, Home Secretary McKenna has found that the employers
 and the workers take opposite views on a number of questions.

Employers say drink is responsible for 80 per cent of the avoidable loss of time. The workers reply that drink incapacitates only a small number, who might well
 be eliminated, but investigation shows that about 80 per cent of the charges of drunkenness are baseless. The employers charge that the drinking habit does more harm than actual drunkenness.

Trade questions give the investigators quite as much trouble as drink. Employers say that the unions hold back the output by restricting the amount each man
 is allowed to do, so that when men have, in the union phrase, "earned their money" or "made their number," they feel entitled to lay off.

Subjects for further investigation relate to the time and manner of drinking among the men,
 whether the increased tax on beer
 has turned them from beer to whiskey and stronger liquors, to the hours the barrooms seem to be most frequented, and to whether the closing of bars during the usual rush hours would help the situation.

BIG CHARGE USED TO WRECK BUTTE PAPER

Butte, Mont., June 18.—Investigation by the police leads to the theory that at least a box of dynamite was used in blowing up the printing plant of the Butte Socialist Company. The explosive was placed in the rear of the one-story building.

Entrance was effected by prying open a rear window. Ex-Mayor Lewis J. Duncan, who is editing the Butte Weekly Socialist, denied a report that the issue which was on the press was devoted to the miners' union and carried an article objectionable to the miners. The plant was valued at $7,000 and the damage is estimated at $4,000. No arrests have been made.
