Canada Has Challenged For America Cup in 1921

C. Ross on behalf of Nova Scotia Yacht Club Offers to Build Boat to Compete Next Year

TORONTO, August 2.—A. C. Ross, former member of the Federal Parliament for Sydney, Nova Scotia, has sent a challenge to the New York Yacht Club on behalf of the Nova Scotia Yacht Club that intends to compete for the America Cup in the summer of 1921.

If the offer is accepted Mr. Ross proposes that the boat be of British design but built in Canada and manned by Nova Scotia fishermen. Commodore Jarvis, of Toronto, has signified his willingness to skipper of the Canadian craft when built. The proposed boat is to be named the Maple Leaf and it is estimated she will cost approximately $1,000,000, to be financed by public subscriptions.

NEW YORK, August 2.—The Ross challenge for next year succeeds Sir Thomas Lipton's challenge for 1922.

L LECTURE ON WEDNESDAY

Helmsing Will Tell Story of Zebrugge Here and Hopes Boys' Naval Brigade will Be Formed.

Helmsing, R.N.R., is arranging to give a illustrated lecture on Wednesday evening in which he will tell the story of the Zebrugge Canal and show pictures of the same. This will be the first lecture by Mr. Helmsing to deliver in British Columbia. He is said to be an excellent speaker, while his pictures are of great interest.

Helmsing is organizing a boys' navy league in this province. Just now he is endeavoring to arouse interest in getting Canadian ships manned by boys. A system of cadet training is going on and it is expected to form a boys' naval brigade in Prince Rupert as a result of the visit.

Young Boys Confess They were Burglars

Ten Year Olds Stole from Many Houses and among Loot was Automatic 22 Revolver Ready Loaded

With the appearance of three young boys in the police court this morning on the charge of breaking and entering the place of W. McCook on Eighth Avenue, the police believe that at last the mystery of all the house breaking of late has been cleared up. The case was adjourned this morning until Wednesday by Magistrate McMordie.

From the nature of the pillaging that has been going on it was at first thought that it would have been impossible for boys to do so much serious damage. The first link in the chain of events which led Warden Bailey to finally run down the youths was seeing one young boy with a saw which he knew could not have belonged to him. The police official questioned the boy and the latter had a good story. He looked as innocent as any of the other boys whom he had questioned but his story didn't hang together. In the end the boy told where all the loot was hidden and it took many trips all over section 6 to pick it up and bring it to the police station.

WATERFRONT LOOKED BUSY

Five Steamers in Port and Many Smaller Craft at One Time.

A variety of articles appeared in the collection of stolen things—anything from alarm clocks to needles for sewing fishing nets. The most dangerous of all, however, was a 22 automatic revolver which was loaded when found just outside McCook's house. The money which they had stolen was all gone with a considerable amount of it invested in skooters. The gold watch and money from McCook's was stowed away beneath Green Street and the Woodland loot near the old sash and door factory. The carpenters' tools stolen on Thursday night were located beneath 6th Avenue. The first burglary committed was the breaking of the mail box at Hays Creek. The police claimed to have got a confession from the boys in regard to this and an open letter taken from the box was found on the floor of the new school. Knudsen's cash box containing valuable papers was located in the bushes near Seal Cove.

Sport Briefs

Much unfavorable comment has been heard in regard to the stunt staged in the recent Red Sox vs. Colts baseball match. Notes were sent out to the Red Sox pitcher from the side lines by little boys who had been given small amounts to distract the pitcher. The notes had reference to personal traits of the man in the box and such action was most uncalled for when the game proved to be so close. The young fellows of both teams are now aware who did the trick and they have also found out that it was the same person who sent a note intitled "Capt" to Powers in the Terrace vs. Prince Rupert series.

The Senior vs. All-Star intermediate baseball game on Saturday evening did not prove to be very attractive. However, it was useful in giving Clem's boys a chance to see how they felt on the hitting and fielding. Another practise will be arranged for Tuesday night.

A regular league football game will be played this evening between the Sons of England and the Callies. This is a match to determine the runners-up as the cup has already passed into the hands of the Grand Trunk team who will retain it until next year. The next match will be very interesting, however, as the Gilhuly cup series is the next try-out for honors in the field.

On Wednesday evening the Sawmill team and the Beavers had an intermediate league baseball engagement. The game is an important one as a win for the Sawmill brings them up to tie for second place.

Mining News

The annual summary report of the geological survey for the summer 1919 and covering British Columbia and the Yukon have been received from Ottawa and can be obtained from the department of the geological survey in Vancouver. The report contains an account of explorations in the Ogilvie Range, Yukon, by W. E. Cockfield who also writes of the Mayo district in the same area. The Salmon River district is dealt with by J. J. O'Neill in the same issue.

A report on graphite, just published by the mines department, contains a wealth of information on the subject of this interesting and important mineral. The report is written by H. S. Spence, mining engineer of the department and treats of the properties, occurrence, distribution, mining and uses of graphite in a most comprehensive manner. In British Columbia has been discovered at Alkow Harbor and on Dean Channel in the Bella Coola district. In the Fort Steele district it has been found on Matthew Creek, Marysville. Some years ago two car loads were shipped from Harrison Lake but nothing further has been developed there. These are the only reputed discoveries. In the Bella Coola district the mineral occurs in minute flakes associated with pignites in a matrix of heulandite.

RAILWAYS, like men, have throats. Like men they may be choked. Here for example is Blankville Junction. The streams of traffic rumbling through this throat are daily growing heavier. The local official, anxious to keep up the service in his district, asks for, say, $100,000 to blast out additional yard-room and lay new classification tracks. "Yes," admits the Head Office visitor, "you ought to have that appropriation . . . I'll consider it."

This is the fourth of a series of advertisements published under the authority of The Railway Association of Canada formerly the CANADIAN RAILWAY WAR BOARD

Back in Head Office he considers five hundred recommended improvements just as necessary as the extension at Blankville. They would cost ten million dollars!

The cost of living for railways has overwhelmed their income accounts.

The disappearing margin between total costs and total revenue makes the problem of far-sighted management increasingly difficult and almost impossible of solution.

The fear of choking at throat points is in danger of becoming a real night-mare to officials and a genuine menace to the prosperity of the Dominion.

This is another reason why increased freight rates are necessary.

CITY AS SEEN BY VICTORIAN

J. A. Shanks Writes Curious Impressions to Daily Colonist

Canned goods, all the way from fish to music, is the popular thing in Prince Rupert these days, according to J. A. "Five Points" Shanks, for some years prominent in Victoria municipal politics, who is touring the northern country. Writing from Prince Rupert to a friend in Victoria Mr. Shanks says:

"One of the outstanding features of Prince Rupert is the great number of gramophones it contains and their increasing activity. Every saloon, cafe, barber shop and store has one on tap, and while passing the Bank of Montreal yesterday it seemed to me I heard the strains of "Oh! By Jingol" in canned accents, coming out through the open door of that old and reliable financial institution. But it is in the evening from 7 o'clock on, how far on is governed entirely by the hilarity and staying qualities of the various audiences, that "His Master's Voice" holds the civic-wide boards and fills the atmosphere of Prince Rupert with one glad song, intermingled with band and jazz selections. Firms here who cater to the "record" devouring appetites of this northern port, I believe, have a "mint."

The Sympathetic Touch

"I do not intend any reflection on this city or its citizens' tastes as gramophones are exceedingly popular in all places up this way and beyond, I understand. Possibly the salmon canning industry has something to do with it, but that is really the greatest enterprise in this vicinity. That may create a sympathetic feeling in the bosoms of the populace for canned goods in general, even music. "Another oddity that strikes the eye of the visitor is the miles upon miles of plank roads with which Prince Rupert is equipped. The unevenness of the townsite warrants. It is, to say the least of it, hilly.

"These wooden roads built of three-inch plank, are practically a series of bridges. Some parts of the roads are trestled as high as 75 feet above their footings, while every so often the planks are laid on solid ground. Passing along Fourth Avenue the other day I discovered a street sign below, the words on it being hardly readable because it was so far down. I made it out eventually, however. It was "Sixth Street."

An "Open Town"

"Prince Rupert comes under the heading of an 'open town.' It has that reputation and to my mind lives the part. Any kind of diversion or amusement one seeks can readily be found here. If you wish to sit in and while away a few hours with a stack of chips and 'the joker in the hole,' there are lots of places of easy access where you will be properly entertained. The near beer dispensed hereabouts and imported from Vancouver does not appear to lose any of its vigor by the sea voyage. In fact it brings to the mind of the newcomer visions of bygone freedom and stimulates his request to the bartender to 'fill them up again.'

Its Industries

"But Prince Rupert has its serious side too. It has several enterprises and industries that rate second to none on the Pacific coast. First is the fishing tributary to this port. Nowhere else is fish caught in such quantities. Several thousands of men and hundreds of boats work out from here in pursuit of the appetizing sockeye and its white brother the halibut. A cold storage plant for the accommodation of these finny captures is located at Seal Cove, about two miles up the coast. Its capacity is equalled by no other, I am told, on the American continent.

"Two steel ships are now under construction at Prince Rupert's mammoth drydock, contracts for eight more is reported to have been cinched.

"The harbor is really very fine. Ships of any size or draft can dock at this port with the greatest ease. The entrance is well sheltered and the wildest storms on the outside make little impression on the inside waters.

Dead Wrong

"Old-timers claim the climate hereabouts is on a par with Vancouver or Seattle, and the idea held by some people that it rains constantly is dead wrong. I have been here five days and have seen no rain yet.

"My objective point is the Bulkley Valley."

COLONEL PECK IS TO COMMENCE ON 16TH BATTALION

In connection with the recent despatch saying that Colonel Peck was to reorganize the 16th Battalion in Victoria, the following is from the Daily Colonist of recent date:

When seen at the Empress Hotel yesterday, Col. G. W. Peck, V. C., M. P., stated that he is in Victoria to reorganize the famous 16th Battalion, which is to be perpetuated here in place of the 88th Victoria Fusiliers and the 50th Gordons.

In referring to his Battalion, Col. Peck said that the Sixteenth and the Tenth were the first Canadian battalions that ever assaulted a European army. At the second battle of Ypres, in April, 1915, they charged the Germans after the dastardly gas attack. He spoke of the record of the Battalion with just pride, saying that it is the only one in Canada that won four V. C.'s during the war, and he thought that Victoria was extremely fortunate in having it perpetuated here.

In selecting officers for the Battalion, as many as possible will be chosen from the Sixteenth, the Eighty-eighth and Fiftieth, but Col. Peck said any good officer would be chosen.

It is hoped to identify the corps as much as possible with the Sixteenth. Originally the battalion was composed of the 72nd Seaforth, Vancouver, the 79th Camerons, of Winnipeg, the 50th Gordons, Victoria, and the 91st Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, of Hamilton.

A distinctive dress, characteristic of the different regiments, has always been preserved.

Col. Peck was of the opinion that no training would be done until next winter, except perhaps musketry and cadets.

Major-General R. G. Edwards Leake, with his brother, Colonel Jack Leake, were both associated with the Battalion as commander; Col. Peck has commanded on the field and gained his V. C. for great bravery in front of the Germans.

The 16th Canadian Scottish left Valcartier camp in 1914 and was afterwards joined by detachments of the 30th Battalion of Victoria. Col. Peck will at once begin his work and states that in a few days he hopes to be in a position to give some definite information regarding the formation of the Battalion.

CRUEL PUNISHMENT FOR TORONTO CHILD

Uncle Under Arrest on Charge of Cruelty.

TORONTO, July 1.—A pair of heavy army handcuffs, locked and dangling from the ankles of a forlorn-looking little girl sitting on the verandah at 60 Ivy avenue, attracted the attention of Constable Waghorn of No. 8 police division on Saturday afternoon. When he questioned the child she declared that she had been whipped and fastened with them to the cellar steps because she had asked her uncle for something to eat. After further investigation Wm. Farr, who lives at the address in question, was arrested on a charge of cruelty.

The child gave her name as Alice Budd, eight years of age. Her father, she said, was a war veteran, who upon his return from the front had separated from his wife, and she had been taken in charge by Farr, her uncle. According to the child's story, Farr placed the handcuffs around her ankles and fastened her to the cellar stairs at 5 o'clock on Saturday morning. Beforehand, she said, he had beaten her with a whip and kicked her severely. Body was Bruised. After fastening her up, she declared, her uncle placed beside her on the stairs a jug of water and some pieces of bread, and then went off for the day. But after some hours in her exhausted position the little girl managed, she said, by removing one boot, to release herself from the stairway. She had come up out of the cellar to sit on the verandah and wait in dread her uncle's discovery of her escape.

IRISH IMMIGRATION TO STATES SMALL

People are Prospering in Own Country

DUBLIN, July 31.—Emigration from Ireland to the United States is not expected to increase greatly. The first obstacle, and perhaps the most vital, is the cost. There are now no longer the cheap steerage rates under which hundreds of thousands of Irish men and women were enabled to make their homes in America. Shipping is still scarce, and Atlantic fares are steep in consequence. There is, further, the necessity of obtaining a passport. One cannot now leave the country even for the country's good—without permission of the British Government.

Now there is the further difficulty caused by the increase of the American Consular fees at Queenstown and other ports from $2 to $10 per passenger. This latter is said by some people to hinder emigration seriously, but in reality this is not the case. There is no longer either the disposition or the necessity among young Irishmen and Irishwomen to emigrate. They can get along very comfortably in their own country. Those now emigrating are those having relatives in America and are assured of good prospects and have their passages prepaid from the other side.

GRAND TRUNK STILL IS LOSING MONEY

Drops Behind to Tune of $400,000 in Four Months

Reports of earnings by the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada, as issued by the London office, show that, while expenses exceeded earnings during January and February, there has been a small balance of net earnings during March, April and May. On the whole, for the five months, expenses exceeded gross receipts by £87,400, and the decrease in net earnings for the five months, as compared with the previous year, stands at £342,000. As the British railways are losing £1,000,000 a week and the U.S. railways are still in financial difficulty, the Grand Trunk has plenty of company.

KETCHIKAN HAS A LOW ASSESSMENT

After Adding Million This Year Total is only $2,785,900.

KETCHIKAN, August 2.—Ketchikan has increased her property assessment from $1,680,033 to $2,785,900. The advance is the result of increased value, owing to increased rentals, and also to a number of new buildings having been erected. It is expected that the tax levy for the year will be two per cent or twenty mills.

The Prince Rupert assessment as given in the last printed annual report was $15,179,935.
