Carruthers was Wrecked in Collision

W. CANON SCOTT MAKES PUBLIC CHARGE AGAINST DOMINION GOVERNMENT

Collision Caused Wreck of Trawler James Carruthers

Men who left her in dory have not yet been found; others arrived last night; Vessel in Exposed Position

Collision with the American revenue cutter Surveyor caused the wreck of the trawler James Carruthers on Tuesday night. The vessel was beached on White Sand Island and as a result of the collision the members of her crew are missing. The men who were on board at the time of the collision have not yet been reported. G. Kerr, J. Mansfield, A. Murray, and Anderson. The other men, with the exception of three, arrived in port last evening on board the W. E. Lord. Carruthers is still on the beach but a salvage scow, towed by Chief Skugaid in charge of W. Bell, port engineer, and Habbington has gone to try to get her off and bring her to the G. E. Foster has gone on to the fishing grounds endeavoring to find the men. The Chief Zibassa has gone again to make a search of the surrounding waters in the hope that the men have reached shore. About 11 o'clock Tuesday morning the collision occurred. The trawler was blowing steam with rain and a heavy fog. The United States revenue cutter Surveyor was commanded by the Carruthers was in the cutter showed the lights of the same color but suddenly the lights of the cutter showed up out of the fog and the cutter, however, was not aware of the Carruthers' bows. The cutter ordered for full speed ahead and the Carruthers was struck on the bow. The collision but it was not until the Carruthers was driven abreast of the cutter. The stem of the Carruthers was struck in and a hole was made in the water line.

Fitzgerald's Story. "The impact woke me up," said Fitzgerald, a fisherman, who lives at 18 Dyer Apartments, "and I guess the rest of us for soon after we were on the deck. There was no water as the vessel was going astern but she was starting to go ahead and the pumps were ordered to run below and order the pumps he started filling faster than the pumps, so he headed for shore. It was a sure thing the boat would have been in three hours the water was filling. It was about ten minutes after the collision the boat was beached.

Obedient Instructions. Captain Parsons told everyone on board that the vessel was safe and in-structed the men not to leave her. However, this order was disregarded by Kerr, Mansfield, Murray and Anderson, four fishermen, who got one of the dories ready and took to the sea. To get clear of the boat they had to row to windward and were watched by three men from the rigging and the forecastle head. When last seen they were rowing to the windward towards Dundas Island and if they did not get into the breakers of a bar in their course they must be safe somewhere.

Men Thrown on Shore. "Everybody else stuck to the ship until she was beached when four men, who were holding one of the dories, were washed from the boat right on shore by a big breaker. They were safe and unhurt and spent the night on the island while everybody else stayed aboard. At daylight we went ashore and lighted a big fire and proceeded to make the best of it. The Surveyor stood by all day and sent out wireless messages. Yesterday afternoon the W. R. Lord came to our rescue and we left the Carruthers in charge of Pilot John Demille and two fishermen with the Surveyor still standing by.

It was about ten o'clock last night when the Lord reached port with Captain Parsons and his crew. The most of them returned this morning on the Zibassa to the wreck. The Surveyor is a United States revenue cutter somewhat the same size as the Prince John and therefore a much larger boat than the Carruthers. She carries 78 men.

J. W. Nicholls of the Gold Storage said this morning he thought they might be able to salvage the boat if they could get her off before a big wind came up. She is in an exposed position, however.

NEW POLES ARE BEING PUT IN

Fulton Street Sidewalk Temporarily Obstructed by New Work; In Wrong Place.

The municipal pole raising crew was out in force this morning, starting the putting in of a new telephone line up Fulton Street which is going to shorten the line to the Fulton Street district very considerably. At present this section of the town is connected with the Exchange by a line which goes down the alley between Second and Third Avenues to McBride, then up McBride and west again, and thus there is an unnecessary use of cable that is now to be taken up and used in extending the outside lines. It will be seen that the line up Fulton Street will make a line of communication of two or three blocks where before it was twelve or more.

This particular piece of work was attracting a good deal of attention by passersby this morning for one pole is placed on the edge of the sidewalk in front of the Police Station door, while the two next to it up Fulton Street are right in the middle of the present sidewalk. The explanation for this, however, is that the sidewalk is in the wrong place and it is no fault of the placing of the poles. The sidewalk will have to be moved further to the side of the street and, in the meantime, the residents of that section of the town south of the City Hall will have to become accustomed to the poles in the middle of their sidewalk.

Commerce Board Prevents Sugar Prices Dropping to Consumers in this Country

OTTAWA, October 14.—An order fixing the retail price of granulated sugar at a price not higher than 21 cents plus freight and another order prohibiting the importation of refined sugar, were issued last evening by the Board of Commerce.

The board argues that it is its duty to protect industries on a falling market in the same way that it protects consumers on a rising market. It declares that all sugar refineries in Eastern Canada are closed because of excess supplies.

NEW HOTEL IS TO BE BUILT AT LAKELSE

Work Will Commence Early in the Spring, Says Harold S. Johnston of Winnipeg.

Harold S. Johnston of Winnipeg, who is in the city along with R. C. W. Lett, publicity commissioner for the Canadian National, is arranging to commence building the new hotel at Lakelse Hot Springs early in the spring and expects to have it ready for occupation by the middle of June. A portable saw mill is to be taken in this autumn and the lumber will be cut on the ground.

The new hotel is to be erected by the Lakelse Hot Springs Ltd. on the lake shore a little south of the present landing place. The water will be piped from the hot springs and proper bathing accommodation will be provided. Boats will be provided for the use of guests and every endeavor made to have Lakelse become an up-to-date summer resort that will attract visitors from all parts of the world.

Speaking of the proposed building Mr. Johnston this morning stated that, as a starter, about fifty rooms would be provided and it was expected that there would be no difficulty in keeping these filled. As it is, the railway company is unable to advertise the resort, but once it is ready to accommodate visitors and provide proper conveniences for them, the railway company will naturally become interested.

In addition to the hotel there will be a farm where fresh dairy produce can be raised for the guests, and arrangements will be made for saddle horses for guests and everything which tends to make life enjoyable to visitors.

The charge against William Baines, the New Metlakatla Indian, of theft has been withdrawn by the city police.

Hush Money to Ross to Keep Him Quiet

Rev. Canon Scott makes serious allegations against Dominion Government regarding the Ross Rifle; $3,000,000 Hush Money

CALGARY, October 14.—"When Sir Charles Ross brought action against the Dominion Government for $18,000,000 the Government did not dare allow the case to go before the court because it feared the truth about the Ross Rifle, the crime of crimes against the Canadian soldiers might come out and they gave $3,000,000 hush money. I demand an investigation into the Ross Rifle." With this statement Rev. Canon Scott, senior chaplain of the first division, was received with cheers by over a thousand people at a mass meeting here.

OBJECTION TO EXPRESS RATE

Official of Fish Company at Vancouver Says Increase Would Kill Fish Business.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 14.—After hearing local protests against the demand of the express companies for an increase of rates approximating forty per cent, the members of the railway commission went east yesterday.

J. S. Eckman, assistant manager of the Canadian Fishing Co., said the increase would mean the ruin of the fishing industry on the coast. He pointed out to the board that it had already increased the rates from 33 1/2 to 50 per cent last year, resulting in a serious drop in business in car load lots to the prairies. Even now the flat fish were being sent to the prairies at less than cost in order to get the surplus off their hands.

Hon. Frank Carvell, chairman of the board, announced that the decision of the board would be reserved.

The first session of the Fraternal Whist League, opening the series of games for the Dybhavn challenge cup, took place in the Sons of Canada Rooms last night. Last night the G.W.V.A., Capt. W. H. Smeeton, defeated the Sons of Canada, Capt. W. E. Thompson, by a score of 6-3. The St. Andrews, Capt. Wm. Brown, were victorious over the Sons of England, Capt. E. J. Cobb, by 8 to 1 and the Knights of Pythias, Capt. Fred Wermig, proved the better of the Knights of Columbus, Capt. F. W. Moersch, by 5 games to 4.

GAS BOAT IS EIGHT DAYS OUT OF PORT

Chief Minty Receives Word From Whalen Co. of S. Couture and Partner Overdue.

Word was received at the provincial police office this morning from the Whalen Pulp and Paper Company at Swanson Bay of a missing gas boat that has been out of that port since October 6. The boat left Swanson Bay on that date for Sponberg's camp on Gardner Canal in charge of B. Couture and partner. It belongs to Alex Sponberg and is 30 feet long, has a green hull, white cabin with rolling chocks above the water line and was equipped with a 14 h.p. Buffalo engine.

Chief A. C. Minty is sending out messages to all the offices along the coast in the vicinity, instructing them to be on the lookout for the missing craft.

The entrance to Gardner Canal is about 40 miles from Swanson Bay.

Honest and Sincere But Mistaken.

In a letter in the Daily News yesterday, Capt. Freeman takes exception to the passing of a prohibition measure and says that "the community has no right to interfere with my business unless I injure or threaten to injure someone else."

We believe Capt. Freeman to be honest and sincere in upholding his point of view, but he is not correct. He must know that the use of liquor is one of the most important factors in causing race deterioration. As a student he must know that children born to alcoholic parents do not average up to those from non-alcoholic. The Captain surely has seen some of the misery, disease and death which comes as a result of indulgence in alcoholic drinks and the evils to which such indulgence leads. These things are so well known that it seems like insulting the intelligence of the average newspaper reader to state them. It is because of the injurious effect of the consumption of alcohol that prohibitionists vote against its sale, and not from any desire to annoy anyone. There is no honor or glory in trying to impose the will of the majority of the minority in this matter. Only the desire to prevent suffering, to protect our own children, and to make the world a decent place in which to live can rouse any of us to make ourselves more or less obnoxious to some of our fellows. The prohibitionists are no faddists nor are they intolerant or tyrannical. They would, however, be traitors to themselves if they did not use whatever means lay in their power to check the consumption of alcoholic liquors, even at the risk of being berated by those who have a thirst.

Think Twice Before Voting for Liquor Selling.

If the Captain had children to care for, sons and daughters growing up, close friends and relatives in whose children he took an interest, he would think twice before he voted for liquor selling, no matter if it was at some inconvenience to himself. As he says, no one has any right to interfere with the private lives of even the lowest citizen unless it be for the protection of someone else. But it is just in order to protect others, that they do this.

When a man has children, he thinks more of the welfare of those children than he does of the rights and liberties of a few people who think they cannot enjoy themselves without some artificial exhilaration. He also thinks of the welfare of other people's children for his children may marry, and no one can tell whom they may choose. Suppose it should happen that they might choose a liquor addict or one suffering from an incurable disease as a result of indulgence in liquor. There is no safeguard. We none of us live to ourselves and to say that we have no right to interfere with the liberty of our neighbors is begging the question.

Christmas Coming So Do Not Forget.

Just a little over two months and Christmas will be here again—the time when everyone likes to be remembered. Those who want to send things to the Old Country must begin to think about it. In a place like this where stocks are not large, it is well to make purchases early.

Many people like to make things for their friends. It is easy to buy but more difficult to make them. The article made by some friend is valued much more highly than anything else. If presents are to be made, this is the time to begin. Those who are intending to make purchases will do well to begin at once to look around and watch the stores from time to time as the new goods come in. Two months will soon slip by and then there will be the usual scramble.

So Many Wanted to Hear Mrs. McClung Sunday that Overflow Meeting Arranged

So many citizens desired to hear Mrs. Nellie McClung, of Edmonton, speak on prohibition Sunday night that two buildings were required to seat them, says the Vancouver World. Mrs. McClung was scheduled to speak in the Orpheum Theatre at 9 o'clock, but at 8:30 o'clock the building was packed. Arrangements were then made to hold an overflow meeting in Wesley Church and it was also filled to the doors.

In opening her address in the Orpheum, the authoress stated that before leaving her hotel she was advised by telephone that she would be attacked during the meeting. Then she told of her personal life and challenged anyone to attack her. Silence answered the challenge.

"I come here not as an outsider, but as a neighbor," said the speaker. "I feel that I may speak against the liquor traffic without apologizing to anyone."

"There are two reasons why the liquor traffic is difficult to deal with. Money may be made from the sale of liquor and there are men who would coin the tears of children into money. They are not all foreigners either."

"Another reason why the liquor traffic is difficult to deal with is that every human being wants exhilaration," continued the speaker. "The greatest exhilaration comes from doing good work. Liquor gives a spurious spirit of exhilaration and the iniquitous part is that it stunts a man mentally."

"If you allow the sale of liquor you will have to take your share of responsibility as you will be in partnership with the traffic."

Women for Prohibition.

"It is encouraging that we have the women with us. There are a few, not many, men who were willing to save their sons to the public good, but who are unwilling to give up a little of their own comfort. One of the hopeful signs is that we are going to hear from mother and the girls."

"In Edmonton we have a woman's court and it has been found that 80 per cent of all the women who appear before the judge take their first small step while under the influence of liquor. Can you who have children of your own enter partnership with liquor that will cause little feet to stumble and will put a cloth in the hands of the white slaver?"

"There is no such thing as equality of achievement, but there can be equality of chance. Who can say that the chances of the child of a drunken man are the same as those of a sober man's child?" was another question put by Mrs. McClung. "Others have a greater claim on us than the old drinker—he will be gone in 40 years—they are the boys and girls."

General Odum presided and declared himself unqualifiedly in favor of prohibition.

Action of Herbs on the System

No sufferer can afford to overlook the wonderful medicinal powers of herbs. They were the first remedies used by man and today herbalists have brought their formulas up to a wonderful standard. Years ago a great herbalist combined in one preparation the essential juices of herbs such as gave relief to many organic complaints. After doing marvelous work as a private prescription he placed it on the market under the name of Wonder Health Restorer.

This remedy is now on sale in Prince Rupert and its record is wonderful. For diseases such as Rheumatism, Asthma, Stomach trouble, kidney complaint, Nervous disorders, Skin Diseases, Piles, etc., it has been used with success by thousands. Ask your druggist for "The Road to Health" and read what these people say. Wonder Health Restorer acts on the blood, freeing it from all impurities. It acts on the entire system, keeping every organ open to throw off waste matter. The specific herbal properties are carried to every affected organ by the blood and quickly correct improper action. No person need be afraid to take it as it contains nothing but herbs—no alcohol and not a trace of any drug. Wonder Health Restorer is sold in Prince Rupert by the Prince Rupert Drug Co. from whom all information concerning the remedy and its wonderful work may be obtained.

DUMONT GUILTY MURDER CHARGE

Cyril Raymond was Killed by Blow Followed by Strangulation

NORTH BAY, Oct. 14.—Hector Dumont was found guilty of the murder of Cyril Raymond at Sturgeon Falls in April of last year. In bringing in their verdict the jury, who were out two hours and forty minutes, recommended mercy to the accused, because of "the lack of certain evidence," according to the foreman.

Dumont was not arrested until a year after Raymond met his death following a quarrel in the latter's home. The story of the tragedy, as revealed by the testimony given in court here today, indicated that domestic relations at the Raymond home were of an unfortunate sort. Cyril Raymond, the dead man, was declared by his nineteen year old widow to have been jealous of her conduct.

Struck with a Bottle Cyril Raymond returned home on the night of April 23, 1919, about 11 o'clock, to find his wife just back from a buggy drive with the two accused. Dumont was then inside the house, which he owned and which Raymond rented, and words passed between them, Raymond objecting to the presence of his landlord in the building. Raymond, according to his wife, turned to seize an axe with which to eject Dumont, whereupon the latter struck him with "an ordinary rye" bottle, felling him to the floor. Mrs. Raymond then went upstairs, but, coming down a minute later, saw Dumont and Laberge, between them, carrying out the limp form of Cyril Raymond to the buggy which was still standing outside. Afterwards she heard the horse and rig drive away.

Contradicts Young Wife Laberge gave a straight denial of several parts of Mrs. Raymond's story and said she must "have some reason of her own" for fastening the crime on the prisoners. It was not true, he stated, that he helped to carry Raymond to the buggy after he had been struck by Dumont. Raymond was not seen again until about two weeks later, when his dead body was found in some bush at Sturgeon Falls. There was then on the right side of the face a large wound the size of a hen's egg. Dr. Calonne said, while around the neck, and embedded deeply into the flesh was a piece of rope with a slipknot in it.

Concussion and Strangulation The medical testimony was to the effect that death was caused by the combination of a "forcible blow with a blunt instrument" and the fastening of the rope; and in this statement Dr. Calonne was corroborated by Dr. Aubin. Concussion of the brain, followed by strangulation, took place, the doctors said, and they added that the rope had been applied to the man's neck before death.

CURIOUS DISCOVERIES

Prehistoric Wizard's Den Found in Cave—Other Curious Objects. PARIS, October 14.—Two discoveries that throw light on prehistoric times have been made in Central France. In the cave of the "Three Brothers," at Montesquieu a wall-painting, made in elemental colors of black and yellow has been found by savants. It is apparently 15,000 years old. It represents a man, walking to the left, naked and bedaubed with stripes. His body is leaning forward, with his arms in front and hands joined, "as in a cakewalk," says a learned report of the Academie des Sciences. On his head is a sort of mask representing a stag, and a horse's tail is bound on his loins. Professor Bégouin thinks that it represents a primitive sorcerer in the exercise of his mysteries, and that the cave in question was a prehistoric wizard's den. The second find was made by a boy Jack Bouillot, on the last day of his holidays. While watching some workmen occupied in blasting operations he perceived a hole seeming to go into the interior of the mountain, and crawling in he found a cavern of large dimensions. On the floor were various objects, not yet identified, and an enormous bone—the leg bone of a mammoth say the scientists.

The Man in the Moon SAYS--

THAT it is as difficult for a prohibitionist to look sad during this campaign as it is for an undertaker to be properly decorous when business is good. That one thing about autumn in Prince Rupert, nobody is bothered much from the falling autumn leaves. THAT falling prices do not seem to worry very much either. THAT at election time it is brought forcibly to notice that some people have nothing to think about and others have nothing to think with.

THAT you must not judge a man's think box by the clothes he wears. THAT a crease down the pants does not increase the intellectual power of the wearer. THAT many a man walks down the street wearing an eighty dollar suit and all the time his twelve dollar Stetson has nothing to hide.

THAT considering the price of ice, a real frost ought to be worth a good deal in this part of the world. THAT someone gently remarks there will be a frost all right, all right on October 20, and it will be most severe on the immoderation, plenty of booze side of the fence.

THAT at election time it is surprising how easy it is to find people willing to talk politics. THAT it is said there has been a notable falling off in the number of voluntary workers in the Frizzell Block since it has been found there was nothing there to keep the spirits up.

THAT Carpentier seems to be looking for some easy money in the States. Never forget to look through the classified list
