FOUR PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM THE CITY LOCKUP; OTHERS REFUSE TO GO

Four Prisoners Made Escape from City Jail in Daylight

News Reporter gets story from prisoners through hole where men escaped after the police had denied knowledge of affair

Whole Police Force is Now on Captives' Trail

Harry Ross, who escaped before; Joe Verino, his partner; Joe Auriol, Indian; and sixteen year old boy make up the list

Just after Warden Albert H. Bailey had called the roll at 8 o'clock in the city jail this morning, four of the long sentence servers, who were awaiting shipment to Okalla from here, made their escape through the broken panel of a door leading from the jail kitchen to the city hall furnace room. Within an hour the police had been informed of the escape and today the entire force has been called out searching in all directions for the escaped men. They are: Harry Ross, serving eight months for selling liquor to Indians and escaping from jail, he being the one who got away a few days ago and was recovered on Bigby Island; Ross' partner, Joe Verino, serving six months in default of fine for selling liquor to Indians; Joe Auriol, who was kicked out of the band, a Metlakatla Indian, this morning. The information was given sentence of twelve months for at that time that at least two Indians from a section house at prison had escaped. Without delay inquiry was made at Swanston station, and Steve Winton, the sixteen year old boy who the police office where it was said the money from the store at Swanston nothing was known of the dry dock and was sentenced to jail.

Talked with Prisoners.

Following up the story, the reporter again went around to the furnace room and had a conversation through the hole with various prisoners who told him that four men, Ross, Verino, Winton and Auriol had escaped. These prisoners stated that they had not seen them go, however. Asked why he did not go too far, one prisoner stated that he only had a few more days to serve so he had thought it not worth while. Another said that he was not anxious to leave his "happy home."

On going to the police office again, the police had by that time learned of the escape for on the first inquiry of the reporter, an officer had been sent out to see if all was well and the alarming discovery was made. All the officers were then mustered from their homes and the search instituted.

OCEAN FALLS, SWANSON BAY FOR PATTULLO

Man Who Has Just Returned from Those Points Says 60 per cent with Minister.

A. M. Tyson, who has just returned from Swanson Bay and Ocean Falls, says that at both of these places there will be sixty per cent of the people vote for Pattullo. The balance of the votes, he thinks, will go about evenly among the other three.

Mr. Tyson met a number of the hand loggers and he says they are all solid for Pattullo. The red flag does not appeal to them.

Reports from Bella Coola indicate that the minister's majority will be even larger than 60 per cent. The smaller places too all will add their quota to piling up a huge majority.

JACK KAVANAGH GAVE ADDRESS

There Was Subsequent Argument Between Himself and Mounted Police Men.

Jack Kavanagh, the Vancouver labor leader, addressed a full meeting in the McIntyre Hall last night in support of the candidature of J. H. Burrough for the legislature here. Fred Shaw was the chairman and at the close of the meeting Mr. Kavanagh answered a number of questions put to him by the audience.

As a result of a remark the speaker made in regard to what he termed "mounted police stooges," at the close of the meeting two of the local garrison took issue with him and drew quite a crowd around in the argument that resulted. There was no disorder, however, and the debate ended in a short time.

Tomorrow night Mr. Kavanagh and Mr. Burrough will address another meeting.

FARMERS ARE FLOODING B.C.

Great Influx will Take Place in Spring to Valleys along G.T.P.

VICTORIA, Nov. 15.—Prairie farmers are beginning to flood British Columbia and by spring the influx will be the greatest the province has ever experienced, according to Dr. David Warnick, deputy minister of agriculture. The announcement is based on personal statements from settlers and data gathered by the department.

"Most of these settlers are going into the country along the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific," says the statement.

LOOKS NOW AS IF GREEK GOVERNMENT HAS BEEN DEFEATED

ATHENS, Nov. 16.—Premier Venizelos, in his official statement regarding the result of the Greek elections, in which he said they had won a victory, seems to have been wrong. The election results now point to an opposition victory.

Mrs. Morris Condon arrived this morning from Alice Arm.

By-law for Surfacing of Main Streets will soon be Brought Down

Mayor McClymont makes announcement that will be received with gratification by users of down town thoroughfares

Mayor McClymont made the announcement last night that a bylaw providing for the surfacing of Second and Third Avenues from Sixth Street to McBride with tarvia is to be brought in at an early meeting of the city council. Some time ago the city engineer was ordered to bring in an estimate of the cost of this work and this estimate is now nearing completion. Whether the bylaw will come wholly under the local improvement plan or partly under that plan and general taxation has not yet been decided. In the former case the bylaw would not have to come before the people, while in the latter it would.

This tarvia surfacing is a smooth and hard preparation resembling asphalt. It is made of tar and cement and of course will put an end to the annoyance of mud that makes driving in the main streets in rainy weather so bad now. Besides the two main streets the approaches to the Grand Trunk and Government wharves by way of Pacific Place and Manson Way respectively will also be treated as well as the two blocks on Second and McBride Streets between First and Third Avenues.

Prince Rupert was Travelling Fast at Time of Accident

Further evidence of Capt. McKenzie regarding Wreck of Rupert; Some one hung some day, says Commissioner

VANCOUVER, November 16.—At yesterday afternoon's session of the wreck inquiry before Capt. McPherson and two assessors, Capt. McKenzie was still giving evidence. He attributed the cause of the wreck to either the disobedience of orders by the helmsman or the possibility that the vessel sheered heavily in the fog.

During the evidence Commissioner McPherson frequently commented on the vessel proceeding at full speed when it would have been prudent to steam slowly.

The skipper maintained throughout that he considered the speed moderate under the conditions which existed. When he left Swanston Bay at 3:51 a.m. the fog was dense at intervals but the North Bluff was invisible. The whistle was kept blowing in order to get the echo.

The first officer, who was on the bridge at the time of the accident, gave the order "hard a starboard" which caused a "heavy sheer."

The ship was going from four to five miles an hour when she struck.

Misled by Echo.

Replying to the commissioner, Capt. McKenzie said he heard the echo on both sides and thought they just overlapped. From this he judged they were in mid-channel. From the bridge he communicated with the helmsman through a tube. The vessel was sailing at 15½ knots just before land was seen ahead. "It is the speed I always carry. The Rupert is safer at 16 knots than many ships of similar tonnage at less," added the captain.

The commissioner quoted Article 16, calling for moderate speed in bad weather, said "you would never have run ashore if you had been sailing at half speed."

Chief Officer Rod McKenzie, whose evidence was mostly corroborative, said they "went at the speed which had always been done."

"We'll have a catastrophe some day and someone will be hung," observed the commissioner.

This morning the investigation was continued and Capt. McKenzie was grilled by the commissioner for unseamanlike language to the man at the helm. Burke, the man at the wheel, said the wheelhouse was crowded on a previous trip when he had sailed ten degrees out of his course and he had been denied the possibility of a similar fateful trip.

The inquiry was adjourned until Wednesday.

REFUSE TO BUY BEST SALMON

Canadians will Take Only Highly Colored Varieties and Leave Best Flavored

OTTAWA, Nov. 16.—Canadian householders are buying salmon by color rather than quality, according to Dr. Edward Prince, chairman of the biological board. He states that the best flavored salmon on the Pacific coast is in small demand, while inferior salmon of a rich red color, brings the best price. Pinks and chums, caught in British Columbia waters, are almost unsaleable in Canada.

During the recent salmon fishing season, Alaskan fisheries were shipping red salmon to British Columbia canners, while British Columbia fisheries were shipping pinks and chums to the canneries on the American side because there is a demand for this class of fish across the border.

Reports Are Encouraging.

Reports received in regard to the coming election of a member to represent this constituency at Victoria for the next few years, indicate that the minister of lands will again be chosen for the position. This will be a great thing for the city and district, for much depends on having the right man on the job to look after our needs at the capital. Mr. Pattullo has made good at a time when the conditions were most difficult. More will be expected of him now that conditions are improving. He is undoubtedly the man for the job. There is no comparison between him and the other candidates, excellent men as they may be in their own particular walks of life. The thing to consider in choosing a man is: "Does he really represent us? Is he the man to do honor to the community and to convey to the world the high standing of this community?"

Have Minister,
Not Private Member.

It is worth a good deal to have a representative in the cabinet at Victoria. In no other way can this be secured than by again choosing Mr. Pattullo. The local member has been seriously considered also for an even higher position than that he now holds. He would not admit it if asked, but it is true nevertheless. He is held in very high esteem throughout the country and this is an opportunity to prove that his own people appreciate him at his true worth.

Even if such a calamity should befall the country as the return to power of Mr. Bowser, none of the local candidates could hope to secure a place in the new cabinet. Newton or Burrough would be in the cold shades of opposition and Formby, who is absolutely unknown throughout the province, would simply be one of those who would vote when the division bell rang.

The way to keep our present high standing in the capital is to elect the right man, and that man is Hon. T. D. Pattullo. He is the man who is always advertising the north, who consistently year in and year out puts the claims of the north to the fore. Happily the Prince Rupert people know this and will act accordingly.

Musical Society
Concert Thursday.

The Prince Rupert Musical Society is again taking up the work of providing the people here with high class concerts at which singers from the south are imported. This week a group of artists are to sing here under their auspices. This is community work. There is no profit to be made by anyone connected with the society, the members of which give their time and guarantee the singers sufficient payment to make it worth their while coming here.

This work of the Musical Society should receive the hearty appreciation of the people of Prince Rupert. It is a splendid work. It keeps us in touch with the latest musicians of the day and helps us to cultivate a musical taste.

On this occasion there are three first rate artists coming, women who are among the first in their particular fields. They will doubtless receive a hearty welcome. Miss Izard has been here before and her wonderful violin was a revelation. Mrs. Baird is new to us but she is well known at Vancouver and Victoria. The third of the trio is the accompanist, Mrs. Manchester, who also is well known as an artist. We particularly ask the people of Prince Rupert to set apart Thursday evening for this concert, which should prove to be one of the best we have had.

INCREASE THE
SALMON SUPPLYAlaska Newspaper Tells What Is Being Done in Some Places

The Cordova Daily Times in an editorial dealing with the protection and development of the salmon industry in Alaska says:

"Alaskan streams are facing the same proposition as those in British Columbia, Washington and Oregon.

"Salmon is a food product the same as wheat and potatoes. The demand for it is growing and merely closing streams to fishing operations has not solved, and will not solve, the problem of increasing the salmon supply.

"Oregon has taken the lead in scientific fish propagation. The salmon pack on the Columbia River from 1875 to 1885 ran from 400,000 to 600,000 cases a year. It then began to dwindle and, with the exception of periodical high years, ran around 350,000 and up to 487,000 cases in 1898. From then on it dropped below the 400,000 mark and down to 253,000 cases in 1908. In 1914 the pack began to climb from 454,000 to an estimated 600,000 cases for 1920.

Increase on Columbia

"The steadily increasing packs on the Columbia River the past six years were not due to luck, but to scientific salmon propagation, which included feeding the little salmon fry for from six to eighteen months before turning them into the streams. They are then able to take care of themselves, instead of being devoured by the larger fish as is the case when the small fry is turned loose.

"Oregon has demonstrated beyond the question of argument that artificial methods are vastly superior to natural methods in increasing the salmon run. The Oregon system constitutes one of the greatest advances ever made to save an industry which was threatened with extinction on account of overfishing and ruination of spawning beds by the inroads of civilization.

Should Co-operate

Alaska, British Columbia, Washington and Oregon should co-operate in a uniform movement to build up one of their greatest natural resources, their supply of salmon. Oregon has proven that merely closing streams will not get the desired results. Closing canneries on the streams will not feed a salmon-hungry world. By proper co-operation of state and government bodies the salmon runs in our streams cannot only be maintained but increased beyond any previous high figures. Now is the time to start the movement for scientific salmon propagation.

A BUSINESS GOVERNMENT Proved and Approved

WHAT OTHERS SAY:

about the new system of Public Accounts introduced by the Oliver Government:

THE GLOBE, TORONTO, 18th February, 1920.—

"The Government of British Columbia has set a good example to other governments by the full, clear and complete manner in which it has published its Public Accounts for the last fiscal year."

FINANCIAL POST, 21st February, 1920.—

"The first annual statement of Public Accounts of any Canadian Government—Federal or Provincial, to be issued, with revenue and expenditures of each department of the Government segregated under one heading, and with corresponding tables showing actual and estimated revenues and expenditures in each item side by side was tabled in the British Columbia Legislature last week. This business-like form of presenting the Public Accounts is the culmination of a series of important improvements in Government auditing that have characterised the accounts and estimates of that coast Province during the past two or three years."

THE CANADIAN MUNICIPAL JOURNAL, 1st February, 1920. Model Public Accounts:
"As a model in efficiency and compilation, the report is worth following, not only by other Provinces, but by the Municipalities."

URGE PAYMENT TRAVEL COSTS BY UNIVERSITY

Local Parents Claim they are Discriminated Against in Matter of Education

Dr. Grant, W. S. Fisher and J. R. Mitchell, who have sons or daughters attending the university of B.C., have written a joint letter to the Board of Governors in regard to the cost of travelling to and fro as follows:

"We, the undersigned parents of students attending the University of British Columbia from Prince Rupert, respectfully draw your attention to the following facts.

"The University of British Columbia is maintained by the Province out of revenue paid by all the people and not by one section only. This being the case, each B.C. student should have an equal chance, as far as possible, with every other student to share the benefits of this institution. We recognize that, due to the geographical extent of the province, it is impossible to place a university at the door of every student, and necessarily students from outlying points will be handicapped financially in obtaining the advantages of the university.

Are Penalized

"We would respectfully draw the attention of the Board of Governors of the B.C. University to the fact that the students from outlying points are the sons and daughters of pioneers. As pioneers are an absolute necessity for the development of a country and are of necessity sufficiently handicapped by being pioneers, do you not think it is unreasonable to penalize them further by denying them the advantages of higher education as is being done now by the higher cost to them of education, on account of travelling expenses and board in Vancouver? After looking at the matter from every angle, we feel that something can be done to minimize the handicap of the pioneer.

"You have already recognized the claims of Victoria along similar lines and have granted them the privilege of two years' university education at home. We feel, therefore, that the just claims of other outside points should receive consideration to the extent of your ability to grant them.

The Scheme

"In an interview with the Honorable the Minister of Education, Dr. J. D. McLean, the following scheme was outlined and met with his unqualified approval. The scheme is known as "pooling expenses" and is worked in connection with conventions, church meetings, etc. It is never, as far as we know, put into force in the older and more settled districts of Canada, but is used in B.C. on account of the great distances delegates have to travel to the convention cities. We think, so far as travelling expenses are concerned, that it could be put into force by your Board and thus help the students in the distant places to get to the University.

"It is well known that the majority of the students of the University of British Columbia live and have their homes in Vancouver. Suppose you should ask each of the outside students to submit the amount of their railway or steamship fares to Vancouver, to their homes and back to Vancouver at Christmas, and back home in May. After adding these up, if you would divide the sum by the number of students in attendance at the University, the result would give the sum each student would have to pay into a general fund known as "The Travelling Expense Fund." Out of this fund the outside students would draw the amount of their expenses to and from the University in September, at Christmas and in the Spring. We have reason to believe that the average paid in by each student would not be more than a dollar or two, and the fund would furnish relief, for instance to every student from Prince Rupert, to the extent of $100 per annum:

An Anomaly

"Unless you come to the relief of outside students in this way, you will have none attending the University of British Columbia from Eastern or Northern B.C. Your constituency will be cut in four and we will have the anomaly of an institution to meet the needs of all B.C., and paid for by all B.C., ministering to the needs of only one quarter of our territory.

"Of last year's matriculants from our High School, two went to McGill in Montreal, preferring the older institution and all things considered, the cheaper. Three students east of here on the G.T.P. went to Alberta University, the consideration being one of expense. It is hard to turn the stream of trade once it sets in in volume in a certain direction and it will be just as hard to turn the trend of Northern and Eastern and Northern B.C. students from Alberta and the East if once the stream of student life gets turned in those directions.

Would Aid Children

"May we, in conclusion, hope that you will give our petition earnest consideration. We are none of us burdened with money, but we have the same desire in our hearts as the men and women of Vancouver to do our best for our children. We are more and more appreciating the social conscience of our generation and the claims of society upon us. We have leaped at a bound from individualism to a sense of our unity through the terrible lessons of the Great War. In what better way can the Board of Governors of the University of British Columbia recognize the social value of higher education than by giving relief to the extent possible to the men and women from all over B.C. who seek the walls of the University. We believe the scheme we have outlined is perfectly feasible and will afford such relief."

Have Plenty of Music in your Home this Winter

There's nothing equal to Music for making the long, cold evenings of winter pass by pleasantly.

How the kiddies love music! They revel in it.

Where there's plenty of life and melody the young people want to stay home.

And what an unfailing source of joy Music is to the older folks, whether they participate by playing an instrument or merely sit back and listen to the sweet strains produced by others in the family. The piano, the player, the phonograph, the violin, the banjo, ukelele, flute, etc.—all are good.

All the instruments of modern melody offer you their services. See them and select from them at your nearest music store.
