FOURTEEN OFFICERS ARE MURDERED IN IRELAND

CORPORATION BACKED BY BRITISH GOVERNMENT OPTIONS STEWART RAILWAY

Fourteen British Officers are Foully Done to Death

Some Are Dragged from Bed and Others Killed while Dressing Themselves, while yet Others Were at Breakfast When Slain

DUBLIN, November 22.—Fourteen British officers were murdered yesterday by Sinn Feiners in cold blood. Some of them were dragged from their beds by a band of assassins and others were killed while dressing themselves, while yet others were at breakfast. Captain Newbury was killed in the presence of his wife.

The crimes are the worst and most cold-blooded recorded in the long history of Irish disorders. They were committed simultaneously at nine o'clock in the morning and were reprisals for the stern measures of the Government against the Sinn Feiners.

DUBLIN, November 22.—(Later). Twenty-five dead and over a hundred injured is the result of the Dublin raid on Sunday. Many fires were started and street shooting followed the assassinations.

Scene in Parliament.

LONDON, November 22.—Violent scenes were witnessed in the House of Commons today when Joseph Devlin, Nationalist, and one of the Union members came to blows during the discussion on the affairs of Ireland. The sitting was suspended amid scenes of the wildest confusion.

PATTULLO IS STRONG AT KITWANGAR

FINE CONCERT LAST EVENING

Miss Izard, Mrs. Baird, Mrs. Manchester and Will Edmunds Delight Their Audience.

Last night's concert in the Westholme proved another musical treat for Prince Rupert music lovers. Miss Mary Izard, violinist of Victoria; Mrs. Baird, contralto, Mr. Ardagh in the chair, and Mrs. Manchester, accompanist, assisted by Will Edmunds, Prince Rupert's excellent cellist, were a delightful combination and provided an evening's entertainment that was heartily enjoyed by the big crowd that nearly filled the Westholme Theatre.

Miss Izard will always be a favorite here and her violin playing is very artistic. Her technique is high perfect and she has a remarkable power of expression. Mrs. Baird has a sweet contralto voice which is very accurate. Will Edmunds' cello playing is as well known as it is ever appreciated, and Mrs. Manchester is an accompanist of high class.

The program last night was well arranged and there were solos from Mrs. Baird, Miss Izard and Will Edmunds with a generous number of trios. After the concert Miss Izard, Mrs. Baird and Mrs. Manchester left on the Chelobsin for Anyox where they have a concert engagement.

HOW TO VOTE AT ELECTION

Particulars of Absentee Voting Plan—Everyone Should Vote.

To provide for the newly inaugurated system of absentee voting at next week's provincial election each returning officer is supplied with a long ballot containing thirty-blank spaces. A voter from another district, say Alberni, will swear his affidavit that he is a registered voter in that district. The returning officer will take one of these blank ballots and will write in the spaces the names of the three candidates, Burde, Langis and Money, in that particular district. The ballot thus filled up will be handed to the voter and he will vote in the usual way, only his ballot will be placed in a sealed envelope and sent to the returning officer at Alberni so as to be counted in the Alberni results.

The arrest was a result of a check being presented and paid swearing of the affidavit and the returning officer in the home district there will be no possibility of anything but the usual legitimate voting. The reason for the length of the blank ballot is on account of the long lists of candidates in the larger centers, Vancouver, for instance, having thirty names. The identification through the description regular ballots of many districts of one of the bank staff. Since the cashing of the checks he had had a heavy growth of beard cut off.

Polk admits the forgery and the cashing of the checks, according to the police.

Option by Big Corporation on Stewart Short Railway

Expected C.P.R. will operate line to Groundhog Coal Fields through Bear River and Naas

Company is Backed by the British Government

Proposed to take up charter and build the line right through to join Dunvegan and B.C.

VANCOUVER, November 22.—In an important signed article published here yesterday, Ronald C. Campbell-Johnson says: "A powerful corporation, backed financially by the British Government, has firmly secured by option Sir Donald Mann's Canadian Northwestern Railway charter."

"This charter was granted in 1892 by the Dominion Government to build a railway from Stewart, B.C., traversing the 56th parallel up the Bear River, tunnelling the glacier at the divide into the Naas River valley and traversing Cassiar and Omineca and the Peace River to the Hudson's Bay, Fort St. John, thence to Dunvegan and down McArthur's Road connecting with the C.P.R. and briefly linking the transcontinental lines with far northern British Columbia."

After detailing at length the vast coal, mineral, cattle, and grain resources and the silent yet active investigations made by the British Government engineers for coal and oil and naval needs, the writer says: "Their own civil engineers are now in the field completing the permanent location for this particular railway. The C.P.R. is reliably mentioned as the future operators of the line about to be energetically commenced and finished, although this latter may be premature information."

The writer of the article says significantly: "The Federal Government having nationalized the railways now refuses to issue any more charters. Sir Donald Mann's charter has five years yet to live if construction starts soon."

"The British Government's mining engineers," adds the writer, "during the past year satisfied themselves that over one-sixth of the world's available latent coal supply lies in Northern British Columbia and Alberta. The war and the death of Lord Rhondda and the difficulties over money exchange laid dormant all matters relating to the Ground Hog smokeless coal field until now the British Government is moving in conjunction with the C.P.R."

Ronald Campbell-Johnson, a British Columbia pioneer, was the engineer responsible for the late Lord Rhondda's personal visit to the country and the investigations into the Ground Hog country, followed by his acquiring there various important interests including large tracts of anthracite coal.

is Notified.

On account of the failure of the railway company to deliver a carload of brick here construction on the new Hays Cove School is now being delayed. A fortnight ago a carload of 20,000 rough bricks was shipped from Edmonton, according to a way bill received by Colonel McMordie. Since that time the supply of rough brick ran out and after all local supplies had been exhausted Colonel McMordie made energetic inquiries only to find this morning that the carload of brick from Edmonton was sidetracked at Entrance siding, 200 miles west of Edmonton, and the explanation is that the car is in bad order.

Kavanagh Refuses to Join in Singing National Anthem

Rather Exciting Incident at Terrace when Audience at Labor Meeting Sings as Reds Leave Hall

TERRACE, B.C., November 22.—Jack Kavanagh, the Revolutionary Socialist, addressed a meeting here Saturday evening in the Terrace Progress Club Hall, the chair being occupied by T. J. Kirkpatrick.

Although the meeting was supposed to be in the interest and support of their candidate, J. H. Burrough, provincial politics did not enter into the address at all and neither the name of Mr. Burrough or Mr. Pattullo were mentioned more than once or twice during the whole evening.

The speaker spread himself all over Europe and talked wholly on international politics, his address being nothing more or less than a sermon on Bolshevism and the red flag.

A rather exciting incident occurred at the end of the meeting when the chairman announced the meeting closed without the formality of singing "God Save the King." L. H. Kenney immediately arose and asked the chairman if it was their intention to close it in that way and Mr. Kavanagh replied that it was not likely that he was going to pray God to save the King when he did not recognize any kings nor any flag but the red flag.

Mr. Kenney: "It is customary to close any public meetings in Terrace with the National Anthem, and if Mr. Kavanagh does not like the laws of Canada and the way it is governed I would suggest that he move to some other country that he does like. It doesn't make any difference to us whether Mr. Kavanagh wants to sing 'The King' or not, we are going to sing it anyway."

A returned soldier: "You might as well sing it, it will save trouble and you will have to sing it anyway."

Mr. Kavanagh: "Like Hell I will."

Mr. Kenney led off with the tune and "The King" was sung while those of the audience who were "seeing red" were moving out of the hall.

DAILY EDITION.

Monday, Nov. 22, 1920.

Keep Tuesdays and Fridays.

Those interested in encouraging games and sports should keep Tuesdays and Fridays for the basketball league games at the Athletic hall on Acropolis Hill. There is a fine series and patrons can see three games each evening for the admission price of one.

Two nights have been given to the games so far and the result has justified the use of the big hall. More might go, however. There is plenty of seating accommodation and some rattling good games should be played. Probably some people have not yet thought of attending this series. Tomorrow is a good night to commence. The girls play first and they are very keen and good sport. Take a look in and try the fun for one evening at any rate.

Kavanagh Incident Was Enlightening.

Jack Kavanagh, the Socialist spellbinder, who is campaigning in the interest of J. H. Burrough, created a scene at Terrace, which is a clear indication of the position of the followers of the red flag, including Mr. Burrough.

Terrace was hardly the place for Kavanagh to blurt out his theories and language which is not used in polite society, especially when ladies are present, as they were on the occasion mentioned. The wonder was that the Terrace people let him get away without feeling the force of public opinion there in a more tangible way.

—Perhaps it is a good thing the incident happened because it shows exactly the position of Mr. Burrough, although the candidate has not, we believe, publicly stated it as crudely as did Kavanagh. Either Mr. Burrough must disown Kavanagh and his doctrine or must accept what he says as his own position. The position is not British. It is not Canadian. It is Bolshevism pure and simple.

The British National Anthem is not one we like or that we consider to be an ideal national anthem. It does not quite express the feelings of a Canadian audience, but it is the symbol of the nation within the empire to which Kavanagh and his ilk are opposed. As long as it remains this symbol, it is right and proper we should sing it on all public occasions and the Terrace people are to be congratulated on having brought this question to an issue and shown the so-called labor group up in their true colors.

Labor Not All With Burrough.

At the last Liberal rally it was a surprise to see how many labor men attended. At the forthcoming election there will be a large labor vote given for Hon. T. D. Pattullo, who has stood for progressive legislation such as has not been known in this province before. The social reforms of the past few years have particularly appealed to them. They are big enough to see beyond parochial politics and grasp the big things. There will also be a few labor men who possibly will vote with the other two candidates, but neither of the candidates has ever done anything for labor, neither will they be in a position to do it if they are elected. They will be in the cold shades of opposition and their influence will be nothing like so great as if they were supporters of the Government. Mr. Pattullo, on the other hand, is a member of the Government and his voice is heard in the secret councils of the province when the broad and important policies of the Government are formulated. This must not be forgotten, neither must it be forgotten that Mr. Pattullo is one of the heavyweights of the cabinet and his opinions are always considered with respect and usually acted on.

Governmental System Not Understood.

The Canadian system of government is not always clearly understood. The general policy of the Government is formulated in cabinet council, which is always held in private. Usually the policy on any particular subject is then submitted to the caucus of the party and discussed at length and possibly modified. A bill is then drafted and introduced into the Legislature and there fully discussed and perhaps further modified. As a rule, however, most of the changes are made before the bill is submitted to the Legislature.

In view of this method, it is very clear that a man who does nothing but make speeches in the Legislature does not get very far. The independent candidate never has much influence. The man who is in a position to do things is the one who goes into the party caucus or better still into the cabinet council.

THE DAILY NEWS

LORD CAVE ON CANADA

Suggests that British News is Exaggerated Passing Through States

Viscount Cave has just returned with Lady Cave to England after a visit to Canada and the United States arising out of invitations to address the Canadian and American Bar Associations. He comes back deeply impressed by the strong affection which exists in Canada for the Old Country and the fervent Imperial spirit which prevails in the Dominion. He is also convinced that among responsible and influential American citizens a friendly feeling for Great Britain is unswervingly maintained.

Lord Cave is a member of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, and his first duty since his return has been to sit as a member of that committee to hear an appeal from British Columbia. The significance of the Judicial Committee is not always realized by the public in this country. Thousands of people who passed along the pavements of Whitehall last week cast curious glances at a stone balustrade, half demolished in the Downing Street rioting, which flanks a grey building where this Imperial Court of Law holds its sessions. Very few of them knew that the swing doors at the end of the balustrade lead to a Court which is the final tribunal of appeal for the whole Empire outside the United Kingdom.

Too Pessimistic

"I think some of the accounts

VISCOUNT CAVE.

sent from Europe to the United States and through the United States to Canada are too pessimistic in character and paint events in the United Kingdom in much blacker colors than one would find in our own newspapers, which know the facts. It was widely recognized both in Canada and the United States that more might be done to see that events over here are accurately presented over there."

During his tour Lord Cave attended many Courts of Justice both in Canada and the United States and sat on the bench while cases were heard. Legal procedure in Canada, he said in discussing his impressions, was very much like our own, but in the United States there were differences. "I think litigation takes longer in America than with us," he explained. "This is partly because they allow the system of challenging jurors to a much greater extent than we do here. So far as the higher courts of America are concerned, I need hardly say that the conduct of business was both able and prompt."

The Judicial Committee

Speaking of the place which the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council has in the legal system of the Dominions, Lord Cave said that in Canada the feeling towards the Committee was on the whole one of complete approval. A very distinguished lawyer connected with Ontario recently made a speech advocating the restrictions of appeals to the Privy Council, but generally opinion took the opposite view. "The Committee is regarded as a link with the Dominions, and the people of Canada are impressed by the fact that it is the right of any British subject in any part of the Empire who has a grievance to carry that grievance to the foot of the Throne."

In a last word on Canada Lord Cave expressed the opinion that the Dominion was settling down well after the war. The grain crop this year had been very good

Facilities

Improved by the OLIVER GOVERNMENT.

Substantial progress has been made in educational matters in British Columbia during the past four years. The system has been developed along sane and progressive lines. Some of the improvements that have been accomplished under the Liberal Administration are:

Minimum attendance required for maintaining a school in operation reduced from eight to six giving a better opportunity to children in sparsely settled districts to secure their education. Free correspondence course established for children in isolated districts where schools cannot be maintained.

Pupils now promoted to high schools on recommendation of teachers, based on work for term, instead of on special written examination, which, however, may still be taken if desired, those not so recommended.

Provision made for the appointment of an official trustee to take charge of schools where work is hampered by trustees of alien birth, particularly those opposed to the teaching of ideals of British citizenship.

Doukhobor school question successfully dealt with. There are now twelve schools in operation among this people, well attended by children of both sexes, whereas, on June 30th, 1916, there was only one Doukhobor school in operation.

The courses in manual training, domestic science, night school and agricultural teaching have been broadened and articulated with the general work of the schools.

A Provincial School for mentally deficient children is being established.

A Provincial School for the education of the blind is being established.

A Provincial school for the deaf and dumb opened.

A Provincial Technical School established.

Taxes collected for rural schools are now transmitted to trustees quarterly in full. Under the old system trustees frequently had to borrow money on their own notes to carry on the work.

Special attention given to practical business and technical training.

Education in Canadian and British ideals and the principles of Government.

Ensure the continuance of sensible Educational administration by voting For Liberal Candidates Dec. 1.

Four Candidates Meet on Every Platform Nightly and Manson's Prospects Look Good

MANSON IS REFUSED REPLY AT FRANCOIS

BURNS LAKE, Nov. 22.—The campaign waxes fast and furious. Joint meetings are held at which all four candidates are present.

At Francois Lake Friday evening the biggest meeting in the history of the place was held. It was Manson against the field. Kelly refused to allow Manson to reply, so the meeting adjourned and a new public meeting was held immediately, lasting until midnight.

The indications are good for Manson's election. Prudhomme's claim as an independent and farmer is met by the fact that the oldest and best settlers signed their names to Manson's nomination papers.

Murray finds the anti-Bowser feeling still strong and that injures his cause. The people do not want to return to a Bowser regime.

Kelly, the labor man, is a serious factor in the election, and roads are the chief issue in the campaign.

ABOUT 100 AT LABOR MEETING

J. H. Burrough Answers T. Ross
McKay, Who Bolted the Labor Ticket.

J. H. Burrough addressed an audience of about 100 at the McIntyre hall on Saturday night. In opening, he drew attention to the reported remarks of T. Ross McKay at S. M. Newton's meeting in the Carpenters' hall as published in the Daily News of November 18. Dealing particularly with the statement attributed to Mr. McKay that "the cards were stacked" at the labor convention which nominated the speaker, Mr. Burrough emphatically denied the statement as a reflection on the honesty of himself and those who were supporting his candidature, and it was made without a shadow of foundation. There was no sign of or attempt to form a caucus either before or during the convention, and he would have refused to have been a party to any such attempt if it had been made. As to the statement of Mr. McKay that he did not know exactly how it all happened, but thought that the convention was called to decide between himself and Mr. Newton, the behavior of Mr. McKay at the convention nullified his own statement.

Acting in Sleep.

After Mr. Newton had been ruled out of the running by vote of the convention, Mr. McKay with the other nominees addressed the convention, laying particular stress on the closed town question, speaking for some ten minutes. Also, in his activity previous to the convention, when he was packing a list of signatures around town calling for a labor nominating convention, he stated to several who signed it that he was willing to support the nominee, whoever he might be. As to Mr. McKay's action in bolting to the Newton camp, the speaker had no fault to find with that. He was not seeking or desiring the support of any who were not in full agreement with the principles and platform on which he was fighting the election and if any other nominee had been chosen he would not have supported him if he stood for less.

THAT something that won't get you anywhere is rooting for a political candidate if you have no vote.

THAT once upon a time there was a candidate who was going to win an election. His name was Newton. It was a fairy story you must remember.

THAT a wonderful thing happened recently. A man bought a packet of cigarettes and thought he would test them. He removed the paper carefully and found inside nothing but tobacco. Lucky dog!

THAT if prosecutions were instituted against all those who had contempt of court, there would be nothing but litigation for the next few years.

THAT the latest dance is named the Wesleyan Crawl.

THAT it has not yet been introduced into Methodist tea meetings.

Attacked Pretensions.

Dealing with election matters the candidate attacked the pretensions of the opposing candidates to credit for the past and future development of the northern part of the province as being due either to their past or projected policies. Capitalists would invest their funds in any part of the world from which they saw a profitable return, and the development of northern B. C. depended neither on the good or bad will of the politicians. If the proposed attractive the capitalists would invest and the political parties would have to initiate such legislation as served their ends. If it was not attractive no amount of bowing and vituperation from the politicians would induce them to tackle it.

The owners of the industries in the province were the real government, he said, and the visible government, of whichever political party it might be composed, was but a committee to manage the common affairs of the owning class. If the development projected did take place the lot of the wage-worker, and ultimately of the small business man would not be improved. The former would still have to sell his physipresent breakdown of the capitalist system of production would have no other effect than to force the issue more and more to the front for a settlement.

At the conclusion of the address several questions were asked and answered.

N. Booth was in the chair, and announced that the next meeting would be held on Wednesday next. On Sunday night Mr. Burrough and Mr. Kavanagh left for Ocean Falls.

Election Notes

A careful estimate of the result of the coming election gives Pattullo a big lead over any of the local candidates, with Formby possibly ahead of Burrough by a few votes for second place; and S. M. Newton acting as rear guard.

There is a persistent rumor that O. B. Bush may retire from the fight in Atlin. He has gone south, but it may be to canvas among the electors who are winning outside.

What most people cannot understand is why there should be any opposition to Pattullo, considering the good work he has done and the possibilities for the future. Those who are opposing him are doing so because of personal ambition and not for the good of the province and district.

Further details which arrive from Terrace in regard to Newton's meeting there indicate that it was a frost and that the people there want a man who really stands for something, not one who is ready to take a nomination from the O.B.U. one minute and from the Conservatives the next.

The betting continues four to one on Pattullo against the field with very few takers.

In Omineca the betting is three to one on Manson against the field and very few takers there.

DEVIL INVENTED THE WESLEYAN CRAWL SAYS VICTORIAN

VICTORIA, Nov. 22.—Aid from the pulpits of Victoria churches in combating the popularity of immoral dances alleged to be growing here is advocated by J. B. Greenlaw, who sent a letter to the City Council, endorsing Mayor Porter's crusade against questionable dance halls and offering suggestions.

"If it is to be a knockout blow at the rough element who are running these dancing haunts where temptation and sin are rampant, you should pass a resolution in favor of calling upon the Christian pastors and preachers of this city to get busy along the line of warning the young and foolish against the growing craze of dangerous, suggestive dancing and late hours and late suppers," wrote Mr. Greenlaw.

Ald. Fullerton suggested that the health and morals committee should investigate and take action if considered advisable, but the majority was opposed to action at the present time and ordered the letter filed.

Mr. Greenlaw told of a new dance of a particularly vicious nature which, he said, should be banned at once.

"The devil has invented a new dance and given it a religiously camouflaged name," he said. "It is the Wesleyan Crawl," called after the saintly John Wesley, founder of Methodism. The church people should start a prayer meeting campaign to combat this, and to help you in this business of making Victoria a safe place for impressionable young people to grow up into manhood and womanhood untainted by the evil influences of immoral pleasures."

ANCHORAGE A CITY

First Mayor and Town Council Elected Recently

Anchorage, on Cook's Inlet, is now an incorporated town and United States Commissioner Davis is the first mayor. When the nation was voting on November 2nd for a President and other officials and Alaska was voting for a delegate to Congress, etc., Anchorage held a special election on the question of incorporating. The Anchorageites decided by the necessary two-thirds vote of 328 to 130 to become a real city and not to be dependent on the Federal Government, through the Alaskan Engineering Commission. Incidentally the voters of the town elected a town council of seven members including Leopold Davis, R. N. Moyer, J. J. Longacre, J. H.
