Sterling Money

Is Coming Back. With fluctuations back and forth the British pound sterling is gradually taking its place once more as the standard of values, and leading authorities predict that by next December it will have fully recovered its normal value. It should be worth $4.86 of our money and the same of American money.

Financial men seem to be divided as to the reason for the quick recovery of British exchange. The following is the opinion of a stockbroking firm:

"There are several sound reasons for the recovery of the pound; the principal undoubtedly being that Great Britain is returning to a producing maximum with greater and more businesslike celerity than any other of the late beligerent nations in Europe. British shipping and foreign trade are rapidly returning to normal, and, since the commencement of the year, some £200,000,000 worth of manufactured gools and materials have been sold or contracted for to be sold externally; United States, interests proving among the largest purchasers. Of the foreign trade which the United States has lost since the commencement of 1920, and which is estimated at nearly 70 per cent, it is certain that Great Britain has gained the principal share. Great Britain has shown a consideration and willingness to assist her late allies that has proved a most important sentimental factor in trade rehabilitation." .

Disorganization of Trade is General.

Prince Rupert people have been much worried over the fish market and the shortage of cars. Various reasons have been given for the lack of rolling stock to handle the local product, but the shortage is everywhere and Prince Rupert is suffering along with other places. The officials are doing their best under aifficult conditions.

Possibly when the Government assumes complete control of the railway, one of the first things they will attend to will be the increase of the rolling stock. A lot of money must be spent to bring it up to a point where it can properly cope with present business without allowing for increase. But there will be a large increase in business if we can only get the means of handling it.

New Dock Waiting Final Sanction.

Final sanction is awaited by the officials of the railway company before the work on the new dock can proceed. The Dominion Government, which provides the money, has not yet given its final approval of the work. Some of the material is on hand, but there are still delays.

It is to be hoped that in the interests of both Prince Rupert and the railway the work will commence soon. If it does not get under way at once, there will be a shortage of accommodation for the business that is expected from Alaska. Possibly it might be well for local organizations to again draw attention to the fact that the work has not commenced and that the new dock is badly needed. No one wants to worry the Government in carrying out its difficult work, but we do want the dock and we think the Government which owns the railway should want the dock to be in operation this year.

Shortage and Switchmen's Strike Combined Had Bad Effect on Fish Market.

The total amount of halibut landed at Prince Rupert last month was 1,395,600 pounds and salmon, 18,990 pounds. These figures do not compare favorably with last year's for the same month, which were 2,399,000 lbs. halibut and 91,615 salmen, but a number of reasons have compined this year to put the fishing pusiness at a disadvantage. April 1919 was an exceptionally good month and one that might not recur in years for the amount of ish caught.

Conditions Unfavorable.

The weather in the past month was fair but market conditions vere, on the whole, very unsatisfactory. A car shortage prevailed almost the entire month, which, no doubt diverted thousands of pounds of halibut to other ports. Then about April 20 the effects of the switchmen strike hit the Prince Rupert market like a bolt from the blue and for some days all shipments east were refused by the express com pany. These causes are the main ones for the halibut decrease, while the explanation may be for salmon that the season

April, 1919, saw greater fluctuations in the halibut prices than were ever before seen in the same month of any other year. On April 11 the price had reached 19.2c and 15c with every prospect of going even higher, when the embargo on eastern shipments came. As a result within nine days the price had reached the bottom, or 10e and 6c.

May Starts Well.

The reverses of the past few months, and especially the car shortage have placed the local fish dealers in a rather pessimistic frame of mind. With relief of the car shortage no nearer at hand the buyers say that the prospects for the summer's halibut catch is not bright. The prevailing threat of universal strikes also has its effect on business and the buyers are playing the market very easily. May, however, has started off well and already over 300,000 pounds of halibut has been landed bere. With relief of the car situation there is no reason that it should not be as good a month as ever.

in July WASHINGTON, May 5 .- A test of the new rocket apparatus, designed by Professor H. Goddard to leeach altitudes far above the earth's air envelope and, as vague possibility, even to the moon, will be made late in July at Worchester, Mass., the National deographic Society announces. Immediate objects of the inventor, the announcement said, was "the study of the aurora and of the short wave lengths in the spectrum of the sun which are entirely absorbed by the air."

At more moderate altitudes, Professor Goddard hopes to obtain valuable information concerning measurements of wind velocity, humidity, temperature and pressure, all of which enter into the business of weather foreeasting.

The rocket will be propelled by the explosion of succesive charges For extreme altitudes, secondary rockets, or a rocket within a rocket may be used A special parachute will prevent destruction of the delicate instruments on the return to the earth Accuracy in flight, Professor Godtive cells, which, through influ-freighter with paper products, ence of rays of light, will keep the rocket on its course

Chinese Rear Guard Shoot Down All Those Who Retreat Without Orders

(Special by G. T. P. Telegraphs) WARSAW, May 5 .- The Poles are gradually closing in on Kiev, notwithstanding the resistance of the Bolsheviki infantry and artillery. Reports received here today indicate that the Poles are from 35 to 45 kilos from Kiev at several points.

It is asserted that the defenders of Kiev are demoralised, but that the front line of the Reds is being forced to fight as the rear guard made up of Chinese marines are shooting down all Reds who retreat without orders.

JUDGMENT RESERVED

The evidence has been taken in the action of Thomas McClymont vs. A. B. Williams, for commission on a real estate sale, and judgment has been reserved by Judge Young. Yesterday afternoon the evidence of Thomas Mc-Clymont and J. A. Sutherland, the buyer, as well as W. E. Fisher, for the defence, was heard. This morning was taken up with counsels' argument.

A. Piazi, who was formerly a partner with T. Budenich in the Third Avenue Meat Market, left on this morning's train for New York from which he will sail by the White Star steamer Cretic on May 27 for his old home in Italy.
