PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., MONDAY, MAY 10, 1920. PRICE FIVE CENTS

Strike Situation Is Still Unchanged

EVOLUTION IN MEXICO SEEMS TO HAVE BEEN COMPLETELY SUCCESSFUL

All Northern Steamers Tie Up Except Princess Mary and Prince George

Princess Mary will give Temporary Service but All Other Vessels Await Outcome of Strike; Prince Rupert made run to Victoria and Seattle

VANCOUVER, May 10.—The service between this city and Seattle, Anyox and Stewart was cut off this morning when the steamer Princess Rupert returned from Seattle and Victoria. She arrived from the north on Saturday and her crew then left her tied up at the G. T. P. dock. Captain Nicholson was successful in securing a small crew to take the vessel to Victoria and return, but he has failed to secure a crew for the return run.

It is reported here that the Prince George, now the only G. T. P. steamer operating, will tie up on her return from the north on Monday.

The strike situation is unchanged, all the C. P. R. boats with the exception of the Princess Beatrice and Princess Ena sailing. The G. T. P. and Union Steamship Company's boats are idle.

It is officially announced here that there will be temporary service to Prince Rupert and Skagway by the C. P. R. steamer Princess Mary which left here Saturday for those points.

SHOP GIVEN SCARLET GOWN

Official of Anglican Church Honored at Vancouver.

At the annual convocation of the Anglican Theological College in Vancouver, Bishop Du Vernet was presented with a new scarlet gown representing the degree of Doctor of Divinity which he holds, on the part of the board of governors of the college. In making the presentation Bishop de Pencier said that nothing had ever given him greater pleasure. The efficiency and sense of fairness which the archbishop had displayed during the eight years of his presidency of the college had won the admiration of all of them.

The archbishop, having donned the gown, remarked amid laughter that his friends had "put one over on him." He mentioned that during the past year the number of students registered was 13, of whom three were returned men.

Among the graduates had just received the degree of B. A. in the principal university and another had taken the degree of B. D. in the universities of eastern Canada. The archbishop paid tributes to the work of Principal [Name] as a man of exceptional ability in a certain line, strong in administrative and executive power and to Warden Shortt as a man wonderfully winning personality.

Among the appointments were Bishop of Caledonia to be [Name] to be president and Rev. [Name] member of the executive.

PROBABLY WAS LAST CONCERT

J. F. Maguire Announces That Support Not Being Given on Collection Basis.

Last night's Sunday concert was, as usual, an enjoyable event and proved very pleasing to the audience, which was quite large. Mrs. Dalby Brooks Morkill was the vocal soloist and instrumental numbers were rendered by Gray's Orchestra. It was the general opinion that Mrs. Morkill was even in better voice than ever before and the audience was not backward in showing its appreciation by the persistent demand for encores. Her songs were "Killarney," "My Ain Folk" and "Ave Maria."

A delightful saxophone solo, "Mother Machree," was rendered by Ed. Ross which proved new and pleasing. Will Edmunds appearing as a solo cornetist surprised many with his skill and was a pleasure to all in "La Reve d'Amour." In the instrumental trio, "Extasie d'Amour" Mrs. Taylor excelled herself and was assisted by Alex. Gray and Will Edmunds. The orchestral selections were Kings Escort March, Light Cavalry, overture and another selection.

J. F. Maguire, in making his announcement, stated that on the four concerts already given he was $52 out of pocket. He stated that the concerts could not be maintained on a collection basis without loss. He also announced that he was in communication with Gideon Hicks, a Victoria soloist, and if he could be obtained there would be one more concert, if not, there will be no more Sunday night concerts this season.

Train Agent Armitinger, accompanied by his wife, returned from a vacation spent in the east last night. He resumed his run on the passenger train this morning.

G. A. McNicholl, assistant general freight and passenger agent, and H. H. McCall, superintendent, went south on the Prince George last night.

Angus Stewart returned south last night.

JUDGMENT GIVEN BY JUDGE YOUNG

McClymont Wins Claim and Costs — Prince Rupert Mercantile Claim Dismissed.

Judgment was handed down by Judge Young on Saturday afternoon in the McClymont vs. Williams case, giving $150 and costs to the plaintiff. The case arose out of commission in a real estate deal, which the defendant claimed was not coming to the plaintiff. The action of the Prince Rupert Mercantile Co. against J. Wolfe & Co., of Anyox, was dismissed. This case was a claim of $38.22 by the plaintiffs for soft drinks alleged to have been delivered on order of the defendants. The costs in the case are said to be heavier than the amount involved in the case itself.

Five Thousand Veterans Condemn the Government for Failing to Provide

VANCOUVER, May 10.—Over 5,000 veterans of all the city returned soldier organizations held a mammoth meeting at Stanley Park Sunday afternoon at which the Federal Government was condemned for failing to provide suitable employment for veterans.

It was urged that a more equitable pensions list should be established and the speakers dealt scathingly with Brigadier-General McLean's utterances and demanded his resignation from the Board of Pensions.

"The country has already broken faith with those who sleep in Flanders Fields," declared one of the speakers. He urged the gathering to pledge their support to the United Public Service Council to co-ordinate the work of all the veterans.

Mrs. P. E. Doncaster, after spending a few days visiting in the city, returned to her home in New Westminster last night.

Skeena River agrivals last night included A. C. Gillen, Port Eslington; Mrs. W. A. Hodgson, Klyex; and A. W. Carter Oceanic.

NOW READY TO START SCHOOL

School Board and Col. McMordie Come to Final Arrangement for Agreement.

CONTRACTOR SUPPLIES OWN EQUIPMENT

On Saturday night in a conference between Colonel S. P. McMordie and the Board of School Trustees, final arrangements were made for the signing of an agreement for the erection of the new school at Hays Cove Circle. According to the agreement that is to be entered into Colonel McMordie will get 4 per cent on all contracts already let for material and supplies amounting to $70,000. For the balance of unlet contracts and materials he will receive 10 per cent. As there will be no commission allowed for any cost over $170,000 the total possible amount that Colonel McMordie can possibly get will be about $12,000. Under the agreement, Colonel McMordie will be responsible for the entire building so that the matter is out of the hands of the school trustees except for the regularly monthly payments on the architect's certificate. The contractor will supply equipment including concrete mixers and hoists, will finance all buying and paying of sub-contractors, will play his own expenses on trips he will have to make out of town buying materials and will pay his own office assistance. Asked for an estimate on Saturday night, Col. McMordie stated that he thought the building could be completed for a little under $160,000.

NO POSTPONEMENT OF CONFERENCE WITH GERMANS AT SPA

PARIS, May 9.—Reports that the Germans will request a postponement of the meeting of the allied and German representatives at Spa from May 25 to June 10 after the German elections are regarded in French official circles as plausible, in view of the difficulty Germany is having in getting ready for the conference. No request for a postponement has yet been received from the Germans, but it is stated that it will soon come. The Allies are disposed not to grant a delay because of the urgency of holding the meeting and also because the League of Nations financial conference at Brussels cannot be held until after that at Spa.

Sport Briefs

Charley McCarthy, the lightweight champion of Canada, who will defend the title next Wednesday evening in a 12-round contest with Chet Neff, holds more war medals than any other boxer in the world. He is a native Canadian boy, having been born near Ottawa but now making his home in Canada and was not slow to answer the nation's call to arms at the beginning of the war. Even after being discharged from the Princess Pats for wounds sustained in France he joined up with a Minnesota battalion. Among the war awards he holds are the Croix de Guerre with 7 bars, King Albert Belgian Medal, Military Medal, Distinguished Service Medal, and an Italian military award.

Evidently the Yanks at Ketchikan were inclined to give their sailor boxer the best of things in his six-round contest with Chet Neff at the fish town last Friday. Local fans who went up with Neff say that he had the best of the fight with the exception of one round but there were no judges and the referee gave a draw decision. There is little doubt that had Neff extended himself much he would have gained an indisputable decision. Perhaps he's saving up for Wednesday for he will be forced to show all the speed and skill he's got when he enters the squared circle with McCarthy.

Both McCarthy and Neff are working out nightly at the Trail Club, McCarthy with his manager, Frank Smithers, and Neff with Len Halliday. Both are in good condition and are improving daily so that when the night of the fight comes they should be in the best of trim for the encounter. Local opinion seems to give the odds to McCarthy but Neff is coming up and although he has not been fighting the same class of boxers as McCarthy has been lately, there is no doubt that he will put up a good fight. McCarthy is naturally the favorite from sentimental reasons if none other.

On their return from their trip of victory to the Olympic games at Antwerp, the Winnipeg Falcons, champion hockey team of the world, will be tendered a civic banquet and presented with gold watches on May 15 to express Winnipeg's appreciation of the laurels they have won. A parade is to be organized by the Amateur Hockey Association. The Falcons are today nearing Montreal on the Atlantic lap of their overseas trip. At London where they spent a couple of days they were tendered a great reception.

Bitter Attack On Lady Astor.
 Horatio Bottomly, editor of John Bull, has made a bitter attack on Lady Astor, raking up her past life and exposing it to the vulgar gaze and charging the lady with inconsistency. Poor old Bottomly has to have someone to berate. He lives on berating other people and yet his own past will not bear inspection. Such is life.

Bottomly is representative of a type that lives on the temporary lapses of better people than himself. He is always looking for the flaws in a person's character and ruthlessly exposes them to the million men and women who enjoy reading of the shortcomings of the successful. If Bottomly were let loose in this town he could make things so uncomfortable that there would not be one man or woman left with an untainted record. If there was no flaw he could find circumstantial evidence that would seem to point to one.

Probably Bottomly is a useful member of society. He has been the means of pricking many a bubble and exposing many a crook. If all the bubbles were pricked, however, there would not be much substance left in this world.

Consistency A Jewel.
 Consistency is a jewel, says one of the great writers. Yes, he is right, but people do not fall in love with jewels nor do jewels influence men and women to action. It is the inconsistencies of women that are their chief charm. If they were always the same and easily understood they would not be liked half as well. Horatio Bottomly knows enough about women to know that the best women are never consistent. For that reason he might have held his wicked pen, instead of attacking a woman like Lady Astor.

Montreal Witness On Paper Shortage.
 What is the cause of this famine, and can it be cured? Inquires the Montreal Witness. There is always a greatly increased hunger for news in war time. If millions of men who might be buyers are away, they multiply the number of buyers at home, and the number of papers each buys. But this is only the beginning of the cause of the increased consumption of paper. During a war, and still more after it, there is always—we need not ask why—a wild increase in buying and selling, with extraordinary and ever-rising prices. These are conditions which encourage extravagant advertising, demanding, in view of the inflated circulation, a fabulous amount of paper. The paper mills were kept running day and night, using up what stock they had—stocks that were abnormally small because so many of the lumbermen were at the front, or, having returned, had had enough of camp life, and refused to leave the cities. Some who went to the woods developed more Bolshevism than brawn, and produced much less logs at much higher wages. So the supply became scarce as the demand multiplied. Paper cost much more to make but increased in selling price much faster than the cost of making. The mills claim that for years they have been working at a loss, by which they perhaps mean that, owing to government restrictions of price, they have been selling much below the prices they would have got. At all events, they think very naturally that the market price is their fair right. Still they have before them the question of the life or death of many of the publications which, while not making money are greatly serving the public, and by which they have themselves in some measure lived in the past. If only for their own sake they have surely too much interest in the continuance and development of their own home market to sacrifice it for the sake of the demand abroad even though tempted by extraordinarily profitable rates of exchange.

The table given is for Port Simpson but the time for Prince Rupert varies only a few minutes on some days and on others is the same. The range of the tide may be computed as 5 per cent greater at Prince Rupert than at Port Simpson both at springs and neaps. Therefore the rise in the Prince Rupert harbor is slightly greater than Port Simpson.

The height is in feet and tenths of feet above the average level of lower low water.

COLLISION INCIDENTS

Evidence Given by Captain Roberson Before Commission of Inquiry.

The story of the inquiry into the collision between the steamers Prince Albert and Prince John as reported in the Vancouver World follows:—

Referring to his log book, Captain H. A. Roberson, master of the steamer Prince Albert, which collided with the steamer Prince John off Dead Tree Point early on the morning of March 30, gave a detailed account of the incidents leading up to the disaster which placed the Prince John out of commission for many weeks, before Captain J. D. Macpherson, Dominion wreck commissioner, who presided at the marine inquiry opened in the court house this morning.

Capt. J. R. Stewart, secretary of the B. C. Shipping Federation, and Capt. G. Bridges, of Esquimalt, were the nautical assessors. D. A. McTaggart and A. Alexander appeared for Capt. Roberson and Capt. Moorehouse, respectively. Captain Roberson's evidence occupied the entire morning with the exception of that of Chief Engineer Richard Knox of the Prince Albert, whose evidence commenced shortly before lunch.

Squall Closed in.

After his ship had passed the Dead Tree Point buoy, Capt. Roberson stated, a thick snow squall could be seen closing in. He took up a position on the wheel house and had just started to come down when he heard the John's whistle blowing, as he thought, two long blasts. (This signal means that a vessel under way is stopped.) He at once rang the telegraph full speed astern, after having ordered the man at the wheel to turn the helm to port. He then countermanded the order before effect could be given to the first one and ordered the helm hard starboard. He then saw the Prince John a quarter point on his port bow close up, crossing from east and west. That she had way on he could tell by the wash from her bow.

Pushed Vessel to Safety.

The collision took place at 6:42 o'clock. The engines were then ordered slow ahead and then full speed ahead. Capt. Roberson's object being to keep the hole plugged up and run the John to safety. It required an hour and a half to cover the mile and a half to shore. Prince Rupert was wireless at 7:40 o'clock. The boats were swung over the side, but not needed as the John's passengers soon poured over the deck onto the Albert.

Five fog signals were sounded by the Albert before hitting the John, according to the witness. He sounded three and the quartermaster two. The vessel was proceeding at eleven knots an hour and the witness was coming off the wheelhouse to reduce speed when the John's blasts were heard. He was surprised to see her across his bow. The two blasts was the only signal of the John which he heard.

In reply to Capt. Stewart witness stated that approximately five minutes had elapsed between the time the Albert blew the first fog signal until the collision. "Why did it not occur to you to reduce speed when you made your first fog signal?" asked Captain Stewart.

Visibility Was Good.

"Witness explained that he was not in the snow squall at that time, that he was only approaching it. Furthermore he saw the buoy and the visibility was good. He was simply taking a precaution."

Referring to Larsen's "Collisions at Sea," Capt. Macpherson read an extract which showed that witness' action in not reducing speed before entering the squall was quite proper. It was not contrary to the provisions of Article 16 of the Canada Shipping Act.

"I do not see why he should reduce speed when there was visibility for six miles," remarked Capt. Bridges.

Evidence was brought out showing that Capt. Roberson had been 28 years at sea, seventeen of which were spent on this coast with the exception of 4½ years in the war zone. This was his first collision. He has been with the G. T. P. Steamship Company since 1910, when the company started operations on this coast.

RAILWAYMEN ORGANIZED

The railwaymen completed their organization on Saturday evening at a meeting for that purpose. Permanent officers were elected and arrangements made for carrying on the union. What is now known as the Prince Rupert branch of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees enthusiastically agreed that the various branches of railway employees should be in a unified position to declare their status before the employing authorities. The officers elected were as follows:

- President, J. Harvey.
- Vice-President, W. H. Waldorf.
- Secretary, J. Wolstenholme.
- Treasurer, J. Lawrence.
- Warden, H. R. Hill.
- Reporter, G. P. Armstrong.
- Guards, W. H. Woldridge and F. Gergal.
- Chaplain, W. Smeaton.

It was arranged at the meeting that for the future meetings should be held every 1st and 3rd Monday of the month at the tea rooms of W. Smeaton, 2nd Ave. All local railway employees are said to be quite enthusiastic about the forwarding of a movement to get the "unorganized" elements of the system working together. They feel that as it has been, there has been lacking a true appreciation of the work of the men and women who daily work between the chiefs and the "organized" trades of the railway.

NARROW ESCAPE FOR BEN SELF

Seized With Fainting Spell Coming From Ketchikan and Nearly Fell Overboard.

After a rough passage from Ketchikan, Ben Self, Chet Neff and party, who went north for the fight between Neff and Reuder returned at 6 o'clock yesterday morning. They left Ketchikan at 6 o'clock Saturday morning but, on account of heavy weather, laid at Mary Island light-house from 9 Saturday morning to 8 in the evening. The trip was made on the launch Provincial, Captain A. Swanson. Just before the boat tied up at Mary Island, Ben Self had a narrow escape. Beaming seaskiff, he left the cabin of the boat to get fresh air outside and was seized with a fainting spell on the deck. He became insensible and fell to the deck, rolling to the low curbing, the only barrier between the deck and the sea. He was picked up later in a pool of blood from a cut on his nose. He does not know how long he was lying unconscious.

FORM JEWISH REPUBLIC IN PALESTINE

Such is Aim of Zionists—Four Million Going There Soon.

LONDON, May 7.—Four million Jews, according to Dr. Max Nordau, the famous essayist and Zionist leader, are now only waiting for the British mandate for Palestine to become effective before they emigrate there. Dr. Nordau declared that in his opinion the mandate would begin within a few weeks. "We are waiting for the British to open the frontiers," Dr. Nordau said today.

"The first settlers," he said, "will be employed in building houses and ploughing the land. To four million Jews, the program for the torn countries of Palestine offers the only hope for a settlement there. It is a matter of life or death to them that the Arab population of Palestine, numbering about half a million, should be either friendly or indifferent to us. We have no fear regarding our future relations with them."

Want Civil Rule.

"The immediate need is the replacement of the present military rule by a British civil administration which would throw open the frontiers. It is possible there would be enough Jews to give us a small majority over the Arabs, or at least an equality. We hope that in ten years there will be nearly five million Jews settled there."

"Five thousand wealthy Jews have already signified their desire to remove to Palestine and I am informed that the Oriental American society, recently formed in New York, will invest $150,000,000 for the purpose of establishing economic relations between America and Palestine. This is not charity, it is business. Ultimately we hope to have a Jewish republic established on the broadest and most democratic lines."
