Gasoline Shortage Announced By the Vancouver Manager

Higher Prices Bound to Come and Companies now using Crude Oil may have to revert to Coal again

VANCOUVER, May 13.—Unless something intervenes to allay the possibility of a famine, it may be necessary to cut orders 30 per cent by according to a statement made to the public by C. M. Rolston, manager of the Imperial Oil Company. The statement is based on instructions to that effect received from the executive committee of the concern at San Francisco. The company is not requiring to open up new accounts. Higher prices for gasoline are bound to come," says Mr. Rolston, "and it may be necessary for some of the steamship companies to change back to coal consumption, owing to the oil shortage. For some time past there have been stories afloat as to the oil shortage. Only recently the Imperial Oil Company ceased making distillate, much to the dissatisfaction of owners of fishing boats and pleasure launches. If the shortage of gasoline goes up, it will have considerable effect on the fishing industry and also add considerably to the expense of the running of automobiles.

FARMERS JOIN THE DEMAND FOR MORE PAY

Ontario Members Try to Secure
 Increase in Seasonal Allowance.

Open conflict was staged in the Ontario Legislature a few days ago. The point at issue was the seasonal indemnity. The debate started at 10 o'clock, when the House was in supply, and lasted until 1:30 in the morning. As there was no motion before the House, no vote followed. Premier Drury was unalterably opposed to any increase, but had there been a vote it is doubtful if he could have commanded a majority. Party or group ties fell like a house of cards when individual members discussed the question. Private members who have not opened their mouths even in committee sprang into the fray. Most of them wanted an increase. Some of them didn't, but these were a minority among those who spoke. Premier Drury's attempts to pour oil on troubled waters simply added fuel to the blaze.

DISORDERLY HOUSES AGAIN IN COURT

Kitty Morgan appeared in the police court this morning to answer to the charge of being the keeper of a disorderly house and was remanded for a week until W. E. Williams, her counsel, may take the matter up with the police commission. Mr. Williams stated in court this morning that if the people of Prince Rupert were to allow such houses on Comox Avenue that their persecution should not be allowed at the whim of the police department. If one was prosecuted the prosecution should apply to all.

Mr. and Mrs. Slavin arrived from Houston on yesterday morning's train.

TRADE CENTRE IN PACIFIC IN NEAR FUTURE

So Says Captain Robert Dollar at Convention of Trade
 Experts.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—The world's pocketbook was examined yesterday by over 2,000 financial and trade experts in the opening session of the seventh annual foreign trade convention. The speakers generally agreed that two courses are plain, one leading to business reverses, low wages and stagnation, and the other to prosperity, progress and security for the businessman and worker. Captain Robert Dollar told of opportunities in the Pacific, where more than a billion people, half the world population, were waiting development of commerce. He predicted removal of the world trade centre from the Atlantic to the Pacific within a generation.

Gordon Adams, charged with being an inmate of a disorderly house came up before Magistrate McMorris this morning. Considerable evidence was taken and the case remanded until tomorrow morning.

Spring Salmon Run Well on Both Skeena and Naas

The High Boat takes Two Tons in 24 Hours, making
 $280 between Two Men; Many Boats Out

Reports from the Skeena River are to the effect that spring salmon are running well. Last week twenty boats were fishing, mostly on the upper drift and good catches were made. The high boat caught two tons of fish which sold to the Balmoral cannery at seven cents a pound, netting the twofishermen $280, or $140 each. The average, however, was not as high as that. Most boats got from half to three quarters of a ton. This week fishing is not quite as good and there are more boats out. The Balmoral Cannery is mild curing most of the salmon, but some are being canned.
Naas River Busy.
 On the Naas River spring salmon are running well and there are something like sixty boats fishing. All the fish at that point are being canned.

Killing Cruel Father Not Manslaughter says Jury

NELSON, B. C., May 13.—Agreeing with the view of Mr. Justice Morrison that it was a wonder Seto Ginn Kee, an inhuman father, was not killed years before, a jury here acquitted Seto Fong of the charge of manslaughter. Seto Ginn Kee was a logger, and among his practices in dealing with his boy was tying to a tree in winter and deluging him with water, and afterwards forcing filth down his throat.

VICTORIA NOT NEEDING LOANS

No Applicants There for Half of Allotments to that City

VICTORIA, May 13.—Victoria has so far spent only about half of its allotment under the Federal Better Housing Act. The first houses built under the scheme will be ready for occupancy next week and twelve are fast nearing completion. Altogether twenty-five houses are being built in Victoria in accordance with the terms of the act, which provides for loans, guaranteed by the Provincial Government and distributed by the city, of federal money to returned soldiers for housing purposes. The average amount of the loans is about $3,500. About $90,000 has been loaned so far out of a total fund of $180,000. Present indications are that there will not be any further demand for housing loans this season, although the money is ready for those who can present the required credentials to the city. The high cost of building is given as the deterring factor in the majority of cases. The many friends of Mrs. W. H. Vickers will be pleased to learn that she has recovered completely from her recent illness. J. W. Lewis arrived from Port Clements on the Lorne yesterday.

Secret of Success Is Very Simple.
 Many people ask what is the secret of success. Success means sacrifice. The sacrifice must precede the success. The man who is not willing to give up anything today in order to benefit tomorrow will never succeed. A writer in the American Magazine quoted a successful businessman as saying:—
 "The secret of any success is so simple that it is strange we call it a secret. It is just this: To have a vision, a dream of something one wants to achieve—and then to work like the devil in order to achieve it! That—and one other thing: To put into one's work the idea of service to others.
 "Some men have the dream—but it never gets beyond that, because they are not willing to pay the price necessary to make it come true. Work fifteen hours a day? Not on your life! They would rather go to the movies or to the cabarets or play tennis or go skating. Skimp and save to pay for a little home? Not much! They want to set up housekeeping in a flat just a little nicer than they can afford.
 "Oh, yes, they have the dream. They want to succeed. But they take it out in wanting. When it comes to the second point, the 'working like the devil'—they aren't there. Dreams do not come true of themselves. Not once in a blue moon. A dream is a goal. It does not come to you. It is you that must struggle and fight to reach it."

Mexico Example of The "Red" Democracy.
 Mexico is the oldest extant example of a "red" democracy, says the Edmonton Bulletin. There the people rule—in theory, through the agency of the most elaborate, and perhaps the most skillfully designed, written constitution that the human mind has yet produced. In reality the ruler at any particular time is the faction, however small, that happens to have the most ammunition.
 In that land of liberty when anyone gets dissatisfied with the existing order of things he does not wait for the tardy action of constitutional machinery to bring about a change. He gets down his rifle, takes to the sage brush, joins the hundreds or thousands of other malcontents lurking there and begins "direct action" upon Government soldiers, railway trains, wealthy civilians, foreign travellers, and any other person or thing that comes within range. If in process of time it is made to appear that those who support the Government are likely to get shot there is a sudden disintegration of the Government's following, and the first of the revolutionary leaders who gets into Mexico City proclaims himself president. Then his lieutenants take to the sage brush again and start to pick off his army and repeat the performance.
 Diaz seems to have been the only man who succeeded in breaking up this sequence of events for any lengthy period. He went on the principle that the time to deal with a rival is before he becomes a rival. By eliminating those who if left alone might become rivals, and occasionally "expending" a friend who had become powerful enough to be treacherous, he kept the forces of disorder headless, and succeeded himself regularly when the constitutional term expired. It was rough on political aspirants, and on Diaz' friends, but it was better for the Mexican people than anything they have known since, or are likely to know until another of his kind appears on the scene and re-establishes the same kind of iron-handed rule.
 Mexico is going through what Russia is coming to when Lenin collapses. Bolshevism is the tyranny of the faction; and faction tyranny means either personal dictatorship or chaos.

Sport Briefs

With the opening of the football and the baseball leagues now close at hand, everything augurs well for a promising season in outdoor sport. During the winter there was such a phenomenal revival in the indoor game of basketball that it is thought there will be the same reaction with the summer games. At present there are four teams lined up for each league and the outcome in either series will be watched with considerable interest from all quarters.

On Monday evening on the Exhibition grounds before the footballers began to be too oppressive the followers of the smaller and harder ball were going a few rounds of the bases. The sawmill crowd were out for a little exercise at baseball and their noisy coach at home plate was surely keeping them on the hop. Many faces common to the Rupert ball diamond appeared in the line-up whilst there are also a number of strangers who are showing up in excellent form. The men from the mill do not intend to let the sawdust clog up their winning powers and vow to give the Colts, the Beavers and the Red Sox a good hard race for the laurels.

Did anyone ask who was helping to pilot the Grand Trunk football team this year? Well, Billy Reid is one of their most enthusiastic supporters and has been doing much along organization lines. Billy has long been following up this game with rather close interest ever since his arrival in Prince Rupert and on more than one occasion has taken the field to show some of the young know-alls just what it looks like to really tend the net. Last year his sympathies were not so strong with the railroaders as this year, so that surely after such a creditable showing last season great things will be expected.

Last year the Colts baseball team made a very enviable record in their games here and naturally during their long term of playing some of the youthful participants have made a most excellent showing and the city magnates are glancing in their direction in an approving manner. It is now common talk in sporting circles that a very likely choice will be made amongst the Juniors for the team to go to Terrace. Certainly no complaint can be made of their fielding and base-running abilities, but there was no attempt last year to keep track of batting averages, so that little is known as to how much they can do when they have to face a real fast pitcher.

Tennis enthusiasts have been out for the past week or two on fine afternoons and evenings at the courts on the Acropolis Hill. Many are interested and all goes well until a ball goes over the fence. Naturally at the beginning of the summer, control has to be cultivated and one wild stroke sends the ball soaring. After clearing the wire netting the ball very likely comes in contact with some stump and then its whereabouts is a mystery. Again, the dank musk which is encountered on the search is not of the very best for preserving the fly whiteness of the canvas shoes.

LONDON, May 13.—The Newmarket stakes mile and a quarter trial race for the Derby was won by Raphael's bay colt Alenby by Bayarde out of Taglie. Sir E. Baget's Paragon came second with Lord Londonderry's Rolumeta third. The betting was, Alenby, 9 to 4; Paragon, 7 to 1, and Rolumeta, 7 to 2. Six horses ran.

SNAPPY FIGHT AT WESTHOLME

Close Mill Between Charley McCarthy and Chet Neff Ended in a Draw.

CHAMPIONSHIP HELD BY CALGARY DEFENDER

Len Halliday Knocked Out Jack Wolf in Second Preliminary of Evening.

McCarthy, fighting an even, cool-headed match, and Neff putting up an elusive offensive which proved a surprise to many fans, the twelve-round contest in the Westholme Theatre last night was decided a draw and McCarthy still maintains the lightweight championship title of Canada. The decision was finally made, after much heated argument between the contending factions, on the basis of the judges' sheets which read one for Neff, one for McCarthy, and one draw. The referee's decision, awarded to Neff, was thrown out, although an attempt was made to have it count in the decision. The referee was A. R. Jayne and the judges were George Frizzell, Dr. J. F. Maguire and W. J. Crawford, of Stewart.

Referees Appointed.

The interest last night naturally centred about the main event which was the battle between Charley McCarthy, of Calgary, champion of Canada, and Chet Neff, of Seattle, challenger. Owing to differences between the two sides the selection of a judge and referee was not made until the bout was called. Frank Smithers, manager for McCarthy, demanded the selection of three judges to make the final decision, with the referee having no word in the outcome. Ben Self, representing Neff, wanted a referee and two judges to make the decision. The matter was finally compromised upon A. R. Jayne being named referee and the three deciding judges being selected.

The Big Fight.

In the opening round Neff started off on his offensive and got a few light jabs at McCarthy which were caught mostly on the glove. The work of McCarthy's left could be readily seen but Neff soon got onto his fight and eluded the long left handed drive. In the next round there was considerable action with McCarthy making short lightning left jabs in the one arm clinches, many of which Neff caught in the body. In the third round Neff got in a couple of nice blows more than once, while McCarthy was laying in wait with his left drawn far back in a threatening manner. In the fourth round Neff fell to the floor and McCarthy waited and assisted him up. McCarthy did some real fast foot work and could be seen to be waiting for a chance. The fifth was a quiet round. The sixth round started with a lunge by McCarthy which missed and was answered by Neff leading right into him and also using his left. The round was characterized by many rushes from McCarthy which all missed their mark owing to Neff's elusive ducking. The end of the sixth round saw both boys going strong and half of the battle over.

Very Fast.

The seventh began with a number of clinches. Both fighters seemed to leave themselves open, depending on footwork for defence more than actual covering. The beginning of the eighth was characterized by a rush on the part of McCarthy which forced the fighting and made the round a very fast one. Both fighters got in good blows, and McCarthy got a nasty poke on the head. In the ninth Neff was still going strong and McCarthy developed a right punch that he had not shown before. The tenth saw McCarthy again looking for an opening to place an effective left hander. The pace was forced in the eleventh and there was a lot of good in-fighting, both fighters getting in series of short jabs.

Probably the biggest action of the whole fight was seen in the twelfth and last round. McCarthy strove in every way to place his left hand haymaker and had it landed the results might have been serious for Neff. However, the little Seattle boy was too clever to be caught and the final gong rang with both looking for a deciding blow. The gong rang several times before the fighters finally took their corners. McCarthy had a bad cut over the right eye which bled profusely, while Neff was also bleeding considerably from a neck cut.

Preliminaries.

The first preliminary between Tommy Sherman and Earl Cousineau was a pretty exhibition. In the first round the superior weight of Cousineau told on Sherman, with several telling rights, but in the second Sherman managed to duck these easily, as they were long blows which could be avoided. Cousineau proved the best hitter, although Sherman hit several times but not hard. The decision of referee Harry Dweese was a draw.

Knockout.

In the second preliminary between Len Halliday and Jack Wolf, the latter took the count in the third round. There was no comparison between the two for Halliday was quick and effective, while Wolf was slow and his blows did not tell. When the two hay-making uppercuts, one with the left and one with the right, came the relief was general. It was scheduled for a six-round contest.

ALASKA MINER IS VICTIM FATAL FIGHT WITH ALASKA BEAR

Clarence Thompson Tells Story of Fight Before Dying From Wounds.

Clarence Thompson, a logger employed by the Falcon Mining company on Chicagof Island, died recently at the hospital at Chicagof from wounds inflicted by a large brown bear. His body was brought to Juneau, says the Juneau Capital.

Thompson was suffering from a sprained shoulder and while unable to work went on a hunting expedition Thursday morning. When he had not returned to the camp Friday morning a searching party was sent out. They found him at 11 o'clock Friday morning on the beach some distance from the scene of the tragedy, trying to bathe his wounds in the water of the bay. He was hurried to the hospital but died at 9 p. m. Although his skull was fractured, his head and face terribly lacerated and he was partly disembowled, he was conscious when found and able to give a connected account of the happening.

He stated that he came upon the bear unexpectedly while it was feeding on the carcass of a deer. It immediately rushed at him and he was only able to shoot it once before it struck him in the face with its paw. He tried to reach his knife after he had been knocked down, but the huge animal clawed and buffeted him about until he could do nothing to defend himself and lay on his face without resisting until the bear walked away and left him. Not a particle of clothing remain-

The Friendly Smoke

THERE is something mighty comforting and satisfying about "OLD CHUM" Tobacco; a sort of something restfulness that pipe smokers have come to associate with this friendly smoke.

"OLD CHUM" is an old, old chum with all pipe smokers.

It has the perfect tobacco taste—the mellow richness—and men know that they can be chummy with "OLD CHUM" all day long and that the "good night pipeful" will be as sweet and cool as the one enjoyed just after breakfast.

For years and years "OLD CHUM" has been Canada's favourite pipe tobacco and today is more popular than ever.

ed on his body. He had used his gun in an attempt to build a fire and was unable to answer the signal shots of the searching party. There was ice in the bay when he was found on the beach, and he had suffered terribly from cold and loss of blood.

The relatives of the dead man have not been located. He was a Scandinavian, about 39 years of age. He was an ex-service man, having served for a year; and a half in France with the regiment of engineers from Alaska.

CAR BLOCKADE BEEN LIFTED

Arrangement for Quicker Return Made with United States Officials.

NEW YORK, May 13.—Representatives of Canadian and American railroads, in session here, have ironed out the differences over delivery of freight cars.

The acute situation was brought about by the failure of the American roads, due to strikes and bad weather, as well as alleged carelessness, to return cars to the Canadian roads. As a result, the Canadian officials placed an embargo, refusing to allow more of their cars over the line.

The difficulty was prevented from becoming a delicate international dispute by the prompt action of the Canadian Railway Association, which sent, C. P. Riddel here to confer with the officials of the Car Service Commission of the American Railway Association.

Following several conferences before Riddel and W. C. Kendall, chairman of the Car Service Commission, both the Canadian and American officials declared they had reached a satisfactory understanding. Riddel stated that his organization would lift the blockade at once.

SYRIANS WANT BRITISH RULE

Sam Jabour, Youngest of Brothers, Comes From Syria to Make Home in This Country.

After a trip of over a month, Sam Jabour, brother of Messrs. James and Dan Jabour, arrived in the city last Tuesday from Syria and will enter the ladywear business with his brothers in this city. Sam Jabour is the youngest member of the Jabour family and when his brothers emigrated from Syria to this country 18 years ago he was little more than a babe in arms. When he arrived in this city, although Dan Jabour met the train, he spent the night at the hotel, the brothers having passed without recognizing each other. On his way to this country he met his brother James, who is on a business trip in New York City.

The trip took 33 days from Beyrout to Prince Rupert. Embarking on the S. S. Lotus at Beyrout, the voyage down the Mediterranean to Marseilles, at the mouth of the Rhone River, was made. The next spell of the journey was a railroad trip to Cherbourg, France, where the American liner New York was taken for New York City. From the large American port, after a short delay on account of immigration laws the last long lap of railway travel to Prince Rupert was made. The entire trip was done in record time, as six weeks is generally allowed for the journey.

Conditions in Syria.

Speaking of conditions in Syria and Palestine, Mr. Jabour states that the country is divided into three sections. The Holy Land in the vicinity of Jerusalem is under the British command, the Damascus section under the control of Arabia and the coast about Mount Labanon and Beyrout is in the hands of the French. Military rule still prevails and it is anticipated that it will continue until the final disposition of the country has been settled by the Allies. Although glad to be rescued from the sway of the tyrant Turk, Mr. Jabour says that the Syrians would much prefer to be under the protection of Britain than any of the other allies. The French are unable to keep the Christians from persecution of Mohammedan hordes, with the result that there have been many rebellions. The immigration of young men from Syria to the United States is astounding, says Mr. Jabour, there being hardly any of the younger generation left.

Although this is Mr. Jabour's first time in this country, he speaks English fluently, having attended the Syrian Protestant University in Beyrout where English and French are both taught.

RAILROADERS AND CALLIES PLAYED DRAW

Football Season got off to Rousing Start in Excellent Opening Game Last Night.

The football league schedule opened last night with a 2-2 draw game between the Callies and the Grand Trunk teams, which was considered by many the finest game of football that has ever been witnessed on the Acropolis Hill grounds. It was brimful of thrills from start to finish and till the final whistle blew the big crowd of football fans was on tiptoe with excitement and hoarse with rooting. A draw fairly represents the play. In addition to the goals scored the defence on both sides had numerous miraculous escapes and corner kicks followed in quick succession.

Playing down hill in the first half the Callies applied most of the offensive but from a break-away the railroaders opened the game through a score by Ed. Ross. A strong defence foiled the determined efforts to equalize but Bob McLean at last got through with a fine shot, evening the score at half time.

Second Half.

On the opening of the second half the railwaymen, with the advantage of the slope, added to their tally with a beautiful solo effort by Roberts and for a while things looked blue for the Callies. However, a drive by Harry Menzies was well taken up by Dave Wiggins who tied the score again. Wiggins missed a great opportunity of putting the Callies in the lead and other chances were missed by both sides. Albert Craggs, being ordered off the field for swearing at the referee, the Grand Trunk team resorted to the one back game which hampered the attack of the Callies.

The Star Players.

For the Callies, Abe Kinghorn at center half played a fine game, Stewart was a steady back, and McLean and Wiggins were effective forwards. The G. T. P. backs played a strong game, O'Donnell shone at half and Ross and Roberts, playing at forward, worked in a line which was smoother than the Callies'. Both goal keepers did well and Waldorf showed good judgment in emergencies. Sid Thompson made a very satisfactory referee and Frank Davies and Sid Winsby were on the line.

ZAM-BUK MAMA!

Mothers who have used Zam-Buk say it is so fine for the many little accidents of daily occurrence in the home—and especially where there are children—that they would not be without it. Not only so but children who have had Zam-Buk applied to an injury or sore, when again injured, cry for Zam-Buk to be applied. They know that Zam-Buk stops pain. Nothing ends the pain of a cut, bruise, burn, or skin disease like Zam-Buk, and nothing soothes, draws out the soreness and heals so quickly.

Mrs. J. Wilson of Sarnia, Ont., says: "I could not do without Zam-Buk for my children. It is the best ointment we have ever used for burns, sores and cuts."
 Mr. L. B. Andress of 1407 E. 22nd St., Minneapolis, Minn., writes: "When any of the children, my wife or self meet with an accident, we immediately apply Zam-Buk. It has saved us many a doctor's bill."
 Mrs. C. B. Ritcey of Riverport, N.S., writes: "My baby had sores on her face, caused by teething. Zam-Buk completely healed them."
 Zam-Buk is equally good for eczema, ringworm, rashes, sores, blood-poison, ulcers, abscesses, piles, boils and pimples. All druggists, 50c. box. See Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Send 1c. stamp for free trial.

SAVE MOTHER AT EXPENSE OF CHILD

Action of Physicians Upheld by Coroner at Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 13.—The action of five physicians who resigned from the faculty of Marquette University at Milwaukee because they disagreed with Father H. C. Noonan, head of the school, on the question of whether a mother's life should be saved at the cost of her unborn child, was upheld here by Coroner Peter M. Hoffman.

Hoffman was coroner when the late Dr. Harry J. Haiselden allowed a baby to die rather than let it live a defective. Hoffman charged Haiselden's act was "murder."

"I would say we have hundreds of cases in Chicago where the mother's life is saved at the cost of the child's," said Hoffman, "and I believe it perfectly justified."

"I think that when a mother's life is in danger and a sacrifice should be made either way, the sacrifice should be made for the mother, because she may bring more children into the world and is needed to raise her other children, the children she may already have."

"To let the child live and the mother die does not give progress to the world. The necessity of the mother is more important than the child."

Members of the American Medical Association said the question was an individual one and not for the association.

"It is a question which has been discussed for years, but which has never been settled," said one of the association. "The question is not one of medicine, but of morals."

$25,000 DAMAGES FOR TACK IN SOUP

Dr. Spitzer Sues Restaurant and Wins Case in Supreme Court.

NEW YORK, May 13.—A verdict of $25,000 damages caused by a tack in a bowl of soup was awarded to Dr. Moritz D. Spitzer, 225 East 14th street, in his suit against the Childs Restaurant Company. The verdict was given in Justice Finch's part of the Supreme Court.

The evidence showed that Dr. Spitzer ate the soup in a Childs restaurant at No. 42 East 14th street on December 28, 1915, and that the tack is still in his abdomen. Two of the witnesses were in France during the war, and their testimony was not available until now.

Dr. Spitzer said he first felt a tack in his gums, then a sharp pain in his throat as he swallowed. He found another tack still in the plate of soup, he said, and showed it to the manager of the restaurant, who was at a loss to explain it. X-ray photographs, showing the tack in the abdomen, were part of the evidence.

Physicians said the tack might remain for years without doing any harm, but might at any time necessitate a serious and possibly fatal operation.

The first car belonging to the town of Hyder was the one taken in by Ross Ficklyn lately.

According to a recent order of the customs department all vehicles across the boundary line between Stewart and Hyder are prohibited between sundown and morning.

The Baldwin Rooms, under the management of W. Dann, is the latest hotel to open in Stewart.

The freighting cost to the Spider Group, the property of the Algonquin Co., this winter was $50 per ton. The distance is 13 miles and the freighting was done by Yukon sleighs. In the summer of 1919 packing the same distance cost $25 per ton.

FUR TRADER FROM ALASKA ARRIVES AT PORT OF SEATTLE

Completes 3,000 Mile Trip by Dog Team Before Going South.

SEATTLE, May 12.—George R. Goshaw, the well-known Alaska fur trader and buyer, who operates on an extensive scale, arrived one day this week, coming by steamer from Seward, Alaska. Upon arrival at Anchorage, Mr. Goshaw completed a 3,000-mile trip by dog team, which he accomplished during the past winter, and which took him as far north as Kotzebue Sound, near the Arctic Ocean, and as far south as Nelson Island, southwestern Alaska. Covering the western coast line of Alaska, in quest of furs, Mr. Goshaw headed for the upper Kuskokwim country and from thence via Rainey pass to the Cook Inlet country, and on to Anchorage and Seward.

Upon arrival at Seattle, Mr. Goshaw found a letter awaiting him from Mr. Porter, a big New York fur man, which filled him with delight. Chas. E. Brown, of the firm of Brown & Hawkins, had been in New York and took occasion to call on Mr. Porter. Mr. Brown gave his old friend Goshaw a great sendoff to Mr. Porter, and the latter was so pleased with the high recommendation which the big Alaska merchant gave his associate in the fur business, that he wrote Goshaw an extended letter about it. Mr. Goshaw departed yesterday, en route to New York, but expects to return to Alaska in the near future.

Mr. Goshaw said that the Treadwell interests had taken an option on all the gold quartz claims located late last fall on Nixon's fork, in the upper Kuskokwim country, and were preparing for extensive development work this season. The Treadwell people have a mining engineer named Werneke in there now who will have charge of the development work.

VICTORIA GERMAN IS MINUS ONE BOAT

Is Interned at Vernon and While Away His Launch Disappears.

Frederick Kohse used to be a waiter at the Empress Hotel, Victoria. Then he went into the business of making boats and launches. War broke out, and Kohse, being a German, decided Victoria was not a good place in which to live. He and his family piled in his largest launch, the Empress IX., and headed north, seeking seclusion.

In those days every German was a potential spy. Rumors flew about that Kohse had set out to signal German warships lurking off Cape Flattery. The military authorities chased him and ran him down, finally seized his boat and interned him at Vernon. Finding no trace of an alleged wireless apparatus on the boat, they returned the craft to him, and he ordered it anchored in Victoria Harbor until his release.

Not until after the armistice was declared was Kohse given his freedom. He came to Victoria, looking for Empress IX. It was gone. He investigated, without success. Then Frederick Winterbourne, who has been operating a launch in the Gulf trade for quite a while, cruised into the harbor. Kohse saw him and recognizing the launch, notified his lawyer, Frank Higgins, K.C., and then waited. The boat has now been identified as Empress IX., and it is in the sheriff's possession. Winterbourne claims he bought the boat from an inner harbor launch agent. The case will be thrashed out in the Supreme Court and meantime Kohse must find a new vocation for the time being.
