New President For Mexico.

The election of a new president for Mexico does not seem very important to us, but to the man who is elected it must be a very exciting event. The president must be aware that, like the birds and animals of the wild, his end is likely to be a tragedy. Diaz was the only one to escape of recent years. Usually the presidents are ordered to run and then shot because they are trying to get away.

It is to be hoped now that Carranza is gone that Mexico will settle down and form a more stable government. According to the guarantee of security to experience a great commercial boom.

Prison Reform Under Discussion.

The matter of prison reform is one that has been a subject for debate, especially among reformers and philanthropists, for many years. Many improvements have been made in the methods of conducting prisons, and the prison farm is about the latest and most successful institution resulting from all the discussion.

The Methodist Conference recently received a report on the subject which says:

"It is sometimes forgotten that our prison population is largely recruited from the ranks of the feeble-minded, and on this account alone our whole point of view requires to be changed as regards the treatment of crimes and criminals. After all the prison expenditure, the astounding fact remains that we turn out a worse product than we take in. If the object is the protection of society, this is manifestly not achieved. We are glad of the increasing understanding of the problem and the intelligence in its handling. In some communities the parole system, the indeterminate sentence, and other features are operative. What still remains, however, is to transform and humanize prison treatment throughout."

Medical Officer On Exercise.

In the course of the Lady Priestley Memorial lecture, Sir George Newman laid stress on the value of games and recreation, says the London Times. He would carry athletic exercises right on into adult life, insisting that it is not enough to make provision for children only. Nor would he limit them to men, since they are equally beneficial to women. It does not follow from Sir District of Skeens, situate in the vicinity George Newman's being the Chief Medical Officer of the Ministry of of Health that we are to have an intensive system of physical cul- Albert B. Highly respectable mature men can be met in the city of London who are immensely proud of the facility they have reached in morning exercises. These exercises have extended remarkably among the middle classes of late years. One proof is the number of physical instructors who make a good thing out of their "old men's classes." It is the working man who seems to have no ambition to be able to touch his toes at 60.

On motion of Alderman Perry, seconded by Alderman Murray, Alderman Dybhavn is to go to the Fisheries Convention in Vancouver early in June as a representative of this city. Alderman Dybhavn, in speaking to the motion, stated that circumstances ever which he had no control might prevent him from going. but still he hoped to get away. He also stated that as representative of the council he could not be admitted to the convention, but his membership to the Canadian Fisheries Association would give him this right.

The council members were unanimous in the selection and all thought that the city should be represented and that the new fisheries regulations be strongly supported against any attempt to important part of the convention Fridays program.

million Dollars.

DETROIT, May 24 .- Information leading to knowledge of the whereabouts of 50,000 quarts of whiskey and other liquors hidden along the Detroit River between Detroit and Trenton is said to have been gained by Federal prohibition agents.

Such a quantity of liquor, at present prices, would be worth at least half a million dollars.

Conducting a secret investigation today, agents of the Government questioned men believed to have knowledge of the whiskeysmuggling industry, forcing them to tell where the liquor was cached. Buried in the ground, planted in old barns and boathouses, and even hidden in the riverbed, the stuff will be permitted to remain where it is while the Federal agents make a round-
