LABOR LEADER REFUSES TO BE PRACTICAL JOKE

NEW OCEAN AND ALASKA DOCK IS TO BE MODERN IN EVERY RESPECT

Union Cabinet Never Were in Sympathy with Price Control

James Murdoch, the last of the Board of Commerce Commissioners Resigns and Makes Pointed Remarks

Following the resignation from the Board of Commerce of H. A. Robson and W. F. O'Connor, James Murdoch, labor commissioner, the sole survivor, has gone to Cleveland, Ohio, to resume his duties as officer of the Trainmen's Brotherhood.

Before leaving, Murdoch sent in a hot letter of resignation in which he told Premier Borden that he would not stay on a board alone as a practical joke without even a quorum. Murdoch divulged the text of a letter from a Winnipeg barrister to Mr. Robson, while the latter was chairman of the board. It asked that Robson revise the factum in the milk company litigation following the board's order affecting the company. He made an insinuation of double dealing.

The labor leader charged that the Union Cabinet had never been in sympathy with the operation of the Combine and Fair Prices Act.

Robson had interviewed Murdoch, actuated by the malignity of the inferences, which were groundless. He had forbidden the showing of the factum to himself.

MIGHT HAVE SAVED JANITOR

Fire Alarm System would have been Effective in Preventing Vancouver Tragedy

VANCOUVER, June 25.—"If fire bells or an alarm system of any kind had been installed in the Balmoral Apartments, Janitor Spicer would be alive today," said Coroner Jeffs yesterday at the opening of the inquest on the five victims of the fire.

Deputy fire chief Thompson declared the Fire Escape Act had not been complied with.

The coroner promises that a rigid inquiry will be made to determine and fix responsibility and to avoid further similar tragedies. It was established at the inquest that paper burlap wall coverings and the elevator shaft aided the fire.

CHIEF'S JOKE

Suggests that K. C. Stands for Kill the Customer.

During a particularly tense moment in the court room at the Assizes this morning the lawyers were undecided as to whether or not Lipsett and Sweet had ordered the special brand King's Choice by mail. One maintained that they had done so, whilst the other thought that they had not stipulated any particular brand, but were glad enough to get anything. On turning to the bench for the decision, Chief Justice Hunter pondered: "Now let me see, Oh yes, King's Choice, K. C., Kill the Customer."

The question will be taken up further by the mayor in connection with the committees which have waited upon him and it is possible that a conciliation board will be applied for.

Interesting Features in New Dock, Contract for Which was Recently Let

Car Tracks Front or Back; Electric Gantry Crane and Barlow Elevators; Total Cost over Half Million Dollars

The new dock, the contract for which has been let and the work on which is to go ahead at once, will adjoin the wharf of the Booth Fisheries but it will extend something like 85 feet farther out than the fish wharf. It will have a number of new features which will make it one of the most modern and convenient docks on the coast. Not only will there be a Gantry crane and two Barlow elevators for handling freight, but the railway cars will run along the front of the dock between the shed and the water, thus allowing direct discharging or loading to and from vessels tied alongside.

The dock is to be 800 feet long or about a sixth of a mile. The width will be 173 feet, while the warehouse to be built on it will be 820 feet long and 147 feet wide. In the centre there will be a suspended office 66 by 30 feet.

The capacity of the shed will be 350,000 cases of salmon or 250,000 tons of freight. There will be car tracks front and back, those in front being on a level with the floor of the dock and those behind being sunk similar to the tracks at the other sheds.

Modern Appliances.

The travelling electric gantry crane will be of the most modern type and will prove a great addition to the conveniences of loading and discharging vessels. The Barlow elevators, two in number, will be used for the smaller craft which may wish to use the dock.

Owing to the conformation of the shore, some difficulties have been experienced in connection with the work of construction. Chief Engineer W. S. Featherstonhaugh has overcome the difficulty of getting a hold for the piles, but it will be at large expense. A short distance from shore the bottom of the harbor is almost level. On the ledge there is a layer of soft mud, too soft to hold

Duff Case Before Chief Justice Today

Jury Addressed by Counsel on either side and Charged by Judge in Regard to their Duty

After hearing the addresses by counsel in the case of Rex vs. Duff before Chief Justice Hunter this morning and being charged by the presiding judge, the jury retired to consider their verdict. Not having come to a decision at 1 p. m., they adjourned for lunch, the court being due to re-assemble at 2:30 p. m.

In charging the jury, Chief Justice Hunter reminded its members that only one of the accused in the indictment was present. The Crown had not given sufficient reason why the Assizes should be adjourned until he was brought here. He read from the code the definition of theft.

Giving a review of the evidence, the chief justice reminded them that the police had produced certain boxes which had been traced back to the launch, to the Gold Storage, to Hoskins' shack and Videck's car to the street in front of Lipsett's house, and on the second trip from near the porch. Although the fact that no one had identified the cases was true, yet it did not follow that satisfactory proof might not be supplied. It was not necessary for the prosecution to have actual identification. If this was necessary in all criminal cases the judge said he considered there would be many crimes go unpunished.

The question was, "Did Duff steal the liquor?" At no time had he been actually at the house. None the less he might have been a party to it. If Lipsett and Sweet had not given their consent to its being taken away, somebody must have stolen it.

Stored Illegally. The liquor was undoubtedly stored illegally. What would have happened if these two men had admitted that they owned the liquor produced in court.

According to the evidence eight cases had been consumed in a period of four days, as Lipsett had been absent for one day. Did it not seem rather a large order for Lipsett and Sweet and a few of their friends to consume the 96 bottles. Was it not a reasonable suggestion that some person must have been selling or giving it away.

The labels on the boxes had been removed and the consignees' names erased with pencil. It was impossible to identify them. It would have taken more than a few minutes to do this. Did Duff and Leahy do it? There was no evidence to the effect. Hoskins had never touched them while they were in the shack. Was it Lipsett and Sweet? If it was they, why?

Who Were the Company. In the preliminary investigation Videck related that when he asked for the payment of the transfer work Leahy said the "company" would fix up for it. Leahy didn't know who the company was. He knew Duff. Who were the others?

In regard to the back door it might have been broken in during the drunken carousal. Probably the whisky was intended to be taken out at a time when the police were not around.

There was no real evidence from Miller as he had never been cross-examined at the preliminary hearing. Real facts surrounding the whole thing had not come out. In the criminal court, if there was any reasonable shadow of doubt in the minds of the jurors the accused received the benefit, said the chief justice. They must be thoroughly satisfied of the prisoner's guilt before bringing a verdict of guilty.

Summarized.

Prior to a summary by the judge, counsel reviewed the case from the evidence supplied. The prosecution dealt mainly with the suggestion that Duff was guilty of theft, whether he acted as an accomplice in stealing from Lipsett and Sweet or from his brother gangsters, if such they were. Stuart Henderson took great pains to show that the cases of liquor produced in court were not identified as those which came from Lipsett's house.

DAILY EDITION. Friday, June 25, 1920.

Have You Registered? Everyone Should Ask.

"Have you registered?" That is a question everyone should ask his neighbor. Perhaps it is more necessary to ask it of the business and professional men than of the working men. The former seem too busy whereas the latter are becoming alive to their privileges. Get your name on the voters' list whoever you are. This is a country where majorities control, and it is the privilege of every man to take part in the government of the country.

The men who do not vote are usually the worst kickers. They object to everything anyone does. Then they forget to register. The time to register is today. It may be too late tomorrow for you may be too busy or social duties may make you forget it. There is nothing to pay in order to get on the list. You may not feel you want a vote now, but something may come up which will rouse you to a sense of your duty and then you will need your vote. Get on the list.

Correspondents Must Keep to Rules.

There are still some people who do not understand that the Daily News does not publish anonymous letters. Yesterday there came through the mail a letter signed "Longshoreman's Wife" but with no other signature. That is not enough. There is no necessity of having the writer's name published, but it must accompany the letter.

Another rule is that letters must not be libellous or unparliamentary in the language used. When a person accuses another of telling "lies" it is unparliamentary if not libellous. Letters must adhere to the ordinary courtesies of debate. The News, while anxious to give every opportunity to discuss public questions, must have correspondents keep to the ordinary regulations of every well-regulated newspaper office.

Hinton Affidavit Proves Interesting.

The affidavit of W. P. Hinton in connection with the car shortage here given out to Colonel Peck by the Minister of Trade and Commerce at Ottawa, as published in the Daily News yesterday, makes interesting reading. It does not set forth much that is new, but it does give the official viewpoint and it shows that Mr. Hinton has been on the job all the time, so far as the interests of Prince Rupert are concerned. He recommended to the receiver that 100 cars were needed but that fifty would to some extent relieve the situation. When he was notified that thirty had been ordered he protested that thirty would be wholly inadequate.

And yet we have had people in this city who had nothing but vilification for the general manager of the road and blamed him for everything that was wrong. It is clear now that the only reason we did not get the improvements was because the Government seemed intent on starving out this place. We have not been getting a fair deal, in this respect.

We must give credit to the Government for having let the contract for the new dock here, but in the matter of fish cars they have been clearly negligent. In view of the situation, another effort should be made at once, possibly by a mass meeting or through the Board of Trade and City Council to have this car shortage drawn to the attention of the Dominion Government. Continual bombardment is necessary if we are to arouse attention. It is no good to sit back and wait. Possibly the Unionist Association can be prevailed on to back the local request.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF RHEUMATISM

Entirely Well After Six Weeks' Treatment With "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MR. AMEDEE GARCEAU

32 Hickory St., Ottawa, Ont. "I was for many years a victim of that terrible disease, Rheumatism. In 1913, I was laid up for four months with Rheumatism in the joints of the knees, hips and shoulders and was prevented from following my work, that of Electrician.

I tried many remedies and was under the care of a physician, but nothing did me any good. Then I began to take "Fruit-a-tives" and in a week I was easier, and in six weeks I was so well I went to work again.

I look upon this fruit medicine, "Fruit-a-tives," as simply marvelous in the cure of Rheumatism, and strongly advise everyone suffering with Rheumatism to give "Fruit-a-tives" a trial.

Table with tide information for Friday, June 25, Saturday, June 26, Sunday, June 27, Monday, June 28, Tuesday, June 29, Wednesday, June 30. Columns include time and height in feet.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The table given is for Port Simpson but the time for Prince Rupert varies only a few minutes on some days and on others is the same. The range of the tide may be computed as 5 per cent greater at Prince Rupert than at Port Simpson both at springs and neaps. Therefore the rise in the Prince Rupert harbor is slightly greater than Port Simpson.

The height is in feet and tenths of feet above the average level of lower low water.

MUCH EVIDENCE IN DUFF CASE

Afternoon Session of Assize Court Was Significant—Constable Tells Story.

In the afternoon session yesterday evidence from the deposition of Charles Miller was allowed to be read but only such portions as had direct reference to Duff. Parts of the old evidence which came out included a description of Duff's appearance at the bath house and his conversation with Leahy in the other room. In his evidence Miller had stated that he had had no conversation with Duff as to the amount of liquor and the price. When a number of cases were placed on the launch Duff asked, "How about the money?" Miller said, "Come aboard and I'll give you the amount. He came aboard with the understanding that he was to be paid.

Jack Hoskins was the next witness to take the stand and he described how the cases had come to his house and they had remained there for four or five days. When the car came to take the cases away to the Cold Storage he did not count the number of cases. The crown prosecutor asked "Was all the liquor taken out that night?"

Witness, "Yes." "Did Duff and yourself remove it all?" "No, Matt and I took the last load down."

When witness was asked if he had examined the cases he said that he had had no particular occasion to do so. He had not noticed any names on them and hadn't paid any attention to the labels. He said he had no conversation with the accused.

"Duff called you up on the telephone?" "Yes, he asked if I could store some cases for a friend in my house. Matt Videck and Dicky Leahy brought the cases out."

The Arrest.

Constable Albert H. Bailey told of the arrest of Constable Simon V. Duff on the launch Narbethong at the Cold Storage on the morning of February 13. When the boat with the party came up to the wharf, Miller stepped ashore and had a conversation with Duff and then both walked away. Witness said that he could not hear what they were saying on account of the noise from the engine. Miller came back aboard the boat where he received the cases which were then turned over to the captain and thence stored below the deck. After a number of the cases had come aboard, Duff came on and went down into the cabin with Miller. The men on the Narbethong were concealed in various parts about the ship. Miller had just taken a roll of money from his pocket when the door catch which was holding the two police officers gave away and they were precipitated into the cabin. Duff was then arrested and 24 double cases, 4 single cases and one broken case were taken to the police station from the boat following the seizure. Those on exhibit in the court were from the same. The balance were under lock and key.

Pronounced It "Scotch."

A bottle was opened with the prisoner supplying the cork screw. Chief Minty performed the operation in front of the jury. The bottle was handed to Constable Bailey. He placed it on the ledge of the witness box and was asked to tell the jury if it was whiskey. He remarked that he was no connoisseur of whiskey and asked for a glass.

Mr. Eisher: "You will notice that you are a favored witness."

The verdict of the witness was that it was "Scotch."

When cross-examined by Stuart Henderson there was much difficulty in getting dates and times of arrest for Leahy and Duff so Constable Bailey was allowed to get the police records. Counsel for the accused wished to find out how much whiskey had come into Prince Rupert previous to the shipment received by Lipssett and Sweet. Mr. Bailey could not enlighten him as he (witness) had been in England from December 23 to February 10.

Constable Bailey told that Charlie Miller was hired by Lipssett to buy the whiskey. He had no idea how much money there was in the big roll of bills.

Counsel: "Then Miller was employed." (Continued on Page Six).

Tourist Commissioner Tells Victorians What He Saw at Prince Rupert

Herbert Cuthbert, commissioner of the Pacific Northwest Tourist Association, who recently spent several days in the city, has given a lengthy interview to the Victoria Colonist dealing with what he saw in this part of the country. After dealing at some length with the potential wealth of the interior, including Prince George and the Bulkley and Nechaco valleys the interview continues:

"As to Prince Rupert," continued Mr. Cuthbert, "I was very agreeably surprised by all that I saw of it. The devil, of course, is never so black as he is painted; and I have to say that I found Prince Rupert a much more attractive city than it is generally supposed to be. And what was still more surprising to me," said Mr. Cuthbert, in amplification of his appreciation of the northern port, "was to find Prince Rupert a very charming place from the tourist's point of view. The very peculiarities of the town are a distinct asset to it. Prince Rupert is unique in many respects, and this uniqueness has a very definite cash value, when it comes to the matter of entertaining the tourist."

Prince Rupert's Charm.

Mr. Cuthbert proceeded to define the peculiar charms of Prince Rupert, as he saw them. "It is built on an island, and the sites of its homes and buildings are cut in the solid rock. It is a fact that you can get a charming home site, with a marvellous marine view from it, in almost any part of the town. I should not consider the climate to be any great drawback to residence there. In conversation with the citizens of Prince Rupert I found that for a great part of the year the climate of the city is very pleasant. Certainly, the experience of the two days I spent there would lead me to verify those assertions."

"But what chiefly impressed me at Prince Rupert," continued Mr. Cuthbert, "was the evidence everywhere manifest of the great commercial future which awaits the city. Prince Rupert is just at the beginning of a new era. From now nothing can prevent it becoming a prosperous and important city."

"For instance, if it is not actually the greatest commercial fishing centre on the American continent, it is certainly one of the greatest. Its fishing fleet and cold storage plants are extremely interesting to visitors, and they are certainly a visible token of the great place which its fisheries are to occupy in the commercial concerns of the city."

"Also, Prince Rupert possesses a magnificent harbor. There is a waterfront extensive enough to meet any commercial need of the future. There is deep water everywhere in the harbor. And it is the home port of a very considerable and rapidly-growing mosquito fleet."

Mosquito Fleet.

Mr. Cuthbert gave it as his opinion that Seattle's mosquito fleet was one of the great factors in the up-building of that city. The mosquito fleet, of course, is that great number of small freight and passenger craft, generally driven by gasoline engines, which ply between the different cities and smaller towns of the Sound. "The mosquito fleet," said Mr. Cuthbert, "is going to play its part in making of Prince Rupert an important commercial centre. Their mosquito fleets helped to build up both Seattle and Vancouver; and that of Prince Rupert will not be less important as a factor in the growth of that part. And Prince Rupert has this advantage over its southern rivals, that it has no immediate competitors."

Mining Centre.

"Another natural economic advantage of Prince Rupert, and of which it cannot be robbed, is that it is the nearest city to some of the biggest mining centres of the Province. While a big percentage of the business of the north will always be done by Victoria, Vancouver and the cities of Puget Sound, yet Prince Rupert must naturally do a large proportion of it."

Further, by way of enumeration of the natural economic advantages of Prince Rupert, Mr. Cuthbert continued: "It will receive the ever-increasing business that must come to it along the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. It is the natural centre for all the trade which the steady development of the resources of the Queen Charlotte Islands is creating in greater quantity year by year. The products of fourteen canneries on the Skeena River are handled on its wharves. The rapid development of the lumber industry in the territory tributary to Prince Rupert is marked by the constant establishment of new sawmills, and the lumber trade of Prince Rupert with the interior of the province, and with the prairies, by way of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, is one of the great possibilities of the future.

Distributing Point.

"Prince Rupert, also, is the natural distributing point and centre for all the numerous settlements which are springing up along the coastline adjacent to the city, and in the interior back of that coastline. Nor are the citizens of Prince Rupert wanting in a full appreciation of all these facts. I found them an enterprising, progressive crowd," said Mr. Cuthbert.

"To show you the spirit of the town," continued Mr. Cuthbert, in uttering the praise of Prince Rupert and its citizens, "they are building a school up there which is going to cost them $175,000."

FIRST FISH CAUGHT SMALL THIS YEAR

This Said to Indicate Poor Year For Sockeye on the Skeena River.

PORT ESSINGTON, June 25.—It is curious that the first fish that came up the river this year were small. This is always considered to be an indication of a poor year. It is a sort of superstition among the Indians and fishermen, but has nearly always proved to be correct.

The first day of fishing there were about four fish to a boat taken in the river or eleven to a boat outside. On Tuesday the high boat outside got 75 sockeye and the average in the river and out was about ten. There are more people fishing than usual, however, and that may possibly affect the catch.

FISH HATCHERY LAKELSE LAKE

Work Will be Completed in a Month and Ten Million Eggs to be Hatched.

Among those going south on the steamer last night was J. McIlough, chief engineer of the fisheries department of the Dominion Government who has just returned from Lakelse where the new salmon hatchery is under construction. He reports that in another month the hatchery will be completed and will be utilized to its full extent this year. Already there are sockeye in the lake and there is no reason why there should not be a full ten million eggs hatched.

There have been a good many difficulties in connection with the work, owing largely to poor transportation, lack of labor, and difficulty in securing supplies.

IRISH PLAY HERE TONIGHT

Sweetest Irish Love Story Ever Told is Kathleen Mavourneen Showing at Westholme.

After 200 miles of sin in film, comes "Kathleen Mavourneen." Theda Bara, who has vampired her way through two hundred miles of motion pictures, has suffered a change of heart and will be seen at the Westholme Theatre tonight as the heroine of the sweetest Irish love story ever told. This is "Kathleen Mavourneen," a big special written and directed by Charles J. Brabin, who was inspired by the old poem of the same name.

The play calls for a gorgeous wedding scene in the cathedral, and director Charles J. Brabin began planning for a replica of the sacred edifice. Costly productions are not uncommon nowadays; yet the sum involved in erecting this single set represents a staggering outlay. Painters and carpenters worked day and night to complete the magnificent structure, and each man was paid one dollar an hour for his labor. The officials however consider the total of $5,000 well spent in view of the wonderful effect obtained.

Sport Briefs

In the Junior League baseball fixture of last evening the Tiny Tims beat the Drydocks to the score of 19 to 3.

The boys of the Junior League provide real good sporting ball games which are deserving of a large measure of public support. Their playing ground at Market Place is not an ideal one, but when the seniors have batting practice on the same field as was the case last night, the lot of the third baseman is not a happy one. The boy in that position was required to take as much interest in dodging the balls behind him as in watching his play in front. Be sports, big fellows, and give the little fellows a chance.

In the commercial league baseball game last night on Acropolis Hill the Butchers took things their own way and walked off with the match to the score of 6 to 4. There were some particularly bright spots during the innings such as Ernie Green's hitting and Bobby Leighton's base stealing. If it had not been for the bad set back in the first inning when the butchers got a lead of 3 to 0, there might have been a different story to tell at the end. "Stats" Weber was umpire with Jas. Mitchell watching the sliding on the sacks.

As showing the real stuff in sportsmanship, in the game last evening between the Drydocks and the Tiny Tims, Jack Kelly, the latter's crack first baseman, finding his team's opponents short-handed, took care of the initial mound for them and played a star game against his own team. Senior players of this and other branches of sport might do worse than take lessons from Mr. Cash's league in playing the game, as the youngsters manage to play ball without "crabbing" the umpire or their opponents.

A little over $14 was collected at the Commercial League baseball match last night. The fund will be devoted to the erection of a dressing room on the Acropolis.

OFFICIALS LEAVING

Smelter Superintendent and His Assistant, as Well as Dock Superintendent From Anyox go South.

Passengers bound south last night from Anyox included W. B. Bishop, until recently superintendent of the smelter, who was accompanied by Mrs. Bishop and family; M. Barrett, assistant superintendent, and George Smith, dock superintendent. Other officials, it is expected, will be leaving on the next boat. They have all been replaced recently following the retirement of Mr. Silvester.

The school children from Miss Gladwell's room at the public school left early today for Tugwell Island on their annual picnic. Each carried a large supply of good things to eat.

Half a Pineapple For One Dessert

In Jiffy-Jell desserts the fruit flavors are abundant. For instance, half a pineapple is crushed to make the flavor for one pint dessert. This is done in Hawaii from fruit too ripe to ship.

All Jiffy-Jell fruit flavors are made from condensed fruit juice. They come in liquid form—in vials—a bottle in each package. That is true of no other quick gelatine dessert. A few cents will serve a real fruit dessert for six people. No artificial flavor, no saccharine. It is the most delicious fruit dessert available, and it comes in ten choice flavors.

played to catch somebody?"

"Yes."

"Why was Jack Miller there?"

"Don't know. Think Lipsett asked him."

"Was this thing being staged by the police on by Lipsett?"

"Well, I will tell you."

Here followed the description of how Constable Bailey had been assigned to the Lipsett robbery following his return from the old country up to the final arrest.

Questions came from the jury in regard to the police report which stated that the liquor was identified at that time as that which was stolen from the Lipsett house. Yet not one had been able to identify it there yesterday. Court ruled however that no such evidence could be considered because the book merely expressed the opinion of the police and was behind the back of the accused.

Go to Jury.

This concluded the case and Stuart Henderson asked to have it thrown out of court on the plea of no evidence of identification. The judge, however, considered that while there was no direct evidence still there was such a chain of evidence that it would have to go before the jury to decide whether or not Duff was guilty. The court then adjourned.

RICH STRIKE ON LUCKY BOY

Former Prince Rupert Man Interested in Mine Close to Stewart

VICTORIA, June 25.—News of what is considered by mining men familiar with the Stewart mineralized district to be the most important strike made in that section is brought to Victoria by Henry Benson, former M.P.P. for this city. The lead was opened by Shaw G. Benson two weeks ago and samples taken from three places along the face assayed in Stewart at $120 a ton in gold, silver and lead, with no trace of zinc. It is estimated from the outcroppings that the lead is fully thirty feet wide and the fact that so high an assay is obtained from the grass roots is taken to indicate an exceedingly rich prospect.

Shaw Benson proceeded at once to Vancouver with samples of the ore and summoned his father for a conference with the other two men interested in the property regarding what action should be taken in the direction of immediate development.

On American Side

The strike was made on what is known as the "Lucky Boy" group of eight claims astride the boundary line between British Columbia and Alaska, on Fish Creek, about 5 1/2 miles from the town of Hyder. The actual location of the lead is on the American side of the boundary and refutes decidedly the long entertained view that the mineralized area of the district is confined to the British Columbia side of the line. There are eight claims in the "Lucky Boy" group, however, and three promising outcroppings have already been located. The strike was made on the most promising prospect, and as yet no work has been done to show what the others may develop.

According to Mr. Benson, the present ledge is very distinct and situated in an abrupt draw with a stream of water traversing its face. The owners decided to proceed at once with a complete opening up of the full width of the ledge, meanwhile establishing a trail to connect with the fine roadway which passes half a mile distant. Shaw Benson returned north at once with necessary supplies to proceed with the work. He will pick up a mining engineer in Stewart and a careful examination will be made of the property. The owners are waiting on this report, which should be forthcoming within a week, before planning in detail the development operations. It is their determination, however, to speed up the initial outlay with an idea of making the mine a shipper before the end of the summer season. It was the younger Benson's idea that a shaft should be sunk far enough to permit of a drift across the face of the lead beneath the waters of the creek and in that way reveal the exact nature of the ore body over its entire width.

Plan to Ship This Year

It is likely that the immediate output will be sacked at the mine and delivered by pack horses to the road, whence it can be delivered to tidewater at Hyder by motor truck. It is understood by the owners that the Granby Smelter will handle the product, this being the announced policy of the new management of the company. If the summer's work proves as satisfactory as is expected, preparations will be made to continue the operations through the winter months.

The strike was made in virgin country. The nature of the ore is not unlike that of the famous Premier mine, some distance further north, but has turned up in the scatchings a better prospect than the Premier operators secured after an expenditure of something over $100,000. Five men are being worked on the development at the present time, including Christopher Benson, formerly of Prince Rupert, who has been up with his brother since the season opened this year.

The property was located by a lucky chance last December, when Shaw Benson disclosed the outcropping while in the act of skinning a bear he had killed on the spot. Benson is jubilant over the strike, and asserts that his partners in the group have agreed with him to develop the property among themselves, there being plenty of money in sight for the immediate needs of such operations as they have in mind. There is no intention of selling or forming a stock company for the purpose of promoting the development.
