GERMAN TALK

Dr. Hexamer, a German-American, made the following statement at a German-American convention in San Francisco the other day:"Germany is fighting today for the principle which will bring world peace nearer to us than all the efforts of pacificists and dreamers. Germany is fighting for the principle of the open door on the oceans as well as on land, therefore hai! any German and Austrian victory on the seas, on land and in the air."

These hypenated Americans - are put to sore straights to find an excuse for Germany's violation of all the laws of civilization, but the above must surely be one of the most delightful yet invented. Germany's idea of a world at peace must be a world asphyxiated, so far as anything but Germans are concerned. Germany can only be judged by her actions, and her rule in Belgium does not encourage one to hope for a world peace along German lines.

There is a certain amount of humor in the suggestion that the Kaiser is fighting for the "open door on the oceans." Since every part of the ocean has been closed tight against his ships, Wilhelm must indeed be anxiously looking for the key to the naval situation. The door of his invaluable Kiel Canal is barred and bolted on the outside by the British fleet. The only open door on the ocean which the German navy has been able to furnish, is the rent of the torpedo in the hull of the harmless merchantman or passenger vessel. The idea of a wide open door is an entirely new discovery on the part of the German apoligists. The closed, mailed fist is a much truer and more appropriate simile. Actions speak louder and more clearly than words, therefore the utterances

London, Aug. 4 .- The American ambassador's representative, reporting on a visit to the prison-'ers' camp at Hanover-Muenden, says he found there Major Ritzen, of the Durham Light Infantry, and Lieut. They had no complaint to make. It was most gratifying to see the improvement accomplish. ed since the last visit. Six hundred officer prisoners are here. but only the two named above are British."

There is also a report on Giessen Camp, where are many Canadians. This camp is described by a visitor as the best organized, neatest, most contented camp he has yet visited.
