PRIZE WINNERS IN GARDEN COMPETITION

In the following letter, A. H.
Tomlinson gives the awards in this competition:

Dear Sir:
Great interest is being centered in the introduction of garden competitions into the city, by the department of agriculture. From the original idea of the competition, namely: (a) garden with no casual help; (b) garden with no outside help; (c) city lot under cultivation, it has been found necessary to change the contests into three classes as follows: (a) The ornamental and utility garden combined; (b) ornamental; (c) utility. In each of these the garden work to have been done by the owner and family.

It has been found very difficult to make the awards. All the gardens from the various standpoints are a credit to the district, and the local gardeners deserve great praise for the success they have achieved. If it were possible, not a competitor should go without recognition. Those who did not receive a place need not be the least discouraged, because the work is far above anything that was expected.

The following score card was used:

Care and upkeep.....35 points.
Cultivation.....25 points.
Arrangement.....20 points.
Variety.....10 points.
Utility—Ornamental...10 points.

In class (a) the first prize winner has distinctly emulated the natural surroundings. Nothing clashes. Even the small chicks running round the green sward, away from the flower garden, are not out of place.

In Class (b) the winner has also followed nature as much as possible. The whole arrangement shows this. The wild is portrayed rather than the more circum-spect city garden.

Class (c). Here the first prize was awarded mainly on account of continual care and attention.
The arrangement and the value of such a garden are well marked.

As Judge, my thanks are due to you for publicity in this work.

D. F. Glass, organizer for the Business Men's prohibition movement, went south this morning.

PROHIBITION MEETING IN EMPRESS THEATRE

The first step towards forming a branch of the Business Men's Prohibition movement was made last night at a meeting in the Empress Theatre, when Mr. T.
McClymont presided over a rather small gathering of citizens.

In introducing Mr. D. F. Glass, the organizer for British Columbia, the chairman referred to the sudden change which had taken place in Russia regarding the sale of vodka; the curtailment of the liquor trade in Britain, and the recent prohibition campaign in Saskatchewan and Alberta, resulting in these provinces going "dry." He also thought that Manitoba and British Columbia would soon follow suit and that ultimately the Dominion would adopt prohibition from coast to coast.

Proceeding to outline the campaign, Mr. Glass pointed out that the movement is entirely outside of church and political party.
"The question of prohibition is being viewed purely from an economic standpoint," he said. He emphasized the fact that the business men who are in the movement are not fighting the men who are in the liquor business, but are attacking only the business itself.
He assured them that the fight would be perfectly clean in every respect.

Mr. Glass then drew a vivid picture of the great business men's banquet held some time ago in Vancouver, when 509 out of 512 men present supported the prohibition movement, and a business men's committee was formed of 12 Liberals, 12 Conservatives and one man who had no politics, or at least none that could be discovered. The enthusiasm kindled at this banquet spread to Victoria, where it brought forth the greatest parade Victoria had ever known.

Mr. Glass went on to describe his experiences in an organising tour of the province. In Kamloops, Vernon, Enderby, Kelowna, and other places, he had been amazed at the enthusiasm with which the movement had been taken up by business and professional men alike. At first men of both political parties had fought shy of it as each thought it a political move. After demonstrating clearly that it was entirely outside the scope of politics, Mr. Glass found a wholehearted response to the scheme, with promises all along the line of a host of delegates to the convention to be held in Vancouver on August 25th and 26th.
The speaker went on to quote figures in support of prohibition, showing how Kansas particularly had benefited from it. He called upon the newspapers to give both sides a square deal, giving equal space to both. He expected to see a cleaner fight in British Columbia than there had been in Alberta.

At the close the following gentlemen were named as a drafting committee: Walter Shaw, G. R.
Naden, O. H. Nelson, Thomas Mc-Clymont, Thomas Maitland, H. F.
McRae, Dr. W. T. Kergin, and J.

GERMAN POSITION

A German banker, who had considerable interests in Canada, told The Monetary Times eleven months ago, with a German road map spread on the table in his Toronto office, that "within one month, the German army will be in Paris, and within six weeks, in St. Petersburg." This opinion was expressed by a man who had served in the German army and who, as he said, knew "what the German army can and cannot do." The prediction was not made either in any spirit of boastfulness. That was eleven months ago and the incident is indicative of the manner in which the people of the British Empire may judge of the progress of British arms after a year of war. The Germans, after forty years' preparation for the crushing of at least the British Empire, have not accomplished a tenth part of the schedule drawn up for the Prussian military machine. The British, after continual efforts to preserve peace, and without any notable military preparation, have put sand in the cogs of the Prussian machine. The road for that machine is gradually being made more difficult to travel. The first year of the war should bring satisfaction to the British cause, if only because the German rush for victory and spoils has been so effectively checkmated. Every month makes the British position better and the German position worse. There is no doubt as to the ultimate result, for, as Premier Asquith has said, Britain will fight to its last drop of blood and to its last farthing. Some hope that peace will come by events which will happen over night, changing the complexion of the war. These hopes are founded chiefly on desire. If the enemy has the financial, military, naval, and economic strength to fight for some years to come, and without arousing its people to a knowledge of where Germany is drifting, then the enemy will get a taste of British determination that will stand unrivalled in history. Lord Kitchener was probably the only man who knew, when war was declared a year ago, what a big task faced this Empire. Three years was his estimate of its duration. A third of that time has already passed without any warfare having been waged on German soil. Kitchener also stated that while he could not tell when the war would end, he knew that, so far as Britain is concerned, it would begin in May (three months ago). Observers, recently returned from Europe, state that it will last another year anyway; some say three years. The thing to do, then, is to accept the war as part of our daily life and cease to fret and fume about it. Every man who shoulders his rifle for the British cause and every man who does his bit in other ways is strengthening British muscle and thus helping to shorten the struggle.

An analysis of the Canadian situation shows that the fears of a year ago as to what would happen in the next twelve months, now past, were groundless. The national position in Canada is good. In entering the second year of the war we may well have faith in, and work with increased zest for the British cause. The cause is also that of all neutral countries which for one reason or another, are sitting in the grandstand watching the strangling of militarism. As for the United States, there comes sometimes a wish that the much tossed attitude of neutrality could be governed more by strong support of Right. Every additional man who helps to punch a bully helps to put the bully out of business. For the present, financial and commercial ambition, the rapid acquirement of wealth, the German-American element, the natural desire to keep out of the struggle, the mixture of American politics, and the well-grounded fears of serious German riots in the United States in the event of war, are holding the United States back from war. The kaiser is confident that he can shoot a few more holes through Uncle Sam's hat before it makes the hair beneath rise to more than righteous indignation. That is one of the kaiser's very few consolations, but even that may pass.—Monetary Times.

STIRRING SPEECH BY LIBERAL LEADER

Ottawa, August 12.—Revisiting the home of his boyhood in the quaint old village of St. Lin, nestling in the shelter of the Laurentians, Sir Wilfrid Laurier received a great welcome from an assemblage of five thousand people. In response he gave to the great gathering an address the dominating theme of which was that of Canada's duty in the present war.

In the illuminated address presented to him by the parish reference was made to his "distinguished and unblemished career." It concluded with the prayer that he might long be spared in health and strength to further the great principles for which he always had stood, those of "justice, tolerance and liberty."

That gave the keynote to Sir Wilfrid in the stirring speech of a little over an hour in which he urged his compatriots of the province of Quebec to recognize that in the great war that Canada now was engaged in with the rest of the Empire and with old France these were the very principles which were at stake, and that to all Canadians equally

Make Monday Ironing Day

LET Sunlight Soap do your washing Monday morning and you can do the light ironing Monday afternoon. The rub, rub, rub at the board has no place in the Sunlight way—so with the hardest part of washing cut out you'll feel like making it a good day's work by doing at least part of the ironing.

Follow the directions that cut your work in half and remember there's nothing in Sunlight to injure fine fabric or dainty hand. A $5,000 guarantee backs this statement.

Mathieu's Syrup of Tar and Cod Liver Oil promptly stops coughing, and soon, thanks to its tonic properties, effects a permanent cure.

The wonderful popularity of Mathieu's Syrup of Tar and Cod Liver Oil is specially due to its great value as a permanent lung and bronchial healer.

The Sunlight way is so easy --just note. First you soap the garment; then roll it up to soak. After a while you rinse it thoroughly and the dirt drops out like magic.

Why scrub, and rub, and wear and tear the clothes when the gentle strength of Sunlight Soap will do the work with never a hurt to fabric or hands.

RECRUITS WANTED FOR 62nd OVERSEAS BATTALION, CANADIAN EXPEDITIONARY FORCE.

RECRUITING OFFICE AT PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT OFFICE NOW OPEN.

In view of the recruiting which is in progress at present throughout the Province, it is apropos to answer a few of the questions which are considered by those who contemplate entering the Service. The following is a list of pertinent queries, together with the information which each elicits.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

1.—How long am I to serve? Until the end of the war and six months after if required.

2.—What pay shall I receive? Your pay as a private will be $1.00 per day and 10 cents field allowance. Besides this you will be clothed, equipped and subsisted by the Government.

3.—What will my wife receive during my absence? Every month there will be paid her a separation allowance of $20 (also part of your pay) and if this be not enough to comfortably maintain your family, the Canadian Patriotic Fund will further assist them.

4.—What will happen if I am wounded or sick? You will be cared for by the Government and your pay continued until you are discharged. If you are permanently disabled an allowance will be paid you, varying according to the extent of your injury or disability.

5.—What will be done for my wife and children if I die while on Active Service? The Government will provide an adequate pension, that will enable the family to live comfortably until the children are old enough to look after themselves. The widowed mother of a single man, if the son be her sole support, is treated in the same way as a wife.
