NEW GERMAN SCHEME

Berlin is at its old games again.

Not content with financing magazine writers to boost for Germany through American publications, Germany is trying to control American public opinion by purchasing the press, and establishing a news agency which will provide "impartial" news from Berlin. This scheme is quite in keeping with German methods. Germany's strong point is fighting below the surface, whether on land or sea. The steady flow of munitions from America to the Allies is causing the Kaiser great concern. The submarine campaign has utterly failed to stop it, hence the new move of trying to cut off the supply at its source by means of stirring up industrial trouble through the press.

Fortunately the American public has had over a year in of boyhood and let youth have which to form an opinion, so that Kaiser Bill is rather late in the day with his scheme. American-German opinion will remain German, simply because it is incapable of being anything else, but the independent mind of America can not be influenced by any inspired German articles or reports. America knows that it can accept the word of Lord Bryce at its face value, and, therefore, is thoroughly conversant with the methods employed by the Germans in Belgium. No smooth-as-silk arguments can exist for a moment in face of the facts brought to light by the Bryce commission. The sinking of the Lusitania cannot be explained away, nor will German-American opinion be successful in diverting President Wilson in the slightest from the course he intends to follow.

Poor little rich boys, prisonwithin a stone's throw of the or not. manor house. Liberty is never the actuality to men that it is to boys. Responsibilities, financial, social, domestic, bind men to the wheel of their fortunes which turns in a rut towards the journey's end. But the boy-at least the boy whose parents are sufficiently well to do, and sufficiently wise and humane to recognize the rights its fling—tastes liberty as a sparkling draught which cheers and stimulates, and which may be drunk deeply without incurring a headache.

Wealth is a consolation, conductive to happiness at least, if not creative of contentment. It is scoffed at by the envious oftener than by the philosopher. But what has wealth to offer grown men that equals the boy's freedom over the countryside; to know the cool depths of the swimmin' hole, the orchards which produce the June apples, the watermelon patches which may be raided, the creeks where sish may be caught, the silent forest paths, the comradeships fromed without regard to social caste? Who would not rather have the liberty of a Huckleberry Finn or Tom Sawyer than be a gilded child playing ringaround-the-rosey with a half dozen nurse maids upon the shaven lawn of a guarded estate, the "line" fences military outposts and the meadows and woodlands presided over by the secret service?-Louisville Courier Journal.
