GERMAN ATTACK ON RIGA FAILED--ENEMY LOST CRUISER MOLTKE, TWO OTHER CRUISERS, AND EIGHT DESTROYERS--A BRITISH SUBMARINE ACCOUNTED FOR THE MOLTKE

(Special to The Daily News.)

London, August 23.—The German Baltic fleet, which was attacking Riga, has been shattered and withdrawn, after losing the battle cruiser Moltke, two other cruisers and eight destroyers. A landing party on four barges was annihilated and the barges captured. A British submarine, which was assisting the Russians, sank the Moltke. The Moltke was of 23,000 tons; carried 10 11-inch guns, and 12 6-inch; was built in 1911; had a speed of 28 knots, and carried a crew of 1,100. She was a sister ship of the Goeben.

Brilliant Feat.

The Russian gunboat Sivutsh was sunk after a brilliant fight, sinking a German destroyer while she herself was afire and sinking. Petrograd Relieved.

There were brilliant scenes at the Duma and in the streets of Petrograd when it became known that the capital was safe from any fear of an attack by way of Riga. The victory has relieved the depression and has restored confidence in the assistance of the Allies.

French Success.

Paris, August 23.—Two French torpedo boats sank a German destroyer off Ostend last night. Our boats returned undamaged.

HOW SERGT. MICHAEL O'LEARY EARNED THE VICTORIA CROSS

HONORED BY FRANCE, RUSSIA AND BRITAIN, THIS VALIANT IRISH SOLDIER IS QUITE UNCONCERNED—TACKLED GERMAN MACHINE GUN AND TRENCH SINGLE HANDED

Mr. James Short, crown prosecutor of Calgary, is visiting in the city for a few days, accompanied by Mrs. Short. Mr. Short, who came to Alberta in 1889, has seen the west develop tremendously during the last quarter of a century.

In discussing the present crisis, Mr. Short expressed the opinion that it will lead to Canada doing more producing and less borrowing. He remarked that, in Calgary, many of the vacant lots were being turned into truck gardens with splendid results. One man, who was out of employment, has been able to support himself and family from the produce of two vacant lots, and then save about $80. Instead of importing its vegetables, fowls, etc., Calgary is now producing them, and men are getting down to business instead of waiting for an advance in real estate.

Mr. Short reports that the crops in Alberta are looking splendid, cutting having begun in some parts, while it is expected to be general in about two weeks. In southern Alberta, there is every prospect of a bumper crop. This is particularly gratifying, since this district suffered badly in the last two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Short were both greatly impressed by the scenery along the Grand Trunk Pacific, while Mrs. Short described the Prince Rupert sunsets of the past few nights as finer than anything she had seen in the world-famous Naples. Accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Dawson, they spent a most delightful time cruising around the harbor on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. James Short, of Calgary, who have been visiting in the city for a few days, returned east this morning.

I can recall Tom Kiely in his prime, I have seen the athletes who represented America at the Olympic Sports, and I have watched the All Black New Zealand team; but I have never seen a man who more impressed me with the sense of physical fitness than Sergeant Michael O'Leary, V. C., home on leave from the trenches. In the few following days I had opportunity to observe him in many and varied surroundings—he always, of course the idol and the central figure. Everywhere he bore himself as a hero should, simple and unabashed. On his way back from the Palace Theatre in Cork, he said merrily, looking at his bruised right hand, that he must get back to the trenches to rest!

Sergeant Michael O'Leary is only twenty-five years old. At one time he was in the navy, but was invalided out. The work of scraping boilers, and sitting cross-legged in the wet, gave him rheumatism of the knees, but he recovered to join the Irish Guards and after serving with the colors he passed into the Reserve. Soon after leaving the Irish Guards he learned an agent was over from Canada recruiting for the Northwest Mounted Police, and as he was a shade under the height for the R. I. C., he decided to try his luck. The medical test for the Northwest Mounted is very severe, but O'Leary was easily selected, and the hard, open-air work was much to his liking. All the patrolling is done on horse-back, and the average daily duty is thirty miles. O'Leary gave a taste of his cool courage in capturing two robbers after a running fight lasting two hours. The thieves were armed with automatic revolvers. O'Leary was presented with a gold ring, which he still wears, and the donor remarked prophetically, "If you do as well on active service, you will earn the Victoria Cross."

On the outbreak of war none of the Northwest Police were allowed to send in petitions, and late in November O'Leary joined his old regiment in France. There were only 140 left of the gallant battalion that fought stubbornly in the Brigade of Guards to protect the retreat from Mons. It was very hard to get O'Leary to speak of his deed of February 1 that won the V. C., and often he said that many had done more, but had not his luck. The Coldstream Guards were next his regiment, and their outposts were surprised, and the position was too heavy. A day passed, and the Irishmen wanted another chance, but the Coldstreams said the job was theirs. A heavy bombardment preceded the attack, and then the Coldstreams came out to cross the 200 yards that separated them from the German trenches.

O'Leary was an orderly that day, and not being for active duty, carried no bayonet. He had, however, all day been watching the country ahead, and saw the earth thrown up. The Coldstreams were met by a heavy fire, and the

FAMOUS MISSIONARY VISITED IN THE CITY

The Rev. Father Cocala, who has been visiting with Father Bunoz for the last few days, left for the east this morning.

Father Cocala is one of the most remarkable of the prominent missionaries to the Indians in British Columbia. He is a Corsican by birth, and received his ecclesiastical education in Belgium. At the present time one of his brothers is a general in the French army.

When a member of St. Mary's mission near Fort Steele, in the middle eighties, he was appointed to look after the spiritual welfare of the Kootenay Indians on the Kootenay river. This was before the gold rush into East Kootenay, and there were no white settlers in the district. When the miners came in, Father Cocala visited them along the Kootenay Lake and River, finding many co-religionists amongst them. The Indians were very jealous of the new arrivals, and told Father Cocala that there would be trouble unless he devoted his time to them alone. The father kept on doing his duty, however. Early one morning, the chief walked into his cabin, with a wicked scowl on his face, and an axe in his hand, and told the priest that he had come to kill him. The priest, showing no fear, sprang out of bed, bared his bosom and dared the Indian to strike. Cowed by the bearing of the priest, the Indian dropped the axe and slunk away.

For many years Father Cocala worked among those Indians, who became greatly attached to him, but since the opening up of this northern part of the province he has been stationed at Fort St. James.

Magistrate McMullin continued the preliminary hearing in the murder trial on Saturday, when he took the evidence of the wounded man Murphy and Dr. Large, at Port Essington.

TERRIFIC BUSH FIRES ON LOWER MAINLAND

(Special to The Daily News.)

Vancouver, August 23.—Four of the largest bush fires in the history of British Columbia are raging in the lower Fraser valley. Twenty farmhouses have been burned and mills destroyed at Newton, Bradner and Craigs. A huge blaze is creeping towards the town of White Rock which, it is feared, is doomed. Bush fires are raging from Alert Bay to the boundary for a distance of 250 miles. The whole lower mainland is covered with a heavy pall of smoke. The only hope is a heavy downpour of rain.

PEACE PROPOSALS

Several prominent and often voluble citizens of the United States have discovered some extraordinary proposals to obtain peace in Europe and to settle certain of the problems there. Mr. John Wanamaker, of Philadelphia, for instance, is reported to have proposed that the United States should purchase Belgium from Germany, restoring their country to the Belgians. But, as a Wall Street writer remarks, it would first be as well to see that the title to the real estate is good. Now Mr. Henry Clews, the New York banker, who must surely spend most of his time and that of his secretaries behind large fountain pens, has a brilliant plan to settle the war. Mr. Clews, who is president of the American Peace and Arbitration League, proposes that Germany should sell to France Alsace-Lorraine for an equivalent of its real value and retire from France and Belgium, but to have commercial access to the Belgian seaport, which would be declared a free port; Germany to pay over to Belgium the amount required from France to restore Belgium; the colonies to be restored to Germany to be England's and Japan's peace concessions; Austria and Italy to agree between each other for a settlement and urged to do so by the other nations; Constantinople to be a free port to appease Russia, Turkey to acquiesce and Austria and Serbia to agree between themselves to settle their differences; establish a world court able to enforce its decrees by an international police force of the world—military and naval forces superior to those of any single power in the world; all the above nations to pledge themselves for a peace to last fifty years at least, agreeing as advantages to be gained thereby to reduce their armies and navies to a peace basis, which would admit during that period, of their liquidating their liabilities incurred by the war.

All this looks well in print, but the proposals show an astounding ignorance of the causes of the war; and of what the British Empire is fighting for on behalf of the world including Mr. Clews' own country; and of British determination backed by that of the Allies. There can be no peace until the wrong is righted, militarism crushed, and the German navy scrapped. Mr. Clews' proposals retained one of an elaborate desire to polish and neatly arrange the silverware while a dangerous burglar is at large.—Monetary Times.

UNEMPLOYMENT

All sorts of local committees are struggling and will continue to struggle with the question of unemployment. These earnest, would-be-useful citizens make as fine showing in their efforts as a highly popular mayor does when he throws the first ball at the opening of the season. They have no knowledge of economic laws, no appreciation of the underlying causes of unemployment, and a slender knowledge of human nature, consequently they accomplish nothing.

The unemployment problem which bothers all large cities during periods of economic readjustment cannot be wholly solved by any one. The only persons who can come near to offering remedies are those who have spent their lives in studying theories and economic problems. It is a subject for experts. When amateurs attempt to deal with it, they simply make themselves ridiculous.

In the United States, the people have learned that it is a question which must be solved by experts and the Federal government has turned it over largely to trained students of economic problems. The charge hung a little bit, and then in support the Irish Guards came out. O'Leary, fleet of foot, seems to have got well ahead. He had not got far when he felt the ground give, and springing back, he saw a German bomb-thrower in a covered-in pit. He shot him, and hurrying on to an angle of a trench he had marked all day, he came on it sideways, and with same result must come in Canada. The mayors of Toronto and Montreal tried to deal with it last winter and failed miserably. They will try again this winter and they will fail again. A national bureau, manned by expert economists, not politicians, would help. Such a national bureau would need to be supplemented by provincial bureaus working in harmony with it. But before Canada can begin to reach a solution the people must realize that it is as much the work of an expert to find that solution as it is the work of an expert to run a chartered bank, build a railway bridge, or invent a new aeroplane.—Canadian Courier.

lost. The Irish Guards had a shot at retaking it, but the fire five shots disposed of as many Germans; the second man fired at him but missed.

Bound to Save the Guns.

He saw his comrades busy with the bayonet farther up the trench, and leaving that job, he decided to make for the second point, some sixty yards farther on, where he knew a machine gun lived. If he could get there before it was remounted and brought into play, so much the better. He calculated it was dismounted during the bombardment lest it be put out of action. One quick glance showed O'Leary he could not cross the swampy ground between him and the machine gun, so away up to the left he sprinted, and along the railway cutting, shoving in five more cartridges. He had started with his magazine carrying ten and one in the breech.

A jump, and he is off the crossing and down a pathway of sand-bags and the machine gun section suddenly see O'Leary standing on their right front. The officer has his finger on the button to release the hail of lead, when O'Leary fired. He never pressed that button. One can see the white, scared faces of the others, and O'Leary, ruthlessly avenging many a hideous crime, steadily going down the line. One can hear him calling on his comrades and see the wild dash and the mud flying and the Irish Guards using their bayonets in that trench. O'Leary had emptied his rifle and won the Victoria Cross.

His pleasant smile lights up the freckled face, and the clear blue eyes, alert and direct, that meet yours so steadily, are a true index of his simple, resolute heart. No superfluous tissue clogs the free play of his silken muscles; they are ready and alert for manly deed. And so with his mind; there is the fixed purpose to do his duty, and his soul is freed from all excesses that would cloud or obscure this one idea. Unshaken, he has carried this resolve on the battlefields of Flanders, and no man is more surprised that the world talks of his little turn of duty on February 1st. He has been awarded the highest medals for valor from the British, French and Russian Nations.

At a banquet in his honor in his native country he asked for lemonade, and when thoughtlessly pressed to take wine he closed the matter by stating gravely that he had to "keep fit." Many hundreds of times was he asked for his autograph, and many hundreds of times did he comply.—London Times.

Greater than Panama's Bridge of Water

The Panama Canal is the logical outcome of the trend of modern commerce—it is monumental evidence of the present-day need for shortening distance—for lessening time and for reducing cost of distribution between maker and consumer.

In point of distance, the Panama will bring the Pacific nearer to the Atlantic by 1,000 miles. In point of time, the sea voyage between Halifax and Vancouver will be shortened by 24 days. In point of cost, the canal will very materially lessen the expense of carrying freight between these places. But there is a stronger factor than even the Panama in shortening distances, lessening cost and saving time between manufacturer and user.

It is Advertising—

It is the quickest—

It is the most direct—

And it is the cheapest—means of communication between the maker and user of goods.

For instance, Advertising enabled a manufacturer in Nova Scotia to carry a demand for his product from his factory to the Pacific Coast

— in a few days

— at an insignificant cost compared with slower and more laborious selling methods.

In one week, thousands learned of his product where it would have taken years for the news to get around without advertising.

To the Manufacturers of Canada:

You will be alert to take advantage of the Panama route for the physical transportation of your goods. Have you considered how quickly, how far, and at what small cost the Advertising Trade Route will carry demand for those goods?

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.

If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto.
