GERMAN PLOT TO CAPTURE COAST CITIES

(Special to The Daily News.)

Vancouver, August 25.—Details of a plot to capture Vancouver and other coast cities have come to light. Von Alvensleben was trying to arrange an invitation to Von Spee's squadron to visit the coast before the outbreak of war to be in readiness to seize the harbors and coal mines. Several communications in this connection have been discovered.

LOCAL FISH BUYERS SEEK CONCESSIONS

A meeting of fish buyers was held in the City Hall yesterday afternoon, in conjunction with the fisheries committee of the city council, to discuss certain concessions desired by buyers using the government wharf.

There were present Ald. Edge, Mayor Newton, J. B. Beatty, C. H. Nunan, Mr. Poole, Harry Sheere, William Shrubbsall and Geo. W. Morrow.

The meeting was called for the purpose of arranging for an application for more space on the wharf for the handling of fish. At present, the space used is very limited and when a rush comes along the dealers are handicapped. During a general discussion, the question of charges came up, and Mr. Nunan, of the Atlan Fisheries, pointed out that the fishermen had to contend with charges at the government wharf which they did not encounter in other places. For instance, there is a charge of $2.50 for dockage; $1.00 for water, and a charge of $1.00 if a boat ties up at the wharf for one night. He also stated that the buyers, besides paying a fixed rental, had to meet a charge of 50c per ton on all fish handled while there was also a wharfage charge on their boxes and lumber.

The various points were freely discussed and it was agreed that the fish buyers and the fisheries committees of the city council and Board of Trade get together to form some plan for approaching the provincial government.

GREAT MINING DEVELOPMENT IN PORTLAND CANAL DISTRICT

PORTLAND CANAL REGION SUFFERED FROM EARLY WILDCAT-TING, BUT IS NOW COMING INTO ITS OWN — BIG MISSOURI IS EXPECTED TO OVER-
COME PREJUDICE

(By F. S. WRIGHT)

Portland Canal is one of those mining camps which were unfortunate enough in the early days to have been associated with the wild cat operator. Through undue publicity a small boom was created, and people led to expect untold wealth to be gathered in by those taking the trouble to make the trip there.

As is usual with uncalled for booming, a setback occurred, and the camp dwindled. Capital at the mention of Portland Canal, drew back and tied up its purse strings. The prospector gave the camp a wide berth, although he knew that the mining prospects were good, but what was the good of prospects, if he could not interest capital in them when found.

Gold was what the camp was boomed on, and gold was what the people who went into the camp expected to find. They were disappointed sadly and from a population of three or four thousand, Stewart has dwindled to a mere 150.

These 150, are they downhearted? Maybe to a certain extent, but that has not prevented them keeping digging, and today Stewart and Portland Canal is beginning to come into its own. They have the mineral, low and high grade, in deposits that are a surprise to those investigating, and now capital has commenced to realize that after all the Portland Canal is a field with good prospects for returns for capital.

Recently the Big Missouri Group has been bonded by a group of American capitalists, who intend doing development work on the property. There is a large body of low grade ore on these claims, which, some claim, is the largest on the continent, and the Gastineau people are stated to be prepared to spend $30,000 in finding some way of treating this ore on a profitable basis. If after experiment, this can be done, there is no doubt that the Big Missouri as a mine will be heard from. It was staked years ago, bonded at least once before, but the proposition is such a large one that only the largest operators could do anything with it successfully, and it is now undergoing a trial by the largest low grade operators on the American continent.

The O. B. Bush property is being worked towards a developed mine. They are driving 600 feet of a tunnel here this year. This property is a silver-lead proposition with good values.

The Red Top Claims up Bear River are being worked and they have their first shipment of 20 tons of ore sacked and ready for shipment to Trail. The difficulties the owners work under are tremendous. Although there is a railway to within a few miles of their property, it is not running, and they are bringing this ore into Stewart on hand cars.

McLeod and Bruggy are shipping 20 tons to Trail from the Montana Group. This is high grade ore averaging $225 per ton.

W. George and his partners are doing development work on their copper claims, and numerous other parties of prospectors are in the hills. 1915 should be a year of new finds. The snow-fall, always an impediment to the prospector on the higher levels, has this year been light, and the

ALICE ARM CLAIMS SHOW GREAT PROMISE

Dr. A. E. Severance, of Tacoma, who represents American capital interested in mining development near the head of Alice Arm, went south yesterday morning. He reports that the property controlled by the syndicate which he represents is full of promise for the opening up of a rich producer.

Work has been in progress for five years, and until recently was confined to a large extent to properties near the Granby smelter. Recently the richest development has been shown on the Illianah properties, about thirteen miles from tide-water.

This summer a surprisingly rich body of copper has been opened up, the values of which have not yet been ascertained. An estimate placed by those engaged in the work puts it at thousands of dollars to the ton.

DEFEAT AT ITS VERY WORST

"You've lost everything!" said the arrogant and brute-hearted War-Lord, as he smashed his lawless way through the defences of honor and justice to smite the heart of innocence. "You've lost everything!"

"No, not everything!" came back the voice of the sublimist tragedy of modern times. "No not everything! Not my soul."

And as long as history is written it will be told that, in its day of vaunting triumph, when pride made high its brow and haughtiness made stiff its neck, Germany was doomed to everlasting ignomy, and its blasphemous Emperor was damned beyond either repentance or pardon to the gnawings of pitiless remorse. And every added Prussian triumph, in West or East, by land or sea, shall be but another count in the indictment for which there can be no excuse, another bitterness in the cup in which there can be no sweet. Belgium will answer back to Poland, as Armenia answers to Louvian. Forever and forever they will witness to the infamy that will be Germany. And the nethermost hell of Lucifer is in the memory of the heaven that might have been.

And this was the sin by which Germany fell: it was the sin of Cain—the hateful sin of envy; it was the sin of Esau—the gross lust of the flesh; it was the sin of Judas—the black covetousness that made him both betrayer and thief. Germany's defeat was not when its massed battalions were turned back ten miles from Paris. Its real defeat was in the German mind. When the people yielded to the seditions of the great Self, and sang hymns to Will-to-Power, and proclaimed on the housetops and in the closet that Might is the only right, then the battle for greatness was lost, and what was Germany's soul became a mad and guilty passion.

And this is the warning for the Allies—the solemn warning for Britain and Canada. The one irrecoverable reserve, the one ultimate defeat, would be, not any disaster at the Dardanelles or on the east front or before the forts of the Rhine, but the surrender, on the invisible battleground of the mind of the nation, of the ideals of liberty and justice and truth, for which alone Britain had any rights at the war-fronts of Europe. Victory will be theirs who do not lose their soul.

Herein, too, is the call, the direct and personal call, for service in this war. We wrong ourselves, we stultify our appreciation of what this conflict means, when we make appeal to others, to the able-bodied men of war service age, but make no appeal to ourselves. Where the race is not alone to the swift of foot, and the battle not alone to the strong of sinew, the call to service in this campaign for a moral ideal is loudest of all for those who can think clear and see straight and the nerves of whose mind are steady and strong.

For Canadians the battle fronts are not all in Europe. There is a conflict waged where ever men and women meet, in the homes, at the church, on the street. It is waged not with shrapnel and bursting shells and liquid fire. Its struggle is over the self-same issues of individual liberty and social justice and life's commanding ideal that give all there is of glory and worth to the trenches and the fleets. Its deadlier strife is with the principalities of the evil mind and with the powers of a demonized spirit, of which the German Kaiser is but an individual incarnation and Prussia a national type.

It is but hypocrisy to pretend infinite concern for the overthrow of the selfishness and materialism and un-Christian ideal in Germany, and all the while be an ally of the forces of dishonor and injustice and unrighteousness in the business and the politics and the social life of Canada.

What though the Union Jack were carried in triumph through the streets of Berlin, if, when all is done, that evil thing which bedeviled Germany—the Beelzebub spirit that denies law and trusts supremely in force—driven out of the Prussian War Lord, finds lodgment in the militarized democracy of the British people!

Defeat would be at its very worst if, when our soldiers won for King and country beyond the Rhine, it were made plain that we ourselves lost in the trenches and the strategic points of the Canadian mind.—Toronto Globe.

tion which is a good one. From the samples they are showing it looks good, and it is a sight almost unbelievable to see the gold sticking out over the samples they brought in. This property is eight miles from salt water and about eighteen miles below Stewart on the Canal.

This is not so bad for a camp supposed to be a dead one, and surely it must mean that Stewart is coming back. Not with a gold boom, not with a wild rush, but steadily and slowly with properties containing good values and capable of profitable development.

Ore exhibits from the Portland Canal have always been to the fore at every place shown, and their exhibit at this year's Fair will not be behind previous ones. They intend sending down an exhibit, which will be hard to beat, and let us hope that it may help to show people in Prince Rupert at the least, that Portland Canal is a camp capable of producing mining wealth. There are miners there who have stayed with the camp. Good prospectors and men who know good ore. There are new comers from the southern mining fields, who also believe that the mineral is there. Development is going on steadily. Properties are being worked, as far as crown granting is concerned, and the people who hold them are waiting. They are waiting until the large operators have overcome their prejudice towards the camp and, mark it well, the Big Missouri will overcome that.

Though the Big Missouri is represented as being on Salmon river, it is only a short ten or twelve miles from the Portland Canal.

"THE DANCING GIRL" AT WESTHOLME THEATRE

The popular American star Florence Reed makes her first appearance in moving pictures in the Famous Players Film Company's vivid and realistic production of Henry Arthur Jones' celebrated drama "The Dancing Girl" at the Westholme tonight and tomorrow.

Miss Reed's splendid work in such dramas as "The Typhoon" and "The Yellow Ticket" stamp her as well adapted to play the role of the paradoxical and beautiful Drusilla, quaker and dancing girl, demure little village maiden and notorious belle of London Bohemia.

How she seeks to forget her ruined life in death and finds love and a new life, is vividly unfolded in this beautiful drama, with its splendid climax on the rocky coast of Endellion. Florence is ably supported by an exceptional company of Broadway favorites. The story is in five acts.

The bill concludes with an Esanay comedy entitled "The Fable of how Uncle Brewster was too shifty for the Tempter."

Charles Harrison, of Massett, is in the city.

Greater than Panama's Bridge of Water

The Panama Canal is the logical outcome of the trend of modern commerce—it is monumental evidence of the present-day need for shortening distance—for lessening time and for reducing cost of distribution between maker and consumer.

In point of distance, the Panama will bring the Pacific nearer to the Atlantic by 1,000 miles. In point of time, the sea voyage between Halifax and Vancouver will be shortened by 24 days. In point of cost, the canal will very materially lessen the expense of carrying freight between these places. But there is a stronger factor than even the Panama in shortening distances, lessening cost and saving time between manufacturer and user.

It is Advertising—

It is the quickest—
It is the most direct—
And it is the cheapest—means of communication between the maker and user of goods.

For instance, Advertising enabled a manufacturer in Nova Scotia to carry a demand for his product from his factory to the Pacific Coast

—in a few days
—at an insignificant cost compared with slower and more laborious selling methods.

In one week, thousands learned of his product where it would have taken years for the news to get around without advertising.

To the Manufacturers of Canada:

You will be alert to take advantage of the Panama route for the physical transportation of your goods. Have you considered how quickly, how far, and at what small cost the Advertising Trade Route will carry demand for those goods?

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.

If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto.
