RUSSIANS HAVE NOW EVACUATED VILNA

SYNDICATE FORMED TO HANDLE ALLIED LOAN — VON HINDENBURG ADVANCING

GERMANS HAVE TAKEN VILNA VON HINDENBURG ADVANCING

RUSSIAN RETREAT IS ORDERLY — GERMANS LOSING TWO MEN TO RUSSIANS' ONE — FRENCH DESTROY GERMAN AMMUNITION — SWISS FACTORIES ARE MAKING MUNITIONS

(Special to The Daily News.)
London, Sept. 20.—Petrograd admits that Vilna is now in the hands of the Germans. Von Hindenburg is advancing on a 200-mile front after his encircling movement. The Russians are retreating in good order. The movement resembles the retreat from Warsaw.

The Germans are losing two men to one Russian.

Western Front.
There is continuous heavy artillery fighting on the western front. The French have blown up the German ammunition supply at Perthes.

Swiss Ammunition.
Geneva, Sept. 20.—The Swiss

watch factories have now started to manufacture ammunition.

Greek Steamer Affair.
Halifax, Sept. 20.—The Greek steamer Athina caught fire and was abandoned as a total loss in the same position as the Santa Anna. 600 passengers and the crew were rescued by the Tuscan. The only loss was one passenger who jumped overboard through fright.

TRADES CONGRESS
Vancouver, Sept. 20.—The Canadian Trades and Labor Congress opened its sessions today. President J. C. Watters and S. D. Macdonald, of Prince Rupert were present.

CANADIAN OFFICER PRISONERS LOOK HAPPY

Mr. C. Fessenden, of Peterboro, Ont., received the picture from his son, Lieut. C. V. Fessenden, of the 15th Battalion, who, with his companions, were captured at St. Julien, when their platoons were cut off and they found themselves defending 150 yards of trenches in a sea of Germans. From left to right: Lieut. F. H. Macdonald, son of Col. W. C. Macdonald, Lieut. Ryler, of the Buffs; Lieut. C. V. Fessenden, and F. J. Smith, of the 15th Battalion.

HUGE SYNDICATE FORMED TO UNDERWRITE ALLIED LOAN

BONDS AT PAR, BEARING 5 PER CENT—LOAN BACKED BY THE BRITISH EMPIRE AND FRANCE—J. J. HILL SAYS LOAN IS MORE VITAL TO STATES THAN TO THE ALLIES—TURKS LOSE 5,000

(Special to The Daily News.)
New York, Sept. 20.—The largest underwriting syndicate on record has been formed to float the $800,000,000 allied loan. The issue will be at par, bearing five per cent interest. The bonds are for five and ten years.

No securities have been put up as collateral, the bonds being backed by the entire British Empire and France and her colonies. Pro-German bankers have offered their assistance, if it is agreed that the loan is not for the purpose of buying munitions. J. J. Hill says that the loan is more vital to the prosperity of the United States than it is to the success of the Allies, as the Allies can buy elsewhere on credit.

Dardanelles.
Paris, Sept. 20.—In details to hand of the Dardanelles fighting, it is stated that the Turks lost 5,000 men when the French captured Hill 60.

"THE DIAMOND FROM THE SKY" AT THE WESTHOLME

"The Diamond from the Sky," the greatest serial ever screened, starts at the Westholme tonight. This wonder photoplay was produced at the enormous cost of $800,000. It is full of excitement and thrills. In one episode, Irving Cummings actually shoots his auto in front of a speeding train.

The cast is an all-star one, including Lottie Pickford, Irving Cummings, William Russell, and Charlotte Burton. $10,000 will be given to the person who submits the most acceptable suggestion for a sequel to the photoplay. Everyone will be given a postcard of one of the leading stars.

In addition to the serial, there will be shown a beautiful two-act southern drama and a Pathe Gazette with the latest news. This is indeed a splendid program.

The greatest serial ever, starts tonight at the Westholme.

PORT ARTHUR VISITORS PASS THROUGH CITY

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Burke, of Port Arthur, Ont., passed through this morning on their way home from San Francisco Exposition. Mr. Burke is one of the real old pioneers of New Ontario, having been in port Arthur for over forty years. He was manager of the first bank established at the head of the great lakes. In the early railroad construction days in that district he was a very active man, and has a wonderful stock of reminiscences of that time.

Mr. and Mrs. Burke were delighted with the trip along the coast and were loud in their praise of the service on the G. T. P. steamers, as compared with the American boats further south. Mr. Burke, who is one of the shrewdest financiers in the country, was greatly struck with the townsites of Prince Rupert in the short time he had to look around, and was not slow to predict great things for the future in the G. T. P. terminal. On the way east they will stop off at Jasper Park. The old couple have two sons and a son-in-law in the hands of the Germans.

OWN YOUR OWN ELECTRIC PLANT and live in the country the year round. A chance of a lifetime. 320 acres on a beautiful lake in the Bulkley Valley. Good boating and fishing, near railroad. (Churches and stores soon). Only $8 an acre, $2 down, balance over ten years at 7 per cent. Buy now, before the war is over, as farm land will surely advance. 219-24.

MAJORGENERALSIRSAM

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—Friends of Europe with a full bosom—a treasure of adventure and experience and he does not lay hands on it. The obvious inference is that he must be saving it for a great occasion. R. B. has learned that lesson since he came to Ottawa—saving his steam. To say the right things, that is good—to say it at the right time, that is better. For example, R. B.'s famous oration on the C. N. R. was splendidly timed. It put him in the line of cabinet succession and when with the same good judgment he failed to follow it up, it only confirmed his bright prospects. It's a safe guess that R. B. has another magnificent outburst up his sleeve. If he doesn't talk about the war right now, it's not modesty that prevents him.

Majorgeneralsirsam's bashfulness is harder to explain. He is not usually afflicted that way. He was not afflicted that way in England, where appreciation of Sam Hughes came trippingly off his tongue. His telegram to General Botha is a case in point. The man who would allude to the Canadian contingents in the field as "my soldiers" is no shrinking violet. To many people it looked as if Majorgeneralsirsam had done the wrong thing—like broiling the pie—but to those who knew him it was a perfectly characteristic Sam Hughes utterance. Sam has a way of identifying himself with his part. Personally he is the Canadian army just as Louis XIV was the state. But it is hard to see how he can be accused of modesty on that score. When such delusions of grandeur occur in an average citizen it is commonly spoken of as "swelled head." Without going so far to say that Majorgeneralsirsam's cocked hat is too tight for him, his friends admit that he has an adequate opinion of his own merits. Another remark of his, cabled from England, goes to show that modesty is not one of

As Bob Edwards aptly puts it, Sam Hughes always impresses one as having been composed by Gilbert and Sullivan. His knowledge, his versatility, his many charming qualities, all vouched for by himself recall that well known character in "The Pirates of Penzance," who was "in all things animal, vegetable, mineral, the very latest model of a model major general." Blushes from such a paragon are indeed a surprise.

Neither does R. B. Bennett hate himself. Young, rich, talented, almost a Cabinet Minister, it is not like R. B. to have formed a low opinion of his own abilities. No one ever knew him to be overcome with stage fright that way before. It couldn't have been that he was afraid of the reporters, because when he is at home in Calgary or Ottawa he holds a levee of reporters every day. And it couldn't have been that he had nothing to say, for R. B. always has plenty to say and says it mightily well, now that he has substituted a solid parliamentary style for the Chinook wind that he originally brought to Ottawa. The Chinook wind is one form of hot air which does not assimilate with the House of Commons.

That a master of words like R. B. Bennett should have nothing to say to a listening Canada, via the New York newspaper reporters, isn't necessarily a sign that he isn't going to say something later on. He comes back from

ENGINEER OF PRINCE RUPERT IS SCALDED

Alex. McWhirter, an engineer on the Prince Rupert, was admitted to the general hospital this morning, suffering from scalded ankles. The injured man was overhauling the condenser on the way north and a jet of hot water sprayed on his ankles. It is expected that he will be fit to make the trip south at the end of the week.

POT OF MONEY

The lucky winner of the jar of money put up by George Frizzell was David Thompson, with ticket No. 163. The jar contained $100.01, donated absolutely by Mr. Frizzell. The sale of tickets brought in 451.50, which all went to the Red Cross Society funds.

his outstanding faults. From a previous visit to England, as everybody will remember, he came back with a certificate of genius from Lord Roberts, who told him that night at dinner—heroes are always in good form at dinner—that he was the greatest Driving Force in history. Lord Roberts never had a chance to confirm this because he was dead at the time Sam produced the evidence, but nobody doubts that he said it. Besides being a grand old man and a great popular idol and a most successful Field Marshal, Lord Roberts was an Irishman and when he handed out a compliment he did it good and plenty.

Well, the Major General comes back with another tribute. England never sends him empty away. Kind words never die and Sam is just the man to eat 'em up. He is a fair hog for glory. The tribute this time, as duly chronicled in the London press and cabled at five cents a word across the deep blue ocean to Canada, came from Arthur Balfour, or Lord Curzon or Kitchen-er, at all events from somebody (Continued on Page Two.)

"THE BROKEN COIN" AT THE MAJESTIC THEATRE

Tonight and tomorrow, the eighth episode of "The Broken Coin" will be presented at the Majestic Theatre. This most wonderful story of intrigue and adventure continues to hold the interest of all patrons of the Majestic, and this episode is just as enthralling as its predecessors. In addition to the great serial, there will be shown a stirring drama entitled "The Man Who Came Back."

"Cruel, Cruel World" is a comedy of the most laughable description. The Animated Weekly is up-to-date and interesting in war and world's news. Though "The Broken Coin" is the great attraction, the rest of the program is of a high order.

Don't forget "The Diamond from the Sky" at Westholme.

W. J. Greer has won the exhibition gold medal for shooting, with a score of 87. Joe Jack won the silver medal.

MORE BOWSERISM

Another flagrant case of Bowserism was brought to light Saturday, when two salmon fishermen were charged with fishing with a gill net without having first paid the provincial tax of $5.00. Under the Dominion Act, a fisherman is permitted to fish for salmon with a gill net, on payment of a license fee of $5.00. However, in order that the McBride-Bowser government may have a share of anything that is going, the attorney-general passed the Fisheries Tax Act of British Columbia in 1914, which calls for a payment of $5.00 from each man working in a boat using a gill net. In other words, the payment of the Dominion license fee does not permit a salmon fisherman to fish, until a tax of $10.00 per boat has been paid in addition.

The Fisheries Tax Act was to become operative by an order of the Lieutenant-Governor in council, but there has been no such order published. All that has been issued was an order from the attorney-general from the fisheries department, so that these fishermen were charged under an act which has never become operative. Many fishermen paid the tax this season rather than fight the matter out, but a large number have had the courage to resist the imposition.

SIR DICK'S PROTEST

Sir Richard McBride has written to the Toronto Globe protesting against the publication of certain articles on conditions in British Columbia contributed by Mr. Norman Lambert. Sir Richard expresses great surprise that the Globe should "go out of its way to malign the fair name of one of the provinces of the Dominion, especially at a time like this, when our efforts should be mutual in sustaining the credit of the country, and by standing by each other for that purpose."

Mr. Lambert's articles dealt with official figures showing how the lands of this province had been handed over to the speculator, and that writer went to the trouble to procure the facts at first hand. Sir Richard McBride and his followers keep confusing the "fair name of British Columbia" with the reputation of the Conservative party of the province. The McBride-Bowser gang have shattered the credit of the province, and to ask the Globe or any other reputable paper to refrain from stating the fact is not going to help matters in the slightest. The "fair name of British Columbia" must be cleared, and that can only be accomplished by allowing fresh air and the light of day to play around the affairs of the province. Sir Richard raised the same old whine when the Dominion Trust corruption was shown up. According to our premier, the fault lies, not in the commission of the wrong, but in the discovery of it.

Doubtless the Conservatives would be perfectly satisfied that the "fair name" of the province would be fairer had the Dominion Trust scandal been covered up and kept from the public gaze. It is evident that Sir Richard considers that land-grabbing is perfectly just, so long as nobody but the speculator knows about it. This is typical of the attitude of the Conservative party in this province towards the welfare of the country. It is just as logical to argue that a bank,

Charlotte Burton in the $800,000 "Flying A" Photoplay
"THE DIAMOND FROM THE SKY"

STARTING AT THE WESTHOLME THEATRE MONDAY NIGHT

which has been looted of all its reserves, remains perfectly sound so long as the fact is not made public. Following the same line of argument, the Germans are not responsible for the horrors committed in Belgium, as the whole fault lies with the British press for making the facts public. Covering up the truth may be good Conservatism, but it is deplorably immoral.

in authority, and it was to the effect that Sir Sam ought to be very proud of his new K. C. B., because it was the first decoration worn by that hero Lord Nelson. Thus again did Majorgeneral-sir-sam's reputation have an opportunity to snuggle up to the great dead. The greater and deader they are the more Majorgeneral-sir-sam snuggles up to them. Dead men tell no tales. Neither Lord Roberts nor Lord Nelson can deny what Sam imputes to them. They wouldn't if they could—they must recognize that Sam is in their class.

Majorgeneral-sir-sam visited the firing line. Not incognito, because that way the effect of his visit would have been lost. The soldiers have a right to know when their darling is in camp and

Sir Sam saw to it that they got their wish. He did not for a minute attempt to conceal his identity. Indeed, supported as he was on one flank by R. B. Bennett, on the other flank by Sir Max Aitken, the Eye Witness, and his rear guarded by Colonel J. J. Carriek, his visit has a touch of Xerxes, both splendid and picturesque. The soldiers could make no mistake about his being a great man and a great soldier, lackeyed as he was by three honorary colonels—Colonel Sir Max Aitken jutting down the diamond sparkles from his Napoleonic intellect, to be worked up afterwards into material for the Anecdote Bureau. Colonel Carrick, as assistant Eye Witness catching any epigrams his editor-in-chief might overlook, and Colonel Bennett holding his charger, fanning away the flies or otherwise justifying his proud position in the army.

Well, you know what happened.
Majorgeneralsirsam's visit fairly maddened the Allies. They determined to get the thing over so that the Minister of Militia would not need to visit them again. This explains the renewed activity on the western front, likewise the Russian stand near Riga. A little talk from Sir Sam goes a long way. It's good strong talk, always with plenty of personal pronouns in it, but one could hardly call it modest.

Since Majorgeneralsirsam returned he has been galumphing
from one military camp to another with messages from the front. These are all very well in their way, but what Canada wants to know is his policy in regard to Honorary Colonels. Two or three years ago George Ham, of the C. P. R., said he looked forward to the day when the Canadian army would consist entirely of colonels. Since then George has become a colonel himself, an honorary colonel, but highly useful nevertheless because his stories are side-splitters.
Any enemy encountered by Colonel George Ham would just naturally laugh itself to death. But this is digression.
The real question is whether the policy thus faintly defined by Colonel George Ham is to be carried out or whether it will be modified. The general belief is that privates should have a chance. An army of colonels looks like overdoing it. Public opinion is swinging around to a home guard of honorary colonels, but no more. Of course it can be a national home guard with branches in every town and city and there will be plenty of room for everybody, but it should not go any further than that. That is to say the honorary colonels should not be called on for active service abroad. A home guard is not a home guard when it goes gadding about in foreign countries.
A home guard that won't stay at home is no place for an honorary colonel.—H. F. G.

The Housekeeper is Right

Sometimes a housekeeper requires a quick leavening agent, and finds she has no baking powder.

What does she do?

She raises her biscuit by a mixture of cream of tartar and soda, or soda and sour milk. She may not get the proportions quite right, but she knows her food is safe. But does she ever use a mixture of alum and soda? Was there ever a housekeeper who bought alum and soda to make a home made baking powder? Intuitively she feels it would be unsafe.

Then why use baking powder made from alum or the same mixture that the housekeeper would not dare to mix and use in her food?

Alum is alum, whether bought in the drug store or in baking powder.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

is made from pure cream of tartar and contains no alum, lime or phosphate. There is absolute safety in its use.

A. B. SMITH has a dry goods store in a certain Canadian city.

He does a good business, but wants to do more. He believes that Advertising in his local newspaper is the way to get more business. So he advertises—every now and then.

This is where our friend Smith is wrong—in advertising every now and then. He should advertise regularly—as frequently as his local newspaper is published.

Smith says he wants to advertise regularly, but he can't always find the time to prepare advertisements, which is true, for he is his own buyer, sales-manager, director of store service, credit man and half-a-dozen other things.

What Smith should do is this: If he is located in one of the smaller cities, in which there are no advertising agencies giving a local copy service, and he has no one among his own staff qualified by instinct or experience to write the daily announcements, he should go to the publisher of the newspaper in which he means to advertise, requesting his help. In nine cases out of ten, the publisher, through his advertising manager, will be only too glad to give Smith the assistance desired.

If Smith is located in one of the larger cities he should secure the services of a recognized advertising agency which will take over the work of preparing his advertisements.

In this way Smith can be sure of having his advertisements prepared regularly and intelligently, with no more trouble to him than the supplying of the information required by the writer of the advertisements.

So Smith can do more business, and more business means a larger income for himself, to say nothing of other gains that go hand in hand with the doing of bigger business.

This man Smith---do you know him?
Are YOU Smith?

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.

If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto.
