LIVELY DISCUSSION BEFORE MEMBERS OF FISHERY BOARD

REPRESENTATIVES WILLING TO ASK IMMEDIATE ACTION IN REGARD TO HERRING RESTRICTIONS--SALMON FISHING RAISES SEVERAL VERY KNOTTY PROBLEMS

At the meeting of J. H. Cunningham and D. N. McIntyre with the representatives of the Prince Rupert fishing interests in the city hall last night seats were at a premium. On the motion of Joe Scott, Sr., G. W. Nickerson was called upon to preside.

Mr. Nickerson, in introducing the list of demands to be brought before the advisory board at Ottawa in January, remarked that the fishermen were not asking concessions, but their rights which could be backed by sound argument. The list was an enlargement upon that published in The Daily News of Wednesday.

Mr. Cunningham explained that Mr. McIntyre and himself constituted the Pacific committee of the fisheries advisory board; that the representatives of the various districts brought their reports before the board, and that the board's decisions were simply recommendations to the minister of marine and fisheries, who has the last word. He pointed out that the board sought to do all it could in the interests of those engaged in the fishing industry, as well as for the preservation of the fish. He then invited a free discussion on the various points.

Capt. Selig dealt with the question of herring licenses being restricted to small areas, necessitating the taking out of a license for each part of the district. He stated that it was impossible for halibut men to get fresh bait without going to Alaska. He also dealt with the impounding or trapping of herring, in such a way as to hold them for bait without interfering with the spawning.

Mr. Sorenson spoke along similar lines.

Captain Carroll pointed out that halibut fishermen did not need any license and he thought herring should come under the same ruling. He did not see why a blacksmith in Manitoba or a tailor in Vancouver should be granted a seine license, to sublet it to another. (Mr. Cunningham said in such a case the license would be cancelled.) Mr. Carroll thought that conditions here should be the same as in New Foundland and Nova Scotia.

Mr. Cunningham said the department for many years had been trying to foster Canadian halibut fishing. Mr. McIntyre and he were willing to wire to Ottawa for an extension of existing herring licenses to cover from the north end of Dundas Island to Pitt Island, taking in Squally Bay and Wright Sound, this to take effect immediately. He also promised to recommend that later on one license should cover the whole of District No. 2. He said the department was anxious to encourage the packing of herring, particularly in the Scotch fashion. With regard to the reduction of the license for a purse seine from $75 to $10, this was a sore point, as the revenue from B. C. amounted to $40,000, while the expenditure was $300,000.

The impounding of herring was an absolutely new question, but he would take the matter up with the board. He believed it would be a big help to the halibut men.

W. S. Fisher compared the herring restrictions here with the freedom given to fishermen in the (Continued on Page Two.)

LIBEL CASE HEARD THIS AFTERNOON

At the assizes this morning the grand jury were presented with an indictment in a charge of defamatory libel brought by Sarah Campbell Lambie against Mrs. Hannah Matt Donald, made in a letter to Mrs. Janet Fitzpatrick on July 30th, 1912.

L. W. Patmore asked for the adjournment of the sedition case on account of the non-arrival of witnesses from Porcher Island.

The judge remarked that he had the job for life, but he did not want to run up a big bill of expense against the country. The case will come up tomorrow morning.

The libel case will be heard this afternoon.

GERMANY PURCHASES SWEDISH COPPER COINS

Swedish papers just to hand throw an interesting light on German methods of obtaining copper. Recently the Swedish government minted 60,000,000 kroner in copper, about sixteen million dollars. Today small change can hardly be procured in Sweden, as German agents bought up this huge quantity of copper, so that the Germans today are bombarding the Allies with Swedish "pennies."

AUSTRIA'S APPEAL

There have been many rumors lately, but the most important was that which came from London on Tuesday, and which stated that Vienna is making an effort to get the Vatican to sue for a separate peace for Austria. The domination of Austria by the Kaiser has been one of the most remarkable accomplishments of this admittedly remarkable man. He played an important part years ago in welding together the Austrian Empire, and was largely instrumental in the bringing of Herzegovina within that Empire.

Today, after Austria has bled for fifteen months in order that the scheming Wilhelm might extend the Prussian dominion in Europe, the aged Emperor, Franz Josef, finds that his territory is being freely offered in order to purchase further military support, or, failing that, at least a benevolent neutrality. The Austrian Emperor may have become so much of a satellite of the Kaiser that he is willing to make any sacrifice demanded, but it is now very evident that his ministers are not.

These younger statesmen have a longer view than the aged and sorrow-stricken head of the Hapsburg dynasty. They are more alive to the trend of events than Franz Josef can possibly be. In fact, they see clearly where this thing is going to end. Though the Allies are agreed that no peace terms will be discussed with Germany until the Allies are ready to do so, the position of Austria is entirely different. Though Austria was the first state to declare war, there can be little doubt that Austria did not cause the war. She was simply an accessory, even though she did make the first declaration.

The fact that Austria is appealing for a separate peace will have a tremendous effect on the policy of Greece and Roumania. There is no denying the fact that those two nations have been considering participation in the struggle from an entirely selfish standpoint. Roumania has made it clear that she will join the Allies if she can be assured that she will not be on the losing side. It is not a very high standard of service from an humanitarian standpoint, but is quite sound from a national point of view. Vienna's appeal to the Vatican will do just as much to convince Roumania as an additional 300,000 Russian troops would. If Austria is anxious to get out, there is little danger of Greece and Roumania falling over each other to get in.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The Kaiser is beginning to find that he had better offer some of his own possessions to his prospective allies, as Austria has serious objection to being given away in chunks.

The doctrine of "frightfulness" is being preached rather freely around American munitions factories just at present. It is a grim, ghastly gospel, but it will do much to offset the teachings of our old friend Herr Dernburg.

Prince Rupert fishermen are satisfied that the fishing business and politics should have nothing in common. At the same time, if they elect the right kind of politicians they will get the right kind of fishing laws.

North Sea. He could place 1,000 tons of herring and could pay from $15 to $20 a ton for them from December to January. This meant a big industry, if the present restrictions were removed.

R. Angus wanted to do away with seine net fishing for herring, giving the smaller men a chance.

Mr. McIntyre pointed out that the small men with gill nets would get the better grade of fish, thus creating a demand for their superior article.

Salmon for Bait.

With regard to the proposal to allow halibut fishermen to take dog and humpback salmon for bait, Capt. Rorvik pointed out that this applied to only a space of six weeks.

Mr. McIntyre said that the government was trying to get the consumer educated up to using these salmon, and that the granting of licenses to halibut men to take the salmon from the creeks, would tend to deplete the salmon. At present only one man had a license for one creek.

Ald. Montgomery wanted to know the difference between a few halibut men taking a little for bait, and one man having a monopoly. The privy council had found that it is unlawful for one man to have such a monopoly. He also pointed out that a small quantity of humpback salmon brought in a large quantity of halibut.

Mr. Cunningham asked if the humpbacks were not more valuable for human consumption than for bait. He said the humpbacks were worth 33 cents to the canneryman, as he got $4.00 a case for them.

Ald. Montgomery wanted to know if the gentlemen were in favor of the men or the canneries.

Mr. Cunningham said that if so many licenses were granted the salmon would not last long.

Ald. Montgomery said the matter would solve itself.

Salmon Licenses for All.

The question of issuing salmon licenses to all British subjects, Indians, and intending British subjects, and the abolition of boat rating was next discussed.

Ald. Montgomery said that the white man could get no license, except through a cannery. The cannerymen employed Japs chiefly and the white men could not make a living.

G. R. Naden said that a well known cannery manager had told him that there was no justification for giving the canneries a monopoly of the boat licenses. Everybody should have the right to fish. If there was a danger of depletion, the department could alter the close season.

G. C. Perry said he had advocated the granting of a certain number of independent licenses to Indians. The government did not seem disposed to entertain the idea, thinking that the Indians could go to work for the canneries.

Mr. Cunningham stated that the number of independent licenses on the Skeena had been increased and that last season there was no limit placed on the number.

Ald. Montgomery said that the granting of the licenses made no difference so long as the canneries monopolised the business and fixed the price for fish.

Mr. Naden asked if more licenses could not be granted and the close season extended.

Mr. Cunningham said that would be a natural result, but that neither the cannerymen nor the fishermen favored an extended close season.

The Mayor suggested that the cannery licenses should be reduced in number in order to aid the independent fishermen.

Mr. McIntyre said that "independent" fishermen was a misnomer, as nearly all were dependent on the canneries for their boats and gear. The fact that the Japs got so much of the business seemed to be the sore point. As the Jap is a naturalized British subject usually, meant bringing in a question which was outside the scope of the department.

The mayor said the fishermen wanted to be in a position to secure their own boats and to sell to the canneries. At present, the canners control so many licenses

PORT EDWARD TOWNSITE CASE WILL PROCEED

Argument was heard yesterday as to whether the civil case of the Port Edward Townsite Company, Limited, et al v. Samuel Harrison & Company et al, should be proceeded with. "THE SENATOR'S BROTHER" AT WESTHOLME THEATRE

At the Westholme tonight, the last episode of "The Road O' Strife," entitled "The Coming of the Kingdom," is presented. It is a fitting climax to this remarkable story. There is also the Eclair Gazette, an entirely new feature showing an inspection of troops by General Joffre at Chelsea Barracks and several other live British items.

"The Senator's Brother" is a splendid 3-reel political drama, which will hold the interest of the audience. "Street Fakery" is a most comical production.

Coming December 16th "The Spoilers" in nine reels. On Monday and Tuesday the 12th episode of "The Diamond from the Sky" comes along.

Mr. Cunningham said that last season the Skeena fishermen were opposed to the granting of an unlimited number of licenses. They wanted only 850.

Ald. Montgomery held that the number of cannery licenses should be reduced as the number of independent licenses increased. He wanted to know if they were discussing the protecting of the fish or the protection of the cannerymen.

Mr. Nickerson said that, according to the finding of the commission, at the end of five years the canneries were to have no licenses. At present, independent salmon fishermen were very rare, while the halibut men, whose outfit is more expensive, were all independent; there must be a reason. He thought the reason was the price offered by the canneries, who always had their pack assured.

Mr. McIntyre traced the history of the northern packing business, showing that the cannerymen had to bring men north to fish. It is only in recent years that there has been a resident population here and the whole salmon business is in a state of transition.

Fred Stork said the idea had just struck him that the time was coming when Canada would have to man a navy. That could not be done from the prairie farmers. The navy must be manned from the Canadian fishing population. He understood that it was difficult to change fixed conditions, but he thought the Japs could be eliminated without causing international complications. The G. T. P. construction contract debarred Orientals, and he thought that question of having only white fishermen on this coast was very important.

Mr. Cunningham pointed out that the Jap is usually a British subject.

George Morrow asked if the licenses were granted to the men or to the canneries.

Mr. Cunningham said they were granted to the men, though the name of the cannery appeared on the license.

After a short discussion on the granting of drag seine licenses the meeting was adjourned until 8 o'clock tonight.

ALASKAN DRAMA AT THE MAJESTIC THEATRE

"The Great Silence," the three-reel star feature at the Majestic tonight, is a story of Alaska and that fact alone should make it interesting to Prince Rupert people. It is a tale of the matrimonial troubles of a miner who has made his pile in the north, and who goes to a southern city to enjoy the results of his labor. A banker in dire financial straits forces his daughter to marry him, and interesting developments follow. Francis Bushman is the star of the play, and it is well worth seeing.

There is also a splendid railroad drama; a pollocking burlesque, "The Sale of the Ranch," and "A Melodious Mix-up," in which the happy-go-lucky Ham is the bright particular star. Ham is always capable of tickling any audience and this piece is simply a riot of fun.

Toyland now ready at Wallace's. Be on deck at the Liberal rooms on Friday.

Will Your "Boy" Spend Christmas "Somewhere in France"?

Then help him spend it Merrily!

Nothing is too good to send to the boys who are serving King and Country. But let our gifts show thought and judgment as well as good-will and love.

Among the few really acceptable gifts—smokes and pipes, chocolates and sweet biscuits, fountain pens and tooth brushes, toilet and shaving supplies—the Gillette Safety Razor ranks as a warm favorite, for one of the real luxuries of trench life is a clean, comfortable Gillette shave.

It's a luxury the lucky ones share with their pals, so send along plenty of extra blades. If he has a Gillette already, a few boxes of blades will go far toward making him the most popular man in his Company.

Welcome as it is on the firing line, the Gillette is even more keenly appreciated in the hospitals. With it the wounded can shave themselves safely, easily and regularly. They certainly do enjoy the Gillette—and Doctors and Nurses can scarcely speak well enough of it.

Gillette "Bulldog" and Standard Sets cost $5.00 each—compact Pocket Editions $5.00 to $6.00—Combination Sets, including Soap, Brush, etc., $6.50 up. If you wish it, your Druggist, Jeweler or Hardware Dealer will arrange delivery through us, at the Front, of the Set you select, without shipping expense to you.
