NEWSPAPERS BLAMED FOR MISCARRIED PLANS

London, Dec. 3.—The British government has begun an investigation to see how far the newspapers were responsible for the defeat of British diplomacy in the Balkans.

Announcement to this effect was made today by Sir John Simon, the Home Secretary. Sir John read an extract from the Russian newspaper Rusko Slovo, charging that responsibility for the failure of Anglo-French and Russian diplomacy in the Balkans rested with The London Daily Mail and The Times. Articles in these papers were republished in Greek newspapers without comment as proof that the British acknowledged the shortcomings of their military organization.

"The government is looking into this matter," declared the Home Secretary.

The extracts in the Russian papers stated that The Mail and Times systematically blackened the military and diplomatic measures of the British government, and that the Germans naturally took advantage of this.

Greeks Too Slow in Complying With Allied Demands—British Guns Silence Batteries At Strumitza.

(Special to The Daily News.)

Paris, Dec. 4.—Greek forces have not been withdrawn from Saloniki, and the Entente powers consider that Greece is taking too long to consider their demands.

More Pressure.

It has been decided to again use the economic measures which were so effective a fortnight ago. Orders have been issued prohibiting the departure from Britain of all vessels loading cargoes for Greece.

Public opinion in Athens is veering round towards the earliest acceptance of the demands of the Entente powers.

Balkan Movements.

London, Dec. 4.—British artillery yesterday silenced the Bulgarian guns on the Strumitza front. More British troops were landed at Saloniki yesterday.

There are persistent reports that Russian troops have invaded Bulgaria, but all details are being withheld.

New Serbian Army.

The Serbian Minister of War announces that a new Serbian army, 200,000 strong, is in course of preparation.

"THE GREAT SILENCE" AT THE MAJESTIC THEATRE

"The Great Silence," the three-reel Alaskan drama at the Majestic is of the best. There is quite a spice of humor introduced when the rugged miner from the north arrives in the south. His experiences of revolving doors in hotels, etc., create quite a deal of amusement. The piece is splendidly staged, while the acting is superb.

The "Ham" comedy is a corker as usual, keeping the audience in a perpetual ripple of fun. There is another of those thrilling railroad dramas, and one more comedy concludes a good show.

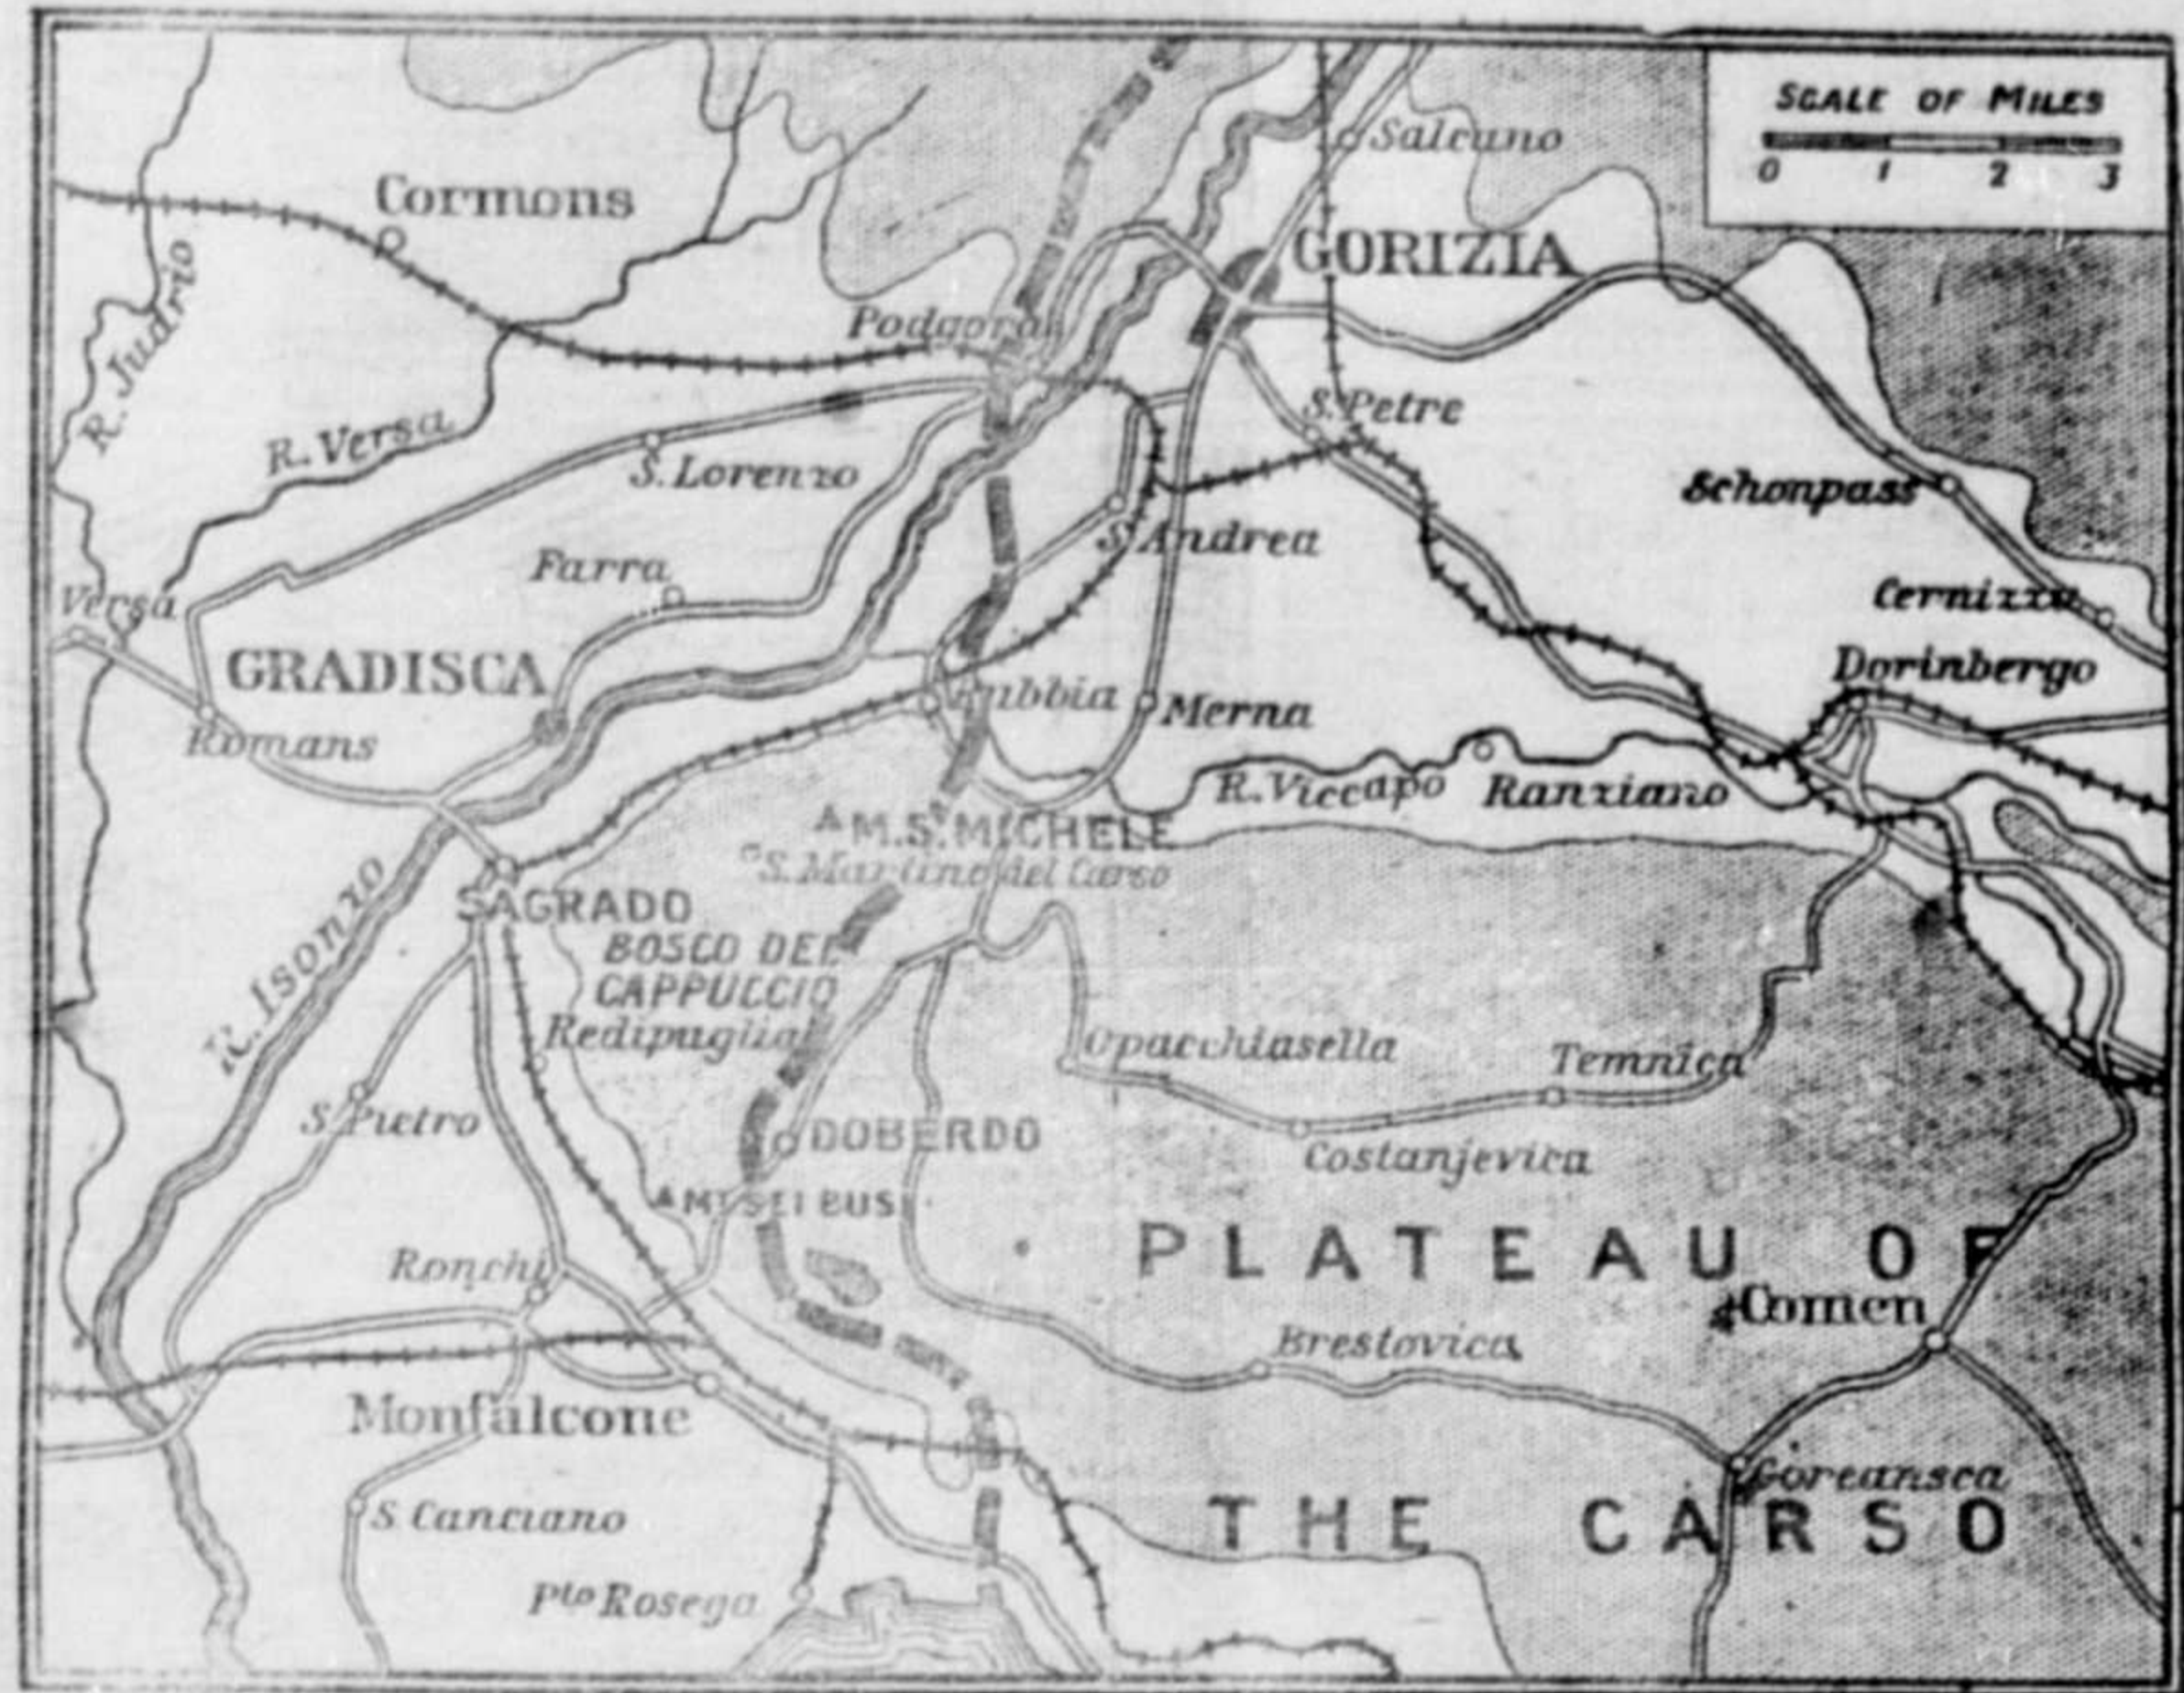

WELL KNOWN CANADIAN MISSIONARY IS

RED CROSS SALE WAS HUGE SUCCESS

$80.05 was the handsome sum taken in aid of the Red Cross fund in Miss Barbeau's military store yesterday under the direction of Mrs. Besner and Mrs. R. L. (Special to The Daily News.)

New York, Dec. 4.—Ford's peace party is assembling. They are due to leave for Europe at 2 o'clock this afternoon and should arrive in Christiania, Norway, on December 14th.

The party is composed chiefly of college students, newspapermen, and movie operators. All the state governors were invited to join the party but only Governor Hanna, of North Dakota, accepted the invitation. The party, which includes W. J. Bryan, has been refused passports.

SEVEN SPLENDID REELS AT WESTHOLME THEATRE

There is a great seven-reel program at the Westholme tonight, the chief item of which is a three-act drama entitled "The Senator's Brother." It is the story of the secret marriage of a man who has become a leader. It is a political drama of great interest, being rich in the human element.

The new Melair Gazette is a winner, the various European war items being particularly good. "Our Boys in Blue," and General Joffre inspecting troops brought forth great cheering last night. The last episode of "The Road O' Strife" is a great windup to a remarkable series. There are also two cracking good comedies. "Street Fakers" is a scream; while the Billy Reeves comedy is just Billy at his best, and that is all that need be said.

CADET ORDERS

All members of the Cadets and boys over 12 and under 18, and not under 5 feet are requested to attend a meeting to be held in the Borden Street School on Monday evening, Dec. 6th, at 7 p. m. AN ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING AT LIBERAL HEADQUARTERS

G. R. NADEN AND FRED. STORK SHOW HOW PRINCE RUPERT HAS SUFFERED FROM TORY MISGOVERNMENT—WHAT RUPERT WOULD HAVE BEEN UNDER LAURIER

The Liberal headquarters were packed to the door last night when G. R. Naden and Fred. Stork delivered interesting and illuminating speeches relative to the effect of Conservative government on Prince Rupert.

T. D. Pattullo, who presided, introduced the speakers as old-timers, both in Prince Rupert and British Columbia, who were well qualified to speak on their respective subjects.

Mr. Naden, in dealing with the agreement entered into between the G. T. P. and the McBride government, said he was a member of the opposition when two such agreements passed through the house. He stated that in 1908 a bill providing for the purchase of 100,000 acres from the Indians in this district through the Dominion government was passed, and of this land the government retained one-fourth, and the G. T. P. three-fourths.

He drew attention to a clause in the agreement which provided that the water ends of all streets in the townsite shall be left open at all times, to afford the public unimpeded access to the sea. The opposition laid great weight upon the necessity of making this provision for the future citizens of Prince Rupert, and the government proudly pointed to this clause as being a safeguard, when the bill came up for ratification.

In surveying the townsite, the government surveyors permitted the company to place lots at the street ends on the first cross street from the waterfront, to the everlasting detriment of the town.

The G. T. P. had given only one crossing to the sea and all the way from the government wharf to Seal Cove there was not a single individual could go down to the waterfront without the consent of the G. T. P., a distance of two miles. The result is that the largest business concern which has come to our city had to locate at Seal Cove.

When Mr. Pattullo was mayor, and he was an alderman, they found that to build a road to the cold storage they had to get the permission of the G. T. P. It took months to get that permission, and the road had but recently been completed. Instead of having crossings at every street to the sea, there is but one. The government is entirely responsible for this state of affairs.

Another clause provided that all streets crossing the waterfront blocks shall be provided with overhead crossings over the railroad tracks. He showed on a plan of the city how the government had kept their promise to the people.

Knowing the difficulties Vancouver had with regard to open streets to the waterfront, the opposition insisted on the provision mentioned so that the government did not sin in ignorance, but with their eyes wide open.

Another point which had been neglected was that all Prince Rupert streets were to be 66 feet wide. They are 56 feet wide, though a 30-foot lane is provided.

At that time, Hon. M. A. Macdonald moved that a committee of three Tories and two Liberals be appointed to investigate the question involved, but the government to a man opposed it. They voted against the procuring of information. The same thing applied to the division of the waterfront. The government used no discretion in making the division, securing 3,000 feet of property at Seal Cove, which each minister had a different use for.

FISHERY CONFERENCE CONCLUDED LAST NIGHT

The conference between the members of the fishery advisory board and the local fishermen was continued last night, when the question of allowing salmon trowlers to use as many lines as they cared received favorable consideration.

The granting of additional cannery licenses; the placing of a resident inspector here; the seeking for halibut grounds; the export of shell fish; preservation of salmon, and trout destruction were all fully debated.

At the close George Morrow delivered an able speech in which he pleaded for the rights of the fishermen as against the monopoly of the cannerymen, stating that the regulations introduced on the recommendation of Prof. Prince and Dr. Starr Jordan had brought about the monopoly. As a result, a cannery which cost $40,000 had been sold for $300,000. Mr. Morrow, along with the mayor and Ald. Montgomery expressed the appreciation of the spirit in which Messrs. Cunningham and McIntyre had conducted the enquiry.

Mr. Cunningham in reply said it had been a great pleasure to him to see the satisfactory results of the halibut concessions and that he would place the various matters discussed before the advisory board very fully.

Mr. McIntyre also suitably replied and votes of thanks all round brought the conference to a close.

FISHING RIGHTS

There was some delightfully plain speaking on the part of the fishermen at the meeting with the British Columbia members of the Fisheries Advisory Board last night and Thursday in the city hall. The representatives on the board very readily agreed that immediate changes in the regulations governing herring fishing are absolutely necessary, in order to aid the halibut industry, while they also are anxious to foster the packing of herring at Prince Rupert.

There was not so much harmony however when it came to discussing salmon fishing conditions. The representatives promised to voice the views of the fishermen, but they felt that the board would probably not look upon drastic changes in this line of fishing with a great deal of favor. Messrs Cunningham and McIntyre were perfectly candid in the matter, in that they did not seek to stall off the fishermen with promises for betterment, but sought to point out the difficulties in the way. However, it is clear that the one great difficulty is that the cannerymen are strong and tightly combined and have enjoyed a monopoly for so many years, in most cases, that they consider the monopoly as a right. Cannerymen, like other people, have their rights, which they are perfectly capable of taking care of, but monopoly, in any line of business, has no rights, but simply privileges. When these privileges are a detriment to the men who are seeking to earn a living, they must be done away with. There is no doubt that, if the cannerymen had to bid for their fish in the open market, they would have to pay bigger prices, and that bigger prices can be borne with ease was instanced by Mr. Cunningham himself, when he stated that humpbacks are worth 33 cents each to the cannerymen. What do the fishermen get for them?

The Oriental question is a big one, and it was news to many at the meeting to learn that there are so many naturalized British subjects from Japan. It is decidedly questionable if so many Orientals should be allowed to become such. During this year a large number were naturalized in this district alone. Of course the court, we suppose, has nothing to do with the question as to whether those gentlemen desire to become naturalized Britishers or simply naturalized salmon fishermen, but it is rather important. From a national standpoint, the matter is small and need cause no complications, but from the standpoint of Skeena river fishermen, it is of the very first importance. Surely it would be a simple matter, if there are enough white and Indian fishermen willing to fish for salmon, to bring in a new regulation by which the Japs, even if they are naturalized, shall wait for licenses until the others have been provided with them. This, coupled with the abolishing of boat-rating by the cannerymen, would satisfy the fishermen. That it would not satisfy the cannerymen is certain, but the care of the wage earner should be of the first importance.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING AT LIBERAL HEADQUARTERS

When challenged on this question McBride said that the government had been offered the drydock site in exchange for it, but would not make the change. When pressed by Mr. Naden for the name of the man who made the refusal he could not give it. John Oliver proposed an amendment which would have secured the rights of the people of Prince Rupert, but the same old bunch refused to consider the matter. The speaker also pointed out that the railway company had power to construct all overhead bridges, at the expense of the government.

He next dealt with a charter granted to the B. C. Telephone Co. to monopolise the phone system here, which was only nipped in the bud by the old timers digging up the money to form a company themselves, the assets of which they turned over to the city without a cent of profit or interest.

Going on to deal with development work, Mr. Naden pointed out that while the north had helped to build up the south in the early days, the north had to pay now for all its own development and more. In fact, they milked the northern cow to feed the pigs in the south. He showed how the P. G. E. had been engineered to open up the Peace River country from Vancouver, ignoring the fact that the natural start was from the G. T. P., making Prince Rupert the outlet. In the south they claimed it was solely to benefit Vancouver, but William Manson tried to make them believe it was for the benefit of Prince Rupert. The north has shown the most rapid development yet it has contributed far more of the $16,000,000 spent yearly than it has received. In conclusion, he dwelt on the smallness of Sir Richard McBride, who, twelve years ago, stated as his ideal in politics as "get in, and when you are in, stay in." That is exactly the policy followed by the peanut politicians whose interest is purely personal. The ideal of a politician should be "Empire first, then the Dominion; then the province; then the city, and then himself." McBride and his friends had reversed the process with dire results to the province.

pared the 18 years of Tory rule up to 1896, with the 15 years of Liberal rule up to 1911, and the spell of Tory government from 1911 to date. He described Prince Rupert today and in 1911 as the reversal of the hair-restorer advertisement showing "before and after." In 1911 Prince Rupert was like a fine, prancing steed; today it is like the spavined old horse which was changed for two ducks and a drake at Valcartier. "We are getting back to the Tory times prior to 1896," said the speaker, "when a man was glad to work for a dollar a day." In 1896 the brilliant Laurier appeared; the Tories prophesied ruin, but the Dominion entered upon a long spell of prosperity which continued for 15 years and went out with him in 1911. Surrounded by intellectual giants, he produced legislation which completely altered the country.

One of the first measures passed was one to reduce postage from 3 cents to 2 cents. Today, we have returned to the old Tory 3 cent basis. Mr. Stork then dealt with Laurier's immigration policy (Continued on Page Three.)

and the building of the G. T. P., and Prince Rupert drydock, and quoted figures comparing trade returns in 1896 with those of 1914, nearly all of which had been trebled or quadrupled.

He next dealt with the Laurier naval policy, quoting speeches made by George E. Foster and Robert Borden approving of it, and refusing to entertain the idea of a contribution policy.

Laurier's proposal to build five cruisers and six destroyers was accepted by both parties, and placed before the Imperial conference in London. Australia at once took up the idea with what glorious results we know. In 1910 Laurier took over drydocks at Esquimalt and Halifax and the Niobe and Rainbow as training ships.

Suddenly there was a change. A bye-election in Quebec came along and the policy was to beat Laurier at any cost. "A Nationalist was put up by the Tories and the naval policy made the issue. Men in uniforms were sent amongst the farmers, listing their boys in case they were needed for Laurier's navy." The result was a Nationalist victory, for which the Tories have been paying the price ever since.

In 1914, the first thing the Nationalists did was to ask if the Borden government would repeal the Laurier naval act. Hazen answered "yes," but it is still on the statutes. Mr. Stork referred scathingly to McBride's attempt to "form the nucleus of a navy in the purchase of two American submarines."

Referring to Bob Rogers' "drydock" speech at Vancouver, he said that, had Laurier remained in power, Prince Rupert drydock would have been busily occupied and a fleet sailing the Pacific from this port.

Mr. Stork next dealt humorously with the post office site, and the Tories' effort to keep the water down, and then tackled the war contracts scandals, showing where huge profits had been made by firms represented on the shell committee.

Referring to reciprocity, on which Laurier had been defeated, he said that the Tories diverted the issue on that occasion to a naval question in Quebec, a religious question in Ontario, and to whatever suited them elsewhere.

He described the building of the G. T. P. as the crowning act of Laurier's great career. Sir Wilfrid put Prince Rupert on the map and the grand old man said recently that he hoped to live to see the day when his plans to make of Prince Rupert a great and flourishing city would bear fruit.

J. H. Myers, proprietor of the Terrace Dispatch, who happened to town last night, expressed great appreciation of the speeches delivered. He congratulated the Liberals on the acquiring of such fine quarters, and assured them that they were not asleep in Terrace. They were organizing there strongly. He said the Tories would try every possible means to win as they dare not let the Liberals have a chance to get at the real truth regarding affairs in the province. However, just as the Germans lost the war at the battle of the Marne, the defeat of the McBride government started last March, when Sir Richard declared the election and drew back. Every day the Tories are losing ground and nothing can save them from utter rout.

BRITISH COLUMBIA BANTAM BATTALION

Authority has been given by Militia Department at Ottawa for the formation of the British Columbia Bantams, and recruiting has been commenced—applications for enrolment now being received by W. J. Cox, of 1218 Landley Street, Victoria. The organization of the Bantams will fill a long-felt want in British Columbia, and give the smaller man, who, despite the fact that he does not tower among his fellows, is also "a first-class fighting man," the opportunity for which he has waited. The battalions which have been formed have held that five feet and four inches are the requisite measurements to enable a man to serve his King and country in their ranks, and many a man whose heart has burned with loyalty and who has been keen to "do his bit" has been precluded by reason of the fact that he did not reach the requisite height. The British Columbia Bantams offer a place to him.

Although the B. C. Bantams is the first corps in the Dominion of its kind, the idea has been successfully carried out in the mother country, where some of the finest regiments of the line are composed of the Bantams, and the "B. C. B.'s" will be no exception to this record. It is expected that the name of the commanding officer of the new unit will be announced within a few days, and that the battalion will be quickly filled up; therefore those who are anxious to find a place in the ranks of the unit should lose no time in communicating with Mr. Cox, who will enrol their names, pending the completion of the machinery for recruiting within a few days.

Already about 250 men have signified their intention of joining the ranks of the Bantams, and it is expected that the battalion will be quickly recruited to full strength. Where it will be trained has not yet been decided, but the probability is that it will make its headquarters at Vancouver or Victoria.

Nothing is too good to send to the boys who are serving King and Country. But let our gifts show thought and judgment as well as good-will and love.

Among the few really acceptable gifts—smokes and pipes, chocolates and sweet biscuits, fountain pens and tooth brushes, toilet and shaving supplies—the Gillette Safety Razor ranks as a warm favorite, for one of the real luxuries of trench life is a clean, comfortable Gillette shave.

It's a luxury the lucky ones share with their pals, so send along plenty of extra blades. If he has a Gillette already, a few boxes of blades will go far toward making him the most popular man in his Company.

Welcome as it is on the firing line, the Gillette is even more keenly appreciated in the hospitals. With it the wounded can shave themselves safely, easily and regularly. They certainly do enjoy the Gillette—and Doctors and Nurses can scarcely speak well enough of it.

Gillette "Bulldog" and Standard Sets cost $5.00 each—compact Pocket Editions $5.00 to $6.00—Combination Sets, including Soap, Brush, etc., $6.50 up.
