(Special to The Daily News.)
London, Jan. 18.—The early occupation of Athens by the Entente troops, and the entry of Greece into the war on the side of the Teutonic Allies seems a certainty today.

VESTRY MEETING OF ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

At the vestry meeting of St. Andrew's Anglican Church last night a very satisfactory financial report was brought down, considering conditions. PROFESSIONALS WIN ICE HOCKEY MATCH

Quite a large gathering had fifteen minutes' fun at the rink last night when teams representing the business men and the professionals met in an ice hockey game. It is reported that some of the gentlemen insist that the game lasted for an hour, while today they feel it must have lasted for at least a week.

The professional men ran out rather easy winners by 2 goals to nothing, but it is only fair to state that they had chosen the youngest players at their command while the business men depended more upon weight to carry them through.

The teams were: Professionals:—W. E. Williams, Adair Carss, A. Young, B. Love, A. McMaster and A. Saint. Business men:—Fred. Stork, George D. Tite, George A. Sweet, Bud Corley, Geo. Frizzell and T. C. Duncan. The proceeds were donated to the Red Cross Fund.

COLD STORAGE PROPOSAL

At the city council last night, a letter from George L. Clayton in regard to a proposed cold storage and ice plant was read.

Mr. Clayton said that the G. T. P. had set aside a site for a municipal fish wharf, but that the city had done nothing on account of the lack of funds. He wanted to have the lease turned over to a company who would erect a wharf, cold storage and ice plant at an estimated cost of $200,000. He asked for full particulars as to the lease of the site, etc. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

Don't forget the Liberal annual meeting on Friday.

He asked the various committees to investigate thoroughly their various departments and report back to the council, when they would get together on common ground to work out any possible plan of retrenchment which was commensurate with efficiency.

GERMAN DIPLOMACY

German diplomatists have entirely changed their tune in regard to the submarine warfare and are now seeking to get into the good graces of the United States government. The sole reason for Von Tirpitz's submarine campaign was to try to break the British blockade, and, in this respect it has utterly failed. Force having failed, Germany is now about to once more adopt diplomatic means of accomplishing the same end. It is a smooth game, and is bound to embarrass Washington not a little.

With a plea for forgiveness for past offences, and the good little boy's promise "not to do it again," Von Bernstorff is trying to profit by America's dissatisfaction with British methods of saying what class of goods may or may not be shipped to neutral or belligerent countries. Britain has admittedly taken a high-handed course, but that course was abundantly justified by events, and there is little likelihood of the blockade being lifted, simply because Germany, through Washington, is ready to cry enough.

It is admitted on all hands by experts that the trench warfare may be kept up for several years by the Allies, and also by the Germans, always provided that Germany does not starve to death meantime. Von Bernstorff shrewdly recognizes that it is, and has been for some time, a war of attrition, and in such a war, with a British fleet carefully sorting out the cargoes which are to be allowed to reach Germany, via neutral countries, it is impossible that Germany can make any headway. In plain language, Germany is fighting for a draw, but she can only do that successfully if food supplies are allowed to pass in.

Washington must have had enough of German diplomacy during the past year to recognize that she is being invited to wage an economic war against Britain, or rather is being asked to hinder Britain from waging such a war successfully. America does feel sore at Britain's interference with much of her overseas trade, but it is very doubtful if she feels sore enough to allow herself to be hoodwinked into playing the German game.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

A horse dropped a shoe opposite The Daily News office yesterday. As the News is not superstitious, and is having plenty of good luck, the owner may have same on application.

Sir Richard McBride, before leaving Vancouver for England, predicted that the Liberals will have a walk-over in Victoria in the by-election. Dick ought to be a pretty good judge.

If British Columbia is to start shipbuilding and continue it successfully, there is bound to be a big outcry for the taking off of the duties on engines and engine parts. The Tories will undoubtedly be as anxious to have this done as the Liberals, but they will call it something different from reciprocity.

Sam is already trying to discount Mayor McCaffery's success by insinuating that the new mayor will reap where he has sown and fertilized. It would be interesting to know if Sam considers the $68,000 which it cost to renew the treasury certificates as "fertilizer."

DAN LINDERBURG HAD "SOME" CHRISTMAS DINNER

Dan Linderburg, the well known northern mining man, had his mind made up that he would have to tighten his belt in lieu of a Christmas dinner on December 25 last, as he was caught with his pack train in a snow storm on his way to the mining camp on the Salmon river.

However, he managed to struggle through in six feet of snow and made the camp of the Salmon Bear Company just in time to eat the finest Christmas dinner he ever ate in the woods. First came the "hooch" in a water bucket, and served out in tin cups, with plenty for the driest throat in the camp; then came the turkey, and no one can describe what turkey tastes like away back in the bush; then came the plum pudding, which tasted even better than mother used to make. Cigars followed this sumptuous meal, and Dan says nobody wanted to stir far from first base for the rest of the evening.

Mr. Wimble, the superintendent of the mine, and Mr. Plate, the manager, joined the boys at dinner, and the affair was some celebration.

HELP TODAY FOR TOMORROW THEY DIE

"We faced the foe for you, our families are now facing starvation because of it. What will you do for us? Will you let our wives our mothers and our babies die of hunger?"

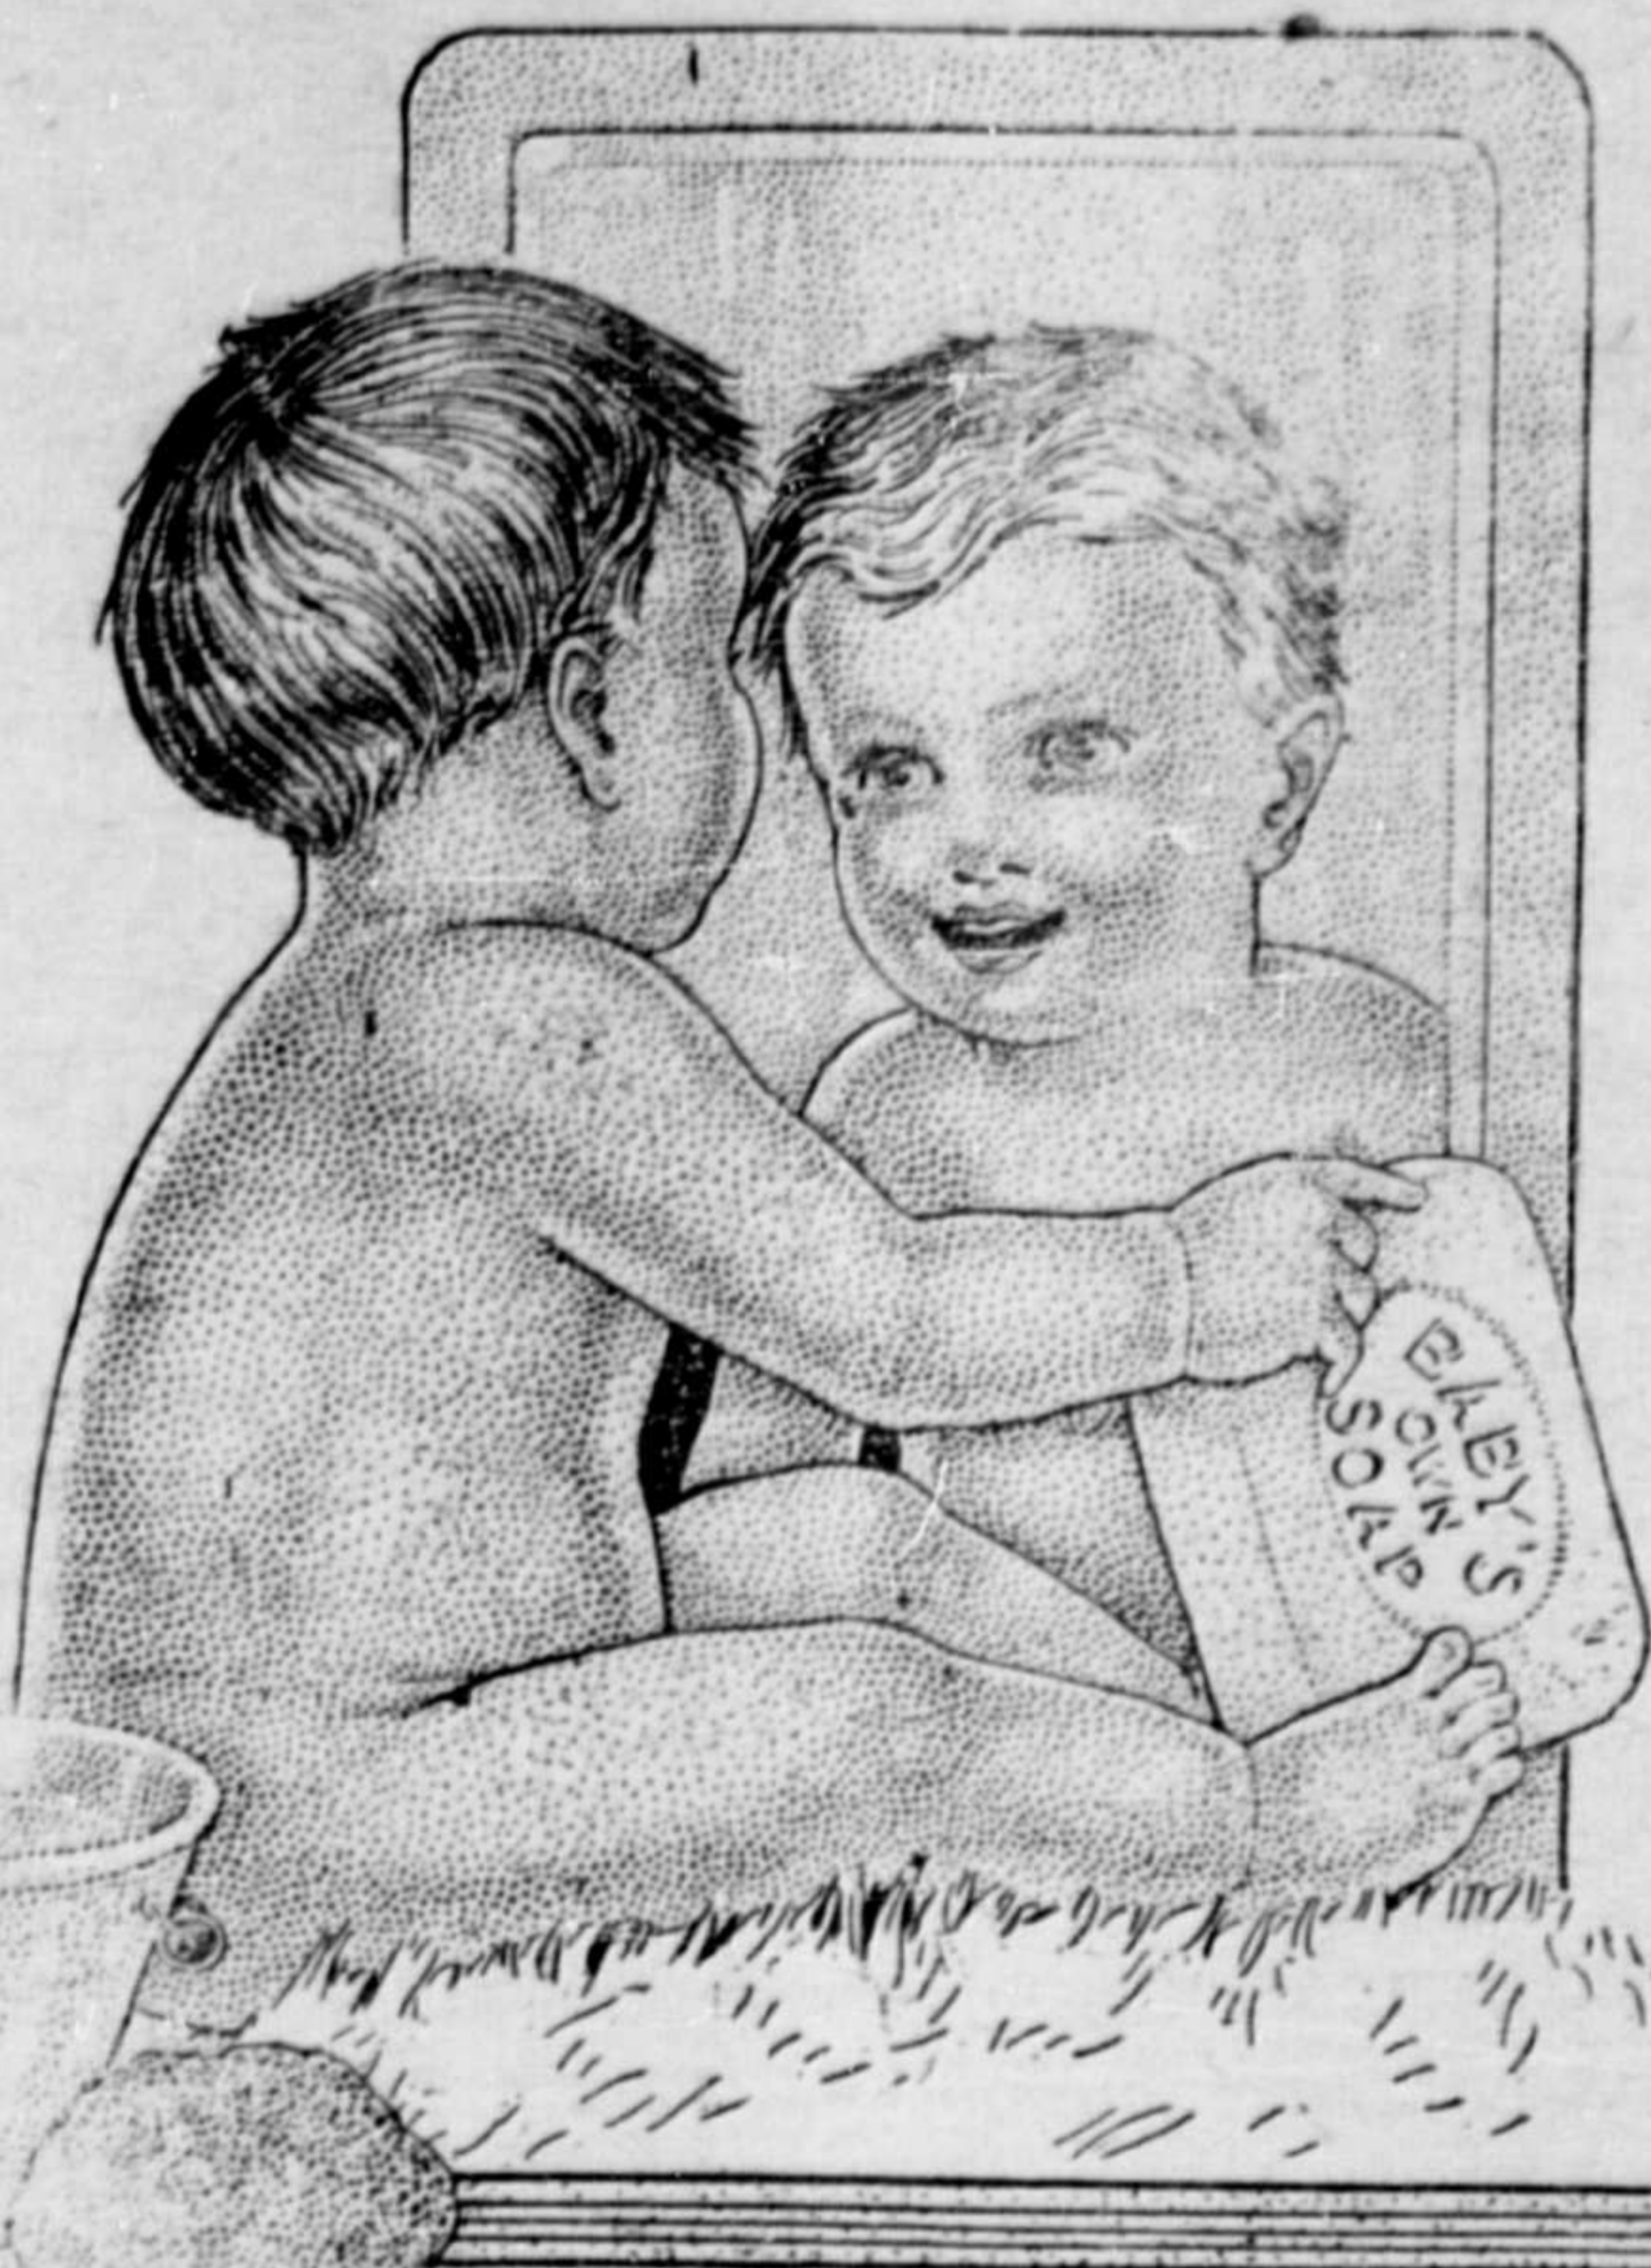

This is the message that is being flashed daily across the Atlantic by the three million destitute in little martyred Belgium. Canada's answer can be but one thing. "We will not let your loved ones starve. We owe you a debt and we will pay it in bushels of wheat, which will keep the wolf of hunger away until the happier days of peace are restored to Belgium."

One bag of flour, two bushels of wheat, means a month of life to one of these Belgians, ten dollars will keep one all winter when the dispensing is done by the Belgian Relief Committee. This committee is now receiving the money and acting as the clearing house for the payment of Canada's part of Britain's debt to Belgium. The treasurer of the committee is waiting to receive your sack of flour or your ten dollars at its offices, 59 St. Peter Street, Montreal.

Do it today—tomorrow they die.

REAL GOOD SHOW AT THE MAJESTIC THEATRE

The seven-reel show at the Majestic tonight provides items of interest for all. The star feature is a "Bud and Ham" comedy, in which Bud plays a low trick on his old partner. It is screamingly funny. "The Millinery Man" is a pretty little comedy drama, in which a young society man wins a hat-trimming competition at a bazaar, and follows it up by going into business. His success spells failure for a struggling young milliner, whom he ultimately marries to square matters. "The Stone Heart" is the story of a girl who is dragged down by poverty, but finally wins out.

"The Park Honeymooners" is a beautiful series of summer and winter views of Central and Brooklyn Parks, with a honeymoon couple in the foreground. The entire show is good, each item carrying something of interest.

SEVEN GOOD REELS AT WESTHOLME THEATRE

"The Charm Against Harm," this week's installment of "The Diamond from the Sky" at the Westholme, is just as lively and interesting as its predecessors. Marmaduke is still to the fore with his portable hat-rack and is as funny as ever.

"The Ex-convict" is a striking two-reel drama which tells the story of two men who have served in jail together, the one remaining a criminal while the other goes on to great prosperity. After the latter is married and doing well, his former fellow convict comes upon the scene and tries to wreck his life. An auto accident solves the problem and brings the story to a dramatic conclusion and all live happy ever after. There are also two good comedies and an up-to-date Gaumont Graphic.
