HUMILIATING TERMS OFFERED TO MONTENEGRO

Absolute Surrender of Country Demanded—Blockade of Germany Tightening—Compulsion Passes.

(Special to The Daily News.)

Paris, Jan. 21.—The rupture in the Austro-Montenegrin peace negotiations is due to the humiliating terms proposed by the Austrians. Austria demands that the Montenegrin troops lay down all arms; that the populace surrender all weapons; that all men of military age be interned; that Austria be allowed to make a thorough search of the country and that Montenegro surrender all towns, cities and means of transportation.

Times Urges Blockade.

London, Jan. 21.—The Times this morning prints on its front page Abraham Lincoln's blockade proclamation, issued during the American civil war, and calls upon the cabinet to proclaim a similar blockade of the German coast.

There are signs that the blockade is tightening, as ships are unloading general cargo and quantities of American beef consigned to Stockholm, in Sweden. Compulsion Carried.

The Asquith military compulsion bill passed the House of Commons at midnight.

SPLENDID CONCERT IN PRESBYTERIAN HALL

The ladies of the Presbyterian Church are to be congratulated upon the success which attended their concert last night. The program was of a high standard and the large audience thoroughly enjoyed every item, encores being the order of the evening.

Ald. Thomas McClymont made an ideal chairman, and, the first part of the program being devoted to Burns, he appropriately confined his opening address to a few features in the life of Scotland's national bard.

During the evening solos were rendered by Miss Barnsley, Mr. A. Clapperton, Mr. Meth Davies and Mr. C. A. G. Armstrong; a quartette by Mesdames Grant and Carmichael and Messrs. Armstrong and Clapperton; Pianoforte selections by the Misses Stephens; violin solo by Miss King; reading by Miss McColl; mandolin and guitar trio, Mrs. G. A. Bryant and Messrs. Duffy and Edmunds; duets by Messrs. Clapperton and C. D. Jones, and a very clever and amusing sketch by Miss Freeman and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Paterson. The accompaniments were sympathetically played by Mrs. C. A. G. Armstrong and Mr. W. V. Davies. "God Save the King" brought a most enjoyable evening to a close.

BOARD OF TRADE DISCUSSES SHIPBUILDING WITH MINISTER

GOVERNMENT HAS NO DEFINITE PLANS — WOODEN VESSELS CANNOT COMPETE WITH STEEL SHIPS FOR CARGOES — BUILDING, NOT CARRYING, IS FAVORED.

The council of the Board of Trade was last night in conference with Hon. C. E. Tisdall, with regard to the proposed shipbuilding enterprise on the coast. Geo. W. Nickerson, who presided, introduced Mr. Tisdall in a few brief sentences.

Mr. Tisdall said that he thought the best method of procedure would be to have simply an informal talk, discussing the various aspects of the question. The government had arrived at no definite conclusion and were open for suggestions on the subject. He pointed out that freight rates on such B. C. products as lumber and canned salmon to Europe had been trebled since war began.

The question which chiefly interested the south was the shipping of lumber, which at present was a drug on the market through the lack of bottoms. Opinion there seemed to be centered upon the building of wooden vessels with auxiliary power, not as an ideal type of vessel but as a matter of expediency, owing to the fact that there is no steel to be had.

W. P. Lynch said that he was not an expert in the shipping or shipbuilding business, but it appeared to him to be an opportune time for British Columbia to start building. There was today a huge demand for ships, and vessels still in the yards in the eastern States had been sold at 50 to 100 per cent more than ever before. He figured that the initial cost of getting ready to build ships was a big item, which the present high prices for ships would help to offset, thus giving B. C. its great chance to break into the business. If they were ever going to build ships here, now was the time to begin, as, after the war is over and shipping released, the opportunity to get in when rates were high would be gone.

With regard to building steel ships, he instanced Seattle, at which point a New Jersey firm had built ships cheaper than on the Atlantic seaboard, while Seattle was no better off for steel than Vancouver or Prince Rupert. In the future, Canada would be a great exporter of food stuffs to Europe, the great demand after the war being for the necessities of life. He thought it was a case of now or never, and Prince Rupert already had a long start in the shape of a splendid drydock. (Mr. Tisdall—"No doubt about that.")

Asked by Mr. Tisdall about the question of return cargoes, Mr. Lynch said that he felt that B. C. should devote itself purely to the building of ships. In regard to the operating of them, he was certain that the ships built here would simply be ocean tramps, which would perhaps leave here with lumber, and not return for probably three years. They would have to seek trade wherever it could be found.

He did not favor the guaranteeing of bonds by the government covering the whole undertaking. He felt that the only way in which the scheme could have a chance of success was to have the men interested put up a large proportion of the hard cash themselves. They would then have to hustle to make good. In closing, he pointed out that, while B. C. lumber is a drug on the market, Washington and Oregon are able to ship their supplies to Australia in British ships.

Captain Babington said that, with Captain Copp, he thought that the only plan was to build wooden ships. We had the material, and he thought the lumbermen and hardware men could be induced to take stock in the company for supplies furnished. He had discussed the question with a skilled ship builder, who was strongly of the opinion that wooden ship-building should be started at once.

M. J. Hobin asked Mr. Tisdall if he had any idea as to how long shipping would be tied up after the war. Mr. Tisdall said he thought for about six months. Mr. Hobin said he understood that wooden ships could not compete with steel ships for charters in open market. Mr. Tisdall said that was perfectly true. Mr. Hobin understood that Lloyds would not carry insurance on wooden ships. Mr. Tisdall said that was not the case, though they would not carry them for such a long period as steel ships. Mr. Hobin said the sailors for windjammers could not be procured today and he thought that the building of wooden ships would be a losing

CONSTANTINE COMPLAINS
King Constantine seems to figure that the Allied occupation of Greece is similar to the German treatment of Belgium. Nothing could be further from the truth. Germany had signed a treaty with the other European powers which expressly prohibited the entering of Belgian territory, while the Allies made no such agreement regarding Greece. As a matter of fact, the only treaty broken in the Near East was that between Greece and Serbia, which called for Greek assistance against a Bulgarian invasion of Serbia.

Not only did Germany violate a treaty in entering Belgium, but she violated every law of humanity during that invasion. The German armies are living off the country which they wrongfully invaded, whilst the inhabitants of that country are dependent upon subscriptions from every corner of the globe in order that they may keep body and soul together. Because Germany set at naught her treaty, and the common law of humanity, the people of Prince Rupert are today called upon to subscribe to the funds of the Belgian Relief Committee, in order that the starved Belgian women and children may be fed. If any fault can be found with the Allies' treatment of King Constantine and his satellites it is that Britain and France have been too patient. That patience must now be well-nigh exhausted, and King Constantine will have plenty of opportunity for comparing German and British methods.

SAFETY FIRST

For once, a German leader has come right out and expressed the true German idea of warfare. General Somar, in command in a section of Russia, says that humanitarian considerations have no value in an enemy country and that there is more safety in taking than in giving. The Belgians were thoroughly conversant with this phase of "kultur" months ago, without it being necessary to have verbal confirmation. It has long been apparent, both on sea and land that Germany knows no law but the triumph of Prussianism.

In this war Germany has reverted to type, and even their Hun forefathers would be ashamed to do what is being done at the command of German officers every day. The much vaunted German science has given place to Prussian savagery. No mercy is shown by the German officers to their men, and the men in turn mete out the same treatment to civilians. The men who place no value upon humanitarian considerations are the men who holler loudest for mercy when the blow threatens.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Our smaller friend up the street is still showing signs of an extremely sore head. Time will work its usual cure.

Yesterday, Prince Rupert had a taste of the kind of weather they have to tolerate on the prairies. We need something now and again just to show us how well off we are.

Holland evidently thinks that her neighbors have enough to do financing their own little affairs without being asked to help out needy Dutch folks.

If the recent report from Italy is true, Montenegro has resumed the most colossal game of bluff played in Europe for centuries. It is to be hoped that the Italian press only made a poor guess.

DANCER TOURS CAFES FOR BLINDED SOLDIER

Paris, Jan. 18.—Leading a blinded soldier tenderly by the hand, Mlle. Polaire, the noted dancer, startled the dining boulevardiers here last night by appearing in half a dozen of the smartest restaurants and giving impromptu performances of her favorite stage pieces.

Following each turn she passed around the soldier's battered cap, which was forthwith heaped with silver for the benefit of the wounded soldiers. One most famous boulevardier even came across with a shining gold piece, which had been overlooked by the Bank of France.

"Of all the tours I ever made, my tour of the boulevards was the most successful," Mlle. Polaire said this morning. "The cafes went wild. Men and women showered us with money, which has already been turned over to charity."

"THE FAMILY DIVIDED" AT WESTHOLME THEATRE

"The Family Divided," the 3-act drama at the Westholme, is a gripping photoplay with a strong moral. It is the story of a successful business man and his wife who have been separated for fifteen years because of the latter's groundless suspicions of her husband. They are finally united and all ends happily.

"Some White Hope" is a scream of a comedy, while "Socially Ambitious" is a comedy-drama which depicts the adventures of a tenderfoot from the farm. "When California was Wild" is a tale of the early days in California when the west was "wild and woolly." Charlie Chaplin should have been shown tonight in "The Mix-up," but the film has gone astray en route.

"THE DRAGON'S CLAW" AT THE MAJESTIC THEATRE

"The Dragon's Claw," the great three-act feature at the Majestic is a remarkable drama. The story opens with the death of a wealthy easterner while on a visit out west. His daughter returns home and marries a wealthy man, who later buys a mine out west. The husband discovers a dragon's claw, which the girl recognizes as a curio possessed by her father, and suspects her husband of murdering the old gentleman. It transpires that the claw is an ornament of a type common amongst the Indians in that country, but, before the young wife finds that out, there are many stirring incidents. It is quite a dramatic tale.

There is also a film of very funny cartoons; a very good Biograph comedy and another striking railroad drama.

2,000,000 Belgians Depend on us for Bread!

Since shortly after the German invasion, the Belgians have depended for food entirely on the "Commission for Relief in Belgium". Their own store of food, even if not destroyed or pillaged, would last only three weeks—they have had no chance to raise more—and the ruthless Germans refuse to supply them!

Backed by the

so generously contributed in the British Empire and the United States, the neutral Belgian Relief Commission has imported enough wheat, flour and other foods to feed the whole nation so far. The great majority of the 7,000,000 Belgians left in the country have been able to pay for their daily allowance of bread—but a steadily growing number have no money left.

Unless we are willing to let these hundreds of thousands of women, children and old men starve, they must be fed at the expense of the Belgian Relief Fund. To make this possible someone must contribute nearly $3,000,000 a month—every month—all this winter!

No people under the Allied Flags are as well able to contribute generously as we Canadians! No cause has ever been more deserving of help! In the name of Justice and Humanity—for the sake of our own self-respect—let us give all we can to help our martyred Allies!

Three Mighty Forces Close Linked

Have you ever noted how an audience yawns in the face of an uninspired speaker? On the other hand, have you noted how an audience will lean forward and grasp the chair arms when the speaker reveals enthusiasm?

Enthusiasm is the buoyant expression of truth. To impart belief in anything, a man must believe it deeply himself. We call such a man an enthusiast.

This applies to the written word also—particularly to advertisements. When the manufacturer really believes in his wares, his enthusiasm will almost inevitably find expression in Advertising. And enthusiasm will be contagious—his audience—the readers of the newspaper—will, figuratively speaking, "lean forward and listen intently."

To be convincing an advertisement must convey an unmistakable impression of enthusiasm. This it will only do when the article advertised has inherent worth.

Thus we have:

Sincerity -- Enthusiasm -- Advertising: Three mighty forces, close-linked.

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper. If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto.
