ANOTHER ZEPPELIN ATTACK ON ENGLAND

AIRSHIP HIT BY AVIATOR -- GERMANS ARE STILL FIGHTING AROUND VERDUN

ZEPPELIN HIT SATURDAY OFF ENGLISH COAST

Sixteen Killed in Latest Raid on Northeast Coast — Danish Fishermen See Sinking Airship.

(Special to The Daily News.)

London, April 3.—Two Zeppelins raided the northeast coast of England on Saturday night. One went inland and dropped bombs while the other travelled north off the coast following the coastline closely, the object evidently being to locate munitions depots. Sixteen were killed and one hundred injured.

Friday's Raid.

The total casualties resulting from Friday's raid are forty-three killed and sixty-one injured. No military damage was accomplished.

Commander Breithaupt, of the destroyed Zeppelin L-15, in an interview, said that the German object always was to attack armed positions, warships or factories, and that women and children were unintentional victims of the war.

One Zeppelin Hit.

It is believed that another Zeppelin was badly damaged by Lieutenant Brandon in an aeroplane. The British aviator dropped three bombs over the Zeppelin from a height of 9,000 feet. Brandon's machine was hit several times but managed to land safely. Danish fishermen report that they sighted a half-submerged Zeppelin in the North Sea.

GERMANS STILL BATTERING AT VERDUN FORTS

Batteries Moved Closer in—Germans will Make Another Infantry Rush—Zeppelin Bombs Dunkirk.

(Special to The Daily News.)

Paris, April 3.—There has been fighting all night around Verdun and east of the Meuse and between Douaumont and Vaux. The issue favored the French who captured positions in the Caillette woods.

The battle is developing a new phase, the new German batteries having been moved closer in to the forts. It is believed that the Germans will attempt to rush the forts after their infantry has been rested.

Yesterday, the Germans lengthened their front and made an attack over an area of two miles.

Dunkirk Bombed.

A Zeppelin dropped bombs on Dunkirk last night and two civilians were killed.

SKUGAID'S SKIPPER FIXED RUDDER AT SEA

The Chief Skugaid arrived in port Saturday evening, after experiencing one of the most serious accidents which can befall a boat at sea. Last Tuesday morning while a gale was blowing and a very heavy sea was running, an exceptionally heavy sea struck her rudder, breaking it off both at the step and at the collar of the rudder-trunk.

Captain D. Candow, who was on deck at the time of the accident, with the presence of mind for which practical seamen are noted, had a heavy rope made fast to one of the ship's dories and swung out over the stern, and, with a rope from each quarter made fast to the stern of the dory, had at once a rudder which enabled them to steer for, and make, Ross Harbor.

Arriving there, all hands got to work at once, and, with the assistance of a bar of iron and a sheet of the same metal, some wire rope and blocks, and considerable seamanship, in less than two days a rudder was made and shipped that not only brought them here but would have taken her to Japan. Great credit is due Captain Candow, his chief officer and able-seaman Penny for the possession of a knowledge and wit which got the vessel clear of a very trying predicament.

MISS PHYLLIS NEILSON-TERRY MAKES STIRRING APPEAL.—The talented English actress appeared at a City Hall (Toronto) recruiting meeting under the auspices of Lieutenant-Colonel John A. Cooper, of the 198th Battalion (the Buffs) and made a strong appeal to men to join the colors. Miss Nielson-Terry is in the centre of the picture. On her left is Mayor Church of Toronto.

STRATEGIC RETREAT BY MAJOR-GENERAL SIR SAM

Ottawa, March 30.—Major General Sam's retreat in the face of the enemy has the effect of prolonging the battle over the Shell Committee. His friends confidently expected that the Major General would remain to hurl back the Carvell charges, so when Sir Sam beat it to England via Palm Beach it naturally threw their arrangements out. The reserves consisting of R. B. Bennett and Arthur Meighen, were brought up hurriedly and they made rather a mess of it.

As a matter of fact Major General Sam's retreat was a stroke of strategy. He could not hurl back the Carvell charges because he had done all his hurling in reply to Mr. Carvell's first attack some weeks ago and the hurling wasn't as good as it used to be. Colonel Carvell kept pulling off new stuff all the time and as the Major General didn't know where he got it or what else he might have up his sleeve he concluded that the time had arrived for withdrawing, which he did accordingly. This, in itself, proves that Sir Sam is one of the greatest commanders of all time. He knows when discretion is the better part of valor—he has the moral courage to run away when necessary. Napoleon wasted his whole life without learning this useful lesson.

The Major General may or may not have paused in his masterly flight to confer with Colonel John Wesley Allison who makes the United States his headquarters and who never by any chance comes north of the 49th parallel when the Public Accounts Committee happens to be meeting. The chances are that he did so pause, and that Colonel John Wesley Allison has been fully instructed by his superior officer how to save more money for Canada and Great Britain during the Major General's absence. Colonel John Wesley Allison has a method all his own of saving money for the British Empire—he does it by peddling contracts at fat prices to United States ammunition companies in which he has a fatherly interest. He does not accept commissions—for Canadian business—but he has been known to accept presents, from the Col's revolver people for instance, for orders at large, so to speak. The Colonel has his code of honor and sticks to it—if he swallows these insults in the form of cash, he does it for the love of country and Major General Sam. When a man is in the business of saving millions, as the Colonel is, it is only natural that he should save a few for himself.

With the Major General out of the country it is not likely that Parliament will clap eyes on Colonel John Wesley Allison this session. The Colonel is also a military man, though an honorary one, and understands quite as well as his Major General that discretion is the better part of valor. To put in an appearance now would be a sin against good tactics. Meanwhile, if Parliament can't see Colonel John Wesley Allison it would like to see his picture. If it can't lay hands on him bodily, it would like to glimpse his features, his counterfeit presentment, as it were, with the accent on the counterfeit. Fancy limns him in various ways, but always with long white hair, shiny forehead, and a heavenward gaze as befits his first names. What does this other half of Sir Sam's soul, this expatriated lover of the British Empire look like? A man who goes about saying millions for nothing but exercise and the love of humanity is worth knowing. The Colonel ought to pay a visit to Canada and see the reception he gets. It will give him a jolt, or I lose my bet.

Major General Sam left his rear guard in the hands of R. B. Bennett, who, having no ammunition in the way of argument or facts, naturally made a gas attack. The member for Calgary gave vent to a number of beautiful sentiments, hoping that Major General Sam would be able to get away while the noise was going on. He spoke as I remember, of Thermopole, of our own heroes at the front, of asked for our tears, wept in our ears, worked the pump good and plenty, but by no chance answered the Carvell charges. What Mr. Carvell said, was in substance, "somebody is grafting," to which Mr. Bennett replied "what glorious sunsets we are having!" or words to that effect. This is known in military circles as creating a diversion, and it must be

AURORA ARRIVES AT NEW ZEALAND

(Special to The Daily News.)

London, April 3.—The Shackleton relief ship Aurora has arrived at Port Chalmers, New Zealand, from the southern polar regions.

The vessel had broken loose from her moorings at the Shackleton supply base in the Ross Sea, leaving several of her party ashore, before food supplies could be delivered. The Aurora made for New Zealand under a jury rudder from the Ross Sea. She was towed in to port for a hundred and forty miles by a tug which had been sent out to find her.

admitted that as a diversion creator, Colonel Richard Bedford is a lollapalooza.

In the course of a two-hours speech, R. B. Bennett wove garlands for all the cabinet ministers; twined a laurel wreath for Sir Sam, gilded the old Shell Committee as a body of misunderstood patriots, gave the British Empire his unqualified approval, took the muse of history by the hand and told her what to write, slapped Destiny on the wrist, mentioned his U. E. L. ancestors once or twice, gave details of a sentimental journey he made with Premier Borden through the British War Office, described his emotions on visiting the trenches, and wound up with a peroration that soared into the empyrean, and crowded the firmament with jewelled rhetoric.

But when all was said and done, R. B. never got down to cases. It was all wind, not because R. B. likes wind, he is getting more and more out of the habit, but because there was nothing but wind to work on. It's pretty tough on a rising young statesman, after he thinks he's got rid of the old camp meeting style he brought with him from the prairies and has built up a reputation for close reasoning and crisp utterances—it's pretty tough on R. B., I repeat to be asked to go to the vacuum cleaner stuff again. But that was (Continued on Page Two)

HOLLAND WANTS TO IMPORT A BIG WHEAT SUPPLY

Special Session of Dutch Parliament Decides to Take Over Railways as Precaution—Wheat Wanted.

(Special to The Daily News.)

The Hague, April 3.—Following the special session of the Dutch parliament to consider what action should be taken over the sinking by a German submarine of the Dutch liner Tubantia, the government has decided to take over the railways as a precautionary measure.

It is announced that the war measures are made with no belligerent motive but simply as an act of prudence to further the observance of a strict neutrality.

Wheat Wanted.

The Dutch government is asking Great Britain to sanction the special importation of a reserve stock of a hundred thousand tons of wheat.

HALIBUT ARRIVING IN FAIR QUANTITIES

The men of the Atlin Fisheries were busy as bees from nine yesterday morning until midnight, handling halibut.

Besides handling the fare of the Leif E., which came in Saturday, they had quite a big Sunday's arrival to take care of.

The Thelma had 20,000; the Gifford, 11,000; the Viking, 3,000, and the Messmate, 1,500. The fish fetched 9 1/2 cents.

TORY DEFENSIVE

Nothing could more clearly illustrate the calibre of the members of the Bowser government than that they should table the private correspondence which passed between Dr. Mackay and the Hon. Dr. Young in revenge for the attacks made upon the policy of the government in "The Crisis." In the first place, Dr. Mackay's part in the publication of the pamphlet is a mere incident, and, even if the pamphlet had never been published, the charges of handing over the lands of the province to the speculator would have been made just the same.

The tabling of this private correspondence, and the ridiculous Pooley resolution in regard to the standing of the two Liberal members recently elected for Vancouver and Victoria, are simply parts of a frantic Tory scheme to head off investigation by the opposition, by diverting attention for as many hours as possible to side issues. The public is not interested as to whether Dr. Mackay had a grievance, but it is intensely interested in the fact that the government is still playing ducks and drakes with the finances of the province. The Tory manipulators cannot get out of their difficulties by hiding behind a stack of private correspondence.

As a defensive scheme it is ridiculous, but from an ethical standpoint it is just in keeping with the general standards of the men who have consistently used the finances of the province to further party interest and favor friends. It is the action of men who would at any time read private correspondence without compunction, and consider it simply a matter of taking advantage of their opportunities.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Victoria city council is to make a thorough investigation into the circumstances connected with the running of a "blind-pig" in that city on the day of the by-election.

The Victoria Colonist thinks that, as we are living in an age when action should be the motto of the Legislature, the debate on the budget should have been dispensed with, and that arguments should not be indulged in when we are under shell-fire. In other words we are too busy to attend to our business.

In referring to the charges of the opposition, the Colonist says "All have been refuted long since." Surely the Colonist does not contradict the statement of J. S. H. Matson that he received $75,000 of the people's money to do with as he pleased.

Hamilton Read says that Bowser kicked him out of his office when he broached the subject of the Kitsilano deal. Anyhow, Bill doesn't seem to have kicked Mr. Read very far, and it mustn't have hurt much, as we notice that the persistent gentleman came back repeatedly for more.

Read stated before the public accounts committee that he did not expect to make more than $5,000 out of the Kitsilano deal. The poor man must have received a terrible shock when he learned that he and his partner had made $80,000. He seemed to think that the fact that he did not mean to make so much was something of an extenuating circumstance, and added that he had spent the money very rapidly anyhow.

The Doctor Calls It "Auto-Intoxication"

It means self-poisoning—an ailment that is almost universal with men and women of sedentary employment. Its cause is the daily intake of indigestible foods. Mineral salts and saline laxatives will not cure it. Help Nature to clean out the poisons by eating Shredded Wheat Biscuit, a food that builds healthy tissue and keeps the bowels sweet and clean. The perfect food of health and strength for youngsters and grown-ups, for men who work with hand or brain. It is ready-cooked and ready-to-serve.

R. B.'s job and he had to go through with it.

Still, R. B. let himself out in one or two places. He refused to sacrifice his reputation as a man of common sense entirely. There was subtle irony in his argument that the great Duke of Marlborough was a grafter who was never investigated—at least while the war was on. The Shell Committee may take what change they can out of that. R. B. also added a touch of prophecy to the effect that reputations would fall and veils be lifted after the war, which proved that however he might be trying to draw the wool over the people's eyes, he wasn't drawing it over his own. Incidentally, R. B.'s touch of prophecy leaves him room to make another break if he doesn't get what he deserves in the way of cabinet honors pretty soon. Just now R. B. is a great pet. Sooner than lose sight of him for a minute, Premier Borden takes him everywhere. But who knows how long a grand passion like that will last? Consequently, R. B. leaves himself free to lift veils, as he did on the C. N. R.—if and when necessary. Moreover, I suspect he was taking a rise out of Sir Sam when he argued that a "man with a calmer mind" might have accomplished much less than the Major General. Which means that Sir Sam was a great success because he was half crazy. So far no Liberal has dared to say this—but R. B. puts it rather well, don't you think?

Dr. Pugsley dealt playfully with R. B.'s soap bubbles—dealt playfully with them, but poked his finger through them at the same time, especially with his plea to suspend judgment until after the war, lest the Empire be endangered. If the Empire was not endangered by the inquiry into shoes, horses, binoculars, bandages, etc., how could it be endangered by an inquiry into the actions of the Shell Committee? It is only fair to say that Dr. Pugsley's question has not been answered yet, and will not be for one very good reason—the right answer is not available, and the government has to do a little stalling.

For the rest, Dr. Pugsley took up Premier Borden's challenge. He made definite charges against the Shell Committee and the minister of militia. These charges he put in good, tight legal English, with the idea of watching the government squirm. This pleasure was his later on when Arthur Meighen did the squirming with his well known skill and a long black coat. Dr. Pugsley's charges give the public in round numbers $122,000,000 to chew on—$80,000,000 over-paid by the Shell Committee to itself and friends, and a $22,000,000 contract handed out to the American Ammunition Company, one of Colonel J. Wesley Allison's pets, for time fuses which have not yet been delivered. The consequence of this delay in battles lost and soldiers slain, is too horrible to contemplate.

Dr. Pugsley did another good piece of work in riveting the evidence which links Sir Sam up with the Shell Committee, and makes the Canadian government a partner of the British government in the purchase of supplies for the joint use of Canadian and British troops at the front. He made a neat lawyer-like job of it. When the case goes to the jury—which will not be until after the war, if then, such being Premier Borden's last word—Parliament will find in this speech of Dr. Pugsley's all the facts needed to nail the Borden government down.

Not the least part of the evidence is Sir Sam's own words in which he declared himself the father of the Shell Committee, and his intention of sticking to it as long as it "has a button on its jacket." This you will see, as Dr. Pugsley pointed out, that the Shell Committee was Sam's baby. His war baby, by the same token. The poor little thing, having overfed itself to the extent of $80,000,000, died in convulsions, while two Lloyd-George doctors from England helped it along.—H. F. Gadsby.

"THE GODDESS" TONIGHT AT MAJESTIC THEATRE

"The Goddess," which made such an auspicious beginning at the Majestic last Monday night, enters on another and more interesting installment tonight. This great serial is supplemented by a first-class general program, including "The Hazards of Helen" a great railroad thriller, "A Thing or Two in Movies," two acts of good comedy, and a film of animated cartoons entitled "A Woman for a Day." A splendid Selig Tribune Weekly makes up a fine show. The management announces that amongst its coming features are Hall Caine's "Eternal City," featuring Pauline Frederick and the great drama "Mr. Grex of Monte Carlo."

GREAT FEATURES AT WESTHOLME THEATRE

Tonight and tomorrow are "Diamond" nights at the Westholme, when the 29th episode, "A Deal with Destiny," will be shown. "The Diamond from the Sky," for the scenario of which $10,000 was paid, while another $10,000 is being offered for a suggestion for a sequel to this great photoplay, is more interesting now than at any stage of the story. Tonight's installment shows beautiful scenes of gypsy camp life, while the action is most thrilling.

You must see what becomes of the diamond; what happens to Vivian Marston and Blair Stanley. Get busy if you want to win that $10,000, as there is only one more chapter to go.

The Westholme management announces that it has made arrangements with the Canadian Universal Film Company for the world's greatest production, "The Frame-up," which starts on Wednesday and Thursday, featuring the famous dramatic star, George Fawcett. For Friday and Saturday there is a great war special "Our Heroes at the Front," showing Kitchener and Joffre, the allied forces, fleets storming the Dardanelles, etc. Charlie Chaplin in "His Historic Past" and Charlie, Mabel Normand, and Marie Dressler in "Tillie's Punctured Romance," six acts of screams. This is regarded as Chaplin's masterpiece. The Westholme management is determined to show only the best.

PRINTERS' "PI."

NOW WE know
WHY Prince Rupert
GOT NO shell contracts.
PRINCE RUPERT
HAD a plant.
IT IS clear, that
TO HAVE a plant
FOR MAKING munitions
IS A drawback.
THE ESSENTIAL thing
IS A contract.
AND A colonel.
THE moment
YOU GET a contract
YOU evidently get
A MILLION or so.
FILLING the contract
IS A side issue.
WHICH need not
TROUBLE you
IN THE least.
WHAT WE lack then
IS A colonel
AND A contract.

GIVEN these,
THE REST is easy.
YOU incorporate,
AND THE committee
SUPPLIES the capital
WITHOUT asking
IF YOU can
SUPPLY the goods.
SIMPLE, ISN'T it?
BUT WE never THOUGHT of it.
HAD WE known
WE might
HAVE HAD millions
AND HAVE placed
THE ORDER for fuses
IN Honolulu.
OR Timbuctoo,
OR SOME other spot.
THE locality
WOULD NOT matter.
ALL THAT matters
IS THE contract.
NOW We know.

How Brown Learned How.

There is a man who makes shoes for children—and sells them to stores all over Canada But he is only just learning how people buy.

It was this way: His wife—let us call her Mrs. Brown—'phoned to him and asked him to buy some underwear for little Brown.

Picture Brown now among the throng of mothers at the "Children's Underwear" counter. He asks for Underwear for a child of six. He looks it over helplessly. What on earth does he know about Children's Underwear? For lack of anything better to say he asks: "Is this good quality?" The answer is short and quite conclusive: "It's Blank's"—naming a well-advertised line. That short word says everything. Brown pays his money and goes home, quite satisfied with his purchase.

Now what bothers Brown—a manufacturer of shoes, is this: How would it affect the purchase of a child's shoes if the salesman said "They're Brown's"?

Nobody knows Brown's shoes. Brown doesn't advertise.

The name Brown signifies nothing when used in connection with children's shoes. The salesman must use all his persuasive wiles to induce people to buy them.

The point is—If the name Brown was as synonymous with Children's Shoes as "Blank's" is with Underwear, wouldn't Brown sell more shoes with less effort?

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper. If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto.
