CANADIANS IN WORST OF RECENT FIGHTING

GERMANS ADVANCE 500 YARDS AND LOSE 30,000 MEN—GERMAN SUBMARINE SUNK

CANADIANS DID GREAT WORK IN ST. ELOI FIGHT

Repulsed Enemy and Captured Seven Craters, Taking Prisoners—Huns had been Without Food Four Days.

(Special to The Daily News.)
London, April 10.—The Canadian troops were in the hardest of the fighting last week, which was the most strenuous experienced on the British front since the battle of Givenchy.

The Germans exploded three mines and attempted to rush the British positions at St. Eloi, but the Canadians in a counter rush captured seven shell craters and compelled the Germans to surrender the group.

Great Work by Canadians.
After heavy shelling day and night for a week, the Germans last Tuesday made three attempts to storm the Canadian positions, but were slaughtered wholesale by shrapnel and machine guns. The prisoners taken by the Canadians had been without food for four days.

Four Steamers Gone.
Four more unarmed British steamers have been torpedoed without warning. They were the Silksworthal, 4,780 tons; Zafra, 3,578 tons; the Glenalmond, 2,888 tons, and the Yonne, 2,562 tons. Four of the crew of the Silksworthal were drowned.

AMERICAN FORCES TWO DAYS BEHIND MEXICANS

(Special to The Daily News.)
San Antonio, April 10.—General Pershing's advance column is now only two days' march behind Villa and an engagement is expected about the end of the week.

CARNIVAL

The British Booth committee, who will have the exclusive sale of fancy work at the Red Cross "Carnival of the Allies," to be held April 24 and 25 at the Agricultural Hall, request that the ladies of the city and district donate all fancy work that they feel they can reasonably spare for the noble cause from now on until that date, sending the same to Mrs. Frizzell's Store on Third Avenue, and to the Prince Rupert Grocery, corner of Fulton and Sixth Street.

GERMANS LOSE VERY HEAVILY AROUND VERDUN

Latest Failure Cost Enemy 30,000 Men—French Enthusiastic Over Success—Hun Sub. Sunk.

(Special to The Daily News.)
Paris, April 10.—An advance of five hundred yards on the German western front is admitted to have been made in the vicinity of Deadman's Hill. Bethincourt has been evacuated but the French salient still extends into the German lines.

Eighty thousand Teutons attacked on both sides of the French positions in an effort to compel the abandonment of Hill 304. The French line between Avoncourt and Cumieres has now been straightened out. The Germans were repulsed along the remainder of a front of thirteen miles.

This failure of the latest German hammer-stroke at Verdun has caused the greatest enthusiasm in Paris and France generally. Two German army corps took part in the attack.

Bethincourt is still commanded by the French guns. The German losses yesterday are estimated at 30,000.

German Sub. Rammed.
Petrograd, April 10.—The destroyer Strogie rammed and sunk a German submarine in the Black Sea near the spot where the hospital ship Portugal was torpedoed.

COL. CLAYTON GUEST OF CANADIAN CLUB

Bishop Du Vernet, president of the Canadian Club, presided at the luncheon in the Central Hotel in honor of Col. Clayton on Saturday afternoon. Col. Kirkpatrick of the 11th C. M. R., and Major Bullock-Webster were present.

After an excellent luncheon had been disposed of, during which Bandsman Alec Gray of the 11th C. M. R., acted as pianist, the president called upon Col. Clayton to address the gathering, introducing him as a distinguished citizen of Prince Rupert.

After thanking the club for its invitation, Col. Clayton described the voyage across the Atlantic and the kindly reception accorded the Canadian troops on their arrival in England, also describing how the transports were protected against submarine attacks. After telling of the wonderful organizing power which was being shown by the people of the old land in the great crisis, he went on to deal with the spirit displayed by the people of France, telling how the women plowed the fields while the men fight. He described France as "a nation at war."

Col. Clayton was heartily thanked upon resuming his seat.

GERMAN PLOTTERS BUSY AT SHANGHAI

(Special to The Daily News.)
Vancouver, April 10.—The C. P. R. liner Empress of Russia, which has been released by the Admiralty from her naval duties, has arrived here to resume her trans-pacific service.

She reports the discovery of a wholesale German plot, with headquarters at Shanghai, to create a native revolt. Thousands of plotters have been arrested.

DOLLY VARDEN COMPANY SHUTS DOWN ROADWORK

Mitchell Albert has returned from Alice Arm, and was interviewed by The Daily News this morning regarding the wages dispute at the Dolly Varden mine. Mr. Albert states that a wire had been received from the Dolly Varden Mining Company of Chicago, demanding that the work be shut down at once. The contract with the company calls for the payment of $3.00 per day, and with this the men are not satisfied. Mr. Albert stated that he had always paid union wages and was quite willing to meet the situation but the mining company ruled otherwise.

Major Bullock-Webster and Col. Kirkpatrick, of the 11th Canadian Mounted Rifles, left for Prince George on a recruiting expedition this morning.

Repairs of all descriptions, handy work in and around houses, gardens laid out, Phone Fitz, 583.

COL. CLAYTON TELLS OF HIS EXPERIENCES

In the Anglican Church last evening Lieut.-Col. W. B. Clayton of the Canadian Dental Corps, delivered an address on his experiences in Europe. After describing the landing in England, he dwelt upon the attitude of the British people towards the colonial forces, pointing out that the present time of struggle is drawing the various parts of the Empire more closely together.

In describing camp life in England he said it was very similar to what is experienced here. The speaker remarked that Caesar's camp, where some of the Canadians were located, still shows signs of the ancient trenches which were made in 55, B. C. Socially, the soldiers are well taken care of, clubs, etc., having been formed for the benefit of the men, while the convalescent men back from the front are taken for auto rides regularly and everything is done to promote their comfort and wellbeing.

Col. Clayton dwelt on the good work being done by the nurses and described the funeral services for Nurse Cavell in St. Paul's, London, at which 600 nurses were present, "any one of whom would have willingly played the part of the martyr nurse."

In conclusion, he described the French nation as the greatest in the war, and related incidents to show how the French women are bravely facing the future, while their husbands, sons and brothers are in the trenches.

DUMMY COMPANIES MADE VERY CERTAIN OF THEIR CASH, BUT DID NOT WORRY ABOUT SUPPLYING THE FUSES—GOVERNMENT IN AN AWKWARD CORNER

Ottawa, April 6.—Now that the tumult and the shouting have clarified, so to speak, one can analyze the general features more calmly than was possible a week ago when Parliament was still aglow with George Kyte's speech. The house has not felt so warm since before the war. When the member for Richmond, N. S., had concluded his remarks Sir Wilfrid Laurier was thoroughly kindled. "Stung," he exclaimed, and when Sir Wilfrid drops into the vernacular that way you can bet the large emotions are released.

The speech which nailed the Government to its Shell Committee and Major General Sir Sam Hughes to his dear friend Colonel J. Wesley Allison, although four hours long and not a dull minute anywhere, was perhaps the easiest part of the work. Before that was the long, hard job of tracing the Colonel to his various lairs in New York State and Virginia, surprising him red handed with his fellow bandits, sorting out his aliases as disclosed by the mushroom companies he dealt with or caused to be incorporated and establishing an official connection between his dark deeds, the old Shell Committee and Major General Sam. The colonel had as many disguises as Jupiter—but mostly he was the Golden Shower as experienced by Dante—and believe me he took some trailing, also some quick thinking and clever deduction.

As two heads are better than one in this Sherlock Holmes business, it is no surprise to learn that Frank Carvell helped his friend George Kyte with the detective end of the case. Together they got the affidavits, secured copies of contracts, searched the records and one way and another made such a neat tight-fitting legal case of it that Sir Sam and his Colonel and the Borden Government and the old Shell Committee could go into any court in the land and come out with a verdict of guilty. Then these two partners in good works, disdaining all little personal rivalries, pooled their information, and while Frank Carvell sat back and fagged papers for him, George Kyte stepped out in front and made the speech of his life.

Between the two they spread all the horrid details on Hansard. Like Jack Spratt and his wife they licked the platter clean—a mighty big platter and a lot of licking including the licking the Borden Government will get at the next general election. To get the whole case for the prosecution all the student of politics has to do now is to read the speeches of Carvell, Pugsley, Pardee and Kyte—they cover the ground. Carvell and Kyte probably cover more ground but the others made good shooting too. Great heavens, what fighters those Maritime Province fellows are! They don't believe the truce should be used to cover a multitude of sins and consequently they don't use it that way. They lift the cloak and show the pillage and graft underneath. While the boys are away in the trenches fighting the Germans, the Home Guard on Parliament Hill does its bit fighting the middlemen. How is it the Blue Noses develop so much fire? They may have Blue Noses, but there isn't a man of 'em has Cold Feet.

Take George Kyte for example. Never was a blither, bonnier fighter than George of Richmond. Such a thing as losing his temper George Kyte does not know. As he lays about him there is ever a twinkle in his eye. When he is merriest look out for him—for it's then he hits hardest. The only danger signal is a glint of red in his chestnut hair. If I were on the other side of the house I'd watch that and when it lit up I'd say "Ware George!" As for the rest you wouldn't find in a day's journey, a milder, gentler, more humane man than the one who administered the knock out to the Borden Government. How quickly yet how mercifully he did it! One to the solar plexus, that is to say to the Shell Committee, another to the point of the jaw, Colonel J. Wesley Allison, another just above the heart, being Major General Sir Sam Hughes. Three swift punches and all was over. The Government pattered, tottered, crumpled and went down for the full count.

To get away from these prize-winning metaphors and put it in plain English, Sir Thomas White who had rashly ventured into a discussion where the Honorable Robert Rogers feared to tread, thereby sacrificing to his pride of dialectic, the reputation he had won as a sensible Finance Minister who minded his own business—Sir Thomas, I repeat, went back on the whips' arrangement to take a vote and moved the adjournment of the debate which was a sure sign that the Government was gasping for air. After a few sad looks the Cabinet filed mournfully out humming under their breath, "Nearer My God, to Thee," Downward Christian Soldiers," Shells We Gather at the River," and other familiar and appropriate stanzas. A two o'clock in the morning Cabinet meeting was held but no two o'clock in (Continued on Page Two)

ABNORMAL PRICES

When a newspaper resorts to abuse instead of argument, and a display of temper instead of facts, it invariably weakens its case. This works out just as surely as the law of supply and demand. The Empire knows perfectly well that The Daily News holds no brief for any interest which will drive the price for any commodity to an extreme figure. The News does not enjoy paying $4.55 for gasoline, which formerly cost about half that price, any more than The Empire does. As a matter of fact, we went into the question very fully many weeks before the word gasoline was ever mentioned in our contemporary, and found that, though at first we were suspicious that John D. or someone else was applying a squeeze the abnormal price was the result of abnormal conditions, resulting from a huge increase in demand and a falling off in supply. Having assured ourselves of the facts of the case, also of the fact that gasoline will be at a very high price for years, instead of raising a howl, we set to work to figure out how we could get over the difficulty, and are right now contemplating substituting an electrical heater instead of a gasoline burner on our linotype machine, thus doing away with the bulk of our demand for gasoline. In the fishing industry, the same line of procedure will be adopted by all boat owners and crude oil or some other substitute will be used instead of the costly spirit.

Prince Rupert at the present moment is anxious to start shipbuilding, and that it may be started at the earliest possible moment is the earnest desire of every citizen, and the chief reason why this is considered an opportune time to start this industry is that ships, like gasoline, are at an abnormal price. Freight rates are at an unheard of figure. Why? Simply because the supply does not meet the demand. Ships today are worth five times what they were two years ago, but nobody shouts monopoly.

To take another instance, on the other side of the picture, Prince Rupert real estate is not being turned over at the huge prices asked for a few years ago. Why? The supply exceeds the demand. We venture to think that some day, and it may be soon, lots in Prince Rupert will be in demand. Then the price will automatically go up again, simply because the demand will have become greater. We ought to apologise to our readers for going into this A. B. C. of economics, but it seems to be necessary.

The morning courage was engendered. They were melancholy, discouraged, bewildered.

Their mood, if one might judge it from their faces as George Kyte soared high, draping his long tale in a graceful strangle hold around their necks—their mood as the people in the gallery saw it was one of pain and surprise, mingled with a hollow feeling at the pit of the stomach. The Premier was obviously distressed. The Finance Minister wore a look of disgust at the sordid story. The Hon Robert Rogers smiled faintly, sardonically, for wasn't that ancient enemy Sir Sam getting his at last. So the Honorable Bob smiled as a man who doesn't run away can afford to smile at one who does run away like Sir Sam, who at the very moment his colleagues were being bombarded for his actions and transactions was some three thousand miles away from the fire-zone, hobnobbing with Baron Rothschild and his fellow millionaires in London. Yes, Sam had run away and all the comfort the Cabinet had of him at this critical moment was the smell he left behind. All these thoughts were behind the Honorable Bob's dark and brooding smile. As for the Honorable Arthur Meighen, he was plunged into a green sickness of despair—no more steam in L'il Arthur, at least not just then. The other Cabinet Ministers looked as if it was all news to them—perhaps it was—Sam is a hard man to keep track of—but they didn't enjoy it any more on that account. That kind of news takes the gimp out of any Cabinet, news of a naughty brother who boasts that he has them all by the short wool and dares them to get rid of him as they did of Garland and Foster. Oh, what a tangled web we weave when first we practice to deceive! And how much more tangled the web is when a Major General, a master of tactics, does the weaving! Yes, Sam's net is a strong net—it will drag them all down.

If Kyte's charges were news to the Government it was the Government's own fault. All the Government had to do was to look up the files in the Munition Board's office where the contracts still remain uncancelled by which Colonel J. Wesley Allison and his distinguished associates, E. B. Cadwell, Benjamin Franklin McKim, E. W. Bassick, all Americans, and Eugene Lignanti, a Montreal flute player—with Major General Sam in the background—split a two million dollar rake-off and presumably a three and a half million dollar advance on twenty-three million dollars worth of orders for time fuses and graze fuses, only about ten per cent. of which have been delivered up to the present date. These orders were placed by the Shell Committee on June 19, last year, with the American Ammunition Company and the International Fuse Company, two mushroom outfits with only four thousand actual cash capital between them, the former organized three weeks, and the latter just ten days before the blessings negotiated by Colonel J. Wesley Allison arrived from Ottawa. These two Yankee mushroom companies with no plant, no machinery, no buildings, and two complete sets of dummy officials, not only received orders for $23,000,000 worth of time and graze fuses, but also cash advances of over three million and a half dollars, enough to set up ten fuse factories in Canada—all this at the hands of a Minister of Militia who in 1911 stood for no truck nor trade with the Yankees. The contract with each company is entered into by the Shell Com-

Stomach Trouble and Rheumatism Relieved By "Fruit-a-tives"

MR. L. LABRIE

"I have been restored to health by taking 'Fruit-a-tives'. For two years, I was a miserable sufferer from Rheumatism and Stomach Trouble. I became very weak, had frequent dizzy spells and when I took food, felt wretched and sleepy. I suffered from Rheumatism dreadfully, with pains in my back and joints and my hands swollen. A friend advised me to try 'Fruit-a-tives' and from the outset, they did me good. After I had started the second box, I felt I was getting well and I persevered in the treatment. I can truthfully say that 'Fruit-a-tives' is the only medicine that helped me.

mittee, acting through Brigadier General Sir Alexander Bertram, and each contract is accompanied by a ratifying letter from Major General Sam Hughes, which would naturally bring his name into the debate even if it hadn't been there before.

Up to March 14th last, the two mushroom companies—of course they were peddling the orders out—had not delivered more than $2,400,000 worth of fuses, a little over ten per cent. of their allotment, and, though the time clauses in their contracts have been flagrantly violated, the contracts still remain uncancelled. At this stage of the game, with three million and a half dollars cash advance in hand, three million and a half of Canadian money for time fuses for which Canadian soldiers must wait at a bitter cost of blood and pain and only $2,400,000 worth of fuses delivered, these two favored companies could go out of business altogether, pocket their profits on the fuses already made, perhaps a million dollars, keep the cash advance amounting to another two millions clear cream, and let the Canadian Government whistle for its money back.

If the contracts are cancelled that is what they will probably do. The way Colonel Allison and his helpers have got things fixed up, they stand to win whatever happens. As a matter of fact, as far back as June 10th, 1915, nine days before the contracts were signed with the two companies, a profit sharing partnership of negotiating middlemen, consisting of E. B. Cadwell, president of the American Ammunition Company, Benjamin Franklin Yoakum of New York, and E. W. Bassick, of Bridgeport, Conn., was busy not only counting its chickens, but actually dividing them before they were hatched. The commission of ten per cent. on an anticipated eleven million dollar order was split this way—Yoakum, $475,000; Bassick, $275,000, and Cadwell, $250,000. Such keen fellows, or the other keen people they stood for, would hardly forget to share up the cash advance at the same time.

The Royal Standard Test

Here's where we test the choicest samples of Canada's six million acre wheat crop. We grind them into flour in the little mill you see on the left of the picture. Then comes the supreme test—bread-baking. If the bread is perfect in every way we pronounce the wheat A1 and the flour—ROYAL STANDARD.

This same B. F. Yoakum, who took the long end in the million dollar split, figures as partner in another profit-taking triumvirate formed shortly after the war began and consisted of himself, J. Wesley Allison, and Eugene Lignanti, some-time flute player or piccolo blower at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, Montreal. Who is Yoakum? He seems to be spread over all the combinations. In private life he is a curb-broker in New York. Ottawa knows him as a frequent visitor to the Militia Department on business so mysterious that he never registered at a hotel but always slept in a private car at the Broad Street Station. Whose private car, by the way?

Lignanti, the flute player, who fell out with his followers last September—hence the disclosure of profits—probably put in all the real money that was in the combination. He was a saving man and here was a chance to make enough to retire from the flute business for ever on the investment of a very small capital. Lignanti took a chance. It was the best chance he ever took in his life. When he drew out of the partnership he had claims for $216,000 in commissions and a commission on shells which he commuted for $50,000 spot cash. On contracts that Lignanti knew of himself, Allison and Yoakum stood to split $1,600,000 in commissions between them.

All these facts the Government could have learned by looking up the records in the office of the Munitions Board. That great and good man Chairman Flavelle must have known the facts although he did not cancel the contracts or otherwise act on the guarantee clauses. Moreover, George Kyte, being a good sport, gave the Government fair warning a week before he announced at a public meeting just about where he was going to land the punch. Even at that the Government was caught unprepared, being very much like Belshazzler of old, who went on Belshazzlering in spite of preliminary notices on the walls and elsewhere. No doubt Belshazzler thought that when the occasion arose his Solicitor General would explain everything. Oh, well, you all know what happened to Belshazzler.—H. F. G.

"THE GODDESS" AT MAJESTIC THEATRE

Anita Stewart, in the great serial "The Goddess," is of course the big feature at the Majestic tonight, but the rest of the show is first-class. The daring Helen is screened in another hair-raising railroad drama, while "Trapped" is a thrilling reel. There is a new Vim comedy entitled "Pokes and Jabs" and "Tailor's Bill," another laughter-provoker. A very fine Selig Tribune Weekly completes seven good reels. There is a great Paramount attraction for Wednesday entitled "The Only Son."

LAST OF THE "DIAMOND" AT WESTHOLME THEATRE

The last chapter of "The Diamond From the Sky" is screened at the Westholme tonight. The final installment of this most interesting serial is entitled "An American Earl." Even if you have not followed each installment of this wonderful story, you must see the end. It is one of the best of the thirty.

There is also a Topical Budget showing the latest from the front, "Repentance," a two-act drama, and "Silver Candle-Sticks," another two-act drama, while a roaring Keystone comedy, entitled "Ambrose's Little Hatchet," concludes this eight-reel show.

"Graft," a great new serial, will begin on April 17th.

How Brown Learned How.

There is a man who makes shoes for children—and sells them to stores all over Canada
But he is only just learning how people buy.

It was this way: His wife—let us call her Mrs. Brown—phoned to him and asked him to buy some underwear for little Brown.

Picture Brown now among the throng of mothers at the "Children's Underwear" counter. He asks for Underwear for a child of six. He looks it over helplessly. What on earth does he know about Children's Underwear? For lack of anything better to say he asks: "Is this good quality?" The answer is short and quite conclusive: "It's Blank's"—naming a well-advertised line. That short word says everything. Brown pays his money and goes home, quite satisfied with his purchase.

Now what bothers Brown—a manufacturer of shoes, is this: How would it affect the purchase of a child's shoes if the salesman said "They're Brown's"?

Nobody knows Brown's shoes. Brown doesn't advertise.

The name Brown signifies nothing when used in connection with children's shoes. The salesman must use all his persuasive wiles to induce people to buy them.

The point is—If the name Brown was as synonymous with Children's Shoes as "Blank's" is with Underwear, wouldn't Brown sell more shoes with less effort?
