The local naval forces, aided by light cruisers, beat off the enemy in twenty minutes.

A naval battle is reported as continuing in the North Sea between the British and German squadrons.

IRISH TRAITOR ARRESTED AND HUN SHIP SUNK

Casement Tried to Land Guns on Irish Coast—German Cruiser Sunk and Casement Taken—Zep Raid on England.

(Special to The Daily News.)

London, April 25.—The Admiralty announces that Sir Roger Casement has been arrested while attempting a gun-running expedition on the west coast of Ireland.

A German auxiliary cruiser, laden with arms and ammunition, and disguised as a neutral merchant ship has been sunk. She was accompanied by a German submarine. Casement and his companions have been arrested. Sir Roger will be tried for treason.

Casement is the notorious Irishman who left Britain for Germany at the beginning of the war and endeavored to get Irish prisoners to enlist with the Germans.

Zeppelin Raid.

Four or five Zeppelins raided the Lincolnshire coast last night and dropped seventy bombs. One man was injured.

British Air Raid.

Eight British aeroplanes raided and destroyed the Turco-German camp at Quatia, near the Suez Canal, forcing the withdrawal of the army of the enemy.

MANY INDIANS CONFIRMED

During the ooligan fishing Indians gather from all the villages on the Naas River at Fishery Bay which is about fifteen miles up this river from the coast. The work of catching these small fish which are very oily, and boiling them to get the grease lasts about seven weeks. Archdeacon Collison has for some time past been giving religious instructions to the natives gathered for this fishing, and on Good Friday afternoon Bishop Du Vernet confirmed in St. Peter's Church, Fishery Bay, fifty-four candidates presented by the Archdeacon. There were thirty young men and twenty four young women, 17 came from Kincolith, 20 from Lakkalzap, 6 from Aiyansh, 4 from Gitladamiks and 2 from Underleaf or Gwinoha—all villages on the Naas river; 3 came from Gitwangool, and 2 from Gitwangak, villages on or near the upper Skeena river. The old road across from the upper Skeena to the upper Naas used to be called the "Grease Trail" because of the hundreds who traveled it to secure the ooligan grease. The government has opened a shorter road from Gitwangak by way of the Gitwangool valley to the Naas river so that the old trail by way of the Kispiox valley above Hazelton is now seldom taken.

Paris, April 25.—Before the Russians entered Trebizond, the Turkish garrison revolted and assassinated all their German officers.

A large number of Turkish high officials in Constantinople are dead from assassination.

GRAND TRUNK MAKES NEW APPOINTMENT

Montreal, April 22.—J. R. Melville has been appointed General Passenger Agent for the Grand Trunk System in Ontario. Mr. Melville comes of an old railroad family and took part in the early construction work of the Grand Trunk. He entered the service in 1889. The appointment is a new one, made necessary by reason of increase of traffic.

FOUR MONTHS

William McConnell appeared before Judge Young this morning on a charge of stealing two suitcases from the Royal Hotel last Thursday afternoon. He elected speedy trial and was sentenced to two months in the penitentiary on each count.

Mitchell Albert wants men for Alice Arm. This is the last opportunity. Boat leaves Friday.

It was a white elephant the Indian ladies had in their booth, but it was not a symbol of the carnival.

DAM CARRIED AWAY BY FLOOD AT SUDBURY

(Special to The Daily News.)

Sudbury, April 25.—The dam at the head of Onaping Lake has been carried away by a spring flood. The approaches to the C. P. R. bridges were destroyed and six persons were drowned. The dam was the property of the Spanish River Pulp Company.

ARTHUR COLLISON HAS RECEIVED COMMISSION

Rev. W. E. Collison has received a cable from his brother Arthur stating that he has received his commission in the old country. Arthur Collison is the youngest member of the family, being twenty-five years of age. He has already seen much service on the western front. #### FUNERAL SERVICE

The funeral of Mrs. Phillipson will be conducted from the parlors of the B. C. Undertakers this afternoon to Fairview cemetery. The services will be held in the B. C. Undertakers Chapel at 2 p. m. when the Rev. J. F. Dumick will officiate.

Nothing succeeds like success, and there is sure to be a bigger crowd than ever at the Carnival tonight.

CARNIVAL OF THE ALLIES WAS TREMENDOUS SUCCESS

EVERY BOOTH DID HUGE BUSINESS AND RESULTS FAR EXCEEDED EXPECTATIONS—FLOUR THROUGED WITH CROWDS UNTIL AFTER MIDNIGHT LAST NIGHT

After six o'clock last evening every road led to Acropolis Hill, where Prince Rupert held high carnival in the Exhibition Building, in aid of the Red Cross fund. Along towards eight o'clock, when the Metlakatlah band marched up to the building and took its place on the stage everybody in town seemed to be there, young and old, though the latter term is scarcely correct for all were young again.

The interior of the building presented one of the gayest spectacles ever devised by the ladies of Prince Rupert and the making of the decorations for the various booths and the placing of them in position must have taken many days of hard work on the part of the ladies in charge and their willing assistants.

The Scandinavian booth, located upstairs in the right hand corner on entering, was draped with Canadian flags, Union Jacks and Prince Rupert's colors with evergreens covering up the woodwork. Judging by the tables loaded with the daintiest things to eat, Mrs. Sam Johnson, Mrs. Olof Hanson, Mrs. A. Akerberg and the other members of the Valhalla Society must have been very busy for days. Most of the dainties were distinctly Scandinavian. A noticeable feature on one of the tables was a flag staff made of solid brass by Andy Akerberg. This alone must have represented days of work. Every detail was perfect down to the little stantions around the base and the encircling chain.

At the opposite corner upstairs was a corner of Japan, where Mrs. Cambie and her assistants dispensed tea to visitors. The ladies in their garb and in the decorations of their booth were very successful in their picturing of the land of the chrysanthemum. Large chrysanthemums were everywhere while cherry blossoms filled the air. A beautifully executed Japanese hanging basket was a particularly bright spot. This was the work of Mrs. Kanaya of Skeena City.

Just below the Japanese section was Italy, under the management of Mrs. J. E. Merryfield and a host of willing helpers. Here again the decorations were of the prettiest, the walls being covered with evergreens in which were tucked away roses of all shades, while the windows were formed into cute little diamond panes of Italy. During the evening a bevy of beautiful Italian Girls sang and danced while each member of the party seemed to be an expert on the guitar, mandoline or violin. The musical director was Harry Harvey who was brilliantly got up as a Spanish Don. Outside, Signor Cariboo entertained the crowd in stentorian tones to patronise the cabaret and his efforts were not in vain. The signor was none other than Harry Evans.

Next to Italy was India, which had been most tastefully produced by the girls chapter of the I. O. D. E. under the management of Miss King. The ladies were beautifully garbed in Indian costume and each must have represented a princess. There was a monster elephant there and many other Indian features. The paintings which lined the back of the booth, which were the work of Miss Eason, were greatly admired.

Next came little Belgium, under the management of Mrs. J. M. Clancy. Here, the prevailing tones were the black, yellow and red which have become so familiar since that epoch-making August day. In this booth, the ladies offered everything imaginable in confectionery, daintily packed.

Canada, under the care of Mrs. William Manson, was next door and here there was a splendid display of the handiwork of the local Indians who gave of their best in basket work, etc. for the occasion. As a side-show there was the famous heirloom from the Naas, the "pollach" coat of days long since gone. It was a remarkable little garment of coon skin with cariboo thongs tipped with the hooves of the mountain goat.

Great Britain, with a stall for each country, was under the care of Mrs. Morrow, Mrs. Frizzell, Mrs. Henning and Mrs. Morrissey. With a profusion of Union Jacks surmounted by the bull-dog standing guard this corner was typically British. In Wales they displayed home cooking which must have tempted many purchasers, in Ireland, which was the true color of Ireland, there was an assortment of fancy work which no lady could pass, while Scotland and England was a real old country store where Jack Venables, Walter Harper and R. E. Benson were able assistants.

France, with Mrs. Besner in charge, was another bower of beauty, with the tri-color everywhere and a profusion of roses looking out from every corner, while "Vive La France" was blazoned across the front. Here there was a wheel of fortune which for once was not considered a game of chance, and an assortment of useful and ornamental articles which anyone might have for ten cents, if they picked the right number.

Next door, Mrs. Neil MacKay, as a Portuguese fortune-teller did her best to direct the lives of all who came to visit her.

A little way along Ben Self was doing a roaring trade in a game he called "Honest John." Ben was freely offering dollars for ten cents each and found many takers.

MORE STALLING

Germany is evidently still of the opinion that the United States can be kept writing notes indefinitely and that any kind of a stalling reply will serve the purpose of keeping up the correspondence. With the usual short-sightedness of the bully, Germany has mistaken the American desire for peace as a sign of weakness. There seems to be only one course open to President Wilson and that is war, without any further negotiations and without going to the trouble of sending an ultimatum. Wilson's last note made the situation perfectly clear and the time for action has arrived. It is questionable if the United States can aid the Allies to any great extent by becoming a belligerent, but the honor of America and of its president calls for it. Even if the United States does not send a single battalion or a single ship to Europe, she cannot carry on further diplomatic negotiations with a nation which has stooped so low as Germany has done in her hedging of the submarine controversy.

and, if Germans are allowed to enter Holland, ostensibly for defensive purposes, it will simply mean that Holland will become an active, instead of a secret, belligerent.

To have Holland actively against us would be better than to have her supplying Germany with foodstuffs, as she undoubtedly is at present. The Dutch coast would be easily blockaded and would also present a very easy target for the British naval guns. With the Dutch dykes blown to pieces, Holland would be immediately flooded by the North Sea and a German army would have to take to boats. Holland has everything to lose and nothing to gain by admitting German troops.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The Province in discussing Sir Sam's speech regarding the munitions contracts concludes thus: "There was so much that he said he knew nothing about that he should be able to understand the necessity for the investigation."

The Tories are still shouting that the Liberals have been able to discover no corruption at Victoria. Evidently the Tories do not consider that there was anything corrupt in the manner in which the sub-contracts for the excavation for the Parliament Building were handled. It was just the usual thing, as Hannington said about his rake-off.

GERMAN METHODS

If there is any truth in the report that Germany has offered to send troops into Holland on the excuse that Britain intends to attack that country, it will be just in keeping with German ideas of honor. With German troops in Holland, Dutch neutrality would be immediately broken, unless the German troops were immediately interned, and the Allies would be forced to attack Holland. It seems impossible that Holland can accept the German proposal, but, if she does, it is a clear sign that she is not neutral but pro-German.

Rev. Boulton, in accepting the nomination as Conservative candidate in South Vancouver, said that "the citizen of today strongly believes in righteousness, in justice, in morality and brotherhood and will not give his support to the candidate who does not stand for the highest things."

GILLETTS
 EATS LYE DIRT
 CLEANS-DISINFECTS

This was evidently discovered by the Tories after the by-elections.

According to Tory ideas there was nothing corrupt in allowing Joe Matson to hand over $35,000 to the Colonist and the News-Advertiser and quite all right to pay $300,000 for the Kitsilano Reserve without putting the matter before the house.

After attempting to address a political meeting in Vancouver, the President of the Council in the Bowser government is understood to agree with our suggestion that it is not the political tide that has turned since the recent by-elections. It is the worm.—Victoria Times.

DRAMA AND COMEDY AT WESTHOLME THEATRE

The Topical Budget in the Westholme program tonight contains some particularly striking war scenes, while the dramas "Dog of Flanders" and "Satan McAllister's Heir" are both good. The latter is a rough and ready tale of western life, while the former is a story of old Flanders which should be unusually interesting at the present time.

There are also three good comedies, the best of which is "Milling the Militant," a most laughable story of the strenuous days of the demand for woman suffrage.

In the centre of this side of the hall was Serbia, with Mrs. J. H. McLeod in charge. Here there was a background of the Union Jack and a glorious array of cut flowers, pot plants, ferns and everything for the garden in front. Carnations and roses were in big demand, while many purchasers were found for daisy roots, etc.

At the corner, Joe Scott, Jr., and George H. Munro were conducting some kind of a game that earned you a dollar for ten cents and they seemed to be able to convince all that it was easy money. They couldn't gather in the dimes fast enough.

Last, but not least, was the Russian booth, where Mrs. Geo. McColl and her assistants had, like the others, spared no pains in decorating. Here the bear of Russia was in evidence perched over the entrance with a Russian flag in his paw. The color tone was green and yellow, made up of evergreens with daffodils showing everywhere, while the Russian colors were draped along the beams. The ladies were kept busy serving supper for all comers and later dispensing ice cream and cooling drinks to the dancers.

One of the most pleasing features of the evening was the singing of "Rule Britannia" and "God Save the King" by representatives of each of the Allied nations. In the centre was the real John Bull accompanied by Brit-anna and in their care was a cute little mite representing a war founding of Belgium, while Jack Tars protected the flanks, with Japan, India, Russia, Serbia, France and Italy in between. This was one of the most striking features of the carnival.

To describe the decorations in detail is impossible, though special mention should be made of the painting of the "Good Old Lizzie," by Harry Silversides. You must be there tonight to get another look at them for you are bound to have missed something good.

Special mention must be made of the services rendered by Harry Harvey and Charles Balagno in the way of music and also of the Metlakatlah band, which played throughout the evening. The dancing, for which the floor was prepared by George Frizzell at an immense amount of labor, the centre having been transformed into an Australian stock ring, was greatly enjoyed.

Captain Musgrave of the Lilloet and the officers and men of the Galliano did their share in providing flags and in draping them; A. C. Garde assisted in planning the accommodation for the various booths; J. B. Roerig as usual was indefatigable, while Judge Young, as president of the Red Cross Society, has been at the Exhibition Building every day lately, and the ladies of the committee, Mrs. R. L. McIntosh, convener, Mrs. Jennings and Mrs. J. H. McLeod along with all the ladies who managed and assisted at the various booths must have been dreaming carnival for weeks past.

REV. HE said THAT the old type OF politician IS NO longer needed AS CITIZENS today BELIEVE strongly

IN RIGHTEOUSNESS JUSTICE AND MORALITY. THIS IS rather unkind OF THE Rev. William AND COULD not HAVE BEEN put MORE neatly HAD HE been OPPOSING the party WHICH is composed OF OLD TYPE politicians.
