MANY STEAMERS ARE TORPEDOED BY SUBMARINES

Two American Vessels Sunk and Many British and Norwegian Ships Gone--Wilson Claims No Law Violated.

(Special to The Daily News.)

London, Oct. 10.—The British steamer Lanterna has been sunk, and the Consul General at Archangel has notified the Norwegian Minister at Petrograd that the American vessels Harvita and Columbia have also been sunk, while an enemy submarine has torpedoed the Norwegian steamer Roney. The crew was safely landed in port. Wreckage marked Viking has also been washed ashore.

Commerce Raided.

News reached town yesterday that the British steamers Strathdene, Westpoint, and Stephano; the Norwegian steamer Christian Knudsen, and the Dutch steamer Bloemerdijk had been sunk off the Nantucket shoals by three German submarines, one of which was the U 53 which carried special despatches across the Atlantic to Ambassador Von Bernstorff. United States cruisers and destroyers rescued and landed the survivors.

President Wilson declares that it is his intention to hold Germany to the fulfillment of her promises but he thinks he has no right to interfere yet as there has been no violation of those promises.

Von Bernstorff has notified the President that the attacks were conducted in accordance with the usages of cruiser warfare.

This sudden raid on trans-Atlantic commerce has created a panic in shipping circles. United States destroyers identified one of the submarines as the U 61, one of the latest of German super-submarines.

Caution in Halifax.

Halifax, October 10.—The naval authorities have ordered that all street lights be extinguished and that window curtains be closely drawn as a precaution against attacks by the enemy submarines which are operating off this coast.

French Auxiliary Torpedoed in the Mediterranean—Two Thousand Troops on Board of Her.

(Special to The Daily News.)

Paris, October 10.—An enemy submarine has torpedoed the French auxiliary cruiser Gallia, carrying two thousand French and Serbian troops in the Mediterranean. A French cruiser, which was in the vicinity at the time of the disaster, was able to rescue thirteen hundred and sixty-two and landed them on the island of Sardinia. It is believed that the remainder perished.

Austrian Warship Gone.

An Austrian warship, which was anchored off Pola, the Austrian naval base in the Adriatic, has been blown up. The cause of the disaster is unknown.

Daring German Airman.

London, October 10.—There is intense activity in the air over the western front. Captain Boelke the famous German aviator, claims to have accounted for his thirtieth victim and that five Entente machines were brought down by the Germans in the weekend battles.

Moewe Commander Killed?

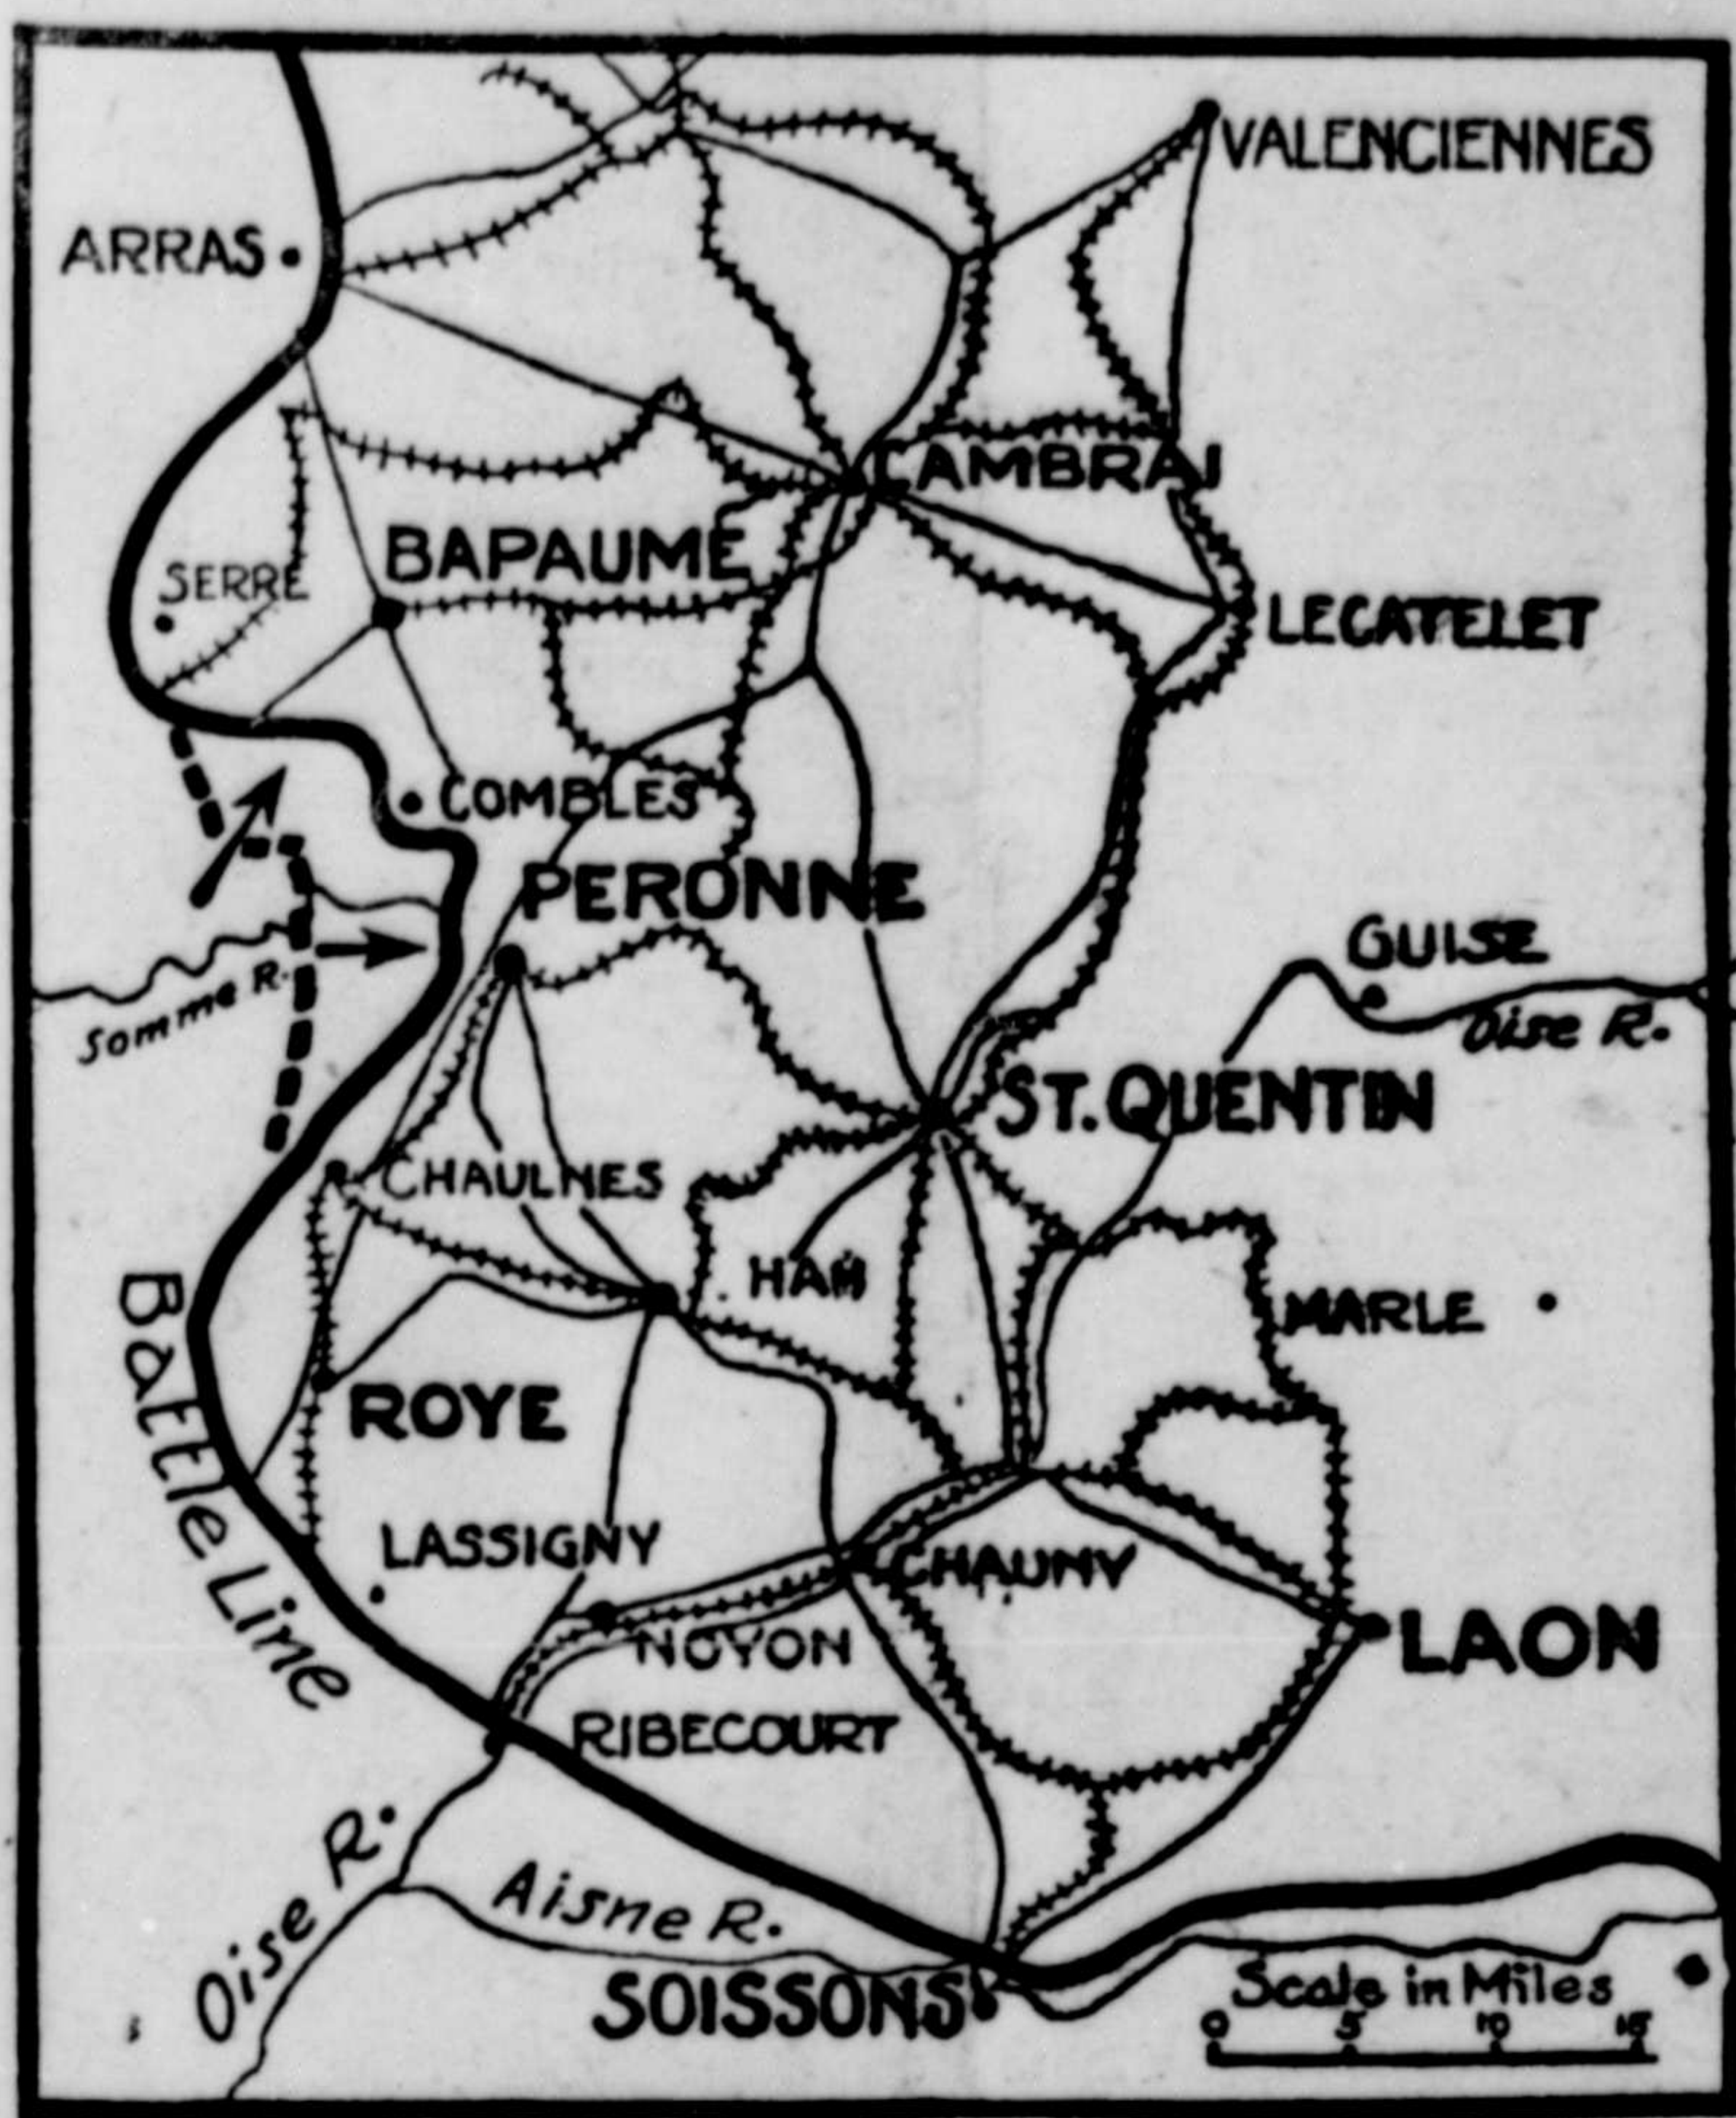

It is reported that Commander Von Dohna Schlodein, who commanded the German raider Moewe in commerce destroying efforts, has been killed on the western front. The report comes from Milan.

JOHN NELSON WRITES FROM THE FIRING LINE

Ald. Dybbavn has received a letter from John Nelson, who left here for the front some time ago and is now "somewhere in France." John says the mud in the trenches sticks closer than anything he ever encountered, unless it is the live-stock which are rather plentiful. He declares that it rains worse over there than in Prince Rupert. At the time of writing, the warfare in his vicinity was chiefly in the form of artillery bombardments and the British were delivering eight or nine shells to every one sent over by the Germans. He thinks it is a shame that so many pretty little French towns should be knocked to "smithereens" and the whole country looks as if it could be shovelled up and put into sacks.

He says that the German barbed wire entanglements look as if a rat could not get through but the British big guns tear them to pieces. A party of Germans which they captured recently had been in the trenches for fifty days. They looked half starved and were scared by the big shells bursting all around them. John sends his regards to his old friends in Prince Rupert.

OTTAWA SATISFIED WITH PRESENT SYSTEM

At the Board of Trade meeting on Friday night, a letter from Hon. J. D. Hazen, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, to Hon. Dr. Roche, was read. While here some time ago the Board of Trade approached Dr. Roche in regard to the placing of a fisheries inspector or here who would report direct to Ottawa. Mr. Hazen said that three inspectors with wide scope had been appointed in 1914, but the plan was not satisfactory as it was impossible to give these inspectors the power to deal finally with important matters. Later a chief inspector was appointed to whom the three were subordinate.

Mr. Hazen said that he realized that the fisheries of the north were now outweighing those of the southern part of the province but it was also a fact that the majority of those engaged in the fisheries of the north had their headquarters in Vancouver and vicinity. He said that the present organization is working satisfactorily.

SEVENTEEN CARS OF HALIBUT FOR THE EAST

A fish special of sixteen cars went east yesterday morning at eight o'clock and one L. C. L. car was attached to the passenger, making seventeen cars of fish in one morning. This constitutes a record for Prince Rupert and also for any one Express Company on the coast.

The arrivals over the weekend were the Constitution, 45,000; Sitka, 55,000; Helgeland, 65,000; Rose Spit, 5,000; Joe Baker, 9,000; Lillian M., 5,000; Lincoln, 5,000; Siloam, 4,000; L. & W., 3,000, and the Exhibit, 9,000. Prices ranged from 8½ to 8 cents. The Arctic brought in 25,000 pounds this morning.

JAMES HUNTER'S BROTHER HAS BEEN WOUNDED

James Hunter has received word that his father, who is with the British forces on the Balkan front, is in hospital in Salonika on the sick-list. He has also received news that his brother William, who was with the Northumberland Fusiliers, has been wounded. The Hunter family is doing its share. Another brother has been missing for several months.

CAPTAIN FRANK JESSUP DIED LEADING CHARGE

Gordon J. Jessup, of Massett, has just received particulars regarding the death of his brother Frank, who was killed at Gallipoli on July 1st. Captain Frank R. Jessup was attached to the Border Regiment, having been promoted to his captaincy on the field. He was shot dead while leading his company in a most gallant manner under a terrible fire on the bullet-swept peninsula. His father, G. J. Jessup, of Enfield, near London, received telegrams of sympathy from the King and Queen and also from the war office. His commanding officer writes thus: "Like all his brother officers and men, he went straight forward against the German trenches, and braver souls never went over a parapet in face of almost certain death."

"He was liked by everyone who knew him and respected by all. He was so sound. He was always keen, cheerful and willing, and was in every respect what an officer and leader of men should be."

The following is an extract from a letter from Lieut. Culliss, who served with him: "His men were very fond of him, and the few that are left now, feel his loss deeply. I have lost a fine company commander and a good chum."

"Will you please accept my deepest sympathy in your sad bereavement, and convey the same to his fiancée. You have one very great comfort, that he died like the man he was, leading his men through a deadly hail of bullets from machine guns. He was great."

Captain Jessup came out to British Columbia to join his brother in 1908 and was on the engineering staff of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. He was gazetted lieutenant in January, 1915, and left for Gallipoli the same year. This is the second brother lost by Gordon Jessup in the war, his brother who was with him in Massett having died of wounds in the earlier stages. The deepest sympathy of the whole community will go out to him in his double bereavement and the same will be extended to his sorrowing father in England.

HUNS ATTEMPT TO USE GERMS AS WAR WEAPON

Dastardly Plot Discovered in Rumania—Serbians Cross the Cerna—Further Gains on the Somme.

(Special to The Daily News.)

Bucharest, October 10.—The Rumanians have located flagons labelled "virus" and numerous cases of trinitrotoluene have been discovered. It is believed that the Germans intended to propagate an epidemic simultaneously amongst the men and horses of the Rumanian army. A representative of the American Legation was present and witnessed the discovery of the bottles of germs.

The Rumanian retreat in Transylvania is due to the transfer of several divisions of Rumanian troops to the Dobrudja front to assist against the armies of Von Mackenzen.

Serbian Advance.

Athens, October 10.—Serbian troops in considerable force have crossed the Cerna River and are rapidly advancing to the northward. They have captured the town of Skochivir and have taken several Bulgarian prisoners.

Somme Front.

London, Oct. 10.—Both the British and French are attacking on extended lines on the Somme front. The British are making headway along the Albert-Bapaume road and the French are devoting their attention to the road between Peronne and Bapaume. Gains of a quarter of a mile have been made on the one hand and two-thirds of a mile on the other.

HALIBUT BAIT

The question of bait supply for the halibut fishermen is of the utmost importance and it is gratifying to find that Mr. Williams, the fisheries inspector, is interesting himself in it. The suggestion that halibut men be allowed to carry a small net with which to take a supply of fresh herring bait at sea is all right, so far as it goes, but it does not cover the whole situation, as herring are not to be found just where and when they are wanted throughout the year. It seems to be necessary that frozen herring be used during the greater part of the year, or that arrangements be made by which herring ponds may be established, which would enable the halibut men to secure fresh herring just when they want them. Experts claim that this coast is suitable for the ponding of herring and that they could be kept throughout the year, though they would probably require feeding late in the season. Fresh herring are much more useful for bait than the frozen article.

The trouble this year is that the herring season has been a failure, or at least the fishermen failed to get them and the stock of frozen bait is both low and in poor condition. The question of using salmon for bait does not seem to appeal to the fisheries inspector, who naturally considers the question from a departmental rather than a commercial standpoint. From the viewpoint of a business man, it would seem to be quite good business to use say two hundred humpback salmon at a few cents each to catch a fare of halibut worth several thousand dollars.

Mr. Williams said that all the streams were leased but he did not say whether fishing were being carried on in all the waters under lease. The fishermen claim that there are many miles of water where the lease-holders have done no fishing, but are simply keeping others from fishing there. If this is so, and we believe that the fishermen know of what they speak, then surely no harm would result if the department were to allow the halibut men to take a stipulated number of salmon from these waters for bait. It stands to reason that halibut fishermen would not waste time and space in taking more salmon than they needed as bait, as halibut to them is much more valuable than humpback salmon and surely the department cannot consider that the cannerymen, for whom it seems to have such a high regard, place a very high value on the fish in waters which they do not take the trouble to fish. Like most other things, the value of humpbacks is largely a matter of point of view. Canned and ready for shipment, they are valuable, but how much does the salmon fisherman get for them? The price paid by the cannerymen classes them with bait fish and away below the value of halibut, and the halibut fishermen cannot be blamed for putting a low value on fresh humps when the cannerymen themselves set the price so low. If the department cannot see its way to solve the herring problem, it must set to work to solve the salmon problem, and the probability is that it will very soon have to solve both. Let us hope so.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Whatever will the valiant honorary colonels do now that they are forbidden to wear their uniforms in England. There will be a general exodus for Ottawa where they are still at liberty to strut around and wonder how things are going in the "trenches."

Wilhelm will find that President Wilson has much more important business to transact between now and November than to put forward peace proposals which he knows well will only cause France, Belgium, Russia, Serbia and Britain to smile, and go on fighting all the harder.

Sir Thomas White's scheme of issuing war savings certificates to bank depositors is a good one and has been successful in Britain. It is a simple method of raising a good many millions and at the same time provides a good investment.

The Turks must have heaved a sigh of relief when they learned that their old friend Nicholas was being transferred to the Dobrudja region. Berlin does not seem to be tickled with the idea, however.

Sir Sam must have returned to Canada to escape the howls of indignation which arose from the honorary colonels when they were forced to discard their millinery. The only solution seems to be that Sam return to Europe and lead a battalion of honorary colonels in the march on Berlin. If they were lined up they would probably look like two battalions while the enemy might mistake them for a fall millinery opening.

BALD HEADED BEARS ON KADIAK ISLAND

Seward, Alaska.—It will take more than two or three years of enforced diet of straight meat and fish and a loss of hair to seriously set back the bear population of Kadiak Island, according to D. Winn, of the United States bureau of fisheries.

Kadiak Island, says Mr. Winn, in 1912 was covered with volcanic ash at no point at a depth less than eleven inches. The ash killed all vegetation, and as all bears are fond of a mixed diet of meat, fish and vegetables, they found 1913 and 1914 unpleasant from a dietary standpoint.

Another effect of the fall of ash, according to Mr. Winn, was the havoc it created with the furry coats of the animals. Bald headed bears are now as common on Kadiak Island as bald headed men in the front row of a musical comedy. The ash sifted down on to the skins of the animals as it fell, and the first rain turned it to lye, which had the effect of almost tanning the skins of the bears while yet a part of their personal effects.

DUSTIN FARNUM AT MAJESTIC THEATRE

There was another packed house at the Majestic last night when "The Call of the Cumberland" was presented. It is a story of one of the old family feuds of Kentucky when families made relentless war on each other for generations. Dustin Farnum, as Samson South, the talented young leader of the South clan, is splendid. An artist discovers that South has a great gift as a painter and takes him to New York where the young giant from the mountains becomes a great artist and a society leader. After a few years he receives a call from home that the old feud with the Hollman's has broken out again and he throws up everything to go back to lead his clan to victory over the old enemy. A Topical Budget of current events completes a good show.

for Bread!

Since shortly after the German invasion, the Belgians have depended for food entirely on the "Commission for Relief in Belgium". Backed by the so generously contributed in the British Empire and the United States, the neutral Belgian Relief Commission has imported enough wheat, flour and other foods to feed the whole nation so far. The great majority of the 7,000,000 Belgians left in the country have been able to pay for their daily allowance of bread—but a steadily growing number have no money left.

Unless we are willing to let these hundreds of thousands of women, children and old men starve, they must be fed at the expense of the Belgian Relief Fund. To make this possible someone must contribute nearly $3,000,000 a month—every month—all this winter!

Three Mighty Forces Close Linked

Have you ever noted how an audience yawns in the face of an uninspired speaker?

On the other hand, have you noted how an audience will lean forward and grasp the chair arms when the speaker reveals enthusiasm?

Enthusiasm is the buoyant expression of truth. To impart belief in anything, a man must believe it deeply himself. We call such a man an enthusiast.

This applies to the written word also—particularly to advertisements. When the manufacturer really believes in his wares, his enthusiasm will almost inevitably find expression in Advertising. And enthusiasm will be contagious—his audience—the readers of the newspaper—will, figuratively speaking, "lean forward and listen intently."

To be convincing an advertisement must convey an unmistakable impression of enthusiasm. This it will only do when the article advertised has inherent worth.

Thus we have:

Sincerity -- Enthusiasm -- Advertising:
Three mighty forces, close-linked.

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper. If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto.

"Meat Prices Will Not Come Down" is the cheerful news from the Department of Agriculture. Meat prices will not worry the man or woman who knows that a Shredded Wheat Biscuit will supply more real body-building nutriment than beefsteak or eggs and at much less cost. Shredded Wheat remains the same price, the same high quality, supplying all the nutriment a man needs for a half-day's work. Two shredded wheat biscuits with peaches and cream or other fruits make a complete, nourishing meal at a cost of not over five cents.

PAT'S "DOG" CART

Little Pat O'Reilly had a slight driving accident yesterday when he had his two little sisters out in his "dog" cart, the collie getting off the sidewalk and one of the wheels buckling slightly. The little folks are none the worse and the cart will soon be ready for the road again. The turnout resembles that used by the little folks of Belgium and also by the milk carriers in that forlorn country, and the dog seems to enjoy the fun just as much as the children, in fact he struts along with an added dignity and does not deign to recognise his canine friends while he is in harness.
