Enemy Aeroplanes Put to Flight and Prize Crew Captured—Norway Loses Three More Ships.

(Special to The Daily News.)
London, Nov. 3.—The British have captured the Dutch steamer Oldambt from the Germans and arrested the German prize crew. The Oldambt was taken by the Germans, a prize crew put aboard and the Dutch steamer was then directed towards Zeebrugge, on the Belgian coast, under an escort of enemy aeroplanes.

The British routed the aeroplanes, took possession of the Dutch vessel, and delivered her to the captain of a Dutch tug.

RICH PLACER STRUCK IN MANSON CREEK DISTRICT

William B. Steele, better known as "Bill" Steele, arrived in town last evening from Manson Creek district. Mr. Steele, who is one of the pioneer mining men of the Omineca country, having been in there for the last twenty years, is suffering from a severe attack of muscular rheumatism and has gone south to the hot springs for treatment.

With his partner, Jack Mullan, another old timer in that country, he has been working on Lost Creek for the past six years, during the first five of which they put in a lot of work without ever taking a color. Right where they are working is the scene of great placer mining activity of forty years ago, when Manson had a population of 3,200 people and fortunes were taken out of the creeks.

After five years of apparently futile labor, Bill and his partner have struck pay and the first pan taken out showed $45, while the property is now giving up $50 per man per day. The story of the development is interesting. At their claim, the creek has an elbow bend, and, though the placer miners of many years ago took much coarse gold out of the straight above and below the elbow, not a color was got in the bend of the stream. Believing that the creek had altered its course, the old miners drove a tunnel straight across the bend but struck a canon and quit. Trying further up, they had the same result. Messrs. Steele and Mullan, believing that the theory of the old miners was the right one, started to drive a tunnel above the old workings. After they were in 520 feet, the air became very

SAWMILL PROSPECTS ARE STILL BRIGHT

F. C. Duby, who came here with J. S. Emerson to look over a site for a sawmill, is remaining in town to go further into the matter. Before leaving for the south this morning, Mr. Emerson stated that the negotiations, so far, had gone without a hitch and that the officials of the Grand Trunk Pacific here had shown him every courtesy and were making every effort to arrange satisfactory terms. He said that it was a pleasure to him to find that every citizen he had met seemed anxious to have him locate here. He remarked that he had noticed a disposition in some quarters to criticise the railroad company. He took exception to this criticism, so far as any negotiations with him were concerned, as the officials had done all they possibly could to meet him, and to encourage him to locate here.

TORONTO CONSERVATIVES SHOW PARALYSIS OF FEAR

OUTBREAK OF FEELING AT TORY WARD MEETING—GIBES AT SAM HUGHES AND PREMIERS HEARST AND BORDEN—PRESIDENT SAYS "EXULTANT LIBERALS" ARE MET WITH EVERY DAY

The following report from the Toronto Globe of a Conservative meeting in the very heart of Toryism is illuminating:—

"The bite of last night's annual nomination meeting of the Ward Six Conservative Association was at its end. All evening President Thomas Rooney had sat stoutly on the lid. Officers had been nominated, plans made to send Christmas presents to soldier members at the front and in khaki, and platitudes had been talked cautiously by officers on the platform. No member of either Dominion or Provincial Parliaments was present, though Mr. A. C. Macdonell, M. P., sent his regrets. No one had mentioned the name of either Premier Borden or Premier Hearst, though laudatory references had been made to Sir John Macdonald, Sir James Whitney and Sir Adam Beck.

"We will hear a word or two from Ald. McBrien and Ald. McGregor, then we will close with the National Anthem," said President Rooney. Then the president realized he was in a vast minority. "No, no," cried the members. There were calls for "McCausland" and "What's the matter with some speaking out?"

Some "Speaking Out."
The "speaking out" started. It was not stayed until Mr. Rooney finally appealed that it was "not fair, when I have practically closed the meeting." There were two references to the Premiers, one to Sir Robert Borden and the other to Hon. W. H. Hearst. "There are plenty of Conservatives who have no use for Sam Hughes," declared Mr. John Hutchinson, "but there isn't a word against Sir Robert Borden."

"Oh, isn't there?" queried one stentorian sceptic, while another shouted "Forget him," amid laughter.

Then ex-Ald. Austin asserted that a commercial traveller had recently assured him that Mr. Hearst was now gaining strength in the Province.

"He was kidding you," exclaimed a voice, amid renewed laughter.

No Cheers For Leaders.

The feeling of the meeting was exemplified at its end. There were cheers for the returned and fighting soldiers, then cheers for the retiring President, Mr. Rooney.

"Shall we tackle cheers for Borden and Hearst?" a man in the front row asked of the officers on the platform.

"Don't chance it," was the whispered response.

So, for probably the first time in the history of Tory Toronto, a Conservative Ward Association annual meeting dispersed without any attempt to applaud the leaders of the party.

Meet Exultant Liberals.

Things ran smoothly along routine lines till Mr. J. R. McNichol rose to decline his nomination as President for the ensuing year. "We're face to face with a Dominion election," said he, "and we better just figure out where we stand. Most of us know. We get it every day. We meet exultant Liberals. They know what's coming, too. The Liberals are so jubilant they actually smile when they stand talking to you. We might as well look the facts in the face. We've got to do something—something along the line of organization—and do it mighty quick. The Conservative party today is in a precarious position. It's not an organized party; it's a disrupted party. There are five polling sub-divisions in this riding without captains.

Poor Chances for Tories.

"Is there a Conservative present in this hall tonight," exclaimed Mr. McNichol, "who thinks for a moment that, if there were an election tomorrow, our party could carry South Parkdale or either division of West Toronto, or, for that matter, elect any Conservative in any seat in the city after what has taken place?"

"And if we couldn't carry a seat in Toronto, what chance have we got to carry the Province?—not one chance in a hundred to carry five seats in every twenty. It is no good our running men for office in the face of conditions like this unless they are prepared to take hold. (Applause.) Men who take office now have got their work cut out for them, and they must be men fitted for the job. The place must seek the man."

Mr. John Phillips said he agreed with much of what had been said, while President Rooney interposed that some seventeen captains had left for the front.

No Enthusiasm Left.

Mr. Thomas Bates believed in delaying the nominating meeting and having the Executive canvass the ward for good workers and willing men. "We've all come here tonight like a lot of sheep." What was needed was something to re-create Conservative enthusiasm and get interest in the party again.

Mr. George Williams opposed canvassing the ward as proposed. "Two months ago," said he, "a committee went out to get a candidate for Southwest Toronto, and (Continued on page three.)"

LOYALTY

Some home truths were uttered at a recent meeting of Conservatives in Toronto. There was some delightfully frank speaking, which the chairman did his utmost to stop, but it was left to Alderman McBrien to wind up the meeting with the old Tory wheeze, "After all," said he, "it (the Tory party) is the only loyal party—the only party that is really loyal." Mr. McBrien and the rest of his tribe will probably admit that a party is only loyal in so far as its individual members are loyal, and he would be a rash man who would attempt to make an estimate of the loyalty of any party or aggregation of men. Probably Mr. McBrien would argue that a man must be loyal to the Conservative party if he is to be loyal to Canada, while one of his outspoken friends in the Toronto meeting would probably declare that, to be loyal to Canada, a man must fight the Conservative party as it is in the Dominion today.

A great deal depends upon a man's conception of loyalty. The fidelity of a dog to its master, no matter what stamp of a man that master may be, is loyalty, but it cannot be considered loyalty of a very high standard. Loyalty to a friend is often demonstrated by telling that friend just exactly where he has erred, and the loyalty of some of the members of the Toronto Conservative Association was shown by the fact that they had the courage to get up and say just what they felt about Sam Hughes or Sir Robert Borden. The dog-like fidelity which causes a man to fawn upon a party leader, not because he is right, but because he is the leader of that party, is no very high standard of loyalty, if it can be given the name at all.

Probably Mr. McBrien would declare that John Wesley Allison is a loyal son of Canada. The defunct colonel may be so, but he had rather a peculiar way of showing it. The gentleman who sold hay a few times over and pocketed the proceeds may have strong ideas in regard to loyalty, only he did not think that loyalty had anything to do with hay. In the same way, many gentlemen within the Conservative party and the Dominion, may not dream for a moment that there can be any relationship between loyalty and the supplying of good shoes to the army, or the charging of exorbitant prices for binoculars, or the selling of aged and infirm horses to the militia department. Many men keep their loyalty and their business in separate watertight compartments, in case they get mixed.

Reverting again to parties, it is a matter of history that, on one strenuous occasion, the present government thought it advisable to link up with a gentleman who had declared in no gentle fashion that he would shoot holes in the Union Jack, while another friend, Henri Bourassa, has been allowed to publish any old thing he pleased in his paper, loyal or otherwise, and several other very close friends of the Borden government have declared themselves something very much akin to anti-British. Yet, the Conservative party has stuck by them and protected them. Why? Simply out of loyalty to themselves. "To thine ownself be true" was

"Meat Prices Will Not Come Down" is the cheerful news from the Department of Agriculture. Meat prices will not worry the man or woman who knows that a Shredded Wheat Biscuit will supply more real body-building nutriment than beefsteak or eggs and at much less cost. Shredded Wheat remains the same price, the same high quality, supplying all the nutriment a man needs for a half-day's work. Two shredded wheat biscuits with peaches and cream or other fruits make a complete, nourishing meal at a cost of not over five cents.

Made in Canada

evidently the motto adopted by the Tory leader. Yet, who would suggest for a moment that Sir Robert Borden is disloyal? Who would suggest that Sir Sam Hughes is disloyal? Who would condemn the Conservative party as disloyal simply because, for political convenience, it has burdened itself with the men who would shoot holes in the Union Jack.

Mr. McBrien, the ally of Bourassa and the rest, has the temerity to raise the question of party loyalty, which is simply another crude Tory attempt to cast a reflection upon the fact that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is a French-Canadian. There is no necessity to defend the loyalty of the "Grand Old Man" of Canada, any more than it is necessary to assert that he would not commit burglary. The fact that Sir Wilfrid is a French-Canadian had not a little to do with the fact that Canada made such tremendous strides in the fifteen years of his premiership. The optimism and unconquerable spirit of the French people in Europe today is the wonder of the world, and Canada owes much, how much, it will more fully realize in the years to come, to the clear-sighted optimism and brilliant leadership of this greatest of Canadians.

we know how that worked out. It's no good canvassing round the neighborhood to find out how things are going. We know that already."

"Made a Noise Like a Coyote," Sergt.-Major Parkes, Returned soldier, was enthusiastically applauded. He declared that when the soldiers overseas heard that Ontario had gone dry they "made a noise like a coyote," and when they heard that Mr. Dewar had been elected in Southwest Toronto they "hadn't a word to say."

"What do they think of Sam Hughes?" asked a voice in the audience.

"He gets a lot of guff," retorted the soldier, amid laughter.

President Rooney proposed dispersing with the National Anthem but there were persistent cries for "McCausland." Ex-Ald. Jas. McCausland, who was greeted with cheers, said the difficulty was that Conservatives were timid about publicly confessing their dissatisfaction with their leaders at Ottawa and Queen's Park, but true friends of the party should speak out. He was disappointed that not a member of either the Dominion or the Provincial House representing Ward Six had turned up at the meeting, as they had always done heretofore.

"Are they afraid they will be asked questions?" proceeded Mr. McCausland. "Party affairs are in such a condition that they evidently don't think very well of them, and stay away to save their faces. I agree with Mr. McNichol that our friends at Ottawa and Queen's Park, too, are out of touch with the ranks of the party."

"The party needs reorganization. It lacks enthusiasm. The Provincial Premier says he'll stick, and I suppose he will. He'll stick and we'll fall. The endorsement of the Conservative leaders is no use to any candidate now. It's a drawback with the people—that much was shown in Southwest Toronto."

Root Out Railway Board.
Mr. McCausland said that he wanted to leave the vexed temperance question to one side altogether in discussing Provincial affairs. Two great big grievances that must be dealt with if the party were not to fall Provincially as well as Federally were the Ontario Railway Board, which must be rooted out, and matters affecting Sir Adam Beck (cheers) and the Hydro-electric enterprise.

Government Not Backing Beck.

"That McGarry bill has got to be dealt with," continued Mr. McCausland, amid applause. "It's no good trying to tell us of the Conservative party that things are satisfactory between Sir Adam Beck and the government. We know better and the public know better."

"Why not be honest enough to hold a caucus or convention? Things are in such condition today that unless the two governments listen to the voice of the people, accept criticism and undertake reform at once and effectually we will fall in Ontario as we will fall in the Dominion."

Tory Line is Broken.

Dr. McIntosh regretted that facts compelled him to agree with much Mr. McCausland had said. He had been a life-long Conservative and worker for many years. "Any sympathetic understanding between Ottawa, Queen's Park and the rank and file of the Conservative party," said he, "is conspicuous by its absence, which is much to be deplored. We have already seen the painful results in the Southwest Toronto by-election. It is no use poking our heads in the sand. Our political enemies have broken through our lines and scattered our forces, not because they were the stronger, but because of lack of leadership and despotic action both at Ottawa and Queen's Park."

Liberals Gaining Daily.

"They hold all the gains they have made. They are making more every day, and unless we do something to gain new strength we can never hope to repeat the victories of 1911. The enemy is pretty well loaded now for the next Dominion and Provincial elections. If we are to hope to make a respectable showing at all we must wake up and re-establish among the people of our party the confidence they have lost.

"We have lost sheep by the hundreds, and we must either give up or do something to bring them back to the fold. The Conservative party is off the track. We've got to do something to get it back again."

President Rooney did his utmost to stay the discussion and the later speakers, with the exception of Ald. Fred McBrien, avoided the discussion. Mr. McBrien's chief plea was that "the Conservative party was the only loyal party—the only party that is really loyal."

2,000,000 Belgians Depend on us for Bread!

Since shortly after the German invasion, the Belgians have depended for food entirely on the "Commission for Relief in Belgium". Their own store of food, even if not destroyed or pillaged, would last only three weeks—they have had no chance to raise more—and the ruthless Germans refuse to supply them!

Backed by the Belgian Relief Fund

so generously contributed in the British Empire and the United States, the neutral Belgian Relief Commission has imported enough wheat, flour and other foods to feed the whole nation so far. The great majority of the 7,000,000 Belgians left in the country have been able to pay for their daily allowance of bread—but a steadily growing number have no money left.

Unless we are willing to let these hundreds of thousands of women, children and old men starve, they must be fed at the expense of the Belgian Relief Fund. To make this possible someone must contribute nearly $3,000,000 a month—every month—all this winter!

No people under the Allied Flags are as well able to contribute generously as we Canadians! No cause has ever been more deserving of help! In the name of Justice and Humanity—for the sake of our own self-respect—let us give all we can to help our martyred Allies!

Send your subscriptions weekly, monthly or in one lump sum to Local or Provincial Committees, or to the Central Executive Committee, 59 St. Peter St., Montreal.

Three Mighty Forces Close Linked

Have you ever noted how an audience yawns in the face of an uninspired speaker? On the other hand, have you noted how an audience will lean forward and grasp the chair arms when the speaker reveals enthusiasm?

Enthusiasm is the buoyant expression of truth. To impart belief in anything, a man must believe it deeply himself. We call such a man an enthusiast.

This applies to the written word also—particularly to advertisements. When the manufacturer really believes in his wares, his enthusiasm will almost inevitably find expression in Advertising. And enthusiasm will be contagious—his audience—the readers of the newspaper—will, figuratively speaking, "lean forward and listen intently."

To be convincing an advertisement must convey an unmistakable impression of enthusiasm. This it will only do when the article advertised has inherent worth.

Thus we have:
Sincerity -- Enthusiasm -- Advertising:
Three mighty forces, close-linked.

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper. If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto.

PAULINE FREDERICK AT WESTHOLME THEATRE

Tonight at the Westholme Theatre, the second installment of "Peg O' The Ring" will be repeated. It is great, the circus scenes being splendid. The great "Barber act" is played; there are clowns and acrobats galore and the picture winds up with a fierce fight.

The big feature for tonight and tomorrow is Pauline Frederick in "The Moment Before," a five-act reproduction of Israel Zangwill's stirring drama. It is a strong play in which this famous actress is given ample opportunity to display her powers. "The Moment Before" is a great personal triumph for Miss Frederick, while she is supported by a strong cast. Both as a strikingly beautiful gipsy girl or as a duchess, this Famous Players' star is magnificent. With two such features and a splendid musical program, this show is something not to be missed.

RICH PLACER STRUCK IN MANSON CREEK DISTRICT

bad and they had to sink an air shaft. Shortly after that they struck the pay and it looks as if they are bound to take out as much gold as was taken out of the other parts of the creek forty years ago.

They have taken out $1,800 in twenty-two days, and Bill is going south quite confident that he will return to find that his partner has piled up a little fortune in his absence. Mr. Steele says that there is a big mining future before the Manson Creek country just as soon as the Thomas railroad is built, as there are large bodies of low grade ores which will pay handsomely if mined by up-to-date methods.

The Steele and Mullan property is about 185 miles northeast of Hazelton, and, crippled with rheumatism, Mr. Steele had a trying time coming out, the trip occupying sixteen days. That he will return to the north a new man and to find that Lost Creek is delivering the goods will be the hope of Bill's many friends in Prince Rupert and throughout the north.

ATTENTION VOTERS

Persons who hold lots under agreements, or assignment of agreement, must make a declaration giving particulars of their title, before the last day of November. Any person neglecting to take such declaration will not be entered on the voters' list.

It is impossible for me to ascertain the names of agreement holders unless they come in personally.

It will greatly facilitate matters if persons wishing to make declaration bring their agreements, so that I may inspect them and thus prevent errors. Reference to old voters' lists satisfies me that only a small proportion of agreement holders have registered in past years. This, I believe, has happened because people wrongly think their names will be inserted without any action on their part. I therefore call special attention to the necessity of agreement holders making declarations.
