RETURNED SOLDIERS' CONCERT BIG SUCCESS -- TRAIN HAS NARROW ESCAPE

RETURNED SOLDIERS' CONCERT DREW TREMENDOUS AUDIENCE

WESTHOLME THEATRE PACKED TO THE ROOF—A STIRRING SPEECH BY MAYOR McCaffery—MANY NOVEL ITEMS IN THE PROGRAM—REMARKABLY REALISTIC TRENCH SCENE

Never has the Westholme Theatre been so gaily decorated with bunting and flags and never has it held such an audience as it did last night, on the occasion of the Returned Soldiers' Concert. Every seat was occupied and every foot of standing space seemed to be occupied.

Mayor McCaffery, who received quite an ovation on entering the stage to open the proceedings, dealt briefly with the section of the battlefield occupied by the British and Colonial troops. From Ypres, Festubert and St. Julian to the Somme the boys had done wonders, and we had all wished we could have been with them. "Since we could not be there," said the mayor, "it is our duty to show that we appreciate the work done by the men who were privileged to be there, and to help them all we can." He described the men who have returned, and the wounded who will soon return, as heroes, equal with those who had made the supreme sacrifice. "That they have returned," said Mr. McCaffery, "simply means that they had luck with them. They were ready to give all they had." He said that the returned soldier must get the best that we can give him. Employers must go over their payrolls and see where they can place them; those who have influence must use that influence to find suitable places for them, and the government must place them wherever possible.

The musical program was thoroughly enjoyed, every item being encored in the most enthusiastic fashion. The Westholme orchestra, besides playing the opening overture, rendered splendid selections throughout the evening. Mr. J. E. Davey sang "Queen of the Earth" in splendid voice, and did even better in his encore. Eng. Lieut. Drake brought down the house with his songs a la George Grossmith. Some of his asides were highly amusing. Mrs. Bryant's orchestra, composed of Mrs. Bryant, Mrs. H. E. Peck, Mrs. Hanson, Mrs. Mellior, Mrs. Heilbronner, Mrs. Burritt, and Messrs. Edmunds, Duffy, Poole and Douglas Stork, delighted the audience and had to respond to an insistent call for more. Seaman McCaw, in Harry Lauder songs, kept the audience simply rocking with laughter, and Mr. Brady recited in his usual accomplished manner.

In the second part of the program, Mr. William Balagno kept his audience spell-bound by his skill on the violin. For one so young, Mr. Balagno displays wonderful technique. Leading Seaman Poyser gave an exhibition of sword swinging which held every eye. In the rapid movements the blades flashed like lightning around his head. In his encore he even excelled his first performance. A remarkably pretty group were the "six little wives" from San Toy. Mr. Frank Moore played Yen How and his wives were Mrs. Smithers, Mrs. Darton, Mrs. McMillan, Miss Irwin, Miss Garton and Miss McClenaghan. Petty officer Raper, who looks every inch a sailor, sang "The Diver" in great style, while his rich voice rolled out "Asleep in the Deep" magnificently. Mrs. Bryant and Messrs. Edmunds and Duffy, in a mandolin and guitar trio, performed with their usual skill in harmony, and Steward Warner concluded the musical numbers with a series of comic songs.

Last, but not by any means least, came the "Trench Scene," staged by Sergeant J. Neville and Privates Cliff, Brethour, E. H. Maynard, "Paddy" Sullivan, A. Allett, H. O. Crew, R. Robertson, Jack Bradbury and Bugler Harry Hinckley, all of whom have returned from overseas service. It was a trench scene to the life. It was built in the most realistic fashion, with sacks of sawdust instead of sand. On the extreme right was the machine-gun emplacement, with a rifle mounted on a tripod for a machine-gun; one of the party kept continually on the lookout for Germans through a periscope; the dug-out was there, and, as the curtain was rung up, several of the boys were being hauled unceremoniously out of "bed"; "Paddy" Sullivan did duty as stretcher-bearer; rations were served out by the sergeant, not forgetting a "lot" of rum, "the real stuff from Billy Wright's," as the boys described it; the boys set to work to cook their "cuts from Friz-zell's" over a brazier which looked the real thing, and on the extreme left was the telephone by which the sergeant kept in constant touch with the artillery to learn just what they were doing.

It was a real Prince Rupert trench, with "Centre Street" and the "city hall" in close proximity, while Piccadilly figured a little to the right. The boys acted splendidly, simply because they were not acting but repeating what they had done day after day in the trenches, though under slightly different conditions. Even the language occasionally had a real trench flavor, when it came to

PRESIDENT AND MRS. WOODROW WILSON

WESTBOUND TRAIN HAD NARROW ESCAPE

The train from the east, due here on Tuesday evening, which arrived here about three o'clock this morning, had a very narrow escape and, but for the quickness of mind and hand of the fireman and engineer, there might have been serious loss of life.

About a mile and a half west of Eddy, while the train was rounding the shoulder of a mountain, the fireman noticed about six inches of earth on the track and, glancing up, saw the whole sidehill moving. He immediately shouted to the engineer, "soak her, and jump." In railroad parlance, "soak her" means apply the emergency brakes, and the engineer acted on the instant, bringing the train to a full stop in a few yards. The slide swept down and bored the track out toward the gulch on the other side, the engine going right on and turning over the embankment and hanging at an angle of 45 degrees, caught by the draw-bar. Meantime, the engineer and fireman had jumped, each to his own side of the track. The fireman landed on the embankment, and, caught by the slide, was swept under the tender and buried. The engineer landed on a pile of ties and strained his ankle.

An old locomotive man who was on the train immediately got out and started to look for the fireman. The latter had air enough to be able to shout and he was quickly uncovered and brought out none the worse, except for a shaking. In the dining car the tables were thrown about, and the dining car conductor sustained a severe bruise over the eye in saving a little girl from accident. A good deal of crockery was smashed and the cook, who was dishing soup at the time, was thrown against the ice box and sustained a bruised and dislocated shoulder. He is now in hospital in Prince Rupert, having been brought along on the train this morning. At the spot where the accident happened trains travel slowly and at the time of the slide the train was not making more than twelve miles per hour. The greatest credit is due to the train crew for their prompt action, and it seems certain that the fireman and engineer saved the passengers from a very serious accident. The fact that oil is used instead of coal on this road had not a little to do with the escape, having no stoking to do, the fireman is able to keep a sharp lookout on one side of the track while the engineer watches the other.

BILL BROWN MEETS MANY RUPERT BOYS

Word reached town this morning from "Bill" Brown, who has been on instructional work since reaching England, that he expected to get to the trenches shortly. In England he has met several Rupert boys including Bob Wiggins, who is now in a convalescent hospital; Joe Hutchinson, who is also recovering from wounds, and Miles Henderson, who is at Folkstone as a Company Q. M. S. He also mentions having met E. O. Rietchel, "Major" Gibson, Denny Allen, Fred Hunt, and Phil Birkett, Tommy Stewart, who is now a Company Q. M. S., has been wounded three times but is still active as ever.

ATLIN DISTRICT IS SHIPPING MAGNESITE

Atlin district is coming into prominence as a shipper of magnesite and two carloads are being forwarded to the east through this port. The chief sources of supply of this ore have been Greece and Austria and the war situation has cut off that supply so that Atlin is benefitting. The magnesite deposits in Atlin are of large proportions and are held by a Vancouver syndicate, which has been shipping small quantities all summer. Larger consignments are expected to follow this first big shipment.

ATLIN GOLD DISPLAYED AT VANCOUVER HOTEL

Chunks of what appear to be rock but valued at from $250 to $400 were on view in the Hotel Vancouver this morning, having been brought by Captain Alexander from the Engineer mine near Atlin. The captain, who is on one of his periodical trips from the north, is the sole owner of the mine which he told a representative of The Province is one of the richest on the North American Continent. It is not so long ago since he refused two and a half million dollars for the property which he expects will, in the course of a few years, yield him something like a million per annum.

Captain Alexander, who by the way, was one of Lord French's staff in the South African war, has had this property for a number of years and at present he says that he has somewhere in the neighborhood of two and half million dollars' worth of ore in sight. Only a small number of men are working on it just now, but next year he expects to have at least 150 men working on three shifts.

The samples which he brought to the city today are as rich in gold as they can possibly be. The precious metal gleams from every part of it. One piece alone was worth $400 and the smallest piece was valued at not less than $250. Captain Alexander is highly optimistic of mining in the north and says there is a good time coming to British Columbia so far as this industry is concerned.—Province.

HALIBUT RULES HIGH

The 50,000 pounds of halibut, brought in by the Seymour yesterday, made 12 1/2 cents this forenoon, while the smaller fares fetched 12 1/2 to 12 cents. The Paloma had 3,000 pounds this morning and the Alliance 600 pounds. The weather on the banks is very rough and the boats are able to do very little fishing.

BOTH PARTIES STILL CLAIM TO BE VICTORIOUS

Last Night's Wires Showed Wilson to be Almost Certain of Victory But Republicans Still Have Hopes.

Owing to a telegraphic breakdown, it was impossible to get any further election despatches or further election news through this morning, but the returns late last night showed that President Wilson, the Democratic candidate, had secured 258 out of the necessary 266 electoral votes and Charles E. Hughes, the Republican candidate, a total of 246, with 27 still to hear from. As Mr. Wilson required only 8 more votes to assure his election, it was generally conceded that he would remain President of the United States for another term.

In spite of the fact that their candidate required to carry twenty out of twenty-seven votes still to be recorded, the Republicans had not given up hope of his overtaking his opponent.

A flash from Vancouver at 11 o'clock this forenoon stated that both parties are still claiming victory. It would appear that the struggle is to be pretty nearly as close as that of 1876, when Rutherford B. Hayes was elected by the odd electoral vote. The probability is that the actual result will not be received until late this evening.

THE PRESIDENCY

At the time of writing, it seems certain that Woodrow Wilson will be the President of the United States for another term of four years. It has been one of the most remarkable presidential contests ever held, in fact, the most remarkable, as it has had an international bearing. Every country in Europe has anxiously watched the outcome and the probability is that each is satisfied, more or less. The satisfactory part of it is that the outside world knows pretty closely what will be the policy of the United States for the next few years, while there was a good deal of uncertainty about Mr. Hughes, as he had never made any very clear statement of his plans. His friends seemed to content themselves with the reiteration of their belief that he would be a better man for the job than Mr. Wilson. The public kept the politicians guessing right up to the close of the polls and twenty-four hours after the close of the polls they are still guessing.

If Mr. Wilson is the victor, and it seems certain that he is, since he requires only eight electoral votes out of twenty-seven, the result is largely a personal triumph for the past president. He will have been successful in drawing to his support about a million and a half votes which, in the ordinary course of events, should have gone to the Republicans.

There is little doubt that the fact that Woodrow Wilson has been successful in keeping the United States out of the European conflagration had not a little to do with the result. The war has brought tremendous prosperity to the people of the United States, and the party in power, rightly or wrongly, is usually given a certain amount of credit for industrial well-being. The policy of letting "well enough" alone appeals to the majority of people. There is also little doubt that the vast majority of the labor vote went to Mr. Wilson as a result of the recent passing of the eight hour day for railroad men.

There is no denying the fact that, in Canada, President Wilson, since the outbreak of the war, has been regarded as much too lenient in his interpretation of international law, as regards the submarine activities of Germany, and there was a pretty general feeling that Mr. Hughes would prove a stronger man in this respect. Still, it is realized that President Wilson has found himself in a very difficult position, with big possibilities of domestic complications. He has done his duty, as he saw it, and, after all, his first duty is to the United States of America.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

There was not a great deal of general interest here in the presidential election, the general opinion being that it mattered little who was elected, but those who had a financial interest in the result had an exciting time for twenty-four hours or more, and, whichever way their sympathies lay, they had a real good run for their money.

Throughout the presidential campaign the United States press seemed to be absolutely puzzled as to the outcome, though of course each party paper claimed victory for its candidate and after the results began to come in press reports and opinions were so mixed up with actual figures that "Peg O' The Ring," the great circus serial, will be screened at the Westholme tonight only, as there is such a great demand for this famous film that it must be rushed to Vancouver on the next boat. This is undoubtedly one of the finest pictures ever screened and, with such stars as Grace Cunard, Francis Ford and Eddie Polo in the leading parts, the acting leaves nothing to be desired.

Along with this big feature tonight will be presented "A Youth of Fortune," a great five-act society drama, featuring Carter De Haven, who is new to Prince Rupert audiences. It is a Lasky film and nothing more need be said.

On Friday only, Mr. and Mrs. Sessue Hayakawa, the famous Japanese actors, will be presented in "Alien Souls."

FAMOUS GOLD SHIP HAS IGNOMINIOUS END

Sourdoughs will learn with regret that the steamer Portland, which has been beached at Katala since she was wrecked in 1910, is to be broken up for old metal. The Portland was the vessel which arrived at Seattle nineteen years ago with the first great cargo of gold from the Yukon, which inaugurated the most romantic and greatest gold rush the world has ever seen.

The Portland seems to have been built for excitement as she began her career in 1885 as the Haytian Republic, and at once started to furnish copy for the newspapers, as she was seized for carrying contraband to the rebels in Hayti. When the United States government forced her release, an attempt was made to sink her as she left the harbor of Port au Prince, and the marks of this brush were still visible when she came to this coast in 1889.
She was chartered as a cannery boat and as a passenger steamer for a time and later it was said that she became a carrier of contraband Chinese and opium, at which she succeeded until seized by the government at Portland. She was then named the Portland and traded between all points be-

2,000,000 Belgians Depend on us for Bread!

Since shortly after the German invasion, the Belgians have depended for food entirely on the "Commission for Relief in Belgium". Their own store of food, even if not destroyed or pillaged, would last only three weeks—they have had no chance to raise more—and the ruthless Germans refuse to supply them!

Backed by the

so generously contributed in the British Empire and the United States, the neutral Belgian Relief Commission has imported enough wheat, flour and other foods to feed the whole nation so far. The great majority of the 7,000,000 Belgians left in the country have been able to pay for their daily allowance of bread—but a steadily growing number have no money left.

Unless we are willing to let these hundreds of thousands of women, children and old men starve, they must be fed at the expense of the Belgian Relief Fund. To make this possible someone must contribute nearly $3,000,000 a month—every month—all this winter!

No people under the Allied Flags are as well able to contribute generously as we Canadians! No cause has ever been more deserving of help! In the name of Justice and Humanity—for the sake of our own self-respect—let us give all we can to help our martyred Allies!

Send your subscriptions weekly, monthly or in one lump sum to Local or Provincial Committees, or to the

Three Mighty Forces Close Linked

Have you ever noted how an audience yawns in the face of an uninspired speaker? On the other hand, have you noted how an audience will lean forward and grasp the chair arms when the speaker reveals enthusiasm? Enthusiasm is the buoyant expression of truth. To impart belief in anything, a man must believe it deeply himself. We call such a man an enthusiast. This applies to the written word also—particularly to advertisements. When the manufacturer really believes in his wares, his enthusiasm will almost inevitably find expression in Advertising. And enthusiasm will be contagious—his audience—the readers of the newspaper—will, figuratively speaking, "lean forward and listen intently."

To be convincing an advertisement must convey an unmistakable impression of enthusiasm. This it will only do when the article advertised has inherent worth.

Thus we have:
Sincerity -- Enthusiasm -- Advertising:
Three mighty forces, close-linked.

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper. If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of those will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto.

ATTENTION VOTERS

Persons who hold lots under agreements, or assignment of agreement, must make a declaration giving particulars of their title, before the last day of November. Any person neglecting to take such declaration will not be entered on the voters' list.

It is impossible for me to ascertain the names of agreement holders unless they come in personally.

It will greatly facilitate matters if persons wishing to make declaration bring their agreements, so that I may inspect them and thus prevent errors.

Reference to old voters' lists satisfies me that only a small proportion of agreement holders have registered in past years. This, I believe, has happened because people wrongly think their names will be inserted without any action on their part. I therefore call special attention to the necessity of agreement holders making declarations.

FRED PETERS, City Clerk.

RETURNED SOLDIERS' CONCERT WAS GREAT SUCCESS

wondering why the something or other they could not have strawberry jam. Speaking of jam, Sergt. Neville described how the first hand grenade was made from an old jam can filled with pieces of stone and glass and then went on to describe the latest model, invented by a sergeant of the 42nd Highlanders, which contains a new high explosive and is effective at 300 yards. The first was called the "Tommy Tickler," because its coat was a Tickler's jam can. The piece went with a swing which was delightful, the boys breaking out spontaneously into songs of the trenches, their own particular ditty being "We're the boys from the west of Canada, and a province they call B. C." and winding up with a trench version of "Tipperary." Pte. Cliff Brethour gave a demonstration of the "Trench Tango" and Pte. Jack Bradbury seemed to be playing his accompaniment with his back against the pillar at the side of the stage.

After Sergt. Neville had explained the advantages of the Lee-Enfield rifle, which is now used by all the British troops, the company lined up for the "General Salute," Bugler Hinckley playing the salute and the boys standing at the salute while the audience stood and sang the National Anthem, bringing to a close one of the finest performances ever staged in the city. The highest credit is due to the soldiers and to those who so ably assisted them in carrying out their program. The management of the Westholme Theatre regret exceedingly that they were unable to screen the war pictures, which had been specially reserved for this occasion, owing to the fact that the flags draping the ceiling penetrated the rays from the operating machine and deflected them from the screen.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. G. Armstrong and family returned early this morning from the east. Mrs. Armstrong and the children have been in Marquette, Mich. for some time and Mr. Armstrong met them in Winnipeg. Mrs. Armstrong found the eastern climate trying after the milder weather on the coast and is delighted to be back again in Prince Rupert.

NEW HAZELTON TO HAVE ELECTRIC LIGHT

New Hazelton is about to get an electric light service. Local parties, headed by F. C. McKinnon, propose to develop the water in Mission Creek at a point in New Hazelton known as the falls, just south of five-mile. A sufficient supply of power can be had to light a good-sized town and also to supply sufficient energy for some industrial enterprises. The development of this water power will be welcomed by all interested in the welfare of the community.—Omineca Herald.
