ANCRE VICTORY GREATER THAN SUPPOSED

THOUSANDS ARE STILL COMING IN -- MONASTIR MAY FALL WITHIN THREE DAYS

THOUSANDS OF GERMANS STILL SURRENDERING

Ancre Victory Much Greater Than at First Supposed—The British Took Germans Completely By Surprise.

(Special to The Daily News.)

Haig's Headquarters, Nov. 18.—The importance of the British victory along the Ancre is becoming hourly more apparent. The real significance of this most decisive engagement since the prolonged trench warfare began is just beginning to loom up, as thousands of prisoners, in addition to the thousands already accounted for, begin to come in. According to reports received from British transport officers, thousands are now en route for the British bases.

The weather on the Somme front is now intensely cold, and frost has set in following the fog in which the great movement was carried out. The Canadians are now engaged in strengthening their trenches for winter occupation.

The most amazing part of Haig's drive is that the Germans seem to have been taken entirely by surprise. They were evidently relying upon the natural strength of their position and had never thought for a moment that the British could successfully attack them. A dense fog added to their bewilderment and the British infantry was right on top of them before they realized what was happening. The German leaders tried to rally their men but the British charged with such determination that their momentum carried them right through the first line positions. It is not impossible that this big victory may lead to a general drawing in of the German lines along this section of the front.

COLLISION BETWEEN DEUTSCHLAND AND TUG

(Special to The Daily News.)

New London, Nov. 18.—The Federal authorities are investigating a collision which occurred between the German submarine Deutschland and a tug-boat which was conveying her out of the harbor on her return voyage across the Atlantic. The vessels collided violently and the tug sank almost immediately, five of her crew being drowned, and the captain alone saved.

The Deutschland was damaged and has returned to port for a thorough examination and repairs.

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—The Eastern Ontario Liberal Convention concluded with the passing of a resolution recommending that equal pensions be granted to all Canadian soldiers irrespective of rank.

ALLIES MARCH ON MONASTIR THROUGH SNOW

Bulgarian Stronghold Expected to Fall Shortly—Serbians Have Taken Nearly Four Thousand.

(Special to The Daily News.)

Saloniki, Nov. 18.—The French and Russian troops advancing towards Monastir have captured the villages of Velushina, Parrodin, and Jabyani. The Serbians, since November 10th, have captured 3,900 prisoners and 24 guns.

Nearing Monastir.

London, Nov. 18.—Fresh information received shows that the French, Italian, Russian, Serbian and British forces on the Macedonian front are making victorious progress and that they are fighting their way through fog, snow, sleet and mud towards their goal. It is predicted that Monastir will fall within three days.

Russians Congratulated.

Paris, Nov. 18.—The governments of the Entente Allies have addressed a message to the Russians expressing the liveliest satisfaction at the protest made against the Hun pretensions in Poland.

SPLendid SHOWING AT DRUM LUMMON MINE

W. Porteous Sloan, president of the Drum Lummon Company, which is doing extensive development work on its properties on Douglas Channel, arrived in the city last evening. Mr. Sloan is not only enthusiastic over the prospects of the property in which he is interested, and which is showing values far beyond early expectations, but is full of enthusiasm in regard to the mining future of the northern portion of the coast.

The Drum Lummon property was recently visited by Donald G. Campbell, E. M., a prominent mining man of Seattle, who expressed himself as surprised at the body of ore which had been uncovered in the 400-foot tunnel which the company has driven, and he anticipates that in time the Drum Lummon properties will rank with the Britannia and the Granby mines as coast producers. The formation of the rock and the ore bodies, though of a higher grade than the Britannia mines, is much the same. The surface ores are largely bornite, while the mineralization extends to the country rock. The ore bodies are from two to twenty feet in width. Much development work has been done, says Mr. Sloan, and it has been carried out economically.

Christian Science Society services are held every Sunday at 11 a. m. Sunday School at 12 noon. Wednesday evening meeting at 8 o'clock. Hays Building, 245 2nd Avenue.

MAP OF STRUMA FRONT

The towns shown on this map between the Struma River and the railway have been mostly taken by the British, the latest being Barakli—Djuma, southwest of Demirhissar, the latter town being the immediate objective.

SIR SAM CARRIES CANADA'S BURDENS

The following account in the Toronto Globe of a meeting held in Toronto two days before the Hughes-Borden burst-up makes rather interesting reading now:

Glowing glorification of Sir Sam Hughes, Canada's Minister of Militia, was the dominant note at the Orange Patriotic Night, held under the auspices of L.O.L. No. 140 in Victoria Hall last evening. "Kitchener's task in the war," declared Hon. Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education, in epitomizing the tributes, "was no greater than that of Sir Sam Hughes. Kitchener was a great man in the Empire; so is Sir Sam Hughes."

Hon. A. E. Kemp presided, and on the platform were Hon. Dr. Pyne, Captain William Crawford, Hon. Thomas Crawford, Mayor Church, William Lee, Fred Dane, Frank Somers, Dr. Chas. Sheard, Colonel P. Guthrie, A. A. Gray, Hon. Col. J. L. Hughes, Canon Dixon, Rev. C. E. Perry, and others.

"Long Live Sir Sam."

"Sir Sam Hughes' name," declared Dr. Sheard, "is forever immortalized and honored. He is one of the greatest men in the Dominion, and his name will live in history the longest. As for the editor of The Globe and the editor of The Telegram, they carry no weight with independent thinking men. I have no time for the miserable, contemptible, carping curs snapping at a big man's heels. Criticism from such sources is praise indeed. I like to read The Globe's editorials: 'Your King and Country need you—now,' accompanied by the meanest articles by the meanest writers who ever dipped dirty pens in the bitterest gall whenever they write about Sir Sam Hughes, and the same editorial pages shed tears over rampant renegades who ought to be shot. I'll take the editor of The Globe and the editor of The Telegram together any time, take them right out before the intelligent and independent public, and we'll see who carries the weight of the public mind. I have no patience with men who sneer at a great

CONTINENTAL TRUST CASE IS DISMISSED

Yesterday afternoon, Mr. Justice Morrison dismissed the case of McGregor v. Naden, Pattullo and McCaffery, immediately counsel concluded summing up the evidence. The following was his Lordship's statement:

"In regard to the suit, McGregor v. Naden, Pattullo and McCaffery, I have followed the evidence very closely, and think that I have grasped the drift of the case and of the evidence, and I see no good reason why I should reserve my decision. I feel that I would not be advantaged any by going over the evidence in transcript. It is not complicated and the interests involved are not extensive.

"Having regard to the plaintiff and his contentions, deriving my view from his appearance and his way of giving evidence; having regard to the scope of the defendant's concern; the opportunity the plaintiff had of getting information; his subsequent relationship with Wilson, coupled with the financial crises in Vancouver, and the effect thereof on the plaintiff's finances, I am of the opinion that the plaintiff relied in no way upon anything the defendants may have told him. Any representations, or alleged representations, were, in my opinion, not relied upon by the plaintiff. He relied upon his own investigation.

"With regard to the statement, it at least put him on his guard, assuming that that statement, as has been said by several witnesses, was merely a bare statement, indicating barely the situation. There is no evidence at all that the defendants in any way hampered the plaintiff or put any obstacles in his way.

"If this statement had been taken down to Vancouver by Mr. McCaffery, and given to the plaintiff in the interview, and Mr. McCaffery had supplemented the statement verbally, describing the affairs of the company as being better than they were, and the plaintiff had relied on that; having regard to the distance of the company from Vancouver, and the lack of opportunity to investigate on the part of the plaintiff; then, if he had gone into the matter and parted with his money innocently, there would have been something to say in support of his case. But Mr. McCaffery said he had no statement; had no memorandum, but spoke only from memory. Mr. McGregor was not an inexperienced man. He was a stock broker, and, with all due deference to that profession, that is a profession in which men are always at arm's length, and, in a matter of this kind, and under the circumstances, McGregor did what a prudent stock broker should do. He came to Prince Rupert and was left in the office of the company. It seems to me that McGregor had it all his own way. I cannot see where McGregor was misled.

Captain John B. Harstone has been awarded the D. S. O. for conspicuous gallantry on the field of battle. The following is the official notice of the deed which earned him the coveted honor: "He led his company with great dash in attack and when he lost touch with his battalion commander he assumed command of all the troops around him and consolidated the division and organized the defence, all under heavy fire."

Captain "Jack" Harstone was well known in Prince Rupert in the early days, having been a contractor on the G. T. P. construction work. He is a son of R. B. Harstone, Port Arthur, Ont.

POKER GAME WAS VERY RUDELY INTERRUPTED

The sequel to a gambling raid carried out by officers Baily and Adams on the morning of the 15th was heard in the police court this morning when Magistrate Carss fined John Peters $20 for running the house and Joe Smith, John Gurvich, R. Malkou, John Kavalot and Pete Pavich $7 each for being in a gambling house.

It seems that the officers rudely interrupted a very interesting game of poker and one poor fellow had to ditch a "full house." The magistrate warned them that they had been leniently dealt with and that any others coming up on a similar charge would be much more severely dealt with.

(Special to The Daily News.)

Paris, Nov. 18.—A French aviator travelled alone from Paris right over the territory of the enemy and across the Alps into Italy, a distance of 435 miles without a break.

While travelling over Bavaria, he dropped bombs on Munich, the capital of this German province, in retaliation for the recent German air attack upon Amiens, in which several civilians were killed.

Many Air Fights.

There was comparative quiet along the western front last night, but there were fifty-four aerial engagements yesterday between British and French and the German aviators.

Loos Attacked.

British aeroplanes bombarded the German trenches at Loos and Rulluch and brought down five enemy machines. Three German planes were damaged and the British lost three.

Seaplane Attacks.

London, Nov. 18.—British naval aeroplanes and seaplanes successfully raided the docks and shipping at Ostend and Zeebrugge on the Belgian coast. All returned safely.

AN INSULT

Certain members of the Tory party are bringing discredit on their party by their utterances in regard to the loyalty of members of the opposite party. Recently in Toronto, W. K. McNaught, one of Sir Sam's Honorary Colonels, stated that "the fighting in the war is being done very largely by the Conservative party." The Toronto Globe has the following to say in reply.

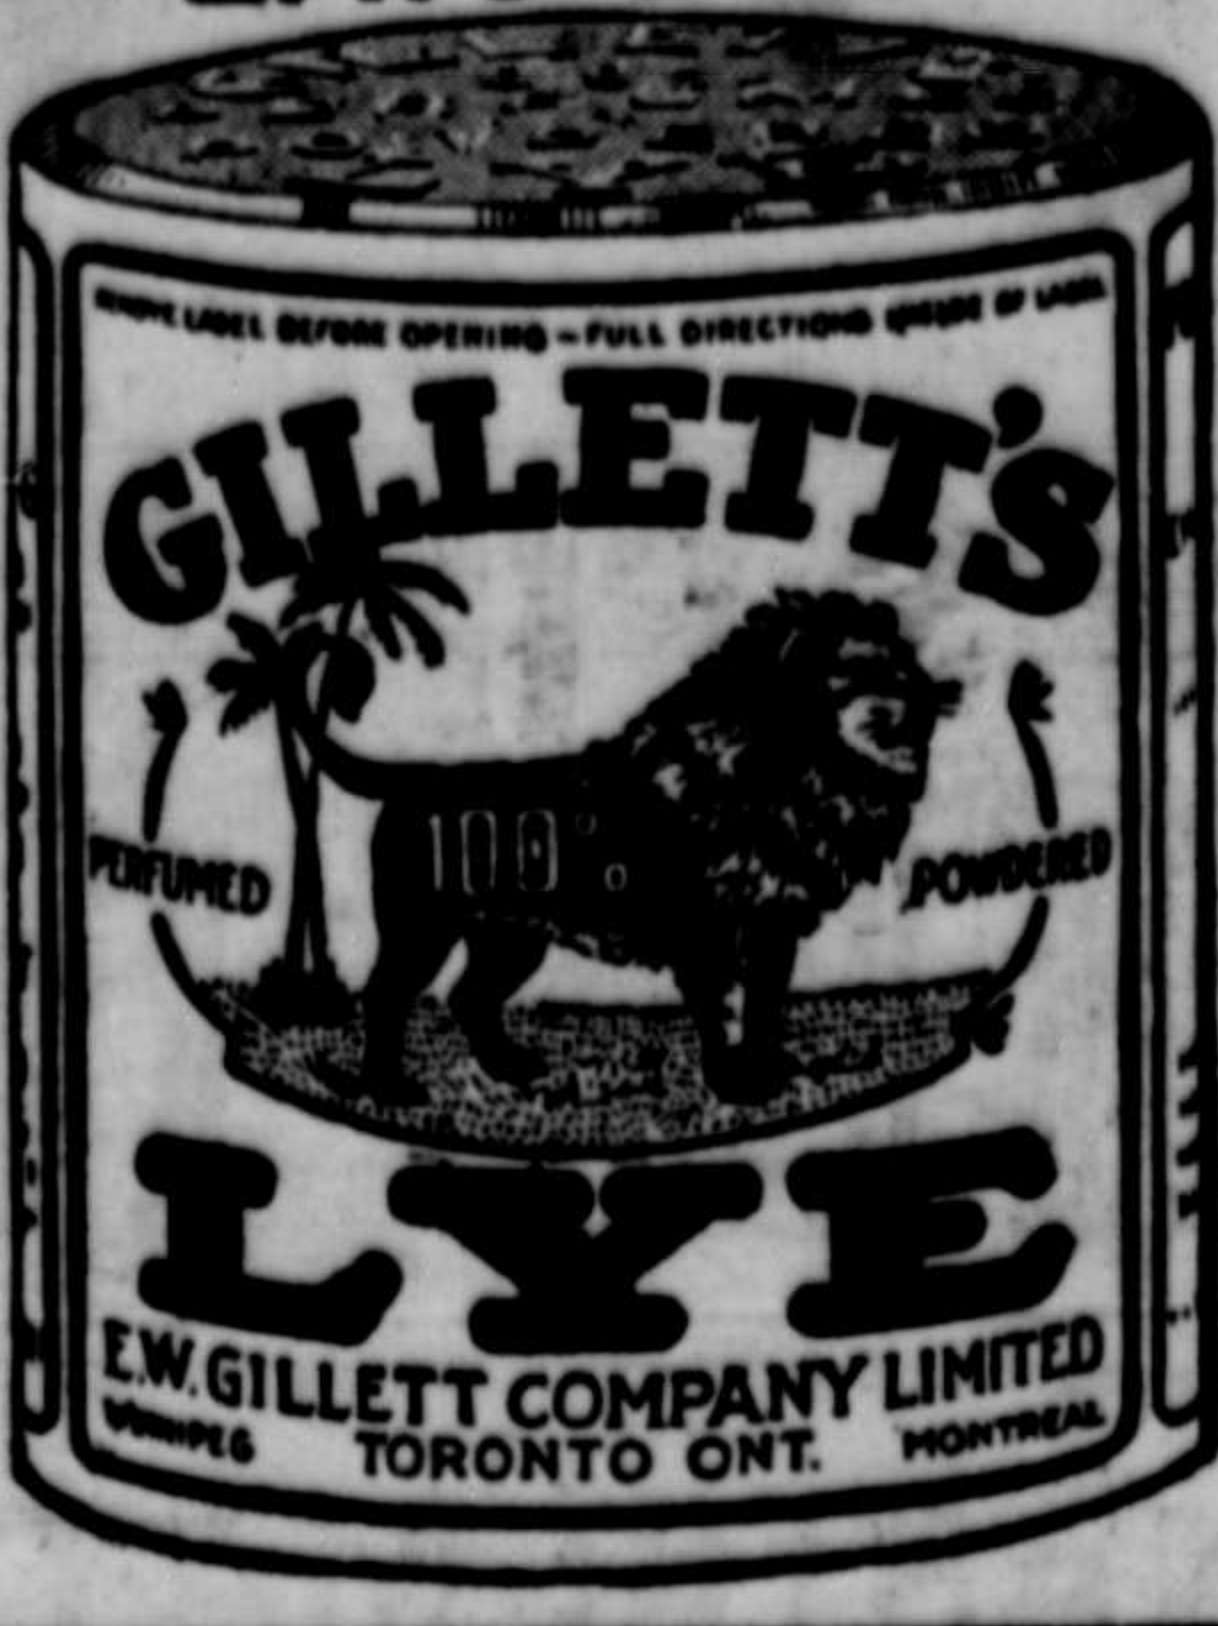

No meaner insult has ever been uttered from a public platform than Mr. W. K. McNaught's declaration that "the fighting in the war is being done very largely by the Conservative party." When the homes of Liberals and Conservatives alike are saddened, in all parts of the Dominion, by news of fathers, brothers, sons, lovers, and dear friends killed, maimed, invalided, or in the harrowing uncertainty of the listed "missing," this flaunted aspersion will deepen the grief not only of the families openly insulted, but of those who recognize the unity of the Dominion and realize that the companions of their dear ones are being cruelly libeled and slandered. Liberals and Conservatives are united in a common sorrow, a common sacrifice, a common hope, and a common determination to pay any necessary price, in blood and treasure, for the triumph of political liberty and national integrity. It will be far more bitter for Conservatives to hear one of their leaders belittling and slandering their companions in arms and their friends bereft of brave and noble kinsmen than for the Liberals who are more free to weigh the source of this insult.

In continuing his aspersions

Mr. McNaught had the patronizing effrontery to say that "many Liberals are loyal." As if it needed saying, and by him! "But I do not think," he continues, "the leaders feel the same as the rank and file." This confining of the false reflection to leaders does not make it less false or less reprehensible. The courage, the energy, and the self-sacrifice of Liberal leaders are quite as conspicuous in every activity that makes for the strength of the Dominion and the Empire as the devotion and fortitude of the rank and file. It would be indeed discouraging if the rank and file of the Conservative party had the same pernicious outlook as their leader Mr. McNaught. His words have condemned himself more strongly than could any retort from that half of the Dominion whom he has publicly insulted. It is not necessary to say anything about his loyalty or his decency, but it is necessary to absolve freely the rank and file of the Conservative party from all suspicion of echoing or believing the slander he has uttered.

When the Empire was at peace the disloyalty cry as a piece of election claptrap was merely contemptible. Now it is dangerous and likely to import an aspect of weakness when strength is all-important. Fortunately the service of Liberals in every field of activity is a complete answer throughout the Dominion to this public insult, but for the sake of the effect where the truth is not so well known Premier Borden and Premier Hearst should repudiate the slanderous aspersions as publicly as they have been expressed.

man who has gone up and down the country like a living dynamo stirring enthusiasm everywhere. Canada has been made one grand furnace of seething energy by Canada's Minister of Militia. He is worthy of the homage and admiration of every true Briton.

"Sir Sam's Own."

Dr. Sheard's purple eulogium was emphasized by Lieut.-Col. Guthrie, who declared he intended to call the regiment he was raising "Sir Sam's Own," for, said he, "they will never sully the name of the greatest statesman-warrior that Canada and the Empire ever produced."

"There are too many people knocking Sir Sam Hughes," said Colonel Guthrie, "too many people who have done nothing else but knock. Where would Canada have been today if it had not been for the present Minister of Militia? Canada, like England, was too slothful in the times of peace. She wouldn't give three vessels. There was no emergency. Canada in her hour of need, turned to her only son with shoulders broad enough and ready to carry her burden. On the broad shoulders of Sir Sam Hughes that burden was placed, and he's carrying that burden yet. Young Canadians came from north, south, east and west to answer the call of Sir Sam Hughes."

Knock, Knock, Knock.

"This leader of men is idolized by the soldiers, but some of his own friends, who have done little themselves, knock, knock, and knock because certain politicians do not get as many things out of his department as they want—that's why they knock."

Mike Krook has received word that F. Varrick and Mike Kizisky, two of his fellow countrymen who enlisted from here, have been wounded. Both men were formerly employed by Mr. Burgess at Lorne Creek.

FRENCH ARE PREPARING FOR SPRING OFFENSIVE

Paris, Nov. 17.—One of the most interesting developments in contemplation by the Minister of Munitions is the erection of an immense arsenal, a sort of French Krupp's, in the centre of France.

When this establishment is in working order at the beginning of spring it will employ many thousands of hands, and turn out shells for "75's" and missiles of heavy calibre, besides manufacturing light and heavy artillery. The arsenal buildings cover nearly 900 acres, and cost over four millions sterling.

M. Fernand Merlin, Deputy for the Loire, who obtained these details from M. Albert Thomas himself, states that the construction of this enormous military depot is not only intended to furnish an illimitable supply of guns and aeroplanes. The French Lloyd George sees much further.

He recognises that as soon as an armistice is declared a large number of firms making munitions will seek to devote themselves to the arts of peace. It is just at that moment that France must not slacken her efforts.

When the invaders are expelled from the country and the inhabitants return to their previous occupations there will be an enormous need of tools and machinery of all kinds for mills, factories, and workshops. Then the arsenal of death will become the arsenal of progress, and aid France in regaining its place among the happy and contented peoples of Europe.

That nothing may be lacking to secure the comfort of workers in the arsenal, he is planning the building of a model city at its gates, where the inhabitants will be lodged in healthy, spacious houses, with baths, gardens, and other desirable accessories for those with large families.

pany, I would not expect a man of any prudence to take anybody's views on that question, when he himself had the opportunity of investigating. I think that McGregor was impressed and satisfied that the thing just suited him, and the only matter of speculation was as to what his expectations were. Until things got bad, he was satisfied to put this thing on a footing so that he could dispose of the whole matter, or make money out of it if he retained it. I do not think he had been misled or deceived at all. These are cases which the courts have come to look upon with suspicion.

"On the other hand, when the plaintiff chooses to allege fraud, at his peril, he must prove it, and prove it conclusively. He alleges that the defendants defrauded him—DEFRAUDED HIM (repeated his Lordship meaningly). There is no compromise about that. The plaintiff has not produced any evidence in support of such an allegation. I do not think he has proven that the statements were fraudulent or that he was induced to enter into this relationship with the company by any of the defendants, individually or collectively.

"As to the bond, and to the extent that it enters into the statement of claim, I accept the evidence of the defendants as to that."

CASUALTY MESSAGES ARE TRANSMITTED FREE

The Grand Trunk Pacific Telegraph Company, through Mr. G. B. Brien, city manager, makes the following announcement which will prove of considerable interest to relatives of soldiers serving at the front:

Every soldier's next of kin, whose address has been changed since the last directory was published, and every such person whose name does not appear in the directory or telephone book, should register at the Grand Pacific Telegraph Company's office their name, new and old address, soldier's name and regimental number.

No charge of any description is made on the addressee for transmission or delivery of official telegrams regarding casualties, and no payment should be made to any person in connection with them.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Telegraph Company will transmit free of charge three messages to the record office in Ottawa requesting information of any soldier who has been reported wounded or missing. Official notice from Ottawa must be presented at the Telegraph Company's office when making request for this service.

Any "next of kin" to a soldier, who finds the name of the soldier in the casualty list, and who has not been officially notified, may send a collect message to the office in charge of records at Ottawa, requesting information.

2,000,000 Belgians Depend on us for Bread!

Since shortly after the German invasion, the Belgians have depended for food entirely on the "Commission for Relief in Belgium". Their own store of food, even if not destroyed or pillaged, would last only three weeks—they have had no chance to raise more—and the ruthless Germans refuse to supply them!

Backed by the

so generously contributed in the British Empire and the United States, the neutral Belgian Relief Commission has imported enough wheat, flour and other foods to feed the whole nation so far. The great majority of the 7,000,000 Belgians left in the country have been able to pay for their daily allowance of bread—but a steadily growing number have no money left.

Unless we are willing to let these hundreds of thousands of women, children and old men starve, they must be fed at the expense of the Belgian Relief Fund. To make this possible someone must contribute nearly $3,000,000 a month—every month—all this winter!

No people under the Allied flag are as well able to contribute generously as we Canadians! No cause has ever been more deserving of help! In the name of Justice and Humanity—for the sake of our own self-respect—let us give all we can to help our martyred Allies!

Three Mighty Forces Close Linked

Have you ever noted how an audience yawns in the face of an uninspired speaker?

On the other hand, have you noted how an audience will lean forward and grasp the chair arms when the speaker reveals enthusiasm?

Enthusiasm is the buoyant expression of truth. To impart belief in anything, a man must believe it deeply himself. We call such a man an enthusiast.

This applies to the written word also—particularly to advertisements. When the manufacturer really believes in his wares, his enthusiasm will almost inevitably find expression in Advertising. And enthusiasm will be contagious—his audience—the readers of the newspaper—will, figuratively speaking, "lean forward and listen intently."

To be convincing an advertisement must convey an unmistakable impression of enthusiasm. This it will only do when the article advertised has inherent worth.

Thus we have:

Sincerity -- Enthusiasm -- Advertising:
Three mighty forces, close-linked.

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper. If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto.

ATTENTION VOTERS

Persons who hold lots under agreements, or assignment of agreement, must make a declaration giving particulars of their title, before the last day of November.
Any person neglecting to take such declaration will not be entered on the voters' list.

It is impossible for me to ascertain the names of agreement holders unless they come in personally.
It will greatly facilitate matters if persons wishing to make declaration bring their agreements, so that I may inspect them and thus prevent errors.

Reference to old voters' lists satisfies me that only a small proportion of agreement holders have registered in past years. This, I believe, has happened because people wrongly think their names will be inserted without any action on their part. I therefore call special attention to the necessity of agreement holders making declarations.
FRED PETERS, City Clerk.

GLOWING TRIBUTE TO CAPTAIN CARSS

The following is a copy of the letter received by Judge Carss
from Lt.-Col. Warden:

France, October 26, 1916.

Judge Carss, Prince Rupert.

Dear Sir:—I regret to have to inform you of the death of one of the noblest, bravest, and most popular officers that ever fell fighting for his country—that one was your son Adair. It is utterly impossible for me to express in words the sorrow I feel at losing an officer I hoped to have as one of my senior officers. You must be a proud father to have had a son who has proved a hero.

He was attempting to make a wounded German more comfortable (who died soon after, he was wounded so badly), when he suddenly threw a bomb at Adair, causing his death.

I loved him as my own brother;
the longer we knew him the more popular he became. He would now have been promoted to major had he lived. The battalion led in the attack and went over like a wall, and Adair was one of the first in the trench, (the famous Regina Trench).

Please convey my sincere regrets and sympathy, and also those of my officers and men to his mother, who must be a noble woman to rear a son like Adair.

With very kind regards, believe me, Yours very sincerely,
L. W. WARDEN, Lt.-Col.

GEORGE WILSON LOST BROTHER AT THE FRONT

An issue of The Scotsman just to hand announces that Second Lieut. S. Ross Wilson, Argyll & Sutherland Highlanders, has been killed in action. Lieut. Wilson, who was a brother of George Wilson, of Prince Rupert, was but 24 years of age and enlisted at Bristol thirteen months ago. Another brother is now on his way to India, en route for Mesopotania. The sympathy of all citizens will go out to Mr. and Mrs.
George Wilson in their bereavement.

dian Engineers, whose headquarters are at North Vancouver, are for development. Promotion is rapid to anyone possessing constructive instinct. Carpenters, miners, wheelwrights, fitters, plumbers, electricians, etc., as well as handy men without experience, are wanted. The recruiting offices for the Canadian Engineers are at the corner of Hastings and Homer Streets, Vancouver, and at 606 View Street, Victoria. Free transportation arranged from any part of British Columbia.

Battalion and blacksmiths, teamsters, chaffcutters, sawyers, fiers,

Frank Dowling, who was wounded recently by several pieces of shrapnel, is in hospital at Sheffield, England. Frank saw the tanks operating at the attack on the Regina trench. He was greatly tickled at the reception of the monsters by the Germans.

Mrs. Jack Venables has received an interesting letter from the trenches from her nephew, Eric Buckstone, of Nelson. He is a bugler and only sixteen years of age. Though the youngster is far from home for one so young,
he is enjoying the fighting immensely.

It now transpires that the second and third verses of the Russian National Anthem, so splendily rendered by the school children, were composed by Mrs.
Klowner, of the local teaching staff.
The music carried with it only one verse, and this talented lady at once provided two more.

Norman Duncan, of the staff of the Bank of B. N. A., left for Prince George this morning. Last evening he was the guest of honor at a bright little dance given by Mrs. Thompson at The Ark. About thirty young folks were present and dancing was indulged in until an early hour this morning.

"THE CROOKED ROAD" AT THE WESTHOLME THEATRE

comedy, "When Wife Sleeps."

"The Red Widow" will be shown along with a full program in the Majestic Theatre. John Barrymore is great in this five-act comedy and any who missed it last night should be at the Majestic tonight.
