TERRIBLE SLAUGHTER OF GERMAN TROOPS

FRENCH GUNS WIPE OUT ATTACKING FORCE OF PICKED MEN NEAR LASSIGNY

GERMAN PICKED TROOPS ROUTED BY THE FRENCH

Machine Gun Fire Wiped Out Nearly Every Man in German Raid on Arras.

(Special to The Daily News.)

Paris, Dec. 15.—Forty thousand picked German troops, equipped with abundant artillery, attacked the French lines at Lassigny yesterday. After an intense bombardment, lasting for several hours, the enemy reached the French trenches, concentrating their attack upon a front of three hundred yards.

Terrible Slaughter.

The French, who were thoroughly prepared for the infantry attack following the intensive artillery preparation, were not taken by surprise and had been able to cover their machine guns from the enemy's bombardment. As the Germans approached to close quarters, they were met by a withering fire from the French machine guns which inflicted terrible casualties. The slaughter was terrific, only a few survivors of the attacking German columns escaping.

British Success.

London, Dec. 15.—The British succeeded in entering the German trenches in the neighborhood of Arras last night and inflicted heavy casualties. The enemy attempted to make raids in the vicinity of Hullock but were repulsed, the British capturing a number of prisoners.

KILLED IN ACTION

Mr. Smithers, of the Bank of B. N. A., has received the sad news that P. K. Beall, who was on Mr. Smithers' staff here for a few months, has been killed in action. Mr. Beall, though in the city for only a short time, made many friends, and it will be with deep regret that they will learn of his death.

The congregation of the Church of England on Sunday evening will have the privilege of hearing an address on "Trench Life in France," by Captain Percy A. Godenrath. This ought to prove exceedingly interesting as few men have had a better chance to see what trench life is like. Visitors at the service will be welcomed.

PREMIER TAKES STRONG STAND ON PEACE TERMS

Adequate Reparation for the Past and Adequate Security for the Future Demanded—Terms Reach Washington.

(Special to The Daily News.)

London, Dec. 15.—Premier Lloyd George, addressing the House of Commons last night, alluding to the German peace proposals, reiterated Mr. Asquith's declaration, made some weeks ago when there were rumors that an effort towards peace would be made, that Great Britain and her Allies require an adequate reparation for the past and adequate security for the future.

New War Credit.

A new war credit of four hundred million pounds (two billion dollars) was passed by the House. The supplementary estimates provide for one million more men of all ranks for army service.

Premier Ill.

This morning, Premier Lloyd George's condition took a turn for the worse. His physicians have ordered him to remain in bed.

Washington and Peace.

Washington, Dec. 15.—The German and Austrian peace proposals have arrived here. The proposals of both Germany and Austria are worded almost identically and neither contains any changed meaning from the previously published semi-official versions.

Entente diplomats at Washington strongly hint that the first rejection of the proposals will be reconsidered, while it is believed in official circles here that America will be given a wide latitude in asking further consideration by all belligerents. There is a general opinion that the Allies will ask for the full peace plans of the Kaiser. Several of the representatives of European nations believe there is new hope of ending the war.

BLUE-BIRD NIGHTS

Tonight and tomorrow are Blue-Bird nights at the Westholme Theatre, when Carter and Flora de Haven will be presented in a great five-act comedy-drama, "The Wrong Door". Blue-Bird films are splendidly staged and have attained a popularity to which they are justly entitled. They aim at a well-balanced production in which a story is unfolded, rather than at the featuring of one particular star.

SAWMILL CONSTRUCTION WILL BE RUSHED ALONG

E. F. Duby, who has severed his connection with the Brunette sawmill Company, New Westminster, to take charge of the Emerson sawmill at Prince Rupert, expects to remain in the city for a week or ten days completing arrangements for the beginning of construction work at Seal Cove.

Mr. Duby assured The Daily News yesterday that, so far as the Grand Trunk Pacific is concerned, the mill is an assured fact. "I was surprised to find so much criticism in your city of the actions of the company in regard to the granting of a lease," said Mr. Duby. "So far as Mr. Emerson and myself are concerned, we have nothing but satisfaction to express in regard to our dealings with the company. The local officials, Mr. Mehan and Mr. McNicholl, showed us the utmost courtesy and willingness to meet us fairly and openly, while the officials at headquarters did the same. Naturally, they had to be shown that Mr. Emerson was strong enough financially and commercially to undertake the building up of a permanent industry here, but the moment the credentials were produced, there was not the slightest question as to the outcome of the negotiations. One cannot expect the Grand Trunk Pacific to give a long lease of valuable waterfront property to everyone who comes along with a proposition, but I feel satisfied that the company is

VILLA ADVANCING TOWARDS TORRIEN

(Special to The Daily News.)

El Paso, Texas, Dec. 15.—According to private information, Villa has extended his lines south of Chihuahua and is advancing towards Torrien. He has left a sufficient force to protect his supplies of ammunition in western Chihuahua and has also left a garrison around his base hospital at Guerrero. It is reported that Santa Rosalie and Jiminez have been re-occupied by Villa's forces.

TEUTONS IN RUMANIA ADVANCING UNCHECKED

(Special to The Daily News.)

Paris, Dec. 15.—The Teutons in Rumania have crossed the Jablonitz River and the invaders continue to advance unchecked in that region.

The Germans have also bombarded Monastir, which was recently taken from the Bulgarians by the Allies, and are bombarding the entire Allied front in that sector.

Sydney, N. S. W., Dec. 15.—The Australian government has contracted with the Imperial authorities for the supply of all available meat and wool throughout the year 1917.

FESTUBERT DESCRIBED BY COLONEL GUTHRIE

At the luncheon given by the Canadian Club yesterday, in the Central Hotel, in honor of Lt.-Col. Percy A. Guthrie, Bishop Du Vernet presided over a representative gathering of citizens. After a substantial lunch had been disposed of and His Majesty duly honored, Bishop Du Vernet, in a short speech of welcome to the officers of the 236th Battalion, introduced Col. Guthrie to the audience.

The commanding officer of the New Brunswick Kilties took as his subject the battle of Festubert, fought from May 19th to 29th, 1915. The colonel pointed out that the object of this battle was to bring Lille, with its iron and coal resources, within the Allied lines. The British plan was to reduce the city by means of 18-inch guns, but this the French objected to, and an alternative plan of attack by the French and British from different angles was agreed upon, the French point of attack being Artois, and that of the British, Festubert. The part played in the battle by the 16th being well known to us here, Col. Guthrie devoted his descriptive powers to an account of the part played by the 10th and 8th Battalions, in the former of which he was major.

After telling of how they captured 100 yards of the first communication trench on the 20th May and another 225 yards later, he gave a most graphic description of the attempt to reduce K 5, a German machine gun embattlement, which the artillery was supposed to have reduced. A reconnaissance showed that what the artillery had really reduced was a dummy fort raised by the enemy fifty yards away from the real fort, but, nevertheless, the attack had to be made as the order had been given. Formed in three gradually spreading lines, the Canadians crept up, and, at the moment when the fire was stopped on the first trenches to become a barrage on the second and third, they charged. The German flares went up, and they dropped until they went out and then went forward again. The man on the left had to tackle the strongest point, and, out of 260 men, only 6 came out unwounded. The rest lay scattered around, having faced what they knew to be almost certain death, without a murmur. On the right, they did better, their bombers putting the Germans to flight and enabling them to gain about 200 yards which they held.

Along with this tragic story of death and heroism, Col. Guthrie told several amusing and thrilling stories of incidents in the charge and concluded by saying that this charge was simply one of many which, when the history of the war was known, would outstrip even the charge of the Light Brigade at Balaclava. He said that the battle of Festubert was one of the turning points in the war, as it was the means of the forming of the Munitions Board, as Britain had at last realized

GRILSE LIMPS INTO HARBOR MINUS SIX MEN

Missing Canadian Torpedo Boat Turns up—Free Farm Lands for Returned Canadian Soldiers.

(Special to The Daily News.)

Halifax, Dec. 15.—The Canadian torpedo boat Grilse, which was reported lost with all hands, has limped into Shelbourne harbor with six of her crew missing, the poor fellows having been washed overboard during the storm.

The captain declared that passing steamers ignored his signals of distress. His wireless apparatus failed on account of the flooding of the engine room having put the dynamo out of business.

For Our Soldiers.

Ottawa, Dec. 15.—It is the intention of the government to introduce legislation at the approaching session of the House of Commons for the granting of free farming land and other assistance for the returned Canadian soldiers.

Coal Haulage.

The Railway Commission has issued judgment regarding the hauling of coal, which has been a vexed question on the prairies this winter owing to the shortage of cars. The commission orders the railway companies to move coal over their own lines and also to points on other railways, having the company over whose line the haul is longest furnish the cars.

Kemp Unopposed.

Toronto, Dec. 15.—Hon. A. E. Kemp, who was appointed Minister of Militia in succession to Sir Sam Hughes, has been elected by acclamation, the Liberals refusing to contest the seat under the circumstances.

SERVICE

After hearing Colonel Guthrie's magnificent speech on the war, one is impressed more strongly than ever of the necessity for National Service throughout Canada and the Empire. In the light of the facts brought out by this returned officer, it is apparent that, up to the present, in spite of all the magnificent efforts that have been put forth, Canada has been only playing at war. Canada has done much, but what has been done only goes to show how much remains to be accomplished. There is no call to give way to pessimism, but there is an instant demand for the husbanding of every dollar; of every resource, and the energy of every unit of Canada's manpower.

Enlistment for overseas service is a matter for each man to consider and decide upon according to the dictates of his own conscience, but there are many thousands of men throughout Canada who feel impelled to go, but who are held here by ties which they feel in duty bound not to break. If the National Service Board works along the right lines, it may solve many such problems and release for war service, thousands who are at present anxious but undecided as to their line of action.

What Canada needs today is a Lloyd George who will get down to business and put the whole Dominion on a war footing, not forgetting the enemy aliens in our midst, who would welcome the overthrow of Canada and the British Empire, and there are such still at large and enjoying the freedom of Canadian institutions. Canada needs a war council of men entirely outside of politics, and, above all things, the Dominion needs a leader. Drastic action is imperative and it must be instant action. The only solution seems to be the appointing of a war council outside of politics entirely, leaving the two parties to conduct the internal affairs of the Dominion as of old. The old methods have ended in chaos and wasted millions, and the situation calls for men of the Lloyd George stamp who will forget tradition and precedent, and who will handle the situation along similar lines to those about to be adopted in Britain. It is a crime that one man should have to lay down his life on the firing line, while another of the same race stays at home and makes millions out of the disaster which led to the death of his fellow.

A LOFTY MESSAGE

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech of last week, though intended primarily for his own constituency, has a message for the whole of Canada. It is a measure of his national significance that this should be so. He was addressing men of his own blood and faith. He has since the beginning of the war been the target for bitter abuse upon sectional grounds. Yet no trace of retaliation in kind occurred in his words, and his appeal would have had equal force whether heard in Halifax or Vancouver, instead of Quebec. In language of the loftiest simplicity he made his plea, as he said himself, not to any cold sense of necessity, but to the hearts of his hearers. He asked the young men to go and fight, not as an obligation, although the obligation exists, but for love of justice and liberty. England, he showed, is herself fighting for others. Canada is not now fighting for either herself or England so much as for Christian civilization, menaced by Germany.

He pointed out that even after raising an army of four million men, as well as keeping the seas, England is now passing through a political crisis because she feels that she has not done enough. Canada's duty in the face of this is plain and inescapable. And Quebec, of all the provinces, has the best of reasons to admire British institutions, and to fight for their maintenance.—Vancouver Province.

Good Shoes Need Protection From Wet, Like Good Clothes!

High Price of Shoes, and Low Price of Rubbers and Overshoes, Spreading This Commonsense View

Many a man, and woman, too, who would never think of letting a good suit get damp, will thoughtlessly splash through slush and water with an expensive pair of shoes, caring little so long as the feet do not get too wet.

This treatment takes it out of shoes just as much as it would out of clothes, for none but the heaviest waterproofed leather, unsuitable for general wear, can stand repeated wetting and give more than half the service it should. In these days, with shoes costing two to five dollars a pair more than before the war, no one who is at all in sympathy with the Empire-wide movement for thrift will deliberately continue such waste.

Fortunately, indeed, rubber has not followed the upward trend of almost every other necessity of life, but in the raw state is even cheaper than before the war. So, though labor, fabrics and chemicals cost more, and a war tax is paid on crude rubber as well as on the other materials, rubbers and overshoes, except in a few cases, have not advanced in price. Thus a pair of rubbers, costing perhaps one-fifth as much as your shoes, will practically double their service and save you repair bills. At the same time they will be protecting you from colds by keeping your feet really dry and comfortable in any weather.

The Poor Man's University

"JONES knows more about motor cars than any other man I know," said a man to his friend. "He has obtained his knowledge chiefly from motor car advertisements, and the catalogues and booklets circulated through them."

"All I know about photography," declared a well-known amateur, "I have learned from the men who advertise cameras, plates, papers and films."

Advertisements have been well called "The Poor Man's University," but other than poor men have been schooled thereby.

Much of what the average individual knows concerning personal and domestic hygiene, modern office methods, books and authors, electricity, precious stones, investments, and almost everything else, he has learned from advertisements.

Advertisements have stimulated our intelligence, added enormously to our knowledge, and given us aspirations which have raised us to higher levels of thinking and living. Advertising is indeed "The Poor Man's University."

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.
If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 563, Lumsden Building, Toronto.

that men were of no use against machinery.

He also gave a remarkably vivid description of how it feels to be blown up by a sixty-pound shell, which left him with a broken hip, a leg broken in two places and an ankle out, besides having his stomach torn open. Gruesome though it was, the colonel made an amusing story of it.

In concluding an address which was followed almost breathlessly, Colonel Guthrie said that life in the trenches has worked great changes in men. There is a religion of the trenches; a religion which knows no particular church or denomination, and which knows no nationality. All that it asked was that a man play the part of a man. There had been talk before the war of the going down of the race. He said that this war had shown that the men of today are stronger in mind, if not in body, than those of centuries ago. He made a plea for the men coming back and asked that every man who could go to the front would do so now, as men are wanted. He concluded by declaring that conscription must come in Canada as in Britain.

Bishop Du Vernet expressed the deep appreciation of the Canadian Club of the speaker for his inspiring address.

QUEEN WILHELMINA SNUBBED THE KAISER

Some years ago Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, when she was in Berlin, was asked to take part in a great military review. First of all a troop of soldiers, each man six feet in height, passed. They had a fine martial bearing. The Kaiser looked at the young Queen with an air of interrogation which seemed to say: "Well, what do you think of them?"

Queen Wilhelmina smiled and shook her head. "They're not tall enough," said she.

A little later a whole regiment marched past, every man in which was at least six feet five inches in height.

"They are not tall enough," said the young Queen again, still with the same smile.

"Not tall enough!" exclaimed the Kaiser. "What do you mean?"

"I mean," explained the Queen, "that when we open our dykes the depth of the water in the inundated parts is over eight feet."

Is it the recollection of this anecdote that has, so far, prevented the Kaiser from allowing Dutch neutrality to be violated by his troops? —Exchange.

always ready and most willing to do everything they can to meet any concern which is able to show that they can establish a permanent industry in Prince Rupert.

Asked as to the negotiations with the government, Mr. Doby said that he had no doubt but that they would be carried through successfully. "There are a few matters to be arranged with the city," said the representative of Mr. Emerson. "We want power to the extent of 500 h.p. and we also want water. We have found throughout our negotiations that your mayor is a business man, and I want to say that Mayor McCaffery and his aldermen have given us every encouragement to locate here. We want no favors, but we want power at a reasonable price and, if the city is prepared to meet us in this, we shall use the city power. Failing a satisfactory arrangement, we shall put in a plant of our own, but I have no doubt that a satisfactory arrangement will be made both as to power and water."

When the matter of power, water, etc., have been settled, Mr. Doby will return south to have the plans for the mill prepared. He does not expect that it will be shipping before August, but construction work will be rushed along as soon as possible.
