WASHINGTON TAKES BRITAIN BY SURPRISE

PANIC ON STOCK EXCHANGE — AUSTRIA AND HUNGARY ARE FACING FAMINE

PRESIDENT WILSON'S NOTE TOOK BRITAIN BY SURPRISE

MEMBERS OF GOVERNMENT THOUGHT WILSON HAD NO INTENTION OF INTERFERING — WASHINGTON BELIEVES PEACE MEASURABLY NEARER — A PANIC ON STOCK EXCHANGE

(Special to The Daily News)

London, Dec. 22.—President Wilson's note urging a peace conference was received with startled surprise by Great Britain. The government frankly admits that they believed the president had no intention of taking steps toward peace or the making of any move in European affairs. Members of both Houses of Parliament expressed absolute surprise and the public were equally surprised on reading of it in the morning papers.

When President Wilson transmitted Germany's note to Britain without comment, it was assumed that the action represented his general attitude towards the whole situation.

Washington Views.

Washington, Dec. 22.—The danger of the United States being drawn into the war by reason of its increasingly difficult position as a neutral was one of the moving considerations in President Wilson's note to the belligerents.

The Kaiser has summoned Ambassador Gerard to discuss the peace conference, and mediation by the United States is expected to be the chief topic of conversation at the interview. The general opinion here is that peace has been brought measurably nearer as the result of Wilson's note. It is believed here that the success of the peace movement now rests with Britain.

The text of President Wilson's note has not been made public in London or Paris until the cabinets have discussed it. France and Russia are expected to resent it.

It was reported here that Secretary Lansing had issued a statement on the note which is construed as a threat to Germany. The White House hastened to make a denial of any such intention.

Panic on Wall Street.

New York, Dec. 22.—The stock market went through the most exciting day in its history yesterday, with one exception, when news was issued regarding Wilson's note to the belligerents.

Secretary Lansing's first explanatory statement regarding America's intentions caused forced selling on a scale and of a volume which fairly dwarfed all the operations which followed the announcement of the German peace proposals. Prices were slaughtered to the extent of from five to ten and fifteen points, and in one case to 33.

Buxton's Views.

London, Dec. 22.—Sydney Buxton, Liberal member for North Norfolk, said in the House of Commons last night that he hoped that the British government would welcome the aid of the United States in negotiating for terms. He paid a generous tribute to the generosity of the United States towards Belgium and to the help which had been given to the Entente Powers by America. He said that there are 30,000 Americans fighting for the Allies and that America was with us in the war because of the invasion of Belgium and the German campaign of "frightfulness."

Separate Replies.

The Allies will make separate replies to the German peace proposals. The reason for this is not that the Entente Powers are not agreed on general principles, but because each came into the war under different conditions, calling for somewhat different statements.

SPLENDID RECITAL OF "CHRISTMAS CAROL"

The finest entertainment and literary treat ever given in the city—such was the unanimous verdict of all those who were privileged to attend Principal Brady's recital of Dickens' "Christmas Carol" in the Methodist Church last evening.

All over the world, in crowded cities and humble hamlets this—perhaps the most attractive and effective of the writings of Charles Dickens—never fails at this season of the year to command the attention and homage of its numerous admirers.

As a recital, the "Christmas Carol" is new to Prince Rupert, and doubtless this accounts for the audience not being so large as desired, but it is safe to say that a repetition would ensure a packed house.

Principal Brady, in his own inimitable manner, caused the various characters in the story to live before his audience, and Tiny Tim, Scrooge, and the ghost of Marley each played their part in realistic fashion.

Other items contributed during the evening were an organ solo by Miss E. M. Eason; song, "Star of Bethlehem," by J. E. Davey, who responded to an encore with "The Holy City," and the solo, "Nazareth," by Meth Davies. These were rendered excellently and received most hearty appreciation. A delightful Christmas festival was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

ANOTHER LINER GONE.—This is a picture of the Anchor liner Caledonia, which was recently sunk by a German submarine, and her commander, Captain Blaikie, taken prisoner by the enemy. Questions were asked in the British House of Commons the other day regarding the safety of Captain Blaikie, and the inference to be drawn from Mr. Bonar-Law's reply was that notable German prisoners would be considered as hostages.

CANADIAN NAVY
Ottawa, Dec. 22.—The Canadian government intends immediately to augment the Canadian fleet patrolling the North Atlantic and eastern Canadian shores on account of the German submarines which are operating on the Atlantic trade routes.

E. F. DUBY GONE SOUTH TO COMPLETE PLANS

E. F. Duby, who is in charge of the arrangements regarding the construction and operation of the Emerson sawmill here, has gone south to have the plans prepared. He expects to return here early in February, bringing Mrs. Duby with him.

Just as soon as the final arrangements are completed, the contract for clearing the site will be let and work should be well under way early in the spring.

CHRISTMAS SERVICES

There will be a special Christmas service of praise in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening. Solos will be rendered by Mr. Stewart Langille, of Winnipeg, and the choir will sing Christmas carols. In the morning, a special children's Christmas service will be held. 300.

CASE DISMISSED

The case against Jim Calderone, charged with keeping liquor for sale, at his house on Eighth Ave., was dismissed this morning. There was no evidence to show that he had sold liquor.

LIBERALS RETURNED
Vancouver, Dec. 22.—Both of the Liberal ministers were returned in the by-elections yesterday. Hon. Ralph Smith got 7,296 votes; Hon. M. A. Macdonald, 5,012, and D. E. McTaggart, Independent Liberal, 3,872. The total vote polled was very small.

WELSHMEN WORE BIG SMILES THIS MORNING

The Welsh boys in town were wearing broad smiles this morning, and one wondered if Lloyd George had been doing something spectacular. It transpired, however, that what they were so tickled over was the victory of another "gallant little Welshman," Jimmy Wilde, flyweight champion of the world, over the "Zulu Kid," of New York, who went over there to wrest the championship from the Welshman. Lloyd George reigns supreme in the hearts of the Welsh, but little Jimmy Wilde and Freddy Welsh run him pretty close in the affections of the public of Wales. The Welsh are proud indeed of their three little champions, who are all fighters, though in different spheres.

AUSTRIA AND HUNGARY ARE FACING FAMINE

Antagonism Growing Between the Two Countries—Peace Agitation Widespread—Greek Situation.

(Special to The Daily News.)

Rome, Dec. 22.—From responsible sources information has reached the Vatican that the food scarcity in Austria and Hungary practically amounts to famine.

Internal conditions in Austria are decidedly serious and the antagonism between Austria and Hungary is growing more acute. Grave political complications are threatened and the anti-war agitation is widespread and growing to such an extent that the authorities cannot repress it.

Greek Situation.

London, Dec. 22.—The latest note of the Entente Allies to Greece is said to contain a demand for the control of all telegraphs, mails and railways; the release of all Venizelist prisoners; the prohibition of the meeting of reservists and an inquiry by a mixed commission into the disturbances of December 1st and 2nd.

Rumanian Front.

Amsterdam, Dec. 22.—The Dobrudja region is the scene of a fearful conflict between the Teutonic forces and the Russians and Rumanians. The Germans carried several heights in the region of Balabanica and Dachkoi but were driven from them by terrific counter attacks by the Allied armies.

On other portions of the Rumanian front, the enemy is advancing gradually, in spite of a desperate resistance by the Russians and Rumanians.

ORDINATION SERVICE AT ANYOX YESTERDAY

An ordination service was held in Christ Church, Anyox, on Thursday morning, when Rev. F. G. Shepherd was advanced to the priesthood by Bishop Du Vernet. Canon Rix joined in the impressive ceremony of the laying on of hands. The Bishop gave a brief address on St. Thomas, often called "Doubting Thomas," but it must be remembered that through honest doubt he quickly rose to the heights of faith and became "Believing Thomas."

BRITISH AIRMEN DROP BOMBS ON GERMAN LINES

Ton of High Explosives Dropped on Military Buildings—German Planes are Brought Down.

(Special to The Daily News.)

London, Dec. 22.—The enemy reached the British trenches near Lens but was promptly ejected, while south of Armentieres the British raided the German trenches and captured a number of prisoners.

British aviators dropped a ton of high explosives on the German military buildings and behind the enemy lines on the Ypres front. One German aeroplane was destroyed; another was driven down, and six others were damaged. Four British machines are missing.

The French destroyed a German gas machine near Rheims yesterday.

Macedonian Front.

Paris, Dec. 22. (Official). Snow and rain continue to fall heavily along the Macedonian front and operations are confined mostly to intermittent artillery fire. There has been heavy artillery fighting in the region of Majadaja, on the Struma section and some particularly violent exchanges in the region of Hill 1050. There has been a sharp engagement at the bend of the Cerna River.

Italian Steamer Sunk.

The sinking of an Italian steamer in collision with the French armored cruiser Ernest Renan is reported in a despatch from Marseilles. Several persons, most of them passengers, were drowned.

Rebels Released.

London, Dec. 22.—Acting on instructions from the Home Secretary, the Irish rebels, who were imprisoned after the disturbance in Dublin, have been released. According to a statement in the House of Commons last night, the interned men will be sent to their homes.

NATIONAL SERVICE

Canada, like Britain, was unprepared for war, the declaration of August 4th, 1914, coming almost as a bolt from the blue. There was a praiseworthy and immediate offer of every assistance to Britain, and a feverish rush to equip a contingent of troops for overseas service. At that time, Canada did not realize the immensity of the task upon which she had entered, and it is questionable if more than a very small percentage of the people of the Dominion yet realize just how much has been accomplished, and, what is much more important, how much still remains to be done.

In Canada there has been much magnificent work done, but there has been little or no attempt made in the war of thorough organization. Recruiting has been carried on in a haphazard fashion with much overlapping and far more expense than was necessary. This is said in no tone of criticism, but simply to show the need for the new organization which is now taking shape.

Industrially, things have been carried along in the same way. There has been much good work done in the way of making shells and munitions generally, but there has been no organization as there is in France, Britain and Germany. There is some excuse for Canada in this respect, as the situation is entirely new to her. The other nations have never carried on operations on such an extensive scale before, yet they have had some experience of war times on a large scale and were naturally quicker to grasp the new situation.

The appointment of a National Service Board is a step in the right direction. All may not agree with the method by which the board was formed, but all must agree that the moment has arrived when Canada must take careful stock of her resources in men. The machinery provided may not be just of the right kind, then all the more reason why its task should be made the lighter. The first assistance which can be given is that every male from the age of 16 to 65, fill in carefully his answers to the questions submitted on the National Service cards to be circulated at the beginning of the year. With this data to work upon, the board will be in a position to tell just how much labor is being diverted from the carrying on of the war. There is no hint of conscription or military service in any of the questions asked and all that the board wants is a true statement of Canada's man power, with a view to directing it along the proper lines. This, it should have had long ago.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

In Canada, children may no longer wear suits resembling soldiers' uniforms. Perhaps the next measure will be an order debarring Honorary Colonels from wearing uniforms so that they may not be mistaken for soldiers.

Germany wants the Entente Powers, in basing their peace arguments, to forget the past. In time, that is after the Hohenzollerns are no more as a reigning power, the past may be forgiven, but it can never be forgotten.

Throughout the war, President Wilson has been singularly unfortunate in most of his diplomatic moves. Woodrow may be all right in conducting internal affairs in the United States, but, in international matters, he seems to have a faculty for doing the wrong thing at the wrong time. Surely he must realize that Great Britain will attend a peace conference when she and her Allies are ready, but not till then.

All the neutral nations seem to be anxious for that peace conference. As a first step, they might get together and discuss the submarine campaign with Berlin, just to find out how sorry the Prussians are about it. When that is over, they might take up the matter of the deportation of the poor Belgians. They might also find out under what law the Germans justify the placing of Belgian civilians in the front line German trenches.

Quebec is to tax all banks one-tenth of one per cent. on their paid-up capital. It will be interesting to see how the banks will retaliate. Perhaps the retaliation will be scarcely noticeable but none the less effective.

MAJOR PECK TELLS OF HIS EXPERIENCES

16th Canadian Scottish, France, Nov. 25, 1916. My Dear Bishop Du Vernet:

Nothing has ever been as much gratification and pride to me as to have had the honor of leading the first contingent that left Prince Rupert to engage in the greatest of the wars of the world. Nothing will ever be a grander memory than to know that those men have been of such a nature as to measure up to the standard of the bravest and best warriors that ever fought upon this ground that has for centuries been the battlefield of Europe.

At different times I have written accounts of stages of history of the men I led. I think the first was an account of their training in B. C. up to the period they left there. The second was an account of their experience in England. The third was a history of their entry on the field of war up to the fierce and sanguinary action at Festubert. Some day I hope to write the last chapter, for now those who have not given up their lives for their country are scattered and a very, very few are left in the battalion (the 16th) with which I have been so long associated.

It is not easy to write a history for publication containing the history of these men. The subject is so grand and noble, and part of it is so sad that one feels oneself unable to find words to do justice to the subject. However, it would be most unfair to neglect to record for the benefit of the citizens of Prince Rupert this fine story of heroism and devotion of the men who have been under my command.

The last summer was a time of innumerable trials and vigorous warfare. Several months were employed in holding a part of the line in the terrible Ypres salient during which time occurred the famous recapture of the trenches on Mount Sowel, an action that took a terrible toll of our bravest and best, but in which the Canadian troops behaved with such dash and gallantry as to win the praises of the best generals on the Allies' side.

After that we were moved to the Somme where in a series of brilliant actions, the British lines were advanced a great distance. The magnitude of that vast offensive is almost beyond the power of words to describe.

However, we are now at a much quieter part of the line where trench warfare is normal. The fall has not been so bad as regards weather as last fall was, but it has been "some" fall for all that.

I must tell you about Canon Scott whom you know, and who is one of the grandest figures of the war among our Canadians. He is the Senior Chaplain of the First Canadian Division, and has done worlds of good, and is loved, respected and admired by all ranks. He is indefatigable in his labors for the men, and is entirely callous to danger, going to the worst places of danger to help and cheer the men. No night is so dark, no way too long, for the Canon to come up and bury the fallen. Many a night I have stood beside him in the darkness and dimness and listened to him read the service over the shattered remains of some grand Canadian hero; lying there in the bottom of the shallow grave, the great coat around him and a sand bag over the dead face.

Canon Scott lost his son on the Somme in another division. He went away back there to find the grave. He finally did in a shell hole one night. When he was guided to the place he told his guide to go back to a place of safety. Then he dug down until he found a hand, which was his son's, and his signet ring still on his hand.

What a pathetic and yet what a noble sight, to see this devoted old man digging away in the darkness in this bullet-swept area, with an occasional shrapnel breaking round him, his heart breaking within him, to find his beloved son, and say over his body the last sad services of love and religion. Still he keeps up a brave face and says the Germans may kill his son but cannot break his spirit. Nevertheless one can see there is a great grief tearing the sinews of his soul.

So much for Canon Scott, Canon, poet, and supreme war hero.

I cannot begin to tell you about all the men you know, or to recollect where they are, or what has happened to them, except to say that what are not in Heaven are doing their duty, steadily, stolidly and sterlingly.

Two men I want to speak about, because I heard their relatives were asking, that is, J. McDonald (late of P. Burns), and one of the Wearmouth boys. They are probably reported as missing, but I fear it is worse—the worst. They were coming out of the trenches, after one of the most hellish shellings for four days that a battalion ever stood up against—our battalion held this line with a loss of many men—in an area of vast destruction so colossal that the imagination cannot conceive it, nor words describe it. Well a great high explosive shell burst into the trench obliterating everything about it, and I am afraid the lives of these two grand, good soldiers. Nothing more could be learned about it.

With sincere respect,
Yours very truly,
C. W. PECK, Major.

MINERAL ACT

Certificate of Improvements NOTICE

Silver Bow Mineral Claim, situate in the Skeena Mining Division of Cassiar District. Where located:—At the head of a branch of Lime Creek about four miles from the beach on the south side of Alice Arm. TAKE NOTICE that I, George R. Naden, Free Miner's Certificate No. 94096B, acting as agent for Thos. McRostie, Free Miner's Certificate No. 69991B, and James L. Hatch, Free Miner's Certificate No. 87966B, intend, sixty days from the date hereof, to apply to the Mining Recorder for a Certificate of Improvements, for the purpose of obtaining a Crown Grant of the above claim. And further take notice that action, under section 85, must be commenced before the issue of such Certificate of Improvements. Dated this 24th day of March, A.D. 1916. GEORGE R. NADEN.

"Here's Where I Protect My Nine Dollar Investment."

Shoes are up 80% to 100% in price—and going higher. Rubbers cost practically the same as before the war. A good pair of shoes runs away with as much money as five to ten pairs of equally good rubbers.

Yet one of these pairs of rubbers, worn when needed, will make a pair of shoes last half as long again—perhaps twice as long—for nothing destroys shoe-leather like getting wet.

So the money spent in rubbers is returned several times over in the saving of shoes alone, and again in the prevention of colds and worse, with the attendant expense and danger.

Beyond these personal advantages, wearing rubbers is a patriotic duty. Leather is growing scarcer, while its need for the soldiers is as great or greater than ever. Every pair of shoes we save, by releasing that much leather, helps a bit toward winning the war.

Don't merely smother your cough

CURE IT

Mathieu's Syrup of Tar and Cod Liver Oil not only promptly arrests coughing, but thanks to its tonic and strengthening properties it helps the system to throw off the cold and thus effects a permanent cure. It is this quality which has won for it the largest sale of any cough and cold remedy in Canada.

The Poor Man's University

"JONES knows more about motor cars than any other man I know," said a man to his friend. "He has obtained his knowledge chiefly from motor car advertisements, and the catalogues and booklets circulated through them."

"All I know about photography," declared a well-known amateur, "I have learned from the men who advertise cameras, plates, papers and films."

Advertisements have been well called "The Poor Man's University," but other than poor men have been schooled thereby.

Much of what the average individual knows concerning personal and domestic hygiene, modern office methods, books and authors, electricity, precious stones, investments, and almost everything else, he has learned from advertisements.

Advertisements have stimulated our intelligence, added enormously to our knowledge, and given us aspirations which have raised us to higher levels of thinking and living. Advertising is indeed "The Poor Man's University."

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.

If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto.

FROM FAR AND NEAR
The Booth Company, through their subsidiary, the Northwestern Fisheries Company, has purchased three Alaskan salmon canneries whose total pack is 130,000 cases a year. The Booth Company now controls fifteen canneries in Alaska.
Sir Henry Drayton, chairman of the railways commission, advocates government control and operation of the Empire's merchant marine, not only now, but also after the war, when Germany will be making a big bid to get her share of the trade.

The current number of the Pacific Fisherman has an interesting article dealing with the statistics of the Pacific halibut industry. It is accompanied by a chart showing the location of the halibut banks off the north coast of British Columbia.
Fish dealers on the Pacific coast are considering the advisability of getting a new name for black cod. It is believed that the misnomer is a serious handicap to the marketing of this delicious fish. There is evidently something in a name, in spite of what the immortal William says.

Some of the halibut dealers in Seattle are considering the establishing of a new line of power vessels to carry general cargo to Alaska, bringing back fresh halibut and salmon. The Glacier Fish Company of Tacoma is now building a vessel which may be used for this trade.
