SEPARATE PEACE MAY BE ASKED FOR -- GERMANS SHELL STEAMER'S LIFEBOATS

AUSTRIA AND HUNGARY MAY ASK FOR PEACE

Serious Internal Conditions May Force Them to Prefer Humiliation -- Washington is Silent.

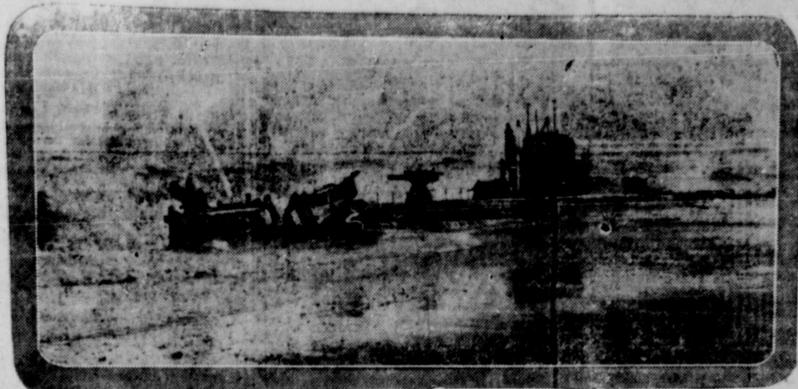

(Special to The Daily News.) London, Dec. 29.—Advices from Switzerland represent internal conditions in Austria and Hungary as being so serious that the governments intend to negotiate direct with Britain and France for a separate peace, preferring a humiliating peace instead of inevitable national bankruptcy and ruin. It is generally recognized that the new emperor, Charles Franz Josef, strongly favors an immediate peace.

Washington Silent. Washington, Dec. 29.—It is officially announced that President Wilson and Secretary of State Lansing have adopted a policy of absolute silence regarding future peace negotiations between the Central Powers and the Entente Allies. The decision was made immediately following the receipt of the German and Austrian answers to the President's note, which indicated that the Teutons were willing to permit of a confidential exchange of the details of the tentative peace terms which they proposed to place before the suggested conference.

At the reception to Hon. T. D. Pattullo last evening, J. E. Davey gave a very fine rendering of "The Holy City," and Principal Brady rendered a selection from Dickens' "Christmas Carol" in his best style. The accompaniments were splendidly played by W. Vaughan Davies who also gave pianoforte selections.

HUN SUBMARINE RAPIDLY DISINTEGRATES.—This photograph shows the wreckage of the U-20, a German submersible which stranded off Harbore, on the west coast of Jutland. A flotilla of German destroyers stood off and attempted a rescue, which failed utterly because the submarine was thrown high and dry a few yards from shore. The Germans had eventually to destroy the vessel to prevent its possible capture by our navy.

GERMANS FIRED ON LIFEBOATS OF BRITISH SHIP

Another Dastardly Outrage on the High Seas—Captain and Engineer Murdered—Air Battles in West.

(Special to The Daily News.) London, Dec. 29.—The Admiralty announces that the British steamer Westminster is reported lost. The vessel was sunk by a German submarine one hundred and eighty miles from the nearest land. Two torpedoes were fired at the steamer without the slightest warning being given. Four of the crew were killed by the explosions which followed, and the enemy deliberately murdered the captain and chief engineer by the shelling of the lifeboats in which they, with other members of the crew, tried to save themselves.

Western Front. Maurice reports that the weather conditions on the western front are such as to effectively prevent any continued offensive on the Somme front. The country in this region is covered with water, the shell holes being filled. Motor transportation is next to impossible and heavy fogs render artillery fire useless as it is impossible to make the necessary observations from the air.

Ypres Front. On the Ypres front the British shot down three hostile aeroplanes, all of which were damaged and three others were completely destroyed.

PUBLIC RECEPTION ACCORDED HON. T. D. PATTULLO LAST NIGHT

LARGE NON-PARTISAN GATHERING GREET THE MINISTER OF LANDS—SPEECHES BY A. M. MANSON, M. P. F. H. MOBLEY, M. P. P., MAYOR McCAFFERY, S. D. MACDONALD, FRED STORK AND O. H. NELSON

Delight that Prince Rupert and the north had been honored by Premier Brewster in the selection of T. D. Pattullo, the member for Prince Rupert riding, as Minister of Lands, and thorough confidence that the Premier would find his trust well placed was the keynote of the speeches at the public reception accorded Hon. T. D. Pattullo by the citizens of Prince Rupert in the Railwaymen's Hall last evening.

Mayor McCaffery, who presided over a large gathering, said it was a real Christmas pleasure to congratulate Mr. Pattullo on his appointment as a Minister of the Crown. He had nothing new to say of the Minister of Lands, but could simply repeat what he had said of him for years past, that the Hon. Mr. Pattullo is an honorable and upright man and a strong and energetic character who would do honor to any government. He congratulated the people of Prince Rupert upon having their member included in the cabinet. He looked for great development in the north, with its vast natural resources, and the north was well represented in Mr. Pattullo, though we must not forget that he also represented every part of the province in the Department of Lands, which included forests, water and other resources. Mayor McCaffery described British Columbia as an Empire within the Empire. Mr. Pattullo had assumed great responsibilities coupled with much hard work, but he had the energy, courage and integrity to see it through to a successful issue. He felt that the Minister of Lands would leave the city for Victoria taking with him the fullest confidence of every citizen.

Alex. Manson, M. P. P. for Omineca, said this was the first non-partisan gathering of a political nature ever held in the city and it was significant of many things for the future. Partyism had been a curse as it had permitted politics to predominate. He hoped that the citizens would forget about politics for the next four years and get together in a true co-operative spirit for the welfare of the district and the province. Prosperity would follow unity of action.

He said that from Bella Coala north was the richest part of the province and that the north, with three representatives should not any longer be dominated by the south. Premier Brewster was a man of unimpeachable integrity and neither friend or foe could point to him with other than pride. In the Premier the north had a stout friend. He congratulated Mr. Pattullo upon being included in the cabinet and thought that the Premier had made a wise choice. He hoped and believed that when the term was over, the people of the north could say to the Minister of Lands: "Well done, good and faithful servant."

F. H. Mobley, M. P. P. for Atlin, said he knew something of the task which had been laid upon the shoulders of Mr. Pattullo and it was no light one. It involved many weighty problems which needed immediate attention. The war had brought about changes which necessitated revolutionary changes in every department. The influx of immigrants after the war, and the large number of returned soldiers were amongst the chief. It was up to us to take care of these men, many of them maimed and mangled. He felt that while many of us were spending our evenings in enjoyment, the Minister of Lands would be burning the midnight oil trying to solve the land problems. He called for co-operation and united effort and pointed out that though Hon. T. D. Pattullo was elected as a Liberal, he was today the representative of all. He congratulated the ladies upon their having been given a voice in the government of the province and said that the political aspect had been raised a hundred-fold by giving them the franchise. He heartily congratulated Mr. Pattullo on his appointment and Prince Rupert on being so signally honored.

S. D. Macdonald, President of the Trades and Labor Council, said that the Liberal executive had taken a proper course in making this a non-partisan meeting. He extended congratulations to Hon. T. D. Pattullo and thought that Premier Brewster had chosen wisely in taking the member for Prince Rupert into his cabinet. He believed that Mr. Pattullo would prove it to be so. He supported Mr. Pattullo in his election, not because he wanted a Liberal government in office but because he wanted the late government out. If the present government did not do its duty he would oppose it next time. He felt that, in the big problems before him, Hon. Mr. Pattullo would represent all parties and every member of the community. He pointed out that big labor problems would follow the influx of men after the war and asked Mr. Pattullo to carefully consider the cause of labor when these came up. He believed that if the aims of labor were more clearly understood.

AMERICA'S PROTEST

Three thousand people attended the mass meeting in the Carnegie Hall, New York, to protest against the deportation of Belgian civilians into Germany to be forced to labor for the Germans. A strongly worded resolution was adopted, declaring that the reports in the press had not been contradicted and that investigation had shown that these were exaggerated instead of exaggerated. The following is one of the clauses in the resolution, copies of which were ordered sent to all representatives of the German government who can be reached in the United States:

Resolved: "That we request the government of the United States to protest with all its force and earnestness against these outrages; to emphasize the detestation with which the American people regard these abuses; and to request the German government, in the name of all neutrals, to cease its policy of expatriation and slavery; and we pledge our utmost support to the Administration in whatever way it may conclude to act."

"Straight from the shoulder" speeches were made by Elihu Root, James M. Beck and other prominent citizens. Mr. Root declared that "if the civilized world of the twentieth century is willing to stand silent in the face of what Germany is now doing in Belgium, then the civilization of this century is worse than the savagery which marked the Roman Era."

This is the right kind of peace talk and well worthy of the nation which had its own battle to fight against slavery. Many in this great mass meeting must have thought of Lincoln and what he would have said regarding such ruthless slavery as is being practised by Germany against the poor helpless Belgians.

The Saturday Evening Post advocates that Lincoln be studied in the public schools of the United States as well as Caesar and Vergil. There is sound sense in the suggestion and the grown-ups might, particularly at the present time, refresh their memories regarding this greatest of American statesmen, with great profit. Than Lincoln, it would be hard to imagine a more peace-loving man, yet it is impossible to think of Abraham Lincoln discussing peace between Germany and the Entente powers while Germany is deporting tens of thousands of Belgians into a much more degrading slavery than was ever experienced in the United States. That the spirit of Lincoln still lives is evident from the report of the speeches at the mass meeting in New York. That more of it will be transfused into official Washington will be the ardent hope of all true Americans.

It is impossible to know just what is behind the presenting of the Wilson peace note, but Secretary Lansing's explanation is not reassuring. One imagines that, had the spirit of Lincoln been alive in Washington today, the important matter of discussion between the United States and Germany would not have been a patched up peace but a complete understanding regarding the deportation of the Belgians. A Lincoln would have demanded that the Belgian slaves be restored to their homes before a single sentence regarding peace was penned in the United States. There is a division of opinion regarding the action of America in regard to the invasion of Belgium, at the outbreak of the war, but surely there can be no difference of opinion as to the proper course to pursue in regard to the enslaving of tens of thousands of the Belgian people.

PUBLIC RECEPTION ACCORDED T. D. PATTULLO LAST NIGHT

stood they would be treated differently. He called for a mutual understanding as a means of solving the problems. He felt that Premier Lloyd George had done well in appointing the Labor leader to his cabinet.

O. H. Neson, in a humorous vein, told of the occasions when he had supported Mr. Pattullo and of the occasions on which he had opposed him. When they differed, they did so good naturedly. If the Minister behaved himself and lived up to the best traditions of the party which was formerly in power, everything would be lovely. He hoped it was not a case of taking farewell of Mr. Pattullo. His friends, whether Conservative, Liberal or Labor, would miss him but their hearty good wishes would go with him in his new position. He had always believed that the Premier would honor this city as he had done and no one rejoiced more than he did that it had been so. "We are told to weep with those who weep, and rejoice with those who rejoice." I have done the one and am now doing the other," said Mr. Nelson amid laughter. He wished Mr. Pattullo every success and expressed regret that the city was temporarily losing Mr. Pattullo and Mrs. Pattullo and family.

Fred. Stork, Dominion Liberal candidate for Skeena-Atlin, said it was a great pleasure to attend a non-partisan political gathering.

ing. He was delighted to see so many ladies present and hoped that they would attend future meetings in large numbers as their presence had a great influence in raising the tone of political gatherings. The fact that there were so many sides of opinion represented at the meeting told of the broadness of Mr. Pattullo's views. After expressing great regret that the city was losing, for a time, the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Pattullo and family, Mr. Stork dwelt upon the history of the Pattulos of Woodstock. In choosing a representative of that family for a post in his cabinet, Premier Brewster had made a wise choice. He felt from the bottom of his heart that the confidence which the people had placed in Mr. Pattullo was not misplaced.

Dealing with the many problems which confront us today, he dwelt upon the placing of our returned soldiers as the most important. He did not want to see the same conditions here as obtained in the States after the war. He thought that the men from the trenches would not be content to remain in the old ruts but that the call of the west would draw them here. While realizing that the problem was big, he had the utmost confidence in leaving the matter to the sound judgment of Mr. Pattullo. He wished Mr. and Mrs. Pattullo a very happy New Year in their sojourn in Victoria.

Hon. T. D. Pattullo.

Hon. T. D. Pattullo, who was sitting beside the audience, was then invited to the platform, but he said he preferred to remain near the people and he hoped to find himself still close to them four years hence. He took it as a personal tribute that so many had come there to welcome him, but he also realized it was a tribute to British institutions and that they were honoring the Minister of Lands rather than himself.

He was delighted to find that Mayor McCaffery had decided to sacrifice his own business interests to take the mayoralty for (Continued on Page four.)

LEATHER LIMITED: RUBBER SUPPLY STEADY

Comparison of Supply Makes Answer to Footwear Problem Simple for Economical Persons. Wear Rubbers and Overshoes

There is a limit to the shoe leather that a cow can provide, but the world's production of rubber today is almost level as far as the requirements of the rubber-using part of the world is concerned, and that is the average person's answer to, at least, one part of the high-cost-of-living problem.
 The thrifty man or woman will wear rubber this winter. Rubbers and overshoes will be worn for two reasons—first, because they are a means of protecting the health, and, second, because rubbers solve the question of wear and tear on the leather, whose cost has increased because the cow can provide only so much.
 A cow hides costs almost as much now as a whole cow did before the war. Rubber costs just half as much as it did before the war. The British Government gave us cheap rubber—why not be patriotic, and at the same time economical, and wear rubbers?

Coughing scatters germs —Stop it

Coughing increases the irritation of the already inflamed mucous membranes and is moreover apt to carry disease to others.

Mathieu's Syrup of Tar and Cod Liver Oil promptly stops coughing, and soon, thanks to its tonic properties, effects a permanent cure.

The wonderful popularity of Mathieu's Syrup of Tar and Cod Liver Oil is specially due to its great value as a permanent lung and bronchial healer.

Sold everywhere, 35c large bottles.

2,000,000 Belgians Depend on us for Bread!

Since shortly after the German invasion, the Belgians have depended for food entirely on the "Commission for Relief in Belgium". Their own store of food, even if not destroyed or pillaged, would last only three weeks—they have had no chance to raise more—and the ruthless Germans refuse to supply them!

Backed by the

so generously contributed in the British Empire and the United States, the neutral Belgian Relief Commission has imported enough wheat, flour and other foods to feed the whole nation so far. The great majority of the 7,000,000 Belgians left in the country have been able to pay for their daily allowance of bread—but a steadily growing number have no money left.

Unless we are willing to let these hundreds of thousands of women, children and old men starve, they must be fed at the expense of the Belgian Relief Fund. To make this possible someone must contribute nearly $3,000,000 a month—every month—all this winter!

No people under the Allied Flags are as well able to contribute generously as we Canadians! No cause has ever been more deserving of help! In the name of Justice and Humanity—for the sake of our own self-respect—let us give all we can to help our martyred Allies!

The Poor Man's University

"JONES knows more about motor cars than any other man I know," said a man to his friend. "He has obtained his knowledge chiefly from motor car advertisements, and the catalogues and booklets circulated through them."

"All I know about photography," declared a well-known amateur. "I have learned from the men who advertise cameras, plates, papers and films."

Advertisements have been well called "The Poor Man's University," but other than poor men have been schooled thereby.

Much of what the average individual knows concerning personal and domestic hygiene, modern office methods, books and authors, electricity, precious stones, investments, and almost everything else, he has learned from advertisements.

Advertisements have stimulated our intelligence, added enormously to our knowledge, and given us aspirations which have raised us to higher levels of thinking and living. Advertising is indeed "The Poor Man's University."

another term. He was particularly pleased at this as many important matters connected with the city would come up soon in Victoria and a man of Mayor McCaffery's ability was needed. They would shortly want him in Victoria to discuss several matters of moment.
He thanked the various speakers most heartily for their good wishes, and thanked Mr. MacDonald for reminding him of the labor problems which were coming. He assured him that he would bear his remarks in mind and reminded him that the Liberal party had formulated many measures beneficial to labor. With the speaker, he felt that Labor should be fully represented in the House, though he considered that most men were laboring men, though in different spheres. Premier Brewster had labored from fourteen to sixteen hours a day since the by-elections and the other ministers today had to work extremely hard. All that was needed to solve our problems was sound common sense and hard work. There were strenuous times ahead of the government particularly in providing for the returned soldiers. He said that there are 800 to 900 names of applicants on the lists already, many of them of men who would be hard to place. He warned those who were urged to recommend men for positions that it was wrong to recommend a man whom they knew to be unfitted for the job wanted. This was simply a case of "passing the buck." We must have your co-operation if things are to be conducted along the right lines.

"This is the Christmas season," said the Minister, "yet, in view of what is happening in Europe, the words 'Merry Christmas' seem incongruous. Scores of thousands of brave fellows are falling in this mad conflict, and, watching the situation, one sees thousands of women and children pleading for the mercy that does not seem to come. We wonder what the end is to be. What is at the bottom of it all? Avarice, greed, display and thirst for power. I come not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance," said Christ. Should we not then utter the fervent prayer that the Prince of Peace might, in the arch sinner, promote the spirit of humility, without which there is no peace. Yet we must keep our powder dry and fight on until the great issue is brought, not only to a successful, but to an enduring and lasting termination."

Mr. Pattullo reminded his audience that the north is represented as never before and that its importance would be kept before the people in the south. He noticed that proposals brought before his department usually pointed out that they would benefit Vancouver and Victoria. From now on they would have to show that they were beneficial to Prince Rupert, Vancouver and Victoria.

He was glad to see so many ladies present. Their influence in politics would be all for good. He regretted that he and his family found it necessary to reside meantime in Victoria but they would never forget Prince Rupert, which they loved. No place could hold them like this district did, with its many beauty spots and facilities for healthful outing. He thought that the government might see its way to get for the city the bathing pond across the harbor. He thanked all for kindly interest and support and asked anyone who had a suggestion to make, or a wrong to right, to communicate with him, rather than to talk about it and do nothing. His services were at the disposal of the whole community and he wanted to be advised of anything that was wanted.
