The British repelled enemy attacks at Fauquissart and successfully bombarded the German trenches at Neuville St. Vaast.

HON. T. D. PATTULLO REPLIES TO CRITICISM

Victoria, Jan. 26.—With regard to his dismissal of Mr. Renwick, deputy minister of lands, Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands, has given out the following statement:

"It has come to my attention that an attempt is being made to create some political capital out of the fact that I have chosen a new deputy head in place of Mr. Renwick."

"It is not my intention to attempt to reply to all the misrepresentations which may be made from time to time, but perhaps at this time, in view of the fact that some wholly untrue statements have been made in connection with the change in my department, it may not be amiss for me to pass some comment."

"I have no apology to offer for the action which I took, but on the contrary, would consider that I would owe some apology to the public had I not taken that action."

"For a long time prior to the general election, the department of lands came in for perhaps more severe criticism than any other department of the government, and the public intimated in unmistakable terms that it expected a reorganization in the conduct of public business. Now, may I ask, would it be possible to effect this reorganization with confidence if I must be confined solely to the instruments left by the old regime. No other argument is needed to sustain the position taken by me."

"I need hardly say that I stand firmly behind Hon. Mr. Brewster in his declaration that the evils of the patronage system must be abolished, but it does not necessarily follow that I must subscribe to the interpretation which it is sought in some quarters to (Continued on Page Three).

BRILLIANT SPEECHES AT BURNS' CELEBRATION

Brilliant speeches were the order of the evening at the Robbie Burns Banquet given by the St. Andrew's Society last night. Replying to the toast, "The Immortal Memory," Rev. Dr. Grant delivered a speech which it is impossible to reproduce in cold type. It breathed of the very spirit and soul of Burns and it would require another Burns to report it truthfully. After referring to the fact that such men as Carlyle and Rosebery had devoted essays to the Scottish bard, the speaker dwelt on the fact that all over the world that night, wherever there were Scottish people, Burns was being honored. He pointed out that, within one generation, Burns had sprung from being merely a national poet to being a universal poet. Touching upon the pride of the Scottish race, Dr. Grant said that it was justifiable, when one remembered that, since the great days of Greece, no nation had exerted such an influence. Speaking of the loyalty of the Scots, he said that one-third of the soldiers in the Dominion's forces were of Scottish birth.

"We need not ask pardon of the world when we say that Burns, in his own line, has never been surpassed," said Dr. Grant. "We need make no apology for placing Burns in the very front rank of the literary men of all ages. His work has meant much in the onward progress of humanity. Burns lived his life according to the time in which he lived. He was pampered and lifted out of the class to which he belonged, but he never forgot his early friends, even though they were only 'hadden grey'."

Dealing with the spirit of Burns, Dr. Grant said that his was a continual struggle against the conventions of his time; a struggle to break the bonds which kept society in a narrow groove. In his poems, he sought to break away from the narrow conventions of the writers of his time, and he succeeded.

Dr. Grant emphasized the fact that Burns was a religious man, pointing out that "Holy Willie's Prayer" was not an irreligious utterance but a raid on the conventions and hypocrisy of his time; an effort to show men the futility of living one kind of life six days a week and another on the seventh. In poetry, Burns was a pioneer, hewing out a new path to liberty and freedom.

Wordsworth was his follower, but the credit must go to the pioneer who showed the way. In "To a Daisy" and "To a Mouse," Burns rose to the height of poetic expression of the spirit of nature, truth and beauty. The speaker described those poems as amongst the very finest in the English language. "Before Burns' time," said Dr. Grant, "English poetry was a thing of form, without a soul; Burns found the soul of things and expressed the very soul of things in his work." He described "Tam O' Shanter" as the greatest narrative poem which had ever been written; "Willie Brewed a Peck O' Maut," as the finest drinking song extant, and "Scots Wha Hae" as the greatest patriotic song ever written. "Compare it with any of the war poems of today," said the speaker, "and think what it would mean to the Allies if we had a Burns telling of the happenings in France and Belgium today. A Burns would express the indignation of the whole world against what has taken place there." In conclusion, Dr. Grant described Burns as the poet of freedom and liberty, calling for the freedom of the individual; a poet, not of Scotland, nor of the Empire, but of the whole universe. Dr. Grant received a tremendous ovation on resuming his seat.

"Our Empire."

Responding to the toast "Our Empire," Ald. McClymont dwelt on the fact that the colonies today were playing a much more important part in the affairs of the Empire than ever before, and it seemed certain that colonial representatives would soon sit in the Imperial Parliament. Dealing with the birth of the Empire, he said that it was not the result of any foresight on the part of any statesman nor the policy of any party, but the natural outcome of the thirst for adventure and desire for trade of the British people. He compared German colonization methods with those of the British and went on to compare our Empire with the empires of the past, particularly those of Rome and Spain.

Dealing with the fall of the ancient empires, he said that it was well to study them closely to find out where they failed. Our empire is young compared to these and error might be evaded by learning our lesson from those who had gone before. He showed how the Romans fell because of inadequate defenses against the Huns and the Saxons and pointed out the necessity of Britain remaining "Mistress of the Seas."

ALICE ARM MAY BE ANOTHER BUTTE

Interviewed by The Daily News in regard to the proposed tramming to be put in by the Dolly Varden Company at Alice Arm, M. P. Olsen, an Alice Arm prospector who is in the city, expressed lively satisfaction with what the new government has done in this respect and gave great credit to F. H. Mobley, M. P. P. for Atlin, for the way in which he had protected the rights of the prospectors and other mining men in the district.

Mr. Olsen said, "Shortly after the exodus of the Bowser administration, we learned that the Dolly Varden people proposed to apply for right of way for twenty-two miles along the Kitsuik river to tide-water at the head of Alice Arm. Along with other prospectors, I drew up a petition, which was presented to Mr. Mobley, pointing out that the giving of an exclusive and private right of way to this company would severely handicap the owners of numerous mineral claims in this vicinity, and would probably prevent them from getting the necessary financial assistance. It is gratifying to find that the company is to build a narrow gauge railway along the road constructed by them, under the condition that the proposed road is operated as a common carrier, which stipulation was in the petition of the prospectors. I feel satisfied that the representations made by Mr. Mobley were largely instrumental in protecting the rights of the prospectors in Alice Arm district. There is room for only one road along the river and it was very important that it should be open to the public."

Mr. Olsen remarked that the arrangement means extensive activity in this new mining camp, which is showing up so splendidly. "That the Dolly Varden Company is to proceed at once with the building of the road," said Mr. Olsen, "is to be surmised from the fact that the Taylor Engineering Company, of Vancouver, is now advertising for tenders on construction material to the extent of 60,000 ft ties and 800 to 1,000 tons of 30 to 40 pound rails to be delivered on scows at Vancouver or Prince Rupert, and which material is no doubt in connection with the Alice Arm railroad."

The Taylor Engineering Company also has the contract for the $700,000 steam plant at Anyox for the Granby Company. The Granby Company has

BORDEN AGREES TO SUGGESTION OF SIR WILFRID

House Will Adjourn to Allow Sir
Robert to Attend Imperial Conference—Nationalists Attacked.

(Special to The Daily News.)

Ottawa, Jan. 26.—Yesterday's developments in the House of Commons clarified the parliamentary situation considerably. Premier Borden formally accepted Sir Wilfrid Laurier's suggestion that the House rise for a short period to enable the Premier to attend the Imperial Conference in London.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier agreed to Premier Borden's legislative proposals and neither leader mentioned the measure for a further extension of the life of the present parliament.

Hon. Charles Maclellan and Hon. Rodolph Lemieux, in lengthy speeches, defended the attitude of Quebec in the war and laid the lack of recruiting enthusiasm in that province to the account of the Nationalist element in the Borden cabinet. Both speakers declared emphatically that those members of the cabinet are responsible for the present unsatisfactory condition of affairs in that province.

It seems likely that the House will adjourn on February ninth.

PRINCE JOHN ASHORE IN WRANGELL NARROWS

Word reached town early this morning that the Prince John, of the G. T. P. fleet, has gone ashore in Wrangell Narrows. The vessel came in from the Queen Charlotte Islands Tuesday afternoon and cleared for the north on Wednesday evening. She made Ketchikan and it was on the run from there to Wrangell that she met with a mishap. Details are still lacking but it is thought that she is in no danger. She is commanded by Captain A. M. Davis.

bonded many of the mineral claims in Alice Arm district, not already under bond, and substantial cash payments have been made. Mr. Olson is of the opinion that Alice Arm will, in a few years, become a second Butte and that its development will exceed all present expectations. That the Granby Company has a high opinion of the new camp is evident from the fact that they have distributed cash payments with a lavish hand amongst some thirty prospectors.

WILSON'S SPEECH

President Wilson, in his recent speech to the Senate, said that lasting peace could not follow victory on the field of battle and that the peace conditions must win the approval of all mankind. It is difficult to decide whether he delivered this address as President of the United States or as Professor Wilson delivering an altruistic address to a college class. If he were speaking as President, he must have remembered that the North scored a victory over the South on the field of battle, and that the peace which followed has been lasting. Again, he must surely have remembered that the American colonists, under George Washington, won their liberty from British methods of taxation and proclaimed a republic for themselves, after victory in battle, and that lasting peace followed that victory. He must have remembered, as a student of more recent history, that the British scored a victory over the Boers in South Africa, and so certain are the British of lasting peace between the Boers and themselves that a former Boer military leader is today Premier of South Africa and the leader of the British forces there.

Coming down to the present struggle, it is difficult to see just how President Wilson based his conclusion, and it would appear that he was expressing a theory rather than a fact. The one disturbing element in Europe is Prussian militarism. If that is broken by a victory for the Entente Powers, peace, and a lasting peace, must follow. If a peace conference were called now and an agreement entered into to preserve the peace of Europe, that peace would only be preserved until Germany had again become strong enough to try conclusions with the rest of the continent, that is, if the Hohenzollerns and the Prussian military caste are allowed to hold sway in Germany. If President Wilson had said, "Drive the Hohenzollerns from power and then have a peace conference," one could understand him, but the President seems still to have faith in the word, written or spoken, of the Prussian war lords. The President of the United States seems to fail utterly to realize just what the Allies are fighting for. He seems to take the singular attitude that the belligerents are pretty much of a color and that each is equally culpable. This, of course, may be his proper official attitude as the head of the greatest neutral, but, nevertheless, it is a false position to assume, when he is speaking of the approval of mankind in general, in regard to the war settlement.

Woodrow Wilson must sit down and study the war situation from its beginning in 1871; he must be honest with himself as to what Germany did in raiding defenceless Belgium in August, 1914; he must again read carefully the Bryce report on the German atrocities in Belgium and France; he must again go over his correspondence with Berlin in regard to the sinking of the Lusitania, Arabic and other unarmed passenger steamers, and then consider just what the word or bond of a Prussian diplomat is really worth when it comes to making any agreement or treaty. If President Wilson is perfectly honest with himself, he must realize that, had the United States been in Europe in 1914, instead of on the other side of the Atlantic, his people would today be making war on the Prussian and would be assuming exactly the attitude assumed by the Entente Allies in regard to peace.

It is perhaps unkind to refer to conditions in Mexico, but one cannot refrain from wondering what is to be the outcome of President Wilson's manner of dealing with affairs in the republic to the south of the United States. It seems clear, at this distance at any rate, that peace in Mexico can only come when there has been a decisive victory on the field of battle, and we venture to think that, even if the bandit Villa is the victorious leader and his victory is decisive, peace will come just the same as if the acknowledged head of the Mexican government had been the victor.

Reverting to the European situation, it ought to be clear to any statesman that, if the Entente Allies are victorious, and for the sake of humanity, which includes the United States, they must be, a lasting peace will come. If the Teutons had succeeded in their first dash for Paris and had conquered the French, Russian and British nations, the United States today, or at no distant date, would have been at war with Germany, and would have been fighting a losing battle, as her military and naval equipment is far below the German standard. In spite of his theories, it is evident that the President still has faith in the preservation of peace by victory, or the promise of victory, because he is striving now to build up a much bigger army and a much larger fleet.

not in any belligerent sense, but rather as "Guardian of the Seas," seeing to it that the seas were free to all nations. Mr. McClymont received most hearty applause at the close of a very fine speech.

"Our Boys."

Responding to the toast, "Our Boys," A. M. Manson, M. P. P. for Omineca, delivered a speech which went to the hearts of all who heard it. "As we look upon the blood-stained battle fields, one wonders why," said Mr. Manson. "One must shudder that the hand of man can be responsible for the havoc wrought by man upon his brother. Man's inhumanity to man," in the present struggle is beyond the understanding of any of us. Yet it has been thus from the earliest times. We wonder if some of the responsibility is not ours. As Scotchmen, we must believe that the whole thing is not a mere accident, nor the mere act of one man, but that behind it there is a purpose." Mr. Manson went on to speak of the call of Sir David Beatty that the British people get back to the old anchor-age. He said that Burns could have realized it, had he been alive today.

Mr. Manson referred with great feeling to the boys of the St. Andrew's Society who had gone forth never to return and asked that, in remembering the boys who are still fighting our battles, we remember also the vacant chairs.

S. D. Macdonald, who presided, referred particularly to the part played by "Scotty" Dennis and "Jock" Watt, who had been "Scotty's" partner, in every sense, and who had paid the price.

President Macdonald welcomed President Kemp, of the Sons of England Society, as a guest at the banquet.

Mr. Kemp, in expressing the fraternal greetings of his society to the boys of St. Andrew, expressed the hope that the members of the two societies might be drawn more closely together.

"The Lassies."

Responding to the toast of "The Lassies," Fred. Stork said that this toast had a special significance at this time, as never before had women played such an important part in the affairs of the nation. "This twentieth century belongs to our women," said Mr. Stork. "Not only are women now getting the franchise," said the speaker, "but they are becoming doctors and lawyers and we may yet see them sitting in parliament." He referred to the splendid work being done by the ladies for the Red Cross and other patriotic work. He said that no man paid such a price as women were doing in this war. They sent out their husbands and their sons, and no man could realize the sacrifice they were making.

"The Haggis."

The haggis was brought in with the usual ceremony. Ald. McClymont carrying it in above his head and marching round the table to the skirl of the bagpipes, played by Piper Sturgeon. It was received by David Thomson, who gave a splendid rendering of Robert Service's "Haggis of Private McPhie," from the Rhymes of a Red Cross Man. During the evening, songs were rendered by J. Sinclair, J. G. Steen, G. McColl, C. W. W. Gauld, R. Dowther, A. Clapperton, W. Martin and J. Sturgeon. Scotch readings were given by W. Robb and D. Thomson, and J. Cowie and J. Sinclair gave a "Jock Daw" duet. Scotch music was splendidly rendered by W. V. Davies and J. Lee. Much of the success of the evening was due to the house committee, W. Martin and A. Clapperton. The program arrangements were in the hands of W. Robb, T. McMeekin and G. McColl. "God Save the King" completed one of the finest "Burns' Nights" ever celebrated in Prince Rupert.

HON. T. D. PATULLO REPLIES TO CRITICISM

place upon these declarations. In blunt language, that interpretation is nothing more nor less than that the new government must remain in office in toto, the entire staff left to it by the old regime. The matter need only be stated in plain terms to illustrate its own absurdity.

"Under my responsibility as a minister of the crown, I intend to recommend and to carry out only such changes as may be deemed to be in the public interest, but, from the performance of my duty in this regard, however unpleasant it may be, I am not to be deterred, either by interested or well-meaning criticism.

"The task ahead of us is an exceedingly heavy one, and will require united effort, but we must meet it with unflinching courage in order that the conduct of government may be placed upon a proper basis and the great resources of this province brought into production at the earliest possible date."

Internal Bathing's Rapid Growth

It is but natural to expect that a relief from Constipation and the many ills which it causes, which is so effective and so natural as Internal Bathing, should quickly make many converts.

But its general use has increased so tremendously in the past few years as to suggest other reasons, and these are found in the statement of users that they feel as if "made over new" the morning after an Internal Bath.

The elimination of the pernicious and poisonous waste which is ever present in the Lower Intestine gives Nature a chance to work unhampered. And one arises in the morning clear-headed, able, bright, confident and eager for the day's duties.

Mr. F. E. Smith writes:—

"Dear Doctor,—Your 'Cascade' made a new man of me at the age of 49. I persuaded my wife to use the treatment also, and today she has better health than ever before. Since the use of the 'Cascade' she sleeps better and can walk for hours without fatigue. Fainting spells have become a condition of the past; can eat anything on the bill of fare and drink all beverages. Does not take cold when exposed; hot weather does not cause oppression."

The "J. B. L. Cascade," the most efficient device for Internal Bathing, is being shown and explained in detail by Cyril H. Orme, Druggist, corner 3rd Ave. and 6th Street, Prince Rupert. Ask for free booklet, "Why Man of Today is Only 50 Per Cent. Efficient." If you prefer, write to Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell, 163 College Street, Toronto, for same.

2,000,000 Belgians Depend on us for Bread!

Since shortly after the German invasion, the Belgians have depended for food entirely on the "Commission for Relief in Belgium". Their own store of food, even if not destroyed or pillaged, would last only three weeks—they have had no chance to raise more—and the ruthless Germans refuse to supply them!

Backed by the

so generously contributed in the British Empire and the United States, the neutral Belgian Relief Commission has imported enough wheat, flour and other foods to feed the whole nation so far. The great majority of the 7,000,000 Belgians left in the country have been able to pay for their daily allowance of bread—but a steadily growing number have no money left.

Unless we are willing to let these hundreds of thousands of women, children and old men starve, they must be fed at the expense of the Belgian Relief Fund. To make this possible someone must contribute nearly $3,000,000 a month—every month—all this winter!

No people under the Allied Flag are as well able to contribute generously as we Canadians! No cause has ever been more deserving of help! In the name of Justice and Humanity—for the sake of our own self-respect—let us give all we can to help our martyred Allies!

THE ROAD TO THE RIGHT.

YOU'VE met at least one of those few good old souls, who are constantly getting the worst of it when shopping, who don't believe in advertising. A hundred disappointing and instructive experiences have failed to teach him their plain lesson.

When he bought his first watch he was beguiled into buying one without a known name or a trustworthy guarantee. That watch—a poor timekeeper—cost him dearly by reason of missed appointments and missed trains, and for frequent repairs. Yet he paid the price of a good watch.

It is the same story with regard to his underwear, his shoes, and his fountain pen.

This good old soul's case is not unique. Many of us, if the truth be confessed, resemble him; we allow ourselves to be sold merchandise with an unknown brand or trade mark instead of buying merchandise which is well known to us through the medium of advertising. In slang language, we get "stung" pretty often.

In most of these cases we have ourselves to blame, for "the road to the right" thing to buy has been made plain by advertising.

There is no good reason for passing by the known thing, soundly guaranteed, to buy a dubious article, which, quality for quality, cannot be cheaper than the known, branded article.

"It is better to be sure than sorry."

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.

If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto.

COWARDLY ATTACK ON HON. T. D. PATTULLO

Victoria, Jan. 20.—The attempts to stir up trouble which are being made in certain quarters, and to which reference was made yesterday by Hon. T. D. Pattullo in a conversation which a Times representative had with him, continue. They are chiefly to be found in the columns of the Vancouver Province, for which, however, there may be found the excuse that it is being deliberately misled by some person or other in this city, acting as a correspondent.

In yesterday's issue of the Province, for instance, appears what purports to be a report of the annual meeting of the Victoria Liberal Association the night before. The first paragraph of the report is as follows:

"The disapproval of a section of the Liberal party was voiced last night at the annual meeting of the Victoria Liberal Association in regard to a number of the appointments recently made by the government. Criticism was especially levelled at the government for the replacement of Mr. R. N. Renwick, deputy minister of lands, with Mr. George Naden, of Prince Rupert."

So far is this from being the truth that not one word was said at the meeting of patronage or appointments or anything except the business of the association. The name of R. N. Renwick never came up, nor has it ever been discussed in any shape or form by the executive or the association. As a matter of fact, the executive has not had a meeting since the change was announced.

A few days ago another story along the same lines was published in the Province from, presumably, the same Victoria correspondent. In this it was stated that Liberals of this city might form a Liberal League as a protest against Mr. Renwick's being superseded, that the officials of the Liberal Association also were threatening to resign as a protest, that an emissary had been sent to Hon. T. D. Pattullo to ask him for an explanation, and that then a deputation had waited upon Hon. M. A. Macdonald to make a protest to him. Each and every one of these statements is a deliberate and calculated falsehood, equally with the one first quoted as to the action of Thursday evening's meeting.

When the nature of the attacks being made upon the minister of lands is considered, in regard to a matter which is directly within the knowledge of Victorians, one can get some idea of the lack of basis for the prolonged and virulent series of attacks made upon the attorney-general during the past year.
