REPORTED LLOYD GEORGE LIFE ATTEMPTED

JUSTICE GALT DECLARES HON. ROBERT ROGERS SWORE TO FALSE STATEMENTS

JUDGE REFUSES TO ACCEPT BOB ROGERS' STORY

Justice Galt Says Minister Gave False Testimony to Escape Awkward Dilemma in Building Enquiry.

(Special to The Daily News.)

Winnipeg, Jan. 31.—The report of Mr. Justice Galt and the commission which held an investigation into the construction of the Manitoba Agricultural College buildings was tabled at the session of the legislature last night. The report showed that the original estimate for the buildings was $957,000 and that the completed cost of the structure was $3,875,000. The report states that the evidence proved that, notwithstanding the repeated denials made by Hon. Robert Rogers in the witness stand, the minister had deliberately increased the tenders to permit Carter & Company to contribute to the Conservative campaign funds.

Mr. Justice Galt wrote stating that he could not accept nor give credence to Hon. Robert Rogers' statements, and also characterized them as false testimony and as a desperate attempt to escape from an awkward dilemma.

Debate Closed.

Ottawa, Jan. 31.—The debate on the address closed last night in the House of Commons, when the address was adopted without a division being taken. The general business of the House commences today.

Fighting Hughes.

Last night, Sir Sam Hughes, ex-minister of militia, charged Sir Thomas White, minister of finance, with interference with military affairs. The latter asserted that he had always given the former minister his loyal support. If he thought otherwise, he was afraid the strain of the past two years of war had affected a once strong mind.

Hon. Wm. Pugsley closed the debate for the Opposition by saying that he thought the House was entitled to the Premier's explanation of his reason for dismissing Sir Sam Hughes from the cabinet.

The arrows indicate approximately where the British captured three-quarters of a mile of German trench northeast of Beaumont-Hamel, a little west of section shown in this map.

RETURNED SOLDIERS TO HONOR LOST COMRADES

The Returned Soldiers' Association wish to bring before the public the following resolutions which were passed at a recent meeting of the association and ask any person having information that will assist in compiling a complete Roll of Honor to send it to the secretary, so that no name may be omitted.

The resolutions were as follows:
That, at every meeting of the association, before the transaction of any business whatsoever, the chairman shall call the members to rise and stand in reverent silence, to the memory of their comrades who have made the supreme sacrifice by giving their lives for the preservation of the freedom of the world.

It is our intention to make this resolution known throughout the world, so that the memory of those who can never return may be kept alive as long as there are any men left, who have served, or who may serve, in the war.

That every family be asked to spare a few moments daily or weekly in united thoughts of pride and respect for the fallen, and sympathy for those who are left to mourn their loss.

That an immediate start be made to compile a Roll of Honor to include the names of all the fallen men belonging to Prince Rupert or who have joined the units in this city.

Information respecting the name, rank, number, regiment, date of death, etc., of any man whose name is entitled to be entered on the Roll of Honor is requested to be sent to the secretary.

HAZEL DAWN AT THE WESTHOLME TONIGHT

"Under Cover," a Famous Players' five-act drama, is the feature of the Westholme program for tonight. The leading parts are in the hands of Hazel Dawn and Owen Moore so that the story will lose nothing in the telling. This is a thrilling photoplay full of action. It is splendidly staged, as are all Famous Players' features.

Sergt.-Major Matier, who will lecture in the Empress Theatre tonight, has been with the French army in this war and has had many interesting experiences.

NATIONAL SERVICE OPPOSED BY LABOR

(Special to The Daily News.)
Revelstoke, Jan. 31.—The British Columbia Federation of Labor convention has declined to support the president's recommendation in favor of National Service.

TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL MEETING

The adjourned meeting of the Trades and Labor Council, for the purpose of discussing the National Registration Cards, was held in the Carpenters' Hall last evening, S. D. Macdonald presiding.

After considerable discussion on the merits and demerits of the card system, the following resolutions were passed:

"That the Trades and Labor Council recognize the cards, and suggest that the members sign them, either in the negative or the affirmative as they see fit."
"That the Trades and Labor Council go on record as opposed to the conscription of the manhood of the country unless accompanied by the conscription of basic industries. The conscription of the industries not only for military purposes but to be retained as a socialized utility in time of peace."

President Macdonald introduced the subject under discussion and cited cases of Vancouver, Victoria and Regina, where the Trades and Labor Councils had voted against the signing of the cards. He pointed out that President Waters and the secretary of the Dominion Labor Congress claimed that, while the card system led to conscription in Britain, it led away from it in Canada.

Ald. Casey said that the question was really a dead issue. He had not signed the card as he did not believe that the government had acted in a way to merit the support of the working classes. It was largely a matter of conscience and he was glad to see that the workers were giving their support according to their consciences. He was not proud to think that so many had been obliged to sacrifice their lives, yet, in a sense, he was proud that so many men were willing to make such a sacrifice for what they believed to be right.

Ald. Casey said that the card system ended the voluntary system and that the Dominion was verging on conscription. The workers were not enlisting in sufficient numbers and some would have to fill the gaps at the front. If conscription was coming, the workers should make a protest and should demand recognition from the government. The capitalist class had been assisted in every way. If wealth and industry were conscripted, then they could say that the Em-

Two Hundred and Sixty Lives are Lost—British Bombing Parties Busy on the Somme—German's Fall.

(Special to The Daily News.)

London, Jan. 31.—The Admiralty announces that a collision with a mine off the coast of Ireland was responsible for the sinking of the auxiliary cruiser Laurentic. Two hundred and sixty sailors lost their lives when the White Star liner went down.

Western Front.
London, Jan. 31.—The British troops on the Somme front effectively bombarded German dugouts. In a series of air encounters, the British aviators destroyed three German aeroplanes and drove down three in a damaged condition. Comparative quietness prevails along the rest of the front.

French Report.

Paris, Jan. 31.—The German efforts to regain the lost positions on the Verdun front have been halted by the French. Severe weather conditions prevent any heavy fighting. Comparative calm continues to prevail on all fronts, from the Baltic to the Black Sea, with the exception of the southwestern end of the Riga front, where there is continued violent fighting.

The Germans tried to attack between Soissons and Rheims but all their efforts were repelled by the French. French aviators dropped bombs on the German billets and on a factory near Rheims.

SUFFRAGETTES CAMP ON PREMIER'S DOORSTEP

(Special to The Daily News.)

London, Jan. 31.—A delegation of Suffragettes is encamped on the doorstep of the official residence of Premier Lloyd George, at No. 10 Downing Street and are determined to remain there until they receive the Premier's reply as to whether he will receive their delegation.

pire was really at war. The government should take over all industries and retain them after the war is over.

President Macdonald said that he had signed the card, as he believed, along with the Congress officials, that the card was issued with a view to getting labor for the making of munitions, and for that purpose only. He believed that the government had plans which it could not make public, such as the making of an increased supply of munitions for Russia. Referring to the war, he said that the Allies were fighting for freedom and liberty and for the protection of the small nations. Freedom was just what the working men were fighting for and he did not believe that, in signing the registration cards, they were signing away their freedom. Delegates Shaw, Anderson, Pilford and McCorkindale also took part in the discussion.

PEACE SITUATION

Sir Thomas White's statement that "Anglo-Saxon freedom and Prussian militarism cannot both survive" is about the best possible reply to President Wilson's speech. As the Minister of Finance in the Canadian government pointed out, this is a war of "irreconcilable ideals" and this vital point is just what President Wilson has sought to ignore, or at least has gently evaded. In his efforts to maintain a strict neutrality, the President has endeavored to place the Central Power and the Entente Allies upon the same plane. Building his peace efforts upon such a foundation, it is little to be wondered at that he has missed striking the right cord in the hearts and minds of the British people and in the minds and hearts of the Allies generally.

The Prussian military caste, which has controlled every spring of action in Germany since the days of Bismarck, stands for all that is evil and brutal in the world today and its aims are the direct antithesis of peace. A peace conference might be called at The Hague, or where you will, tomorrow; the most binding agreement might be entered into and signed, yet, so long as the Prussians rule Germany, just so long must that treaty be considered as of no avail as a leash for Prussian passion for conquest and brutality. President Wilson, with the other neutral nations, must realize that Peace and Prussianism are as far apart as the poles and can never have anything in common.

Drive the Hohenzollerns from the throne of Germany; banish the Prussian war lords from the control of German affairs, and there will be good reason to discuss peace. With the Hohenzollerns gone, and the people of Germany controlling their own destinies, instead of being dictated to by their military rulers, a peace conference would be in order; a lasting peace would be within reasonable distance, and President Wilson's peace speech would probably earn for him the Nobel peace prize. Today, with the Kaiser still on his tottering throne, talking peace in order to make his seat, and the seat of his children, more secure, President Wilson is in the position of an innocent catspaw who is unconsciously working to preserve an absolute monarchy which has been the ruin of the German Empire. The irony of the present situation is that the President of the greatest republic in the world should be struggling to keep a Hohenzollern on his throne.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Hon. Charles Murphy is serving the people of Canada in demanding an investigation into the continued use of the Ross rifle after it had been condemned as being ineffective in actual warfare.

The Borden-Hughes correspondence is now proving a source of worry to the Premier, who will be hard put to it in refuting some of the statements made by the ex-Minister of Militia.

The only fault to be found with the report on the Canadian hospitals in England by Dr. Bruce, of Toronto, was that it was too truthful. The Bapiste report which slurred over the rough spots is much preferred by the Government.

Sir John Jellicoe, in ordering a blockade of Heligoland Bight, is tackling a big job but the late commander of the North Sea fleet is the man for the job.

It was decided at the recent naval conference in London to build up a mercantile marine at the rate of ten for ten of ships sunk by the enemy. It might be a good scheme to also commandeer the interned German steamers. It would be interesting to read of German submarines sinking German ships.

Beware of the Cold Storage Egg! In his work on food and dietetics Doctor Robert Hutchison says, "the absence of carbohydrates prevents eggs from being in any sense a complete food." This refers to the fresh egg—the egg with a clean bill of health. What would Doctor Hutchison say of the modern cold storage egg? At present prices two eggs cost ten cents—and the egg is not a complete food! Something must be eaten with it to supply the needed carbohydrates. Two Shredded Wheat Biscuits, with cream or milk, make a complete, perfect meal at a cost of four or five cents. A call has been sent out to the Dominions for redoubled enthusiasm and effort and no doubt it is only necessary to notify Prince Rupert citizens of this fact and they will gladly respond, as in the past.

"NERVES" UNKNOWN ON THE FIRING LINE

A soldier, writing to the Times, states that men do not suffer from nerves at the front; they are blessed with an absence of nerves so extraordinary as almost to seem uncanny, as, for instance, when a company commander, worried by returns and papers, said and meant, "Thank Heavens, we're going into the trenches tomorrow, and shall get a little peace!" Excluding some definite nerve-shattering experience, he says that the ordinary mental strain caused by a warfare which is without beginning, cessation, or end, by days and weeks passed under what before this war would have been called heavy fire, is practically non-existent. With a singular adaptability the citizen-soldier has taken on that habit of viewing life as a perfectly ordinary affair which had hitherto belonged in its richest bloom to the old Regular soldier. Whatever he does, whatever he is asked to do, becomes unconsciously part of the day's work, and so he grumbles, but in a philosophic strain (he is not aware of whimsicality or humor, but his remarks are rarely devoid of one or the other), finds some one more awkward or uncomfortable than he is, and straightaway is perfectly at his ease. There is no deliberately making the best of a bad job; it is seeing a bad job as a good one, or at least as one that might be worse, that the British soldier, new and old, is supreme.

THE ROAD TO THE RIGHT.

YOU'VE met at least one of those few good old souls, who are constantly getting the worst of it when shopping, who don't believe in advertising. A hundred disappointing and instructive experiences have failed to teach him their plain lesson.

When he bought his first watch he was beguiled into buying one without a known name or a trustworthy guarantee. That watch—a poor timekeeper—cost him dearly by reason of missed appointments and missed trains, and for frequent repairs. Yet he paid the price of a good watch.

It is the same story with regard to his underwear, his shoes, and his fountain pen.

This good old soul's case is not unique. Many of us, if the truth be confessed, resemble him; we allow ourselves to be sold merchandise with an unknown brand or trade mark instead of buying merchandise which is well known to us through the medium of advertising. In slang language, we get "stung" pretty often.

In most of these cases we have ourselves to blame, for "the road to the right" thing to buy has been made plain by advertising.

There is no good reason for passing by the known thing, soundly guaranteed, to buy a dubious article, which, quality for quality, cannot be cheaper than the known, branded article.

"It is better to be sure than sorry."

GERMANS HAVE LOST MANY SUBMARINES

Amsterdam, January 29.—The Telegraaf publishes an interview with a neutral who since the beginning of the war has been residing at Kiel. He says the people of Kiel are suffering from a scarcity of foodstuffs, and have had enough of the war. Disturbances have been frequent, but have not been of a serious character. Workmen at the Germania works became rebellious owing to bad treatment and low wages. Malcontents were sent to the front and replaced by others. A considerable number of Bulgarian and Austrian officers are at Kiel visiting the training school and submarines. Seventy per cent of the German submarine officers belong to the reserve. A vast number of submarines and torpedo boats are being constructed at Kiel. The submarine losses have been enormous.

The Super-Dreadnought Bismarck, Germany's largest warship, is now ready. Sailors who participated in the Skagerrak battle were not proud of the result. The Koenig Seydlitz and the Derflinger were very badly damaged.

ANNUAL VESTRY MEETING OF ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

All the reports presented on Monday evening at the annual vestry meeting of St. Andrew's Church were encouraging, when the present conditions are taken into consideration. The Sunday School reported an average attendance of 65, with 78 on the roll. The different Women's Auxiliary reports showed excellent work and came in for warm praise as also did the choir, especially the leader, Mr. Mellior and the organist, Miss Ellett. The rector pointed out that 196 men and 2 women of the congregation had enlisted for the front and that no less than 16 of these had paid the supreme sacrifice, while many had been seriously and permanently injured. In this there was great sorrow, but also a feeling of pride that the congregation had produced so many who, at great sacrifice, were ready to take their share in the defence of liberty and justice.

The election of office-bearers resulted as follows: Rector's Warden, W. E. Burritt; People's Warden, R. L. McIntosh; Secy.—Treas., H. B. Cambie; Lay representatives to the Synod: L. M. de Gex and H. T. Cross; Auditor, H. T. Willett; Sidesmen: Sheriff Shirley, J. Conway, C. T. Heward, S. King, S. J. Winsby, R. L. McIntosh, W. E. Burritt, J. H. McMullin, E. D. Johnson, H. O. Crew, Don Yelf, J. M. Clancy, L. M. de Gex, George McNichol, A. T. Parkin and H. T. Cross.

ARE BATHS NECESSARY?

This looks like a foolish question in this enlightened age, but there are nearly a million Americans who knew nothing of Internal Bathing a few years ago and are now eager to testify that they are fully as essential to health as External Baths.

By a purely natural process of properly using warm water, the "J. B. L. Cascade" removes ALL the poisonous waste from the Lower Intestine, which physicians agree is the cause of 95 per cent of all human ailments.

It instantly relieves constipation, properly regulates the bowels and prevents all the dragging-down which Bilioussness and Liver Troubles always create.

E. W. Southall, M.D., of Genesee, N. Y., writes:—

"I challenged the doctors in this town last week in regard to what I can do with your 'Cascade'. I can say for a truth that I know the reason for my success with many serious illnesses was due to having the bowels washed out once and sometimes twice a day. I only wish I could make the people in general believe in the efficiency of a good bowel washing. Sincerely yours,"

Cyril H. Orme, Druggist, corner 3rd Ave. and 6th street, Prince Rupert has filed a tremendous demand for "J. B. L. Cascade" in the past few years, and will show and explain it to you on request. A free and interesting booklet on Internal Bathing, "Why Man of Today is Only 50 Per Cent Efficient," can also be obtained for the asking. If you prefer, write to Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell, 163 College street, Toronto, for same.
