BRITISH CAPTURE MORE GERMAN TRENCHES

KAISER CALLS IMPORTANT CONFERENCE -- SUBMARINES CLAIM MANY VICTIMS

BRITISH CARRY HUN TRENCHES ON WEST FRONT

Important Position Captured on Somme—Six Thousand Yards Taken—The Austrians Claim Success.

London, Feb. 12.—The British yesterday captured German trenches on a front of three-quarters of a mile on the Somme while they also carried a strong system of trenches on the southern portion of this front, culminating in the capturing of Serre Hill, two hundred and fifteen prisoners being taken.

Later, the British made a successful assault on a liquorice factory, which has been strongly held by the enemy, in the same region. The attack started to the west of the factory and resulted in its capture along with six thousand yards of German trenches. The Germans made desperate efforts to re-capture their lost positions at Sally Saillisel but all their attempts were frustrated by the British troops.

Italian Front.

There is heavy fighting on the Austro-Italian front and, in the Gorizia sector the Austrians claim to have entered the Italian trenches, inflicting heavy casualties.

Mesopotamia.

The Turks, on the Mesopotamia front, made four attempts to re-secure the ground lost recently, but each attack was repulsed.

Russian Front.

In the eastern theatre of war, the Germans captured Russian trenches near Stanislaw but were later forced to evacuate them in face of determined Russian counter-attacks.

SAYS DEUTSCHLAND WAS SUNK BY AVIATOR

New York, Feb. 8.—The Times says this morning that, notwithstanding a Berlin despatch to the newspapers yesterday stating that the merchant submarine Deutschland had not left Bremen, several passengers on the White Star liner Lapland, which arrived here yesterday, said that the submersible had been sunk in the North Sea by an aviator, who descended within 400 feet of the surface before he dropped the bomb. The force of the explosion was so great that it turned the aeroplane completely over, they said, and dropped the pilot and gunner into the sea, but they were both rescued. The aviators did not know it was the Deutschland they had sunk until they noted the great bulk of the submersible as she was blown to pieces.

GERMANS WISH TO EVADE WAR WITH AMERICA

Kaiser Calls Important Conference of Leaders—May Offer More Protection to American Ships and Lives.

London, Feb. 12.—An important conference has been called at the German military headquarters by Emperor Wilhelm, presumably to discuss the submarine question and the situation which has arisen between Germany and the United States. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, the Imperial Chancellor, and other high army and naval officials will attend.

Washington Report.

Washington, Feb. 12.—Officials here say it is not understood that Germany proposes to make any modification in her ruthless submarine campaign, and that the United States cannot enter upon any discussion along this line while vessels continue to be destroyed in violation of all international law.

That a new movement is afoot is affirmed from the willingness of Germany to discuss the situation, especially the safe-guarding of American ships and lives on the seas, backed by renewed expression of the desire of the German government to prevent the diplomatic break from leading to actual hostilities.

Gerard Leaves.

Ambassador Gerard has left Berlin for Zurich, Switzerland, accompanied by his staff and fifty United States citizens.

Now in Switzerland.

Berlin, Feb. 12.—Ambassador Gerard is now in Switzerland. He was given a cordial send-off on his departure from Germany.

RETURNED SOLDIERS CLUB

The Returned Soldiers Association have got the rooms in the telephone building into real comfortable shape, thanks largely to the efforts of the ladies of the Daughters of the Empire committee. The boys have the nucleus of a serviceable library; a cozy living room, with lounge chairs, etc.; a meeting room with chairs, desks, etc.; a businesslike kitchen and a bedroom with two beds. A few pictures have been collected and, naturally, they are of military men. Besides the King and Queen, the late Lord Kitchener and Sir Douglas Haig adorn the walls, while there is also a copy of the engraving, "On the Field of Honor." Some day the boys will have more pretentious quarters, but meantime, they are fixed up very comfortably.

THE CRADLE

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Woods, a daughter, at the general hospital, yesterday.

The members of St. Andrew's Society will give a reception this evening, in the rooms on Third avenue, to Allen Robertson, the first of their number to return from active service. As many of the boys as possible will meet the returned soldier at the wharf when the Sophia comes in this afternoon and all are invited to be at the rooms this evening.

OTTAWA HAS MANY MYSTERIES TO UNFOLD

Ottawa, Feb. 8.—When Sir Sam was told that Macdonald, of Pictou, had found nineteen separate and distinct charges in his famous correspondence with Premier Borden, Sir Sam was surprised—at his own moderation. There was plenty more where those came from. Sam knows the inside of things. The question is will he tell? The government is visibly uneasy under Sam's glittering eye—fidgets in his seat, fiddles with its watch chain, bites its finger nails.

There are mysteries in the air everywhere. For instance, what does National Registration mean? Is the government anxious to get any more recruits after its good friends like Lord Shaughnessy and the Canadian manufacturers have told it that Canadian industries were being dislocated? Is the government saying one thing and doing another? Is it talking under its breath of conscription, hinting at it, snarling darkly about drastic measures, seeking to get the credit for it, and all the while warning the responsible authorities to go slow? Does the government whisper conscription in communities where that idea may be popular and whisper something else in other communities where the people do not think that way?

After Premier Borden had made his celebrated bid for the last hundred thousand—thus bringing the limit up to five hundred thousand—did he give secret orders to slow up recruiting? And along the same lines why does the Imperial Munitions Board keep advertising for workers for whom there are no jobs? Sir Sam could throw a lot of light on these matters and it is only natural for the government to feel nervous at the prospect of his spilling the beans.

Moreover, Sir Sam knows all about the intrigues that are going on in the cabinet. He has mentioned the word intrigue in his letter and there is always the danger that he may follow it up with plainer statements. The theory of the Opposition is that the cabinet, ever since the beginning of the war, has been a battlefield for three groups of contenders. The Rogers group and the Hughes group have had their day—there is now an armistice between their leaders, and the White group is on top at present. There was a dark saying of Sir Sam's that Sir Thomas White was conspiring with Premier Borden rather than against him. Does this mean that Premier Borden, with a view to finding an honorable way out of a job that has become tiresome to him, favors a reconstructed government in which Sir Thomas White would be Premier, and not J. W. Flavelle, his first lieutenant—or the other way about?

Another mystery of the first importance is who was allowed to make the money underwriting the various loans which Sir Thomas has floated during the last three years. This understanding, considering the price the bonds were sold at, has been very profitable to somebody. Who were the gentlemen that reached up to the grape vine and grabbed off ten million dollars? Sir Sam may have a shrewd suspicion. Will he put that question in words? And if he does put it in words, will he back it up with the facts?

And if Sir Sam is going to pull secrets out of his bosom that way and brandish his "inside stuff" before a horrified public, when may he be expected to do it? Right now, or after Premier Borden comes back from England? The balance of probabilities is that Sir Sam will not waste good ammunition by firing it off too long before a general election. The events of this war are so tremendous that a scandal has to be smoking hot to keep its interest for the public.

Indeed, as much seems to hinge on when Sir Sam is going to say it as what he is going to say when he does say it. If Sir Sam intends saying it now, then a pale and queasy government would feel like bringing down its extension proposal right away, risking a refusal, cutting out the adjournment and Premier Borden's visit to England, and going to the country immediately, if not sooner. If, on the other hand, Sir Sam's disclosures will keep until after the adjournment, then the government will probably take the limit before a general election, because there are several months to go yet and a great deal of patronage to dispense, with a million dollars a day to spend. It is on these extraordinary military expenditures that the government depends to sweeten opinion in the constituencies, the usual paper from public works and railways being stopped, and naturally they will keep spending as long as long as possible.

Meanwhile the debate on the address ambles along with an occasional spurt, as, for example, when Macdonald of Pictou delivered one of his stinging speeches. Replying to Premier Borden's taunts about bloody

IMPORTANT FISHING LEGISLATION WANTED

Olympia, Feb. 8.—Representative Charles I. Roth, of Whatcom County, introduced a bill in the House yesterday morning to prohibit fishing for sockeye salmon in the waters of Puget Sound during the years of 1918, 1919 and 1920, with the provision that the act shall be null and void in the event that British Columbia fails to enact similar legislation with regard to the Fraser river.

The sockeye salmon is the principal food fish of Puget Sound waters utilized for packing purposes, and there has always been a strong contention between British Columbia and the state of Washington over the protection of this fish. The natural spawning grounds of the sockeye are on the Fraser river and its tributaries, and British Columbia maintains the largest hatchery in the world at Harrison Lake to propagate this fish.

THE BIG FISH

C. Westaway, of the C. P. R. office, was the winner of the huge black cod raffled by "Bill" Shrub-sall for the Red Cross. The raffle realized the handsome sum of $100.75. The fish is exactly the same as that brought in by the Borealis of the New England Fish Company, Vancouver, some weeks ago. The Vancouver fish was donated to the provincial museum. It has been found that it is one of the species known as "erilepis zouifer." Had Bill known that this was its real title, he might have raised $300.

SUBMARINES STILL DOING DEADLY WORK

Norwegians Suffer Heavily—British-India Liner Sunk—Two Norwegian Officers Lose Their Lives.

London, Feb. 12.—The following are the latest submarine victims: The Japanese steamer Prince Salaga; the British steamers Lullington and Mantola; the Norwegian steamers Havgard, El-lavore and Olga, and the Greek ship Vassidissa. The Mantola is a British-India liner of 6,720 tons. The Norwegian steamer Solpak-ken was also sunk and two of her officers lost their lives.

American Precautions.

Washington, Feb. 12.—It is intimated that, while the government will not actually arm merchant craft, or advise the arming of them, it will find a way to place weapons at the disposal of ship-owners who may desire them as a means of protection.

"SANDY" EARNED BIG SUM ON SATURDAY

The Canadian Bank of Commerce today forwarded a draft for $77.10, being the proceeds collected by "Sandy," Mrs. Percy F. Godenrath's Irish setter, for the Blue Cross fund, for wounded horses and dogs at the front. The money goes to Miss Kitto, the provincial secretary of the fund at Victoria, B. C., through Miss Du Vernef who acted as treasurer on Saturday's tag-day. "Sandy" has been instrumental in collecting a considerable sum for this worthy fund and when Captain and Mrs. Godenrath go east on Saturday he will accompany them and continue his good work whenever opportunity affords. On behalf of the Blue Cross, Mrs. Godenrath desires through The News to express sincere thanks for the very generous response given the cause.

THE REFORMED DOGFISH

The following editorial from the New York Times should be of interest to all concerned in the fishing industry here:

"Give a dog a bad name and hang him" is as true of the piscine as it is of the canine tribe. Witness the dogfish—beg pardon, the grayfish—long a terror and nuisance to Atlantic coast fishermen, whose nets he has cut to tatters and whose bait and catches he has devoured. Until quite recently there was no market here for this bold sea pirate, whose plebeian name and marauding habits had acquired for him a most unsavory reputation. Last November, however, the Bureau of Fisheries, in an interesting circular entitled "The Grayfish—Try It," officially rechristened the contemned and neglected dogfish, and incidentally described what a nutritious and delectable fellow he was. And now Secretary Redfield of the Department of Commerce tells us that "the packers of grayfish estimate that the present demand is tenfold the available supply and that one large jobber in the Middle West has just placed his fourth order since the fish was placed on the market in November."

In the brief space of two months the Department of Commerce has created a new industry that benefits not only the fisherman and packer but the consumer as well. At present the grayfish is being packed plain like salmon, and a can containing fourteen ounces of solid meat and providing about the same quantity of nutriment as a like amount of medium-grade salmon may be purchased for 10 cents. The grayfish contains a little less protein and a little more fat than the salmon, but in digestibility, richness, and wholesomeness it equals, if it does not excel, many of our popular fish foods. One interesting result of the analyses thus far made by the government is that the grayfish is entirely free from uric acid, which is not true of meats, poultry, or other fishes.

Because of the many by-products obtainable from it, it is possible to market grayfish at a very low price. It may be prepared in a variety of ways—salted and dried like cod, smoked, and canned. In the countries of the Mediterranean it has been used as a fish food from time immemorial. Economic Circular No. 22 of the Bureau of Fisheries, to which reference has already been made, gives seventeen recipes for using the canned fish in the preparation of palatable dishes.

The grayfish is only one of many excellent sea foods which Americans have been long and recklessly wasting by neglect. The intelligent housewife who knows something about food values and is not afraid to try a new dish because it is new may do more to "knock H. out of the H. C. of L." than all the State and Congressional investigating committees combined.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

No more Canadians are to be allowed to visit England so long as the war lasts, unless they can show real good reasons for doing so. It is only natural that mothers and wives should wish to be near their loved ones, but national service comes first and there is already a heavy tax on British food supplies.

Bernstorff, after taking every precaution against getting his feet wet, will take the safest course towards home and Kaiser. Germany might have sent across a submarine for him.

Bets are being made that the United States will never enter the war. If Germany sinks an American liner, there is no doubt as to Washington's action, but the chances are that the German submarine commanders have been warned to be very careful in this respect.

We received a letter the other day urging that every Liberal Association in the country should wire to Premier Borden protesting against Hon. Robert Rogers going to London as a representative at the Imperial Conference. The writer need not worry, as Bob can do no harm at the conference and his absence from Canada for a while will not be a curse.

ADDRESSING CABLES TO MEN ON SERVICE

Ottawa, Feb. 8.—The Department of Militia and Defence reports that considerable delay and confusion frequently results through improperly addressing in care of the War Office, London, cable messages intended for officers and men serving with the Canadian Expeditionary Force in France. No arrangements exist for the forwarding of such messages from London by telegraph, and it is therefore necessary in all such cases to send them on by post.

All cable messages intended for members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force in France may (like telegrams for others) be sent from Canada addressed directly to France, the address of such messages, in addition to stating regimental number, name, unit, etc., to bear the words "Canadians, France." These messages, however, even if paid for at full rates, are not necessarily forwarded by telegraph in the final stages of their transmission in France, and may be subject to some delay.

The foregoing does not apply to messages which may be sent at the special non-minimum weekend letter rate to soldiers, sailors and nurses serving with the Canadian Expeditionary Force in France. Such messages, which should be fully addressed in all cases, are forwarded by post from England by the telegraph company, and should not, therefore, be directed in care of the War Office, London.

For seven years, I suffered terribly from Severe Headaches and Indigestion. I had belching gas from the stomach, bitter stuff would come up into my mouth after eating, while at times I had nausea and vomiting, and had chronic Constipation. I went to several doctors and wrote to a specialist in Boston but without benefit. I tried many remedies but nothing did me good. Finally, a friend advised "Fruit-a-tives". I took this grand fruit medicine and it made me well. OTTAWA HAS MANY MYSTERIES TO UNFOLD keys, and like matters, the member for Pictou reminded Sir Robert that his Minister of Elections had had the bloody key in the lock and the door almost open on two occasions, but the government got locomotor ataxia and nearly trembled itself to death. As for war-time elections, there have been five since the war started, and the Conservative government of British Columbia went so far as to take the votes of the soldiers at the front, with disastrous results to itself. No doubt Premier Bowser's fate aggravates Premier Borden's horror when he reflects on the temerity of asking the soldier to pause a moment in his fighting while he casts a vote that may help to slaughter the Borden government.

Macdonald made a palpable hit when he asked Premier Borden why he dismissed Sir Sam for doing things off his own bat without the formality of orders-in-council, and kept on the Minister of Public Works and the Minister of Railways, who were guilty of the same offence. Needless to state, Premier Borden did not answer, choosing to regard it as a rhetorical question of Mr. Macdonald's. The Government has a habit of smiling wanly when Mr. Macdonald starts his quizzing. That's about the only reply they are able to make.

Another matter touched by the member for Pictou was Sir Sam's struggle to maintain Canadian control of Canadian troops while in England, and the hostility of Sir George Perley and the other peering hunters in Premier Borden's cabinet, to this course. It appears that Sir Sam had a hard fight first with Kitchener and then with the politicians here and in England to establish Canadian right in a Canadian army to anything more than the lesser commands. Sir Sam himself says that when Premier Borden let him out he had got things so far forward that the British War Office—with reluctance, it is true—was appointing Canadians as divisional commanders, but now that Sir George Perley has it in hand we may expect to lose the ground gained. Sir Sam apprehends that Perley will assent to everything—the high rank and the decorations for the British officers and what's left for the Canadians—who are paying the bill. When Sir Sam gets on the subject of the fine old tawny dunderheads the war office would have foisted on the Canadian divisions there are always fireworks.

If anything lacked to puncture the government's National Service bluff it was supplied by Frank Oliver, who analyzed its pretensions in a way that added to his reputation as a clear thinker. Mr. Oliver took the ground that National Service meant primarily compulsory military service—as it does in England and other war-administered countries right now—and after that compulsory industrial service. National Service in Canada, however, means neither one thing nor the other—it's a mere muttering on the part of the government which leads nowhere. Mr. Oliver thought the best thing that could happen to Canada was an election that would turn an equivocating government out and put an honest one in.

Incidentally, Mr. Oliver knocked the stuffing out of Premier Borden's enlistment figures, which include the sixty-five thousand units who never reached the firing line, several thousand non-combatants, and several more thousands of allied reservists with whose enlistment under their respective colors Canada had nothing whatever to do. One way and another we are still 170,000 short of Premier Borden's boast that Canada would supply 500,000 fighting men.—H. F. Gadsby.

Belgians Depend on us for Bread!

Since shortly after the German invasion, the Belgians have depended for food entirely on the "Commission for Relief in Belgium". Their own store of food, even if not destroyed or pillaged, would last only three weeks—they have had no chance to raise more—and the ruthless Germans refuse to supply them!

Backed by the

so generously contributed in the British Empire and the United States, the neutral Belgian Relief Commission has imported enough wheat, flour and other foods to feed the whole nation so far. The great majority of the 7,000,000 Belgians left in the country have been able to pay for their daily allowance of bread—but a steadily growing number have no money left.

Unless we are willing to let these hundreds of thousands of women, children and old men starve, they must be fed at the expense of the Belgian Relief Fund. To make this possible someone must contribute nearly $3,000,000 a month—every month—all this winter!

No people under the Allied Flags are as well able to contribute generously as we Canadians! No cause has ever been more deserving of help! In the name of Justice and Humanity—for the sake of our own self-respect—let us give all we can to help our martyred Allies!

Send your contributions weekly, monthly or in one lump sum to Local or Provincial Committees, or to the Central Executive Committee, 89 St. Peter St., Montreal

The Case of A.B. Smith, Retailer.

A. B. SMITH has a dry goods store in a certain Canadian city. He does a good business, but wants to do more. He believes that Advertising in his local newspaper is the way to get more business. So he advertises—every now and then. This is where our friend Smith is wrong—in advertising every now and then. He should advertise regularly—as frequently as his local newspaper is published. Smith says he wants to advertise regularly, but he can't always find the time to prepare advertisements, which is true, for he is his own buyer, sales-manager, director of store service, credit man and half-a-dozen other things. What Smith should do is this: If he is located in one of the smaller cities, in which there are no advertising agencies giving a local copy service, and he has no one among his own staff qualified by instinct or experience to write the daily announcements, he should go to the publisher of the newspaper in which he means to advertise, requesting his help. In nine cases out of ten, the publisher, through his advertising manager, will be only too glad to give Smith the assistance desired. If Smith is located in one of the larger cities he should secure the services of a recognized advertising agency which will take over the work of preparing his advertisements. In this way Smith can be sure of having his advertisements prepared regularly and intelligently, with no more trouble to him than the supplying of the information required by the writer of the advertisements. So Smith can do more business, and more business means a larger income for himself, to say nothing of other gains that go hand in hand with the doing of bigger business.

This man Smith---do you know him? Are YOU Smith?

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.
If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lansdon Building, Toronto.
