GREAT CURTAILMENT OF BRITISH IMPORTS

CAN FACE ENEMY'S WORST, SAYS LLOYD GEORGE, IF TONNAGE PROBLEM SOLVED

GREAT BRITAIN'S FOOD SUPPLY NOW MENACED

Lloyd George's Speech in House of Commons Foretells of Many Curtailments of Luxuries.

London, Feb. 24.—Premier Lloyd George in a great speech in the House of Commons today admitted the gravity of the situation with regard to the nation's food supply through the operation of the German submarine warfare. Britain must be determined to curtail in the most drastic fashion her imports. Luxuries of every description must be banned. Face to face with a life and death struggle, many things which had heretofore been considered as necessities, but were really not so, would have to be done without. All unessential staples must make way for the necessities of war. He said that the restrictive plans about to put in operation will affect the very foundation of British life and will apply to the dining tables of practically every British citizen. The Premier promised his audience that if this programme be carried out, Britain can face the enemy's worst. The whole success of the Allied cause depended upon the ability of the government to solve the tonnage problem. This could be helped by the restriction of unnecessary imports and increased agricultural and shipbuilding activity.

MORE RAIDS BY BRITISH AND FRENCH TROOPS

British Raid Results in Dugouts Being Destroyed and Many Prisoners—Germans Again Repulsed.

London, Feb. 24.—A British raid was successfully carried out to the south of Souchez. Many prisoners were captured and dugouts were destroyed, and numbers of the enemy killed. A French report states that several surprise attacks in Alsace and Lorraine regions were repulsed with great loss to the enemy in each instance.

Steamers Sunk.
The British steamer Wathfield has been sunk.

Paris, Feb. 24.—The French steamer Athos, carrying Senegalese troops and colonial laborers, was torpedoed in the Mediterranean, despite the escort of the French torpedo boat destroyers Mameluk and Enseigne. The destroyers, aided by the gunboat Henry, saved 1,450 lives.

Eastern Front.
Petrograd, Feb. 24.—The Germans after strong artillery preparation launched three attacks against the Russian positions east of Zlochhoff and broke through the Russian lines. Counter attacks drove the invaders into their original positions.

GERMAN POPULATION
London, Feb. 24.—The German reports of their man power do not agree with their previous records. They now claim that their population at the last census was not sixty-five millions, but eighty millions. With war in view, false figures were deliberately published in order to mislead possible enemies. This may explain Germany's unexpected capacity to produce reserves and man power.

SUDDEN DEATH
Oswego, Feb. 24.—Anonymous letters have been received by the members of the House Committee for Foreign Affairs threatening them with death within twenty-four hours, if they supported the declaration of war with Germany.

GERMAN GOVERNOR DISMISSED
The Hague, Feb. 22.—General T. Von Huene, the German governor at Antwerp, has been dismissed for promising the Dutch authorities in 1914 that Belgians would not be deported. This promise forced Germany to send back many deported Belgians who only returned to Belgium after their flight to Holland following the fall of Antwerp on the strength of Von Huene's pledge. Von Huene asked to be allowed to command at the front, but the request has not been granted.

GERARD KNOWS
Madrid, Feb. 24.—Mr. Gerard knows the Germans. His appreciation of their sense of honor is keen. He is urging all other Americans in his party not to embark with him upon his ship for their own safety, as he thinks that the vessel he sails on will be made a special target for attack by the enemy submarines.

CLIMBING DOWN
London, Feb. 24.—The latest Berlin newspapers received here state that henceforth American ships will not be sunk.

The S. S. Frederick VIII. on Which the Late German Ambassador Sailed for Home.—Inset are the photos of the Count and Countess Bernstorff.

REVENTLOW ATTACKS JAMES W. GERRARD

Count Von Reventlow has devoted the leading editorial in the Berlin Tages Zeitung to an attack on James W. Gerrard, former American Ambassador to Germany, whom he accuses of having used his official position deliberately to transmit important war information to the Entente by way of the United States. "Many indications," he writes, "have continually pointed to the theory that the uncontrolled cable service and letter service to the United States permitted to the American Embassy, had also been an uncontrolled method of communication with London and Paris. This was best illustrated in the events which led to the capture and execution of Sir Roger Casement. Thus London learned in good time of the enterprise which led Casement to the Irish coast and his capture resulted. American Ambassador Gerrard and his personnel were the ones who delivered the honorable Irishman to the hangman." An attack on American newspaper service from Berlin is appended, and the article closes with an expression of hearty thankfulness that Mr. Gerrard has left Berlin.

STATE SOCIALISM

The Empire Resources Development Committee met a number of press representatives in their offices in London recently when an explanation of the scheme for State development was put forward. Sir Starr Jameson quoted from Lord Milner's speech at the inception of the committee that it would be impossible for the Empire to pay off its enormous war debt under the existing system of taxation and foreshadowed a new line of revenue production to relieve future taxation. Sir Starr said the committee proposed to invite suggestions as to the means of producing revenue from the State's resources and referred to the general ignorance as to the enormous potential wealth of the Empire and of the neglect of past governments to utilize it. Of criticism that might be levelled against the scheme, one was that it was state socialism rampant. The tendency was in that direction long before the war and we had to see that State Socialism was of the proper label and that it took the right direction. Regarding the possible criticism that no government department could be trusted with the foreshadowed developments, he said it was intended that the Development Board should consist of captains of industry.

SURPRISE ATTACK ON GERMAN TRENCHES

With the British armies in the field, Philip Gibb, one of the few war correspondents, describes an early morning attack on the western front recently. "The 'show', as our men call it, yesterday was more than a raid—those daily in and out dashes which are doing most deadly work along our line. It was an attack for the definite purpose of gaining an important bit of ground on the slope which goes down to the ruined village and of driving the enemy out of some strong points. The interest of it—involving the capture of six officers and 352 men of picked regiments—is the way in which we caught the enemy utterly by surprise, and the rapid, easy way in which the whole operation was done.

A touch which seems fantastic came at the end of the adventure when these young Germans, still breathless with the amazement of their capture, were bundled into omnibuses which had been brought up near the lines to wait for them—the old London omnibuses which used to go 'All the way to the Benk, Benk, Benk!'—in the days before the world began to crack—and taken to our camp on our side of the battlefields. It was a grim cold morning—piercingly cold with a wind cutting like a knife across the snowfields, not a morning when men might be expected to go out into the nakedness of no mans land. It was a morning when these German officers and men were glad to stay down in the warmth of their dugouts, cooking coffee on the little stoves with which each man of these favored troops was provided—to the great envy of the Bavarians on their right, who were on shorter rations and fewer comforts.

"They had some good dugouts, but their trenches were not on the whole happy places. For months past our guns had been pounding them, so that they were mostly battered down, and only held here and there by little groups of men who dug themselves in. There was no wire in front of them and during the wet weather, and now during the great frost the German troops, as we learned from the prisoners, suffered badly from trench feet and stomach troubles and from what the French call the 'cafard' and we call the 'hump'.

"Yesterday morning one or two shivering wretches stood sentry in the German line trying to gain shelter from the knife blade of the wind. All others were below ground round their braziers. They believed the British over the way were just as quiet in the good work of keeping warm. That was their mistake. In our trenches, the men were quiet but busy, and above ground instead of below. They were waiting for a signal from the guns and had their bayonets fixed and bombs about them and iron rations slung to their

UNITED STATES STILL WAITING AN OVERT ACT

Washington Still Silent—Peace Propagandists Have Usual Stormy Session—Food Still Scarce.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Silence is being maintained by all government officials regarding the European situation. No reply has yet been received from Ambassador Penfield regarding Austria's attitude regarding the submarine campaign.

Later—The international situation following yesterday's cabinet meeting is announced unchanged.

Would Arm Ships.
P. A. Franklin, president of the American S. S. Line, during a conference with Secretary Daniels, intimated his readiness to defy submarines, if the navy would furnish defence guns, but Secretary Daniels demurred and feared international trouble would ensue.

Food Situation.
New York, Feb. 24.—Food rioting of a sporadic nature continues. Governor Whitman is giving the food situation his close attention.

New York, Feb. 24.—More than twenty organizations desirous of peace at any price assembled at their joint meeting, have had their usual stormy session.

A rum ration was served round and the men drank it and felt the glow of it, so that the white waste of no mans land did not look so cold and menacing. "Suddenly about half past five there was a terrific crash of guns and at the same moment the men scrambled up into the open and with their bayonets low went out into no mans land, each man's footsteps making a trail in the snow. I think it took about four minutes, that passage of the lonely ground which was about 100 yards or so between the lines, all pock-marked with shell holes and hard as iron after the freezing of the quagmire. You will understand that there was no preliminary bombardment. As soon as the guns went off the men went with the line of shells not far in front of them. They found no men above ground when they pierced the German line. It was curious and uncanny—the utter lifelessness of the place they came to capture. Good to see, and better still for men attacking, for men who always listen for the quick rush of bullets, which is the ugliest sound in war, not a single machine gun spat at them. They knew quickly that they had surprised the enemy utterly. They found the dugouts and called down the challenge and heard it answered. The Germans came up dazed with the effect of the capture, hardly believing it, as men in a dream. One of the officers explained: 'We thought it was just a morning 'strafe'. We had no idea of an attack. How did you get here so quickly?' They were abashed. But they were trapped. They could do nothing but surrender with the best grace possible."

BRIBES TO RUSSIA

The statement made by M. Hanotaux in an article recently published in the "Figaro," in which he asserted that Germany some time ago offered Constantinople and the Dardanelles to Russia as the price of a separate peace, is known in diplomatic circles to be correct. It is interesting in this connection to recall the different attempts which Germany has made to buy a separate peace with one or the other of the Allies at the expense of the powers leagued with her. These attempts may be summarized as follows: Germany offered the Austrian province of Galicia to Russia. Subsequently Germany offered the whole of Galicia and the whole of the Austrian province of Bukovina to Russia. Germany offered a large slice of Austrian territory in the Southern Tyrol and farther south to Italy as the price of neutrality. Subsequently Germany offered the greater part of the Austrian province of Bukovina and a strip of Hungary to Roumania as the price of Roumanian neutrality or co-operation with the Central Empires. The last offer of this kind was the one mentioned by Mr. Hanotaux in regard to Constantinople and the Dardanelles.—"Wireless."

WHAT WE MISSED

In discussing the action of the Cunard Steamship Co. in letting a contract to a Seattle shipbuilding company for the construction of six freighters at an aggregate cost of $6,000,000, the Victoria Times says that this affords an unpleasant commentary on the lack of foresight of the Dominion government in its attitude towards the shipbuilding industry. If instead of announcing to the world that Canada could not build large ships, that she could not develop a navy for fifty years, and importing from the eccentric Mr. Churchill the unique argument that we had no riveters, etc., etc., four years ago, the government had got behind one or more of the great shipbuilding firms of the United Kingdom, anxious at the time to establish branches here on a large scale, those Cunard contracts and many others would have been let to Canadian yards.

But apart from the controversial question of naval construction, time and again shipbuilding interests have approached the Federal authorities for certain concessions which would have permitted them to expand. But nothing was done or attempted until it was too late. The government could not do this or that for fear of treading upon one or more of the toes of special privilege. It could not remove the customs on steel parts because the steel interests might object. Canada today ought to be building at least a million tons of shipping a year. She has all the means—wealth, raw material and labor. The only thing she lacks is a government with sufficient nerve, backbone and faith in the Canadian people to put itself squarely behind the shipbuilding industry and ensure its expansion.

REWARD OF CRAFT

We recommend to Premier Borden the action of Premier Martin of the Saskatchewan House in expelling from his party, and from the chamber, members found guilty of a judicial commission of extorting money and accepting bribes. Of course, it would be possible for these members to abuse the commissioners and assail the newspapers calling attention to the findings of the commission, but evidently the west is not as easily deceived as the east by such red herring tactics. The Premier of Saskatchewan has done the right, the correct and the courageous thing in calling upon these members to explain and then resign, or resign without explaining. Unfortunately for the honor of the dominion the Federal Premier does not seem to possess the moral courage of Premier Martin. Otherwise the portfolio of minister of public works would have been vacated the day after the report of Commissioner Galt was published.—Ottawa Citizen.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

It is the intention of Germany to distribute among their ship-owners the sum of three hundred million marks in proportion to their losses in ships during the war by seizure or otherwise. So says the Cologne Gazette in the last number. It will thus be seen that the German government does not expect to get much of their shipping presently tied up in neutral harbors, back again after the war.

Although Bernstorff has left the United States, he has left behind him a set of explicit instructions to be carried out by his confidential agents in the event of any conceivable emergency. These directions apply particularly to the steps that are to be taken in the event of an overt act.

Sir William MacKenzie, president of the Canadian Northern Railway Company, was in Victoria this week and in connection with an interview he had with the Premier and the Minister of Railways, the Victoria Times says that it is believed that the province is confronted with another instalment of the paying of the piper for the tune played by the McBride government, and its railway friends a few years ago.

GILLETT'S LYE EATS DIRT

NO MORE ZEPPELINS TOWARDS LONDON

A staff correspondent of the Associated Press writes from Geneva that the Zeppelin campaign against London has been found to be unprofitable. The cessation of the German air attacks of the British metropolis has been due not to fortuitous circumstances, but to the deliberate determination of the German leaders to abandon these attacks, as was done long ago in the case of Paris. The predominant reason for the decision to discontinue attacks on London probably is the increasing strength and efficiency of the air defences of the city, but the effects of the raids on neutral opinion in view of the then contemplated peace overtures also may have been a factor.

The role of the Zeppelins in land warfare is now regarded in expert circles in Germany as decidedly secondary to their great value as scouting agencies for the operations of the fleet. Raids may be resumed from time to time with a view of tying up in the British Isles and eliminating from the Somme offensive as large a number of anti-aircraft guns, aeroplanes, searchlights and men to equip them as possible. The last expedition resulted in the loss of two Zeppelins.

"In my opinion, no other medicine in the world is so curative for Constipation and Indigestion as 'Fruit-a-tives'. I was suffering from these complaints for five years, and my sedentary occupation, Music, brought about a kind of Intestinal Paralysis—with nasty Headaches, belching gas, drowsiness after eating, and Pain in the Back. I tried pills and medicines of physicians, but nothing helped me. Then I was induced to try 'Fruit-a-tives', and now for six months I have been entirely well. I advise any one who suffers from that horrible trouble—Chronic Constipation with the resultant indigestion, to try 'Fruit-a-tives', and you will be agreeably surprised at the great benefit you will receive". ## FRENCH STEAMSHIP SANK A SUBMARINE

In a forty-minute battle between the French liner Guyanne and a German submarine off the coast of France on January 22nd, the submarine was sunk, according to the officers of the freighter, which as arrived in New York from Bordeaux. The Guyanne was one day out from port. At 1:30 p. m. the U boat was sighted some distance to port and apparently endeavoring to cross the steamer's bow to stop her. The submarine fired a shot which fell short and the Guyanne then turned sharply to starboard, so that her big 65 millimetre gun mounted at the stern could be trained on the approaching craft. The submarine fired a second shot, which fell considerably short and then a third which struck the water close by the freighter. Meantime, the Guyanne's gunner had sent one shot which failed to hit, but struck very near its mark. A second shot from the Guyanne hit the U boat squarely and the underwater craft was seen to collapse. During the next thirty minutes the submarine was seen to be struggling for existence. No one appeared on deck and no further attempt to shell the freighter was made. At the end of the half hour, the submarine disappeared, not with the usual gradual motion, but suddenly. The freighter's officers say that they have no doubt that the submarine was lost.

A NEW DEVICE

The Donaldson liner Lakonia arrived in Baltimore this week provided with a new smoke device of the British Admiralty that render ships immune from submarine attack. The ship also carried a 3-inch gun mounted astern and several trained gunners to man it. According to one of the gunners, who talked to a representative of the Associated Press, the new device, perfected by British chemists and scientists, can generate enough smoke in several minutes to mask a vessel from the enemy's view for several hours.

A. B. SMITH has a dry goods store in a certain Canadian city. He does a good business, but wants to do more. He believes that Advertising in his local newspaper is the way to get more business. So he advertises—every now and then. This is where our friend Smith is wrong—in advertising every now and then. He should advertise regularly—as frequently as his local newspaper is published.

Smith says he wants to advertise regularly, but he can't always find the time to prepare advertisements, which is true, for he is his own buyer, sales-manager, director of store service, credit man and half-a-dozen other things.

What Smith should do is this: If he is located in one of the smaller cities, in which there are no advertising agencies giving a local copy service, and he has no one among his own staff qualified by instinct or experience to write the daily announcements, he should go to the publisher of the newspaper in which he means to advertise, requesting his help. In nine cases out of ten, the publisher, through his advertising manager, will be only too glad to give Smith the assistance desired.

If Smith is located in one of the larger cities he should secure the services of a recognized advertising agency which will take over the work of preparing his advertisements.

In this way Smith can be sure of having his advertisements prepared regularly and intelligently, with no more trouble to him than the supplying of the information required by the writer of the advertisements.

So Smith can do more business, and more business means a larger income for himself, to say nothing of other gains that go hand in hand with the doing of bigger business.

This man Smith---do you know him?
Are YOU Smith?

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.
If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto.

GERMAN RAIDER RUSES

Copenhagen, Feb. 23.—The "Ekstrablad" announces that 26 Swedish, Norwegian and American seamen belonging to the crew of the Yarrowdale arrived in Copenhagen today after a month's internment at Neu Strelitz.

They describe the new "Mowe" as a 12,000-ton cruiser so excellently disguised that it is impossible to discover anything extraordinary about her until the ports are opened suddenly, disclosing her guns. In addition the Mowe often carries sails, preventing a view of the deck from other vessels. Her armament consists of four large and two smaller guns and four torpedo tubes. The ship is quite new and bears the name "Mowe." She has enough ammunition and provisions to enable her to keep at sea until April. The Mowe, the sailors say, frequently feigns distress, or tries to get round the stern of ships to discover whether they are armed. If they are, she immediately drops her disguise and opens fire.

The Yarrowdale was brought to Germany around the Faroe Islands along the Norwegian coast to the Skaw and thence through the Cattegat and the Sound to Swinemunde.

Bathe Internally

Over 50,000 People Are Now Doing So.

For many years physicians have agreed that the vast majority of human ills were caused by accumulated waste in the Lower Intestine; that in our present way of living Nature could not remove all this waste without assistance, no matter how regular we might be, and that the poisons from this waste circulating through the blood pulled us away down below par and were responsible for many diseases of a serious nature.

During this time the "J. B. L. Cascade" for Internal Bathing has, because of their recommendation and those of its users, been steadily growing in favor.

Recently, however, the startling news which has been covering this country, that great surgeons and specialists have been operating on the Lower Intestine for the most chronic and serious diseases, has caused Americans to become thoroughly awake to the importance of keeping this Lower Intestine free from all poisonous waste matter, and over 500,000 are now using Internal Baths.

If you try the "J. B. L. Cascade" you will find yourself always bright, confident and capable—the poisoned waste makes us bilious, blue, dull and nervous. Internal Baths are Nature's own cure for Constipation—just warm water properly applied. Drugs force Nature—the "J. B. L. Cascade" gently assists her.

Call and see it at Cyril H. Orme's, Druggist, Corner 3rd Ave. and 6th St., or ask there for "Why Man of Today is Only 50 per cent Efficient," a booklet of great interest, which is given free on request. If you prefer, write for Booklet to Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell, 163 College Street, Toronto.

L. 835. The water will be diverted from the stream at a point about ten chains west from N. Y. corner of Lot 4, B. C. Fisheries, and will be used for power purpose upon the land described as adjoining Timber Limit 835 in application to lease.
