

REVOLUTION IN RUSSIA—CZAR ABDICATES

RUSSIAN ARISTOCRATS AND COMMON PEOPLE COMBINE AGAINST PRO-GERMANS

REVOLUTION BY THE DUMA AND ARMY IN RUSSIA

Abdication of Czar—Pro-German Ministers are Killed and Imprisoned—Three Days Of Upheaval.

(Special to The Daily News.)

London, March 16.—A revolution has succeeded in Russia. This is the first successful one for many, many years. The constitutional party have had a considerable accession to their ranks from the monarchist or court party, who hitherto have been classed as reactionary. Realizing that the object to be accomplished was to oust the pro-German element, both parties combined and have been successful. Premier Sturmer has been imprisoned along with the remaining ministers, six of whom have been killed in the streets. In Petrograd fighting in the streets continued for three days, and many houses were burned. The armed forces of each party fought bitterly, and now the revolutionaries have assumed full control of the government. In Moscow, the old capital of Russia, the popular uprising took place at the same time as in Petrograd, and there too the revolutionists completely mastered the situation. A provisional government has been established, with governmental committees in both Petrograd and Moscow. The new government is pro-ally. The army and the Duma united in the overthrow of the pro-German, who for so long has been able to prevent the full participation of Russia in the war. In Petrograd, the main part of the Garrison aided the coup-d'etat of the revolutionists.

The whole nation has combined on the one issue—that of getting rid of for ever the German influence, which, working by underhand methods, has been able for so long to thwart the successful prosecution of the war. With this group of officials eliminated finally from the councils of the Empire, Russia will be able to take a much more vigorous part in the defeating of the common enemy.

A flash received as we go to press states that the Czar has abdicated and that six members of the late government have been killed in the streets.

WORK OF THE BELGIAN-RELIEF COMMISSION

As there has apparently been some dubiety in the public mind as to the continuance of the Relief Commission's work in Belgium, the press has been asked to publish the following facts regarding the work:

The American members of the Commission for Relief in Belgium have been asked by the Germans to remain at their posts, and work in Belgium is proceeding under exactly the same guarantees as hitherto.

The fact that the Commission for Relief in Belgium continues to receive large sums from the Allied governments is in itself enough to prove that they who are most interested have no reason to believe that Germans are directly benefitting. Furthermore, the commission have effected an arrangement with the British government on the one side and the German government on the other by which an acceptable lane for Belgian relief ships between North American ports and Rotterdam has been fixed so as to secure the continuity of supplies.

The Commission for Relief in Belgium is facing today a monthly deficit of $3,000,000. Hence it is more than ever in need of the full-hearted support of the public.

WESTHOLME THEATRE

At the Westholme tonight will be screened a quaint and charming photoplay, entitled "Hulda from Holland." Though there is a great deal of tender pathos in Miss Pickford's little Dutch girl, there is so much that is comic in her interpretation of the role, and delightful little episodes that "Hulda from Holland" will undoubtedly rank as one of the of the greatest contributions to motion picture humor. Of course there is a love story interwoven with Hulda's joys and sorrows. Mary Pickford has been starred in characterisations of many picturesque nationalities, but her interpretation of "Hulda from Holland" has never been surpassed in humor and genuine heart appeal.

NEW ARMY SHELTERS

Toronto, March 15.—A recent invention adding to the comfort of the British and Canadian field forces at the French front is described in a dispatch received here from London. It is known as the "Nissen Hut," being a semi-circular shelter with the appearance of a gigantic bit of stovepipe half buried in the earth and containing doors and windows. There is room for twenty-five men in each. A thousand of these huts are on order.

The convenience with which they can be moved about and the speed with which they can be erected enable the troops, hitherto forced to sleep in the open during an advance, to obtain shelter. Already, the hut is the subject of an army song—"Put Me in My Little Nissen Bed."

The event of the week at the Canadian army headquarters at the French front, according to the dispatch, was a visit by Sir Robert Borden. The famous 1st Brigade of the Dominion's original division passed in review. Only a few of the men in line were present at Ypres. The men appeared splendidly fit.

Hon. J. D. Hazen and Hon. Robert Rogers were with Sir Robert.

The St. Patrick's Day Concert will take place tonight at 8 o'clock in the Social Hall. A delightful programme by children and the grown-ups. Tickets 50c at door.

PICTURESQUE RUINS OF CTESIPHON.—These date back to the sixth century. This is a photograph of the ruined palace. The huge arch of the hall shown above is 83 feet wide by 95 feet high, and the walls are 23 feet wide at their base. The arch is built of brick baked more than thirteen hundred years ago.

MINING NOTES

Last year in the Pacific district the interest taken in mining was greatly increased compared to previous years, and this year a further increase is promised. Several properties throughout the district have been bonded or sold outright, and considerable development work done. Many new locations have also been recorded, samples from nearly all of which have shown exceedingly good returns, especially in silver and copper values, which should be a great incentive to increased prospecting.

Last season Fiddler Group and some adjoining properties on Fiddler Creek were taken over by the Fiddler Creek Gold Company Limited, who during this past fall had about eighty men at work building a road from the G. T. P. line to the mine, a distance of about five miles. Work had to be discontinued through the excessive snow fall and will be resumed early in the Spring.

Mr. J. B. Paine and associates of Toronto have bought the Brantford group also on Fiddler Creek and intend starting on development work as soon as the weather permits.

Legate Creek was specially busy last season, where somewhere around thirty prospectors were at work. A trail was also built by the government from Pacific to the Forks, a distance of about ten miles, and a power ferry installed by which to cross the Skeena.

The M. and K. group under bond to Price and Aitken had about a dozen men at work making trail, sacking surface ore and doing development. Altogether 130 tons of high grade bornite have been shipped from this property to the Selby Smelter, San Francisco, which is expected to average about $200 per ton.

Mr. Tuttle and associates had a small gang at work on the Frisco group, which they have under bond from Whitmore and Orr. Considerable time was expended in building a trail and over ten tons of bornite ore was shipped to the Granby smelter, the returns from which went to $190 per ton. Work is to be resumed on this property this spring as soon as possible.

Development work is now in progress on Berner and Prudhomme's property on Hardscrapple Creek, several men being employed.

Two very promising locations were made last fall in silver-lead sample ores, which run from 200 to 300 ounces in silver per ton. Several molibdenite deposits have also been located throughout the district. Samples of ore of the properties assayed 8 per cent, ore occurring in amorphous form.

WHERE IS "HERB"? OUR POPULAR MEMBER

Much anxiety is being caused in town as to the whereabouts of the "popular" member for this district to the Dominion House in Ottawa. It is not expected that after the next Dominion election his location will be a source of worry, but in the meantime, the Mining Committee of the Board of Trade would like to hear from him.

A week ago they wired to him in Ottawa as follows:—

"On January 16th we forwarded you copy of strong resolutions passed by this Board of Trade regarding Sir Thomas White's ore smelting and refining legislation. What action are you taking to further the interests of this constituency as to selecting smelter site at or near Prince Rupert? Please wire immediately what further steps you suggest we ought to take in assisting your individual efforts in securing the proposed plants here. Sending delegates to Ottawa has been suggested; also unanimous endorsement of other British Columbia Boards of Trade."

This wire was despatched to Mr. Clements on the 8th of March and no reply of any kind has so far been received from the member. The primary principles of ordinary decency requires that a member of parliament at least acknowledge receipt of communications from his constituents and a corporate body like the Board of Trade has a right to think that their communications demand a reply of some kind. If Mr. Clements gets nominated again as candidate for this riding in the forthcoming Dominion election, he will very likely find that it would have been to his advantage to have spent just a little more time in his constituency, and to have paid a little more attention to the wishes of his constituents. "Carpet-baggers" died with Queen Victoria, and Prince Rupert has no use for an anachronism.

FAILURE OF U BOATS

(Special to The Daily News.)

London, March 16.—The British Board of Trade figures show the signal failure of the U boats to accomplish their purpose. The Allied shipping is not so seriously menaced as it was thought to be. The total British losses in the six weeks of the alleged blockade is only 78 ships approximately of 1,600 tons and over, leaving the mercantile marine with 3,653 ships over 1,600 tons. For six weeks of submarine warfare, the loss is comparatively small.

FOOD OR REVOLUTION

The Hague, March 15.—Further extracts from the speech of Herr Hofer, a Socialist deputy, during the sensational food debate in the Prussian Diet, are printed in the Berlin Vorwaerts. The Vorwaerts quotes Hofer as saying:

"The government vacillates between fear of the agrarians and fear of the masses like a reed in the wind. If you insist on carrying on war you must see that the people are adequately fed. Does it not suffice for the government to incur the hatred of the whole world, or does it also want revolution at home? The people have fed on fine words long enough. Now we demand deeds."

The Vorwaerts says that Herr Hofer frequently was cheered.

The paper says that it latterly has received numerous complaints of the poor quality of the food supplied in the popular food kitchens at midday, and declares that the evening meals in these places are unfit for consumption. The Vorwaerts asks what will be the condition in summer if this is the case in the present cold winter.

COTTON ACT PASSES

German Withdrawal is More Rapid Than Expected—Bombardment Terrific—Rain Storms Impede.

(Special to The Daily News.)

London, March 16.—The German retirement is stiffening. The German withdrawal has changed to a British offensive. The terrific bombardment is forcing the evacuation of the Germans from positions where they made a stand. The belief exists that the Germans have already evacuated Bapaume and are falling back on the line chosen by Hindenberg from Lens, St. Quentin and Laon. The withdrawal is already becoming more rapid than was anticipated. The British advance continues in the face of a blinding rain storm and a veritable sea of mud and has progressed on a front of a mile and a half immediately to the west of Bapaume.

Paris, March 16.—(Official) We took prisoners in a raid east of the Oise. Several German attacks on French positions were broken up.

Very great artillery activity is in progress in the regions of Maisons Champagne. Many prisoners were taken in raids on the German positions in the region of Moulins Sousettes-Vents during the night. Several attempts by the Germans to raid the French outposts were repulsed.

ARMED NEUTRALITY

Knowing that he has the support of all American citizens who are sound at heart, President Wilson has decided to arm United States ships with the object of protecting the lives and property of Americans from submarines. A large majority of the American public and the influential newspapers of the United States have been urging the adoption of this policy though they know perfectly well that it may lead to active hostilities within a short time.

By taking this step the president has saved the national honor and baffled those who either in the interest of Germany or through weakness or for political reasons, were striving to prevent the arming of the American merchant marine.

Until the president announced his policy, the world had been viewing the spectacle of a mighty nation having to keep its merchant ships in port to prevent them from being sent to the bottom by a pirate fleet sent out by a country with which it was not at war, to sink the ships of all nations. The honor of the United States was at stake, but it has turned out that it was in safe hands. There will be deep satisfaction among American citizens high and low. There may be some consternation in Germany. The question of arming the merchant ships that fly the American flag, so that they would not have to remain blockaded in their own ports, had become a great issue in the United States. Within the last few days all the various issues and questions in the complicated life of the republic have been put aside and that single great issue has taken their place. The American press, with the exception of the reptile press, subsidized by Germany, and a few weaklings, voiced the will of the people and called on the president to exercise his constitutional power and arm the ships at once.

The effect of the sinking of the Algonquin, an American ship, which is reported today, upon the action of the president is awaited with great interest. Armed neutrality is at best only an intermediate state between peace and war. An overt act in time of peace causes a state of armed neutrality. The logical sequence is that an overt act in time of armed neutrality causes war. We can but "wait and see."

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Henry Ford says his plant will turn out a thousand submarines a day if Uncle Sam goes to war. They will be, however, only twenty feet long—Jitney submarines.

The Hun food controller says only the Almighty can be held responsible for the small bread ration daily doled out to the German people. We were wondering why the Kaiser of late has refrained from offering any compliments to the "good old German God." It may be a case of straining heaven yet, putting it in the good old German way.

If Canada is to play more than a negligible part in the commerce of the Pacific, it can be done only by the extensive improvement of her position as a maritime nation. She must be her own carrier, which means that she must expand her own shipping facilities. The whole nation should stand behind the development of its possibilities and the seizure of its opportunities. The chief obstacle is largely the indifference and lack of initiative and enterprise in the remote centres of political power and commercial influence; the inability of the East to appreciate the potentialities of the West.

The ministers of the government at Victoria are seriously overburdened with work. This is owing largely to the action of the Bowser government in hanging on to office long after the public had signified its entire withdrawal of confidence in Mr. Bowser and his colleagues. Had the old administration played the honorable and constitutional game Mr. Brewster and his government would have had several more months at their disposal to prepare for the work of the session. Mr. Bowser, however, preferred to hang on so long as a dollar remained in the treasury unexpended. Had the new government been given the reins when they

HOW THE GERMANS TREAT THE SERBIANS

The Times says a German author, Oscar Maurus Fontana, who accompanied the German army in Serbia, publishes a review in the Die Schauhuhn, of January 1, 1917. In his description of the deeds of German troops in Serbian territory, he describes the following scene:

"During the march we came to a house on fire that was a signal for shells to be rained on us. The soldiers put out the fire, and brought along three women and an aged Serbian whom they found near the fire. They accused them of having set the house on fire. They replied no. They were told to confess. They replied: 'We did nothing; it was done by others. It is our house which is burning.' They were then asked how many Serbian troops had passed. They replied, 'We don't know.' Thereupon the commander said, 'Shoot them.' The group remained still. This takes their breath away. 'We are so young to make war,' said one woman.

"Nobody tells these women in their native tongue what is going to be done with them, but they understand, and cast down their eyes like an animal which is expecting a blow. They did not utter a sound, but a momentary shiver passed through their bodies. Their eyes look for deliverance, expecting a miracle. They walk slowly, or rather drag themselves before their executioners. They look fixedly at us, mutely and without tears, in such a manner that we also had to cast down our eyes. Afterward the cracking of rifles was heard."

2,000,000 Belgians Depend on us for Bread!

Since shortly after the German invasion, the Belgians have depended for food entirely on the "Commission for Relief in Belgium". Their own store of food, even if not destroyed or pillaged, would last only three weeks—they have had no chance to raise more—and the ruthless Germans refuse to supply them!

Backed by the

so generously contributed in the British Empire and the United States, the neutral Belgian Relief Commission has imported enough wheat, flour and other foods to feed the whole nation so far. The great majority of the 7,000,000 Belgians left in the country have been able to pay for their daily allowance of bread—but a steadily growing number have no money left.

Unless we are willing to let these hundreds of thousands of women, children and old men starve, they must be fed at the expense of the Belgian Relief Fund. To make this possible someone must contribute nearly $3,000,000 a month—every month—all this winter!

No people under the Allied Flags are so well able to contribute generously as we Canadians! No cause has ever been more deserving of help! In the name of Justice and Humanity—for the sake of our own self-respect—let us give all we can to help our martyred Allies!

Wearing Rubbers during the Spring Months of Slush and Wet Saves more than their Cost and Protects the Health as well

It is only recently that the high retail prices of most commodities are being felt. The higher cost of living as a result of the war, is now manifesting itself in EVERY walk of life.

Shoe dealers throughout Canada must get more for our rubbers than during the past few years. The cost of production has been steadily increasing and the dealer's expense of doing business is greater.

To-day crude rubber is fully one-third higher than before the war, and doubled freights, abnormal insurance and the war tax have made it more expensive laid down at our factories. Other materials, including cottons, cashmerettes, jersey, linings, dyes and chemicals cost on an average 75% more. Labor, too, is away up, and so scarce that there is difficulty in keeping up a normal production.

The increased prices of our rubbers—small indeed compared with other articles of wearing apparel and of food—have been made imperative by the steadily growing cost of manufacturing.

As the quality and reputation of our brands of rubbers must be maintained at all costs, we have been compelled to advance our prices. So when your dealer asks you a little more, it does not mean that either he or the manufacturer is taking advantage of war time, but rather that both are reluctantly yielding to necessity.

In proportion to the cost of other necessities, the prices of our brands of rubbers are reasonable—and more economical when compared with the far greater increases in shoe prices. The regular use of rubbers saves many times their slightly increased cost, and protects the health as well.

To be sure of full value and maximum service, look for the assurance of quality given by any one of these Trade Marks:
