PRESIDENT DIAZ AGREES TO RETIRE FROM OFFICE

VANCOUVER COP PUT A JUDGE UNDER ARREST

Judge McInnes Disobeyed the Order to "Move On"—Policeman Arrested Judge in Presence of a Big Crowd and Sent for the Patrol Wagon

(Canadian Press Despatch)
 Vancouver, May 19.—The spectacle of a British Columbia judge tripped by the arm by a Vancouver policeman on Hastings street, while the officer telephoned to the police station for a patrol wagon to come and take the judge to the station, caused a crowd of two thousand to gather this morning. The crowd was so great that it blocked the traffic.

Didn't Know His Man
 The joke was rather on the policeman who didn't know that when he ordered two inoffensive-looking gentlemen to "Move on?" that one of them was Judge McInnes. His Honor, who considered he was committing no crime by standing talking on the street without the policeman's permission refused to "move on."

Accordingly the officer of the law, placed the judge under arrest. The unusual spectacle caused a large crowd to congregate. The excitement deepened when the officer sent for the patrol wagon, with the evident intention of halting the judge off to the local cooler.

Explanations Followed
 Before the civic coach arrived, explanations were made, and the judge was allowed to depart from arrest. He has been made the subject of many humorous inquiries. Judge McInnes is taking the whole affair in good part, and appreciates the humor of the situation, along with the rest of the citizens.

TEN VESSELS ARE WRECKED

Hurricane Does Terrible Damage Off New Hebrides

(Canadian Press Despatch)
 Sydney, Australia, May 19.—Reports have reached here of terrible damage done along the coasts of the New Hebrides during the hurricane this week. Ten vessels are reported ashore at different places, and eight persons are reported drowned.

It is a good plan to put a little money away as a reserve fund. Why not put ten dollars a month into a lot? H. F. McRae & Co. have good ones on these terms.

WANT TO BAR ALL JAPS FROM BRITISH COLUMBIA

Martin Burrell and His Colleagues Advocate Drastic Measures—Urged the Government Not to Renew Trade Agreement with Japan and China

(Canadian Press Despatch)
 Ottawa, May 19.—Oriental immigration, especially as it affects the future well-being of British Columbia, came up for discussion in the House of Commons last night when Hon. W. S. Fielding moved for the House to appoint a committee to consider a resolution for extending the existing trade agreement with Japan.

Mr. Martin Burrell, member for Yale-Cariboo, at once urged that Canada should abandon its efforts to develop a large trade with Japan and China, and adhere to the new treaty between Great Britain and Japan. So far as Canada was concerned he urged that measures be taken to restrict or to prohibit the immigration in Canada of Japanese.

All of the other Conservative members from British Columbia supported Mr. Burrell's stand, demanding a total prohibition of Japanese immigration into British Columbia. The House voted to appoint the committee.

Having to leave their present premises on the corner of Second avenue and Sixth street, Director-Cohen, the well known clothier, have decided to sell a large part of their good stock at a sacrifice. This will give those wanting to purchase clothing an opportunity to do so cheaply. See the advertisement on another page for particulars.

AFTER SEVEN DAYS ADRIFT SEAL HUNTERS ARE RESCUED

Worn Out With Toil and Suffering from Lack of Food, Two Boat Crews from the Sealer Pescawha Reach Prince Rupert Harbor---Missed Their Vessel in Haze off Banks Island---Had to Row Two Hundred Miles Along Coast, Living on Clams.

Worn out with fatigue and want of food, after working their small openboats for over two hundred miles along the coast on a diet of clams with an occasional bird brought down with an otter rifle, the above-named six men of the crew of the schooner Pescawha reached Prince Rupert yesterday and set out for the south with their boats by the Prince Rupert this morning.

Lost Schooner
 The men left the schooner on the 12th, in Hecate Strait between Banks Island and Queen Charlotte Sound in two boats hunting for sea otters. During the afternoon a baffling heat haze obscured the horizon and they completely lost track of the schooner. By chance the two boats which had been separated, met, and keeping together searched for the ship till night. Then they tried to reach land twenty-five miles off. There were provisions and water in the boats for only one meal. It was late on the 13th when they sighted the coast, and all were in distress with hunger and thirst.

Inhospitable Coast
 Surf was breaking on the rocky shore, and for a time it was difficult to land at all, but at last a landing was effected, and sheltering themselves under the boats' sails stretched on the oars, the men spent the night. They found some water, and managed to light a fire, but not until low tide did they find some clams. They had no idea where they were, but next day continued their journey northwards along the coast trying to find an inhabited place, and eating mostly shellfish. Sometimes they managed to shoot a duck, but the food they could get was far too scanty.

Made Kitkatla
 Struggling along like this from point to point on the lonely coast the famished men reached Kitkatla on the 16th. Here they found only Indians, and for some unexplained reason they did not succeed in getting any food. But an Indian told them in broken English how to reach Claxton where he said they would find white men. Wearily they set out again, but mistaking their direction they took the wrong side of Porcher Island, and had again to spend a night on the rocks without food.

"McCullough" Saved Them
 On Thursday the 17th, they were off the mouth of the Skeena, and here the tug McCullough met them and Captain Herbert Clifton took them on board and fed them royally. They were utterly tired out with rowing, and rested the night before setting out directed by Captain Clifton, for Prince Rupert. Yesterday morning, however, they came on here, arriving about mid-day.

Good for Capt. Johnston
 Going to Mayor Manson for advice and assistance to take them home, they told their story, and the Mayor at once gave them an order for food, and said he would find work for them if they wished until they could pick up their schooner again. The men have homes down south, however, and feeling that they have had enough of the sea to last them for a while, they were anxious to go below. Captain Barney Johnston of the Prince Rupert came to the rescue and swinging the two seal-boats aboard, arranged for the accommodation of the seamen as far as Vancouver. They left this morning at eight o'clock.

Two Hardy Sea-dogs
 Bob Stewart, who was looking pretty haggard after his experience, and Joe Morrell, who wears still a look of anxiety, are both well known seal hunters, and have had many perilous experiences. Bob Stewart was lost in an open boat 47 miles off the coast of Trinidad six years ago when he was sealing with the schooner "Hatsy." The present experience is his fourth of this kind. Joe Morrell has been in similar plight three times at least, once off the coast of Japan. But both men declare that this latest adventure of theirs was very nearly the last. They are making for home for a long spell ashore before they face the sea again.

Schooner Still Searching
 The sealing schooner Pescawha as reported by wireless, in charge of Captain Bert Balcom, and is still in the neighborhood of the Queen Charlotte Islands though probably all hope of finding the missing boats has now been given up by the captain. Wireless messages have been sent to the Islands to inform Captain Balcom of the rescue of the men.

TRAWLER SCOUTS FOR RUPERT

Part of Sir George Doughty's Fishing Fleet Coming Out

Three trawlers, the newest and best of Sir George Doughty's Sea fishing fleet are being sent out to make the long journey to Prince Rupert this summer from Grimsby, England.

The trawlers are to act in the capacity of scouts as it were, for a greater trawling fleet which Sir George proposes to place on the coast with Prince Rupert as its base-port.

Sir George Doughty made investigations while out here regarding the possibilities of the fisheries of British Columbia, which stated were so great that they would give employment to a very large number of fishermen, and expected to establish a great fishing depot like those on the west coast of the North Sea on this coast.

It is also his intention to enter the coast whaling business, and will place the three vessels in the whaling service, and will investigate the herring business. Sir George Doughty is largely interested in the fisheries of the North Sea, and has many vessels with headquarters at Grimsby.

C.N.R. IS AFTER MAIL CONTRACT

Will Co-Operate With the Inter-Colonial Road

Montreal, May 18.—When the overseas mail contract between Liverpool and Hongkong expired on April 26th, there was no announcement, but Sir Thomas Shaughnessy went to England to order two boats in view of getting the contract. The boats have never been ordered, for the reason that the contract goes not to the C. P. R., but to the Intercolonial and the Canadian Northern Railway combined. The announcement will be made this week from Ottawa.

The C. N. R. is interested with Sir Thomas Trowbridge in the Blacksod Bay project and their ships will take the mails to Halifax, thence by the Intercolonial to Montreal, thence by the C. N. R. to the coast.

He is in Prince Rupert, having come by the Prince Rupert on Wednesday, and is going on by the Camosun. Mr. Sheridan is accompanied by his wife and child who have already paid a visit to the mine. The little one has to be literally "packed" up the mountain for two thousand five hundred feet in a specially arranged and cosy pack-sack and board. The trip is a huge entertainment for the youngster who is looking forward to it with as much enthusiasm as the popular mine manager possesses for his prosperous property.

BREAKS RECORD IN TELEPHONING

New York Speaks with Denver—Two Thousand Mile Talk

New York, May 18.—For the first time in history the human voice carried 2,000 miles Monday night, when New York found Denver over a long distance telephone wire. "A phantom" telephone, connected with four copper wires, the thickness of a lead pencil, brought the cities together and in all 22 people were exchanging messages by telephone and telegraph at once over these four wires. While the talkers talked, 16 telegraph operators worked the New York-Chicago ends of four duplex telegraph wires. The same four wires and the same current sufficed for the simultaneous needs of the 22 senders and receivers of messages.

DELIMITING THE BOUNDARY LINE

Will Give Canadians Exclusive Right to Halibut Banks

The Dominion Government has entrusted an important work to Mr. F. H. Mackie of the astronomical staff of the Department of the Interior. It is to make a survey of the boundary line from the head of the Portland Canal to the open sea. The work will take the party of ten three seasons to complete, and involves most careful calculations.

It is probable that monuments will be established at different points on either side of the canal, indicating their distance from the actual boundary in the channel.

At the entrance of the canal the boundary line swings due west terminating directly south of Cape Muyon at the south end of Prince of Wales Island, Alaska.

According to the Canadian contention this will make Dixon Entrance between Prince of Wales Island and the Queen Charlotte Islands territorial waters of Canada, ensuring exclusively to Canadians the right to fish on the greatest halibut banks in existence.

RALPH CONNOR SAYS THE END IS FAR OFF

Chairman of Conciliation Board on Miners Strike Rather Pessimistic About an Early Settlement—No Patched Up Agreement Will be Entertained, He Says

(Canadian Press Despatch)
 Winnipeg, May 19.—Dr. C. W. Gordon, (Ralph Connor), who was appointed chairman of the Conciliation Board to inquire into the labor troubles of the Western Miners, returned home today and spoke in very pessimistic terms of the prospects for an early settlement.

"The Board could patch up a temporary agreement, and make a hasty settlement of the matter, but that was done before. What is wanted now is a thorough inquiry and a proper settlement which will last for many years to come," he said.

He said that the enquiry will be resumed in two weeks' time, the Board would continue its work until a proper settlement was arrived at, and the men all back at work.

The Danger of a Speculative-Value Assessment

A visitor to the News office who frankly confessed that until recent events had showed him the value of independent criticism, he had entertained anything but kindly feelings for this paper, informed us that his assessment has been raised from $300 to $2,000, an increase of 566 per cent. We did not, in the stress of dealing with more important subjects, inquire whether the increase covered any improvements which had been effected during the year.

But an assessment paper in which we are more particularly interested lies on our desk, showing that a certain unimproved lot, which last year was assessed at $300 is now assessed at $600, an increase of exactly 100 per cent. This may be taken as an intimation of what awaits many citizens. That the policy is to tax up to the hilt is evident from the fact that the piece of property changed hands, this year after being on the market for several weeks, for only $575. In fact the gentleman whose assessment was raised from $300 to $2,000, indicated his willingness to accept half that sum for it.

We do not suggest that everyone is going to meet with a jump of 100 per cent on their tax bill. The assessment record issued by the city council shows that on the average the public will only have its assessment raised a fraction over 66 per cent. Some of course will have their taxes raised one hundred and two hundred per cent, and some only thirty or forty per cent. But the average on the whole bulk of the private citizens will only be a little better than 66 per cent. Last year the private owners of lots were assessed on $4,700, $22,50. This year they are assessed on $7,820, $30.

This increase is made necessary by the new policy of reducing the assessment of the railway company's property from $2,280,630 to $242,320.

The most serious aspect of the question however is not the increased taxes most of us will pay, nor the fear that the council may be contemplating the taxation of improvements, and thus retard the development of industry. It is the great risk which follows if borrowing should be attempted on the basis of a high assessment.

Cities like other corporations need capital. Like other corporations this capital is borrowed in the money markets, security for the loans being given. In the case of British Columbia cities the security is in the form of a first claim on the taxes, the borrowing power of cities being limited by the Municipal Clauses Act to 80 per cent of the assessment. Last year British Columbia municipalities borrowed in London alone a sum of $6,989,828.

To safeguard the interests of investors is one of the duties which devolve upon the large banking houses who negotiate the loans, and in this connection, Mr. F. W. Taylor, London manager of the Bank of Montreal on December 23rd last stated to the Monetary Times in reply to the question: "Is there any danger of Western Canadian municipalities borrowing too heavily?"

"The Bank of Montreal would be the first to avoid becoming the medium for a public issue of any municipality which, in its opinion was borrowing excessively, as we have too great respect for our own prestige as an issuing house, and for the credit of Canada as a whole, to do otherwise."

It needs no special expertness in economics and finance to perceive that borrowing on an assessment based on speculative values is an exceedingly risky thing even to attempt. Even if the banking houses were agreeable to float a loan based on speculative values, the tenders for the loan and the underwriting fees would be based, not on what a city official declared the value of the security to be worth, but on what their own expert valuers declared the security to be worth.

A tradesman who wanted to increase his borrowings from the bank from $1,500 to $3,000 would not hope to succeed by merely marking up the selling price of his goods 200 per cent. Such a trick would not only kill his chances of securing the loan, it would kill his chances of selling his stock also. It would also kill the banker's faith in him.

The illustration expresses in an exaggerated degree one of the dangers which confronts the city if it attempts any finance of the thimble-rigging kind, based on a speculative value assessment.

The wounds of a friend are more to be desired than the kisses of an enemy. It is kindness to point out that the policy of increasing the taxes of the citizens by 66 per cent will not deceive the financial world into believing that the security offered by the city has been enhanced in value by that enormous sum.

DEVOTED PRINCIPALLY TO THE INTERESTS OF WOMEN

This is a little section of the paper, which from day to day will be devoted to subjects of special interest to women. Any and all of the ladies of Prince Rupert are invited to contribute to its columns, and to take part in its discussions. Suggestions and criticisms are invited by the editor. The hope is expressed that "The Cosy Corner" will fill a social need.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The Bridge Tournament arranged by the members of the Wanderers' Club last evening, was quite the most delightful social event of the Post-Lenten season. The spacious living room of Mr. H. Bacon's residence presented a brilliant appearance, the dancing flames in the huge fireplace, and the subdued glow of softly shaded lamps, making a charming background for the many smartly attired women and more sombrely clothed men.

Mrs. Pillsbury acted as hostess and was ably assisted by Messrs. Simpson and Foster, who were indefatigable in looking after the comfort of the guests. Mrs. H. L. Johnston and Mrs. McMordie were the fortunate winners of a pair of exquisite toilet bottles. A return match will be played at the residence of Mrs. H. L. Johnston on Friday evening, May 26th.

The following is a list of the players and their total scores: Mrs. McMordie and Mrs. Johnston, 1228. Mrs. Christie and Mrs. Spain, 1052. Mrs. Morris and Miss Martin, 1050. Mrs. Tremayne and Mrs. McLennan, 1140.

PLANS INVASION OF CALIFORNIA

Jim Hill Will Fight Harriman Lines in That State

Los Angeles, Cal., May 18.—James J. Hill, the railway magnate, who has been carrying on a nationwide war with the Harriman interests, is about to shift the seat of war to California by entering this state from the north-west, where he is strongly entrenched, according to the statement today of Robert E. Strahern, vice-president and general manager of the North Coast branch of the Oregon & Washington railroad & Navigation Co.

Strahern says that the Hill interest will not invade California from Denver, but that a great double track line will be laid from Seattle south through the vast lumber areas of northern California down to San Francisco and eventually on to Los Angeles.

PRETTY SEWING APRON

How to Make it for Yourself or for a Gift

An attractive contribution for a fair is one of the new designs in sewing aprons. Nothing could be less expensive to make or simpler of construction than one of these aprons, which consists of a straight piece of sheer dimity about a half by three-quarters of a yard in dimensions. Twenty-two inches is a good length in order to allow for a deep hem at the end and for a one-inch hem at the top. Three-quarters of a yard will give more than enough for the material to be gathered in at the top and cover the skirt of the frock sufficiently. Instead of gathering the top of the apron to a band a one-inch ribbon is simply run through the top hem, this ribbon left long enough to tie in a pretty bowknot at the back, with streamers to hang down over the skirt.

To trim this apron—which would be too plain without any adornment—a row of cross-bar stitching in a simple but pretty design worked at the top of the hem and perhaps bordering it down each side will be extremely effective, provided the design is worked out in artistic coloring. One little pattern of the same design must then be worked upon the tiny pocket; for on every sewing apron there is a pocket. One apron of this model was embroidered in an extremely simple design of cross stitch in red and blue, while on the pocket was a tiny basket in

PRETTY SEWING APRON

An attractive contribution for a fair is one of the new designs in sewing aprons. Nothing could be less expensive to make or simpler of construction than one of these aprons, which consists of a straight piece of sheer dimity about a half by three-quarters of a yard in dimensions. Twenty-two inches is a good length in order to allow for a deep hem at the end and for a one-inch hem at the top. Three-quarters of a yard will give more than enough for the material to be gathered in at the top and cover the skirt of the frock sufficiently. Instead of gathering the top of the apron to a band a one-inch ribbon is simply run through the top hem, this ribbon left long enough to tie in a pretty bowknot at the back, with streamers to hang down over the skirt.

To trim this apron—which would be too plain without any adornment—a row of cross-bar stitching in a simple but pretty design worked at the top of the hem and perhaps bordering it down each side will be extremely effective, provided the design is worked out in artistic coloring. One little pattern of the same design must then be worked upon the tiny pocket; for on every sewing apron there is a pocket. One apron of this model was embroidered in an extremely simple design of cross stitch in red and blue, while on the pocket was a tiny basket in

FISHMAID IS IN PRINCE RUPERT

Towed in for Repair to Johnson Boat Yard

A good deal battered after her recent upset and stranding off the Alaska Coast, the halibut schooner Fishmaid was towed into the harbor here yesterday, and taken to Johnston's boat-building yard at Hays Creek for repair. The Fishmaid after turning turtle, was righted by the Humboldt which, however, could not save her owing to the heavy weather. She went ashore shortly afterwards, but was got off less seriously damaged than might have been expected, and will be put to work again after repair, probably on the Fraser river.

"One Round" Hogan, who declared before his match with Ad Wolgast that he would retire from the ring unless he came out a winner, has changed his mind. He has decided to remain in New York and plans to "come back" in a match with the winner of the "Knockout" Brown-Tommy Murphy fight at New York next week.

THERE is an increasing demand for dwelling houses and apartments. Anyone having houses and apartments for rent to be vacant at any time in the near future should list them with us at once as we have many demands by mail from parties who desire to secure quarters by the time they arrive here.

I AM daily asked my opinion as to the permanent values of real estate in Prince Rupert for investment. To all such enquiries I honestly state that any Prince Rupert properties, at present valuations, are a good investment, but I advise my clients who are desirous of taking advantage of "omnibus" to invest only where offerings are made at much below present market quotations.

WE are able to pick up for our clients who have ready cash for investments good properties at from 20 to 40 per cent. below the market by careful watching of fluctuations and changes by our staff. If you have cash for investment and are looking for real gains call in and talk it over. I can show you how to make quick profits.
