ARTILLERY NOW BATTERING GERMAN POSITIONS — ENEMY FEELING PRESSURE

ADVANCE BY THE ALLIES CONTINUES

Cavalry and Armored Cars Capture Four More Towns Near to St. Quentin—Extreme Pressure by French.

(Special to The Daily News.)

London, March 31.—The British troops under the direction of General Haig are still advancing. Mobile forces of cavalry and armored cars have captured four more towns within the salient driven into Hindenburg's line near St. Quentin. In the driving of this steel wedge into the German front, terrific fighting has been in progress, which is becoming increasingly bitter. On the French front between St. Quentin and La Fere, the advance has been slowed up suddenly and the heavy guns have been brought into action, thus indicating a very close approach by the French forces to the main line of defence of the Germans. To make a diversion and to obtain relief from the tremendous pressure exerted against them by General Nivelle, the Germans have made several massed attacks in Champagne.

The Germans are fighting with the utmost ferocity to prevent their line at St. Quentin from being broken, as this would mean their retreat from their whole line from Cambrai to Laon, which would entail a further and much more extensive retreat than was anticipated.

About five miles to the north of Arras, raids have been carried out successfully by the Canadians and further north the town of Lens is now being threatened by the British. The operations at this point are of extreme importance, as Lens is a very important point for the Germans.

Devastation.
The difficulties of further progress on the British front are emphasized here by General Maurice, who points out that the great difficulty experienced in the British sectors is the feeding of the troops in the despoiled country. Devastation and ruin on such a scale and manner have never been heretofore witnessed and hardly a blade of grass has been left.

RUSSIAN FRONT

(Special to The Daily News.)

Petrograd, March 31.—The Russians have attacked the enemy trenches with asphyxiating gas and chemical shells on the northern front in the region of Goldovitchi. To the rear of Marmionovka, after a violent artillery preparation, the enemy attacked and succeeded in forcing an entrance into the Russian trenches, but were later dislodged by a counter attack.

GERMANY AND THE UNITED STATES

(Special to The Daily News.)

Washington, March 31.—It is said here that President Wilson has now completed his first draft of his "Was Message" to Congress. The cabinet's views of the situation is outspoken and frank. Several members have expressed their belief unqualifiedly that a state of war has existed between the United States and Germany for some time.

BERLIN REPORTS

(Special to The Daily News.)

Berlin, March 31.—A Canadian regiment attacked the German positions to the east of Neuville St. Vaast four times during the night and were each time repulsed with heavy losses, and leaving some prisoners on our hands.

CAPTURED BY "MOEWE"

(Special to The Daily News.)

Copenhagen, Mar. 31.—Twenty-two neutrals who were brought to Germany on the commerce raider Moeve as prisoners arrived here today from Kiel. They were released as they had not been serving on a British armed merchantman. They tell of a scrap between the British merchantman Otaki and the Moeve, in which the British vessel scored seven hits on the Moeve.

GENERAL NEWS ITEMS

(Special to The Daily News.)

Allied warships off the coast of Norfolk today have sent wireless warnings broadcast against German submarines.

The Italians are expecting a great offensive to commence against them.

Berlin claims that 781,000 tons of shipping have been sunk by submarines during February.

British women must be over 35 years of age before they can get the vote.

GERMANY AND DEMOCRACY

(Special to The Daily News.)

London, March 31.—According to information received here from an authoritative source, the debate on constitutional reform was heard in the upper house of the Prussian Diet yesterday. The Conservatives were mainly responsible for the strong opposition offered to all proposals for increasing popular rights.

General von Kleist began by denying any special urgency for reform and scoffed at the idea of the men in the trenches concerning themselves with questions regarding their parliamentary vote. Further democratisation of state institutions meant restrictions of the rights of the Federal states and the extension of parliamentary rights meant the restriction of the rights of the crown. "Everyone in Prussia," he said, "had full freedom except for stealing and murdering." "Hands off old Prussia," he concluded.

Other despatches received from Berlin states that there is widespread discontent over the Chancellor's failure to announce his long-promised electoral reforms. Hollweg now says that the time is not ripe for such reforms, because of the greater part of Germany's voting population is now in the trenches.

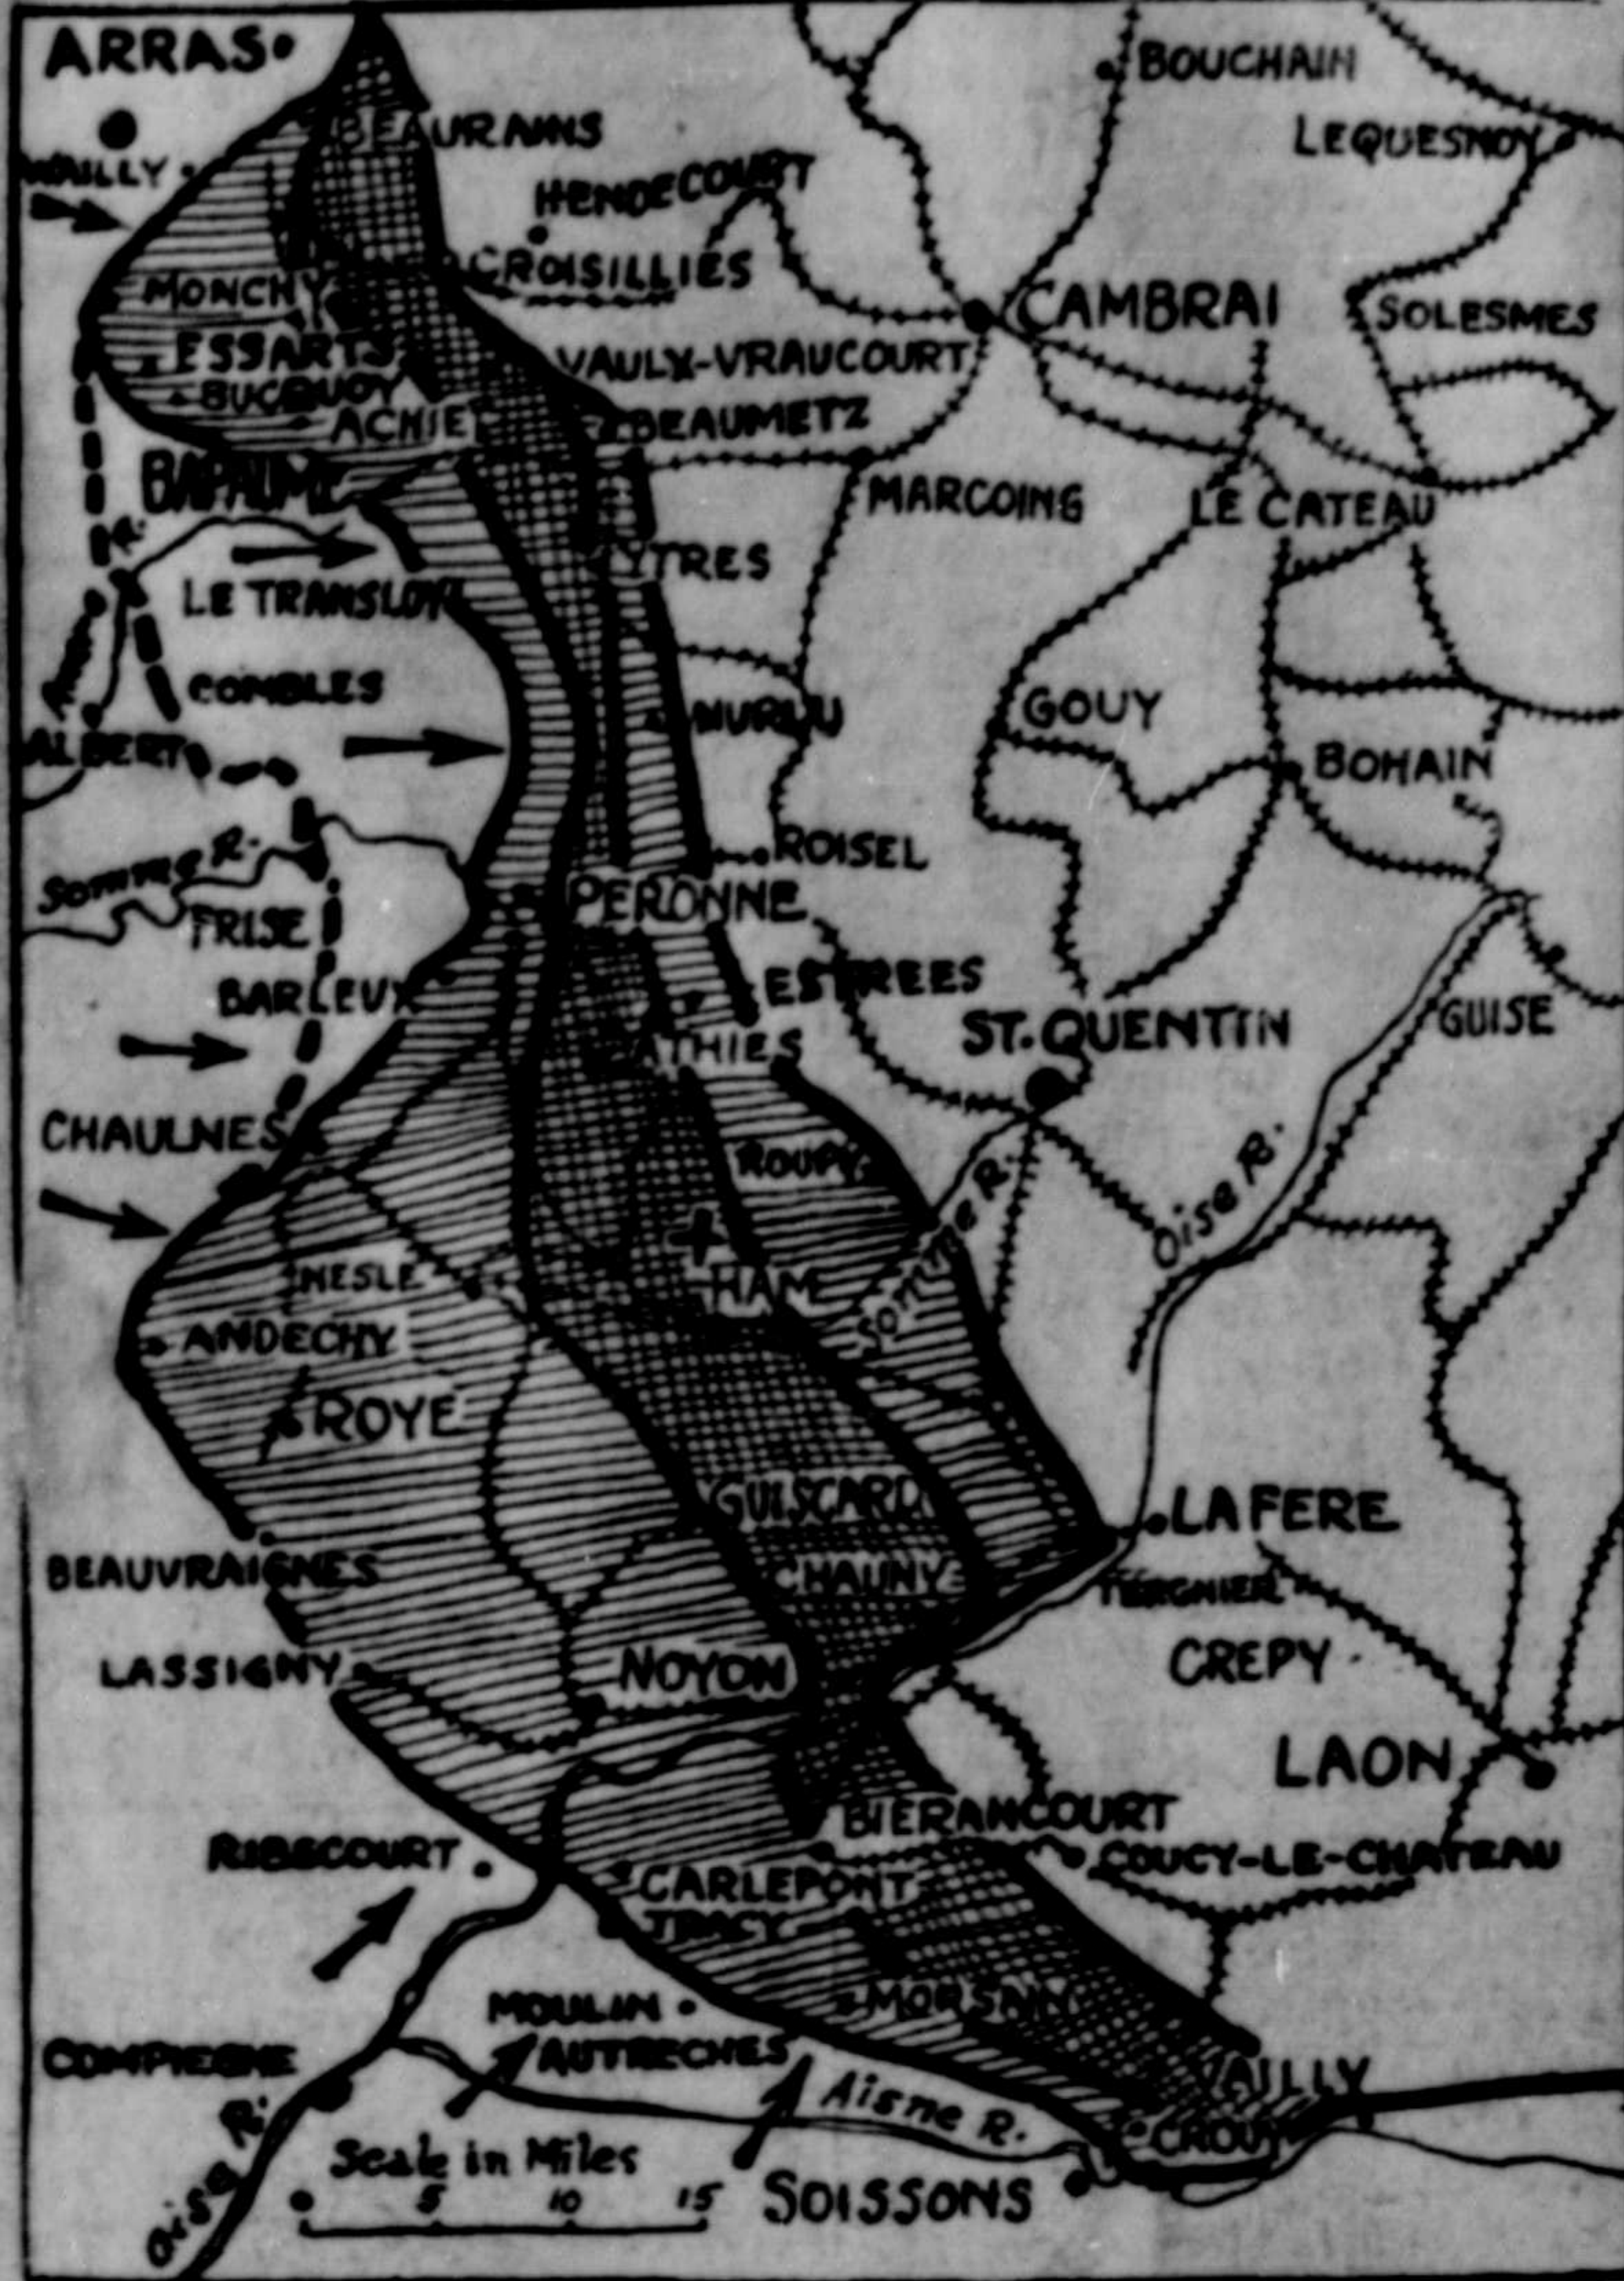

HOW SAM HUGHES WOULD DISPOSE OF THE MEXICANS

Rochester, N. Y., March 30.—Speaking at a dinner of the Chamber of Commerce here, Lieut.-Gen. Sir Sam Hughes said:

"Were I in the United States and if I had the power, I would be only too delighted to offer Villa a command as brigadier-general in charge of 50,000 or 60,000 Mexicans and to send him over to the trenches in Europe to fight the Teutons. The Mexicans are much like us Irish. They must fight and when they have no one else to fight with, they must fight among themselves."

Sir Sam urged universal military training as the only bulwark of democracy.

MITCHEL ALBERT IS GOING BACK TO RUSSIA

"Yes Sir," said Mr. Mitchell Albert last night, "I'm going back to Russia just so soon as I can find out that the new Russian government intends to proceed with railroad construction. The lack of proper transport facilities has been hampering Russia all along in its conduct of the war and the utter breakdown of the transport service this winter hastened the revolution. Foodstuffs could not be brought to the large centres of population quickly enough and hunger created dissatisfaction among the people with the old government."

"The first necessity in Russia is railroads and more railroads. Before the revolution it had been decided to build four thousand miles of railroad annually for a number of years. That work has ceased meantime, but when it is commenced again, I will be there. The existing single lines will be double tracked where necessary. The trans-Siberian line has been double-tracked over half its length already. New railways will be built all over the country and with better means of communication, the development of Russian resources will really begin. Russia is one of the richest countries in Europe to say nothing of Siberia. Her agricultural lands, timber and mineral areas are very productive."

"Mr. H. Waterman, the American consul to Moscow, was on board the steamer going across the Pacific. He reminded me of this ancient law that 'once a Russian' means 'always a Russian,' notwithstanding naturalization in any other country, and the Russian ambassador in Tokio confirmed this. So then I figured up what the enforcement of this law with regard to myself might mean and did not prosecute my voyage any further."

"In Japan," says Mr. Albert, "one is struck by the number of Europeans, representatives of the Allied nations, all buying munitions and war material. The hotels are full of them. Japan is one vast workshop from north to south, producing warlike supplies for the Allies. When in Yoko-

GERMAN SOCIALIST CENSURES MINISTER

(Special to The Daily News.)

Amsterdam, March 31.—According to information received here from Berlin, the Socialist member Noske in the Reichstag yesterday bitterly censured Foreign Minister Zimmerman's Maxjean-Japanese scheme against the United States. The Socialist member also declared that the Prussian system of government, which appoints ministers who are not responsible to the Reichstag must be abolished.

GOOD FRIDAY CONCERT

There is something in store for the music lovers in Prince Rupert next Friday. The cantata "Christ and His Soldiers" is to be given in the Methodist Church then by an augmented choir of 36 voices, assisted by an orchestra. "Christ and His Soldiers" is a famous composition and has enjoyed great popularity. The principals are Mrs. Jarvis McLeod, soprano; Mrs. Bernhoff, contralto; Mr. C. A. G. Armstrong, tenor, and Mr. Meth Davis, bass. The organist is Mrs. Armstrong. These artists are very well known in this city and with the choir under the efficient charge of Mr. John E. Davey, the rendering of this cantata should be one of the best ever heard in Prince Rupert.

hama, some Russian people there warned me of the imminence of revolution and against proceeding westward, but even they did not expect it to arrive quite so soon."

Mr. Albert has a brother, a doctor in Tiflis, in Caucasia, who was one of the first members of the Duma, when it was re-established some ten years ago. A republican form of government is the most likely to be adopted now, says Mr. Albert. "The Romanoffs have been cast off forever. And after the war you will see that democratic Russia will be 'some country.'"

GREAT SPEECH BY PREMIER ON CIVIL SERVICE

Declares Civil Service Bill Will Combat Patronage Here and Will Make for Efficiency.

In the moving of the second reading of the Civil Service Bill in the House of Parliament last week, the Premier, the Hon. H. C. Brewster made a speech of some length and covered the ground very thoroughly. In thus implementing one of the Liberal pledges which conducted very much to the success of the party at the polls last September, the Premier is at the same time fulfilling one of his own most cherished political ambitions. Still further there is little doubt that the blazing of the way to civil service reform in every department of the public service will be an inducement to the other provinces to follow and that the Dominion will round out its Civil Service Act by making it apply to all branches of its service.

The Premier gave a short review of the struggle for civil service reform in the motherland, and the principles which were laid down there as far back as 1853 and upon which the excellent service of today is based. The same principles enunciated by the commissioners appointed by Gladstone to study the reform of the service are those upon which the British Columbia bill is founded. Patronage Evil.

In the course of his speech Mr. Brewster said:

"I want this afternoon to deal with this matter in the spirit of this bill and not in any sense to lay the blame on any political party. (Hear, hear.) I do not think it belongs there. Very frankly I say that governments in the past have been in the habit of doing that which was, in my opinion, a great detriment to the country by measuring in terms of political attainments and value rather than by efficiency those who assisted them during the election in which they were successful. It does not need any argument that the evils of patronage in the service are obvious; we do not need to labor that point. We know there have been great evils, and are still great evils; that we would be doing a great service if we made the test for public office or service one of efficiency rather than of political value and work. (Applause.)

Defended by Gladstone.

The principle of open competition is found to be again defended by Gladstone, and he combated the view that patronage contributes to the strength of the executive government. That great man declared his belief that it was "not in the wit of man to devise a plan for the promotion of education so effective and powerful as the throwing open the civil service." In other words, throwing open the service to those who could pass an educational test before entering it was, in the opinion of that great brain, going to be a greater factor than any other in raising the standard of public education and improving the service.

Welcome Change.

Judging from my own somewhat short experience—and no doubt my hon. friend the Leader of the Opposition, from his longer and riper experience, will most heartily concur—a minister would be inclined to welcome a change which would place the civil service completely outside partisan

A RUSSIAN REPUBLIC?

Apparently the revolution in Russia has gone farther than first information led the outside world to suspect. According to reports it has swept the Romanoff dynasty, which had ruled that vast country for the last four centuries, entirely out of existence, Petrograd intelligence so far has been fragmentary and obscure as to details. What is known for certain, however, is that the Czar abdicated in favor of the Grand Duke Michael, who accepted the throne only on the condition that his action should be endorsed by the Russian people. Whether he is still there is not clear. Meanwhile the administration of the country is really in the hands of a committee of twelve, actually a Committee of Public Safety, which will have charge of affairs pending the deliberations of a national convention.

Uncertainty exists regarding the attitude of the army. This, indeed, is the key to the situation, as well as to the immediate future of the war. If the six million men at the front acquiesce in the course of events there will be no trouble. If, on the other hand, reactionaries among the leaders attempt to restore the dynasty, as some of them doubtless will desire to do, and obtain any considerable following from among the troops, a serious state of affairs will arise. Three factors, however, are likely to influence that situation. One is the peaceable abdication of the Czar, and his lofty manifesto, whose terms will win for him the respect and pity of the world, and the equally magnanimous attitude of the Grand Duke Michael. Another is the menace of the German armies waiting to fall upon a divided foe and overrun their country, further enslaving its inhabitants and imperiling the cause of civilization. The third is the strong spirit of democracy which animates the common soldier. We may be fairly certain that in this crisis the Russian army will be for Russia and not for any faction. The form of government is a minor circumstance alongside the mortal danger which threatens from without. A Russian republic may be the outcome of the present state of flux. This would be a very violent transition and would cause a great deal of unrest in the country, especially after the war. A vast majority of the people know next to nothing about matters of government. The bureaucracy always has done their thinking for them. The new era will involve for them many radical changes and irreconcilable reactionaries will be ever on the alert for opportunities to cause trouble. Fortunately, the leaders of the movement include men of outstanding ability and great force of character, many of them world leaders in various lines of intellectual effort. As for the immediate emergency, the prosecution of the war, the Committee of Twelve may be depended upon to effect a vast improvement in administration and organization, for it will be composed of the country's ablest men. France, it will be recalled, was never more formidable in a military sense than when a Committee of Public Safety was endeavoring to restore order out of the chaos of her great revolution. It was that crisis which produced Napoleon and Moreau and the most brilliant collection of subordinates that ever followed victorious chieftains.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Democracies quarrel among themselves; autocracies quarrel with other countries. Of the two the former is infinitely to be preferred. Their difficulties always can be settled by the police. If dictatorships arise in Europe from this war all the sacrifices that have been made for liberty will have been in vain. Canada has problems of sufficient urgency to call for the undivided attention of her government. She has not yet raised the half million men promised by Sir Robert Borden. She is confronted with a food situation which may become exceedingly serious. She will have enormous difficulty in dealing with post-bellum conditions, the demobilizing of the army and finding the wherewithal to meet her obligations. There certainly is pressing business for our statesmen to attend to.

The All-Highest's tongue still cleaves to the roof of his mouth. And there are such interesting things happening in the world, subjects which his majesty could discuss very entertainingly indeed if he were in the humor. Wilhelm at one time fancied himself considerably as a playwright, wrote dramas and had them performed. Perhaps he is engaged in the creation of a work now that will be produced at the end of the war, and which may be entitled, "The Hohenzollerns: A Tragedy."

WESTHOLME THEATRE

Tonight at the Westholme will be shown Japan's greatest actor, Sussue Hawakawa, in a very striking play entitled "The Soul of Kura San. Sessue Hawakawa has proved himself to be a great favorite with the people on the coast and he is an artist of no mean order. The play itself is of very great interest and will appeal to everyone. There will also be shown a Topical Budget, which, together with the orchestra, will make a splendid evening's entertainment.

GREAT SPEECH BY THE PREMIER ON CIVIL SERVICE

politics and for the same reason because of which Lincoln felt impelled to expostulate against a system which is nothing more nor less than a source of nervous exhaustion and loss of time and energy. (Applause.) How many times has a man in politics been met with the statement, either direct from the man himself or conveyed to you by his friends, that he was going to work and vote for you because he expected that when you got in you would "look out for him." That system must go if we are to have a proper civil service. (Cheers.) We must have, to repeat what Mr. Gladstone said, the position where all who want public employment will be assured of advancement in proportion to their abilities and services.

Judged by Competency.

That is one of the things we have to deal with, that when a man has passed his probation, proved that he is a good civil servant, he will have an incentive to advance "in proportion to his abilities and services." That is a feature of the bill which I hope will be received in the proper spirit by this legislature.

The time is past when any man in the service or out of it can hold any position because of his being a Grit or a Tory; that day is past, and he must be judged only by his efficiency and his value to the service. Those who hold positions by means of political favor, and not by efficiency, I can see no power under heaven to keep them in the service, drawing money they do not earn.

Returned Soldiers.

A unique section in the bill is that which defines what a returned soldier is. Never before was there a chance to show honor to those who have fought for the Empire, and to do it not by breaking down the service but by providing that, everything considered, the man who has been fighting, who has done his bit, shall have preference. We are all imbued with the same spirit in this regard, and I know I can speak for gentlemen across the House as well as for those on this side, when I say that those who have made such great sacrifice for us are entitled to consideration, and while it would be fatal to them as to us to break down the service they will be placed first in the list.

Eliminate Waste.

In conclusion I want to say, Mr. Speaker, that the proper organization of the civil service means efficiency, and at this time, when practically the whole world has been organizing its man-power and its woman-power, doing everything it can to eliminate waste and put efficiency in its proper place, the demand for service growing out of that is going to be greater than ever before. It has been pointed out by two prominent Canadians in this city in the past few months that we must get the right man in the right place; that it is a foolish thing to allow the skilled blacksmith, say, whose services in his own trade are needed to win the war, to go off into the trenches and then have to fill his place in the smithy with an inferior man. To put the right man in the right place, and the right woman, too, is one of the objects of this bill.

We have learned the lesson, a valuable lesson, from the great struggle through which we are passing, that it is useless going along in a hap-hazard manner, sending a book-keeper to cruise timber or a man who knows nothing about civil engineering out to build a bridge. What we aim at is, first, to abolish the patronage evil, and secondly, organize the civil service so that every man or woman fits in where he or she is best fitted and can most thoroughly give the public the service for which it is paying. I commend this bill to the House, Mr. Speaker, in moving its second reading, and ask for it the very careful consideration of every member.

You are required to contest the claim of the tax purchaser within thirty-five days from the date of the service of this notice (which may be effected by Registered Mail or as Directed, and your attention is called to section 36 of the "Land Registry Act" with amendments, and to the following extract therefrom:— "...and in default of a caveat or certificate of his pendency being filed before the registration as owner of the person entitled under such tax sale, all persons so served with notice... and those claiming through or under them, and all persons claiming any interest in the land by virtue of any unregistered instrument, and all persons claiming any interest in the land by descent whose title is not registered under the provisions of this Act, shall be forever estopped and debarred from setting up any claim to or in respect of the land so sold for taxes, and the Registrar shall register the person entitled under such tax sale as owner of the land so sold for taxes."

AND WHEREAS application has been made for a Certificate of Indefeasible Title to the abovementioned lands, in the name of John Bergman:

AND WHEREAS, on investigating the title it appears that prior to the 9th day of September, 1914, (the date on which the said lands were sold for overdue taxes) you were the assessed owner thereof.

FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that at the same time I shall effect registration in pursuance of such application and issue a Certificate of Indefeasible Title to the said lands in the name of John Bergman unless you take and prosecute the proper proceedings to establish your claim, if any to the said lands, or to prevent such proposed action on my part.

DATED at the Land Registry Office Prince Rupert, B. C., this 6th day of December, A. D. 1916.

Many a Doctor's Bill will be Saved by Wearing Rubbers this Spring

SPRINGTIME in Canada means wet feet to all who try to get around without rubbers—and to most people wet feet mean colds, coughs or more serious sickness, besides the damage to shoes that cost so much these days. This last item alone will more than pay for the rubbers, while the protection from sickness and doctors' bills is many times what they cost.

AS in the case of everything else, when you buy rubbers it pays to buy them right. Our Trade Marks illustrated here are recognized the Dominion over as a sure guide to rubbers of highest quality and longest service. Look on the sole for one of these Brands:

WATER NOTICE

USE AND STORAGE

TAKE NOTICE that Magnus P. Olsen, whose address is Anyox, B. C., will apply for a licence to take and use about sixty cubic feet per second and to store about 300 acre-feet of water out of Bonanza Creek which flows southeasterly and drains into Granby Bay about at or near Lot 1675, Cassiar District.

The storage-dam will be located at about one and one-half miles from mouth of Bonanza Creek. The capacity of the reservoir to be created is about 300 acre-feet, and it will flood about twenty acres of land. The water will be diverted from the stream at a point at or near the dam, and will be used for power for mining purpose upon the mine described as the Nidas, Ptarmigan and Fox Groups, situate near the headwaters of Bonanza Creek.

This notice was posted on the ground on the 19th day of March, 1917. A copy of this notice and an application pursuant thereto and to the "Water Act, 1914," will be filed in the office of the Water Recorder at Prince Rupert, B.C. Objections to the application may be filed with the said Water Recorder or with the Comptroller of Water Rights, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B. C., within thirty days after the first appearance of this notice in a local paper.

M. P. OLSEN, Applicant.
The date of the first publication of this notice is March 26, 1917.

2,000,000 Belgians Depend on us for Bread!

Since shortly after the German invasion, the Belgians have depended for food entirely on the "Commission for Relief in Belgium". Their own store of food, even if not destroyed or pillaged, would last only three weeks—they have had no chance to raise more—and the ruthless Germans refuse to supply them!

Backed by the Belgian Relief Fund

so generously contributed in the British Empire and the United States, the neutral Belgian Relief Commission has imported enough wheat, flour and other foods to feed the whole nation so far. The great majority of the 7,000,000 Belgians left in the country have been able to pay for their daily allowance of bread—but a steadily growing number have no money left.

Unless we are willing to let these hundreds of thousands of women, children and old men starve, they must be fed at the expense of the Belgian Relief Fund. To make this possible someone must contribute nearly $3,000,000 a month—every month—all this winter!

No people under the Allied flag are as well able to contribute generously as we Canadians! No cause has ever been more deserving of help! In the name of Justice and Humanity—for the sake of our own self-respect—let us give all we can to help our martyred Allies!

TELL OF BELGIANS' TERRIBLE BURDEN

Washington, March 29.—An appeal from Belgian workmen for organized assistance by neutral governments and the laboring classes in neutral nations was made public at the Belgian Legation today. It says 500,000 men have been thrown out of work and kept in forced idleness, this being followed by a German decree that "either you must sign a contract for work in Germany or you will be taken as slaves." As a result, it adds, the whole of the working classes of Belgium is threatened with slavery, starvation or death.

"Germany," the appeal says, "has condemned her victims to pay an immense war levy which already amounts to more than $200,000,000, and which is increasing at the rate of $10,000,000 monthly.

"She has carried off and transported to Germany by pillage, confiscation, requisition and forced sale, foodstuffs and merchandise to the value of more than $1,000,000,000."

Why Eat Potatoes?

"At Four Dollars a bag the potato is a needless luxury," says the Board of Health. The potato is seventy-five per cent water and the rest is mostly starch. It is a good food when eaten in combination with proteid foods—but not worth eight cents a pound. Cut out meat, eggs and high-priced vegetables and stick to cereals and fruits. Two Shredded Wheat Biscuits (cost two cents) with milk make a complete meal, supplying all the nutriment needed for a half day's work. For breakfast with hot milk; for dinner with sliced bananas or stewed prunes. Made in Canada.

Serve Save Produce

EVERY ONE CAN do something for his country

Some can bear arms
 Some can produce food
 Some can make munitions
 Some can give money

It is the privilege of all to help.

YOU CAN SERVE by Fighting—Working—Saving—Giving

This is NATIONAL SERVICE
 Are YOU doing your part?

ALL EYES turn now to the Canadian Farmer, for he can render the Empire SPECIAL SERVICE in this sternest year of the war.

But—our farms are badly undermanned—25,000 men are needed on the land.

With insufficient help, the Man on the Land fights an uphill fight to meet the pressing need for Food.

CITY and TOWN can help.

Municipal Councils, Churches and Schools, and other organizations, both of men and women, can render National Service by directing all available labour to the Land.

Farmers themselves can exchange labour. School boys can assist.

Were you raised on a farm? Can you drive a team? Can you handle fork or hoe? If you can't fight, you can produce. Spend the Summer working on the Farm.

Let every man, woman and child in the Dominion who has access to Land, no matter how small the plot, make it produce Food in 1917.
