British in Sight of St. Quentin, and Have View of City Only Four Miles Away—Still Make Progress.

(Special to The Daily News.)

London, April 3.—Gen. Haig's troops are today in full sight of Hindenburg's line. From the ridge dominating St. Quentin the British forces can see the city not quite four miles away. To the south, the French forces, with equally strong thrusts, have advanced to within three miles of what is supposed to be one of the key cities of the Hindenburg line.

All London is expecting to hear of tremendous fighting at this salient today. The Germans are striving frantically to complete their fortifications to oppose further advances with their heavy guns.

An official message states that the British took the village of Sacy, west of St. Quentin yesterday and later took Sacy Wood, only three miles from St. Quentin. Further to the northwest, the villages of Vendelles, Epahy and Douffes, to the southeast of Hindenburg, were taken today.

Berlin Admits.
Berlin last night admitted that on Saturday, the British burst into the German lines on the Somme front for nearly two miles.

French Front.

Paris, April 3.—South of Allette the French forces drove back the German troops beyond Vaux Hallon. The French patrols found the lines in the region of St. Quentin strongly held by the enemy.

South of Laon, the French took several German trench systems on the ridge near Laffaux. The Germans have destroyed large parts of St. Quentin by fire and explosives.

CANADIAN PREMIER LUNCH IN COMMONS

(Special to The Daily News.)

London, April 3.—The Empire Parliamentary Association entertained the colonial premiers, delegates to the Imperial Conference to lunch yesterday in the House of Commons, the colonial secretary presiding. Premier Borden reviewed the splendid achievements of the Canadian troops, who have maintained the best traditions of the British army. The Premier said that no sacrifice can be too much today, and he would refer those dependents to the men in the trenches and in the hospital wards.

British Commander, who pursued the Germans from the Baupaine front. He is credited by Paris critics with being a brilliant tactician, as he harassed the retreating foe with artillery instead of cavalry.

COMMITTEE CHAIRMEN OF THE CITY COUNCIL

At the council meeting last night, Alderman Nelson was appointed chairman of the finance committee, Alderman McClymont of the board of works, Alderman Dybhavn of public utilities, Alderman Casey, market and health, and Aldermen Montgomery and Smith, of fisheries.

GREAT CHANGES IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

"When I cast my memory back to the time when I commenced my ministry in this province thirty-six years ago," said the Rev. W. H. Pierce yesterday, "and compare the conditions of that time with what exists now on this coast, I can only wonder what will be the state of affairs that time hence."

Thirty-six years ago, the Hudson's Bay Co. had a newly established post at Bella Bella. Mr. Pierce's memory goes further back than that. He can remember when the Indians of this northern country on their annual trips to Victoria to sell their furs, had to go south in great companies, strong enough to withstand the tribes around Cape Mudge. In those days the trip by canoe took six weeks against thirty-six hours nowadays. Mr. Pierce well remembers on one occasion, when sixty canoes were bound together for mutual protection on the trip being chased through the Seymour Narrows by hostile tribes, on which the women in the expedition were kept busy leading the old-fashioned flint-lock muskets. Mr. Pierce's father and Robert Duns-muir, the late lieutenant-governor of the province, came to this country together and Mr. Pierce has also many interesting tales to tell of their experiences in what was then an unknown country.

The Rev. Mr. Pierce preached at the Methodist Church here on Sunday and has charge of the Methodist Church work at Port Essington.

DELEGATES REPORT TO CITY COUNCIL

At the city council meeting last night, Mayor McCaffery and Alderman McRae, who were appointed on a delegation from the city council to interview the government at Victoria on certain matters, made their reports. The subjects taken up with the government executive were the road around Kaien Island and the one to the top of the mountain, government buildings in Prince Rupert, water power, taxes on government property, and waterfront property. So far as water power for the city was concerned, the delegates brought back the assurance that the city's interests would not be overlooked. With regard to the payment of taxes on government property in the city, as it is the same question which has arisen with other municipalities, the whole question will be gone into, and it is likely that the arrears of taxes will constitute a first charge against such properties. Concerning the waterfront property belonging to the provincial government, which the city wishes to get, the minister of lands asked what the city was prepared to do with such waterfront and for what specific purpose it was required. On receipt of such information, the matter will be given every consideration. The Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands, and Mr. A. M. Manson, member for Omnipia, had afforded the delegates every assistance in the prosecution of their work.

After the reports had been read, Alderman Montgomery asked about Cow Bay. He had heard that the G. T. P. had made application for that waterfront, as the leases lapse this year. "Cow Bay is the most valuable piece of property in the city," said Alderman Montgomery, "because it is outside of the jurisdiction of the G. T. P. and today it is a little hive of industry, and is of greater importance to the city than the drydock has been hitherto. The G. T. P. must not get control of any more property." Alderman Montgomery was quite indignant at the delegation for not doing more with the government on this matter.

Mayor McCaffery pointed out that what the G. T. P. wanted was to exchange waterfront of equal value for the Cow Bay property and said that as the matter was in the hands of the minister of lands, and that in view of the record of the Hon. T. D. Pattullo with regard to the G. T. P. in past years, it could be safely left with him.

Alderman Montgomery grudgingly hoped it would be safe, and on a motion of Alderman Casey, the matter was referred to committee.

NEW LOCOMOTIVES FOR THE GRAND TRUNK

The Grand Trunk Railway System has ordered fifteen new locomotives for its freight service. They are of the latest Mikado type, super-heated, and each is capable of hauling a train of 6,339 tons.

These fifteen locomotives represent a total outlay of $735,000, the price of locomotives having increased about one hundred per cent during the last two years. Ten of these locomotives are for use on Grand Trunk lines in Canada and are being built at Kingston, Ont., while five are for use on the company's lines in the United States and are being constructed there.

Each of these great engines weighs 275,000 pounds, exclusive of tender, which has an additional weight of 165,800 pounds. The total length of engine and tender is seventy-nine feet.

WHERE THE WORLD'S GREATEST BATTLE WILL BE FOUGHT

This new map indicates the district where, according to the military experts, the world's greatest battle for the supremacy on the western front will be fought. The so-called Hindenburg line stretches from La Fere to St. Quentin and north from there to Cambrai. The British and the French lines join at St. Quentin, indicated by the arrow on the map. The biggest advances this week have been in the direction of the arrows. There is a good probability of the Allies breaking through between La Fere and St. Quentin, where the arrow is shown.

GERMANS ARE NOW APPREHENSIVE

(Special to The Daily News.)

London, April 3.—The military experts here today saw fresh signs of apprehension in the German mind that they will be unable to hold the Hindenburg line. Information arriving from Denmark says that fresh calls for men have been issued by the Kaiser's leaders. The latest draft is taking every man able to carry a rifle, whether he is fifty years old or over.

Reports from Dutch sources continue to arrive bearing persistent reports of further internal trouble in Germany, but details are lacking and the character of the disorders are not specified.

THE ONLY REPLY IS WITH THE BAYONET

(Special to The Daily News.)

"We cannot shake hands with the German people until they rid themselves of the cursed Hohenzollerns," is what M. Skobloff, the vice-President of the Russian Duma declared in a speech delivered yesterday to a patriotic mass meeting outside the Duma. He said that the Kaiser and the Chancellor Hollweg were the two most redoubtable enemies of Russian liberty. To their hypocritical greetings the Russian revolutionists can only say, "We can only reply with the bayonet."

THE BATTLE AT GAZA

(Special to The Daily News.)

London, April 3.—The latest reports from the Egyptian expeditionary force state that the Turks lost eight thousand killed and wounded in the British victory achieved near Gaza in Palestine. The British losses were less than 400 in the battle.

PRES. WILSON HAS ASKED FOR A DECLARATION

Armed Neutrality is Found not Sufficient Protection for Neutral Rights—State of War Exists.

(Special to The Daily News.)

Washington, April 3.—President Wilson appeared before the special joint session of Congress last night and asked that body to declare a state of war existing between the United States and Germany. Armed neutrality had been found to be wanting and was likely to produce that which it was meant to prevent. Germany is held responsible for the final break and the entry of the United States into the world war. It is reported that the President intimated that it was the intention of the government in the event of war, to afford complete and every assistance to the allied governments in men, munitions, ships and money. In the financing of the war, the help of the United States would prove invaluable, and would be freely given.

Capitol Stormed.
The Capitol is stormed by war factions, and the situation was being eagerly discussed yesterday.

Dozens of special trains poured into Washington carrying war pilgrims and pacifists to influence Congress in its decision. Champ Clark was again elected speaker of the House of Representatives.

Knocked Him Down.
It is reported that Senator Lodge, pro-Ally, knocked down a man named Baumort in the capitol at the opening session of Congress. Details are lacking.

Armed Vessel Sunk.
The first armed American vessel, the Aztec, is reported sunk yesterday by a German submarine. Several of the crew are reported lost.

The Cunard liner Carpathia which arrived yesterday brought word of the destruction of a British hospital ship with the loss of 167 lives, by a German submarine. The Carpathia escaped the same underwater craft by only half an hour.

PRINCE RUPERT DAMAGE

It is reported that the G. T. P. steamer, Prince Rupert, ashore at Genn Island, has sustained damage to her bottom to the extent of 180 feet. Plates have been bent and broken, frames damaged and the floor set up. The boilers and engines are reported to be uninjured. As previously intimated, pinnacles of rock have pierced her hull, and these will have to be blasted away before the vessel can be released.

The Prince Rupert Retail Merchants Association has called a special meeting to be held in the city hall Wednesday, April 4th, 1917, at 8 p. m. The business men of the city are requested to get together and discuss the new developments which have taken place in the G. T. P. boycott situation. The members of the Board of Trade are also invited to be there. City Hall, Wednesday, April 4th.

ALMOST A "TRIUMPH"

The apostles of submarine frightfulness have almost reached the summit of their ambition, says the Times. They have sunk a British hospital ship, the Asturias, but as there were no sick or wounded on board a measure of disappointment will modify the jubilation among the Huns the announcement from Berlin will produce. There probably will be no formal services in Berlin and Hamburg, such as those which marked the "signal success" against the Lusitania. The commander's reward will be an Iron Cross of subordinate degree only. Now, if he had sunk the Asturias before she had landed her 900 patients, as he was instructed to do if possible, he would have qualified for a wooden statue to be stuck full of iron nails, in true primitive Hun fashion.

The Asturias is not the first hospital ship torpedoed by these frothing savages. A Russian vessel full of wounded was sunk in the Black Sea. A French hospital ship was torpedoed early in the war, before the Germans announced their first campaign of assassination at sea. Two years ago the Asturias was attacked in the English Channel, but escaped. The Germans intimated that the Russian ship was sunk by a Turkish submarine, but the lie convicted itself. The Turks do not prey upon hospital ships or Red Cross stations. They are not cultured enough for that. In massacring the Armenians they have endeavored to make themselves a close second to the ravages of Belgium, but only a squarehead of the marshes can murder sick and wounded and celebrate it with a war-dance.

When the German government announced its intention of torpedoing hospital ships the British authorities countered with the statement that if this were done they would resort to reprisals. There is now an opportunity of putting the counter-threat into effect. It is the only way to reply to German atrocities, for it is the one thing every slaving, gibbering demon in the Devil's Kitchen of Berlin thoroughly understands. Failure to strike back he interprets as a sign of weakness and fear; he thinks his foe is afraid to retaliate.

because Germany might do something even worse.

France, with that unerring insight and logic which characterize her methods in war as in peace, early penetrated the psychology of the Hun in this respect and took prompt action to curb his savagery. In the first few months of the war hostile aeroplanes and Zeppelins attacked a number of open French towns. At Bethune forty women and children were killed in the market place. France promptly retaliated with a series of destructive aerial attacks on Karlsruhe and other Rhenish towns, which raised a howl from the Vosges to the Oder. This form of retaliation has been continued to the present and it has been most efficacious. The Germans know what it means. We may expect to see before long a much more extensive counterstroke by France to the wanton desolation of the country over which German armies are retreating.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

It has been the fortune of Turkey to hold at one time most of the capitals of the ancient world. She has lost Athens and Sparta, Carthage, Memphis and Thebes. She has lost Baghdad, Babylon and Nineveh, and her authority is questioned in Mecca. She still holds Byzantium, Troy, Tyre, Damascus and yet Jerusalem, although her possession of this last is threatened. Many another ancient seat of empire and centre of influence is still under the heel of the unspeakable Turk. This domain has been passing, ancient kingdom by ancient kingdom, until now there are more followers of the prophet with the Allies than with the Sultan and his Berlin master.

The United States has announced that it can have no dealings with Germany. The American government asks, in effect, what is the use of negotiations of any kind with a government which unblushingly proclaims its belief that solemnly signed treaties are but "scraps of paper"? Germany, in truth, has become a moral leper among the nations. That is a proposition for the people of the nation to ponder over when their reason resumes sway.

satisfaction to the fact that Germany is the only power of importance which has not changed either its ruler or its government since the war began. Despotism has the temporary advantage that it can sit on the safety valve, but when the pressure becomes too heavy the consequent explosion is all the more tremendous.

"THE SECOND LINE" NEW BATTALIONS

(From Philip Gibbs.)
With the British Armies in the Field.

The British armies in the field are always growing, needing new camps, new billeting areas, increasing the traffic on the roads by new columns of supply wagons, new guns, new men, new boys marching with a steady tramp to places old and evil with war. The Second Line—or some of it—has been coming out. That is a new phase of the war. An astounding phase to men who remember, as I do, the thrill with which we welcomed the first of the Territorials and then the first of the "Kitchener crowd." That was nearly two years ago. Since then the First Line regiments of the Territorials and the new army divisions have fought all along the line, have been in scores of little "shows," and during the battles of the Somme stormed the German lines, broke them, stood fast against ferocious counter attacks, held on to captured ground though it was one flame of shell fire, and left blood of theirs at Fricourt, Contalmaison, Ovillers, Thiepval, Longueval, Martinpuich, High wood, and Devil's wood, there and in a score of other captured strongholds to remain forever as a memory of British boyhood, splendid in courage, and of this war's tragedy of sacrifice. Now the Second Line battalions are coming along, and just as the First Line Territorials used to eye the old regular regiments who had fought down from Mons and along the Aisne—eyed them as men look upon others who have passed through fiery ordeals and are old in wisdom and remembrance and honor—so now these newcomers measure up the weather-worn, war-worn fellows of their First Line regiments as they pass along the roads or relieve each other in the trenches. The older soldiers—older in knowledge of war, though not in years—glance back at the march and discipline of the new crowds, at their physical qualities, at "the cut of their jibs." The verdict is favorable. "Good stuff." "They'll shape out all right—after they've been knocked about a bit." "Put 'em in the salient. That'll teach 'em!" "Lord! in a couple of months, after a bit of trench mortaring and whizz-banging and blowing-up in mine craters, and burying in dug-outs, and no grub in the forward posts, and trench feet in the shell craters; they'll be just like ourselves, and you wouldn't know the difference in the mud."

The Old Spirit.
Yes, they are good stuff, these Second Line battalions—the same good stuff of youth that came out in the beginning and has been coming out all the time, all the time with the same grey English eyes, the same Scottish sturdiness the same old look of hardihood and humor which I have seen for two and a half year. Their type does not change. These new men are the same as those who came before them, except in training, in tradition, and in experience. They will get that all right. Not a doubt of it! The first of the Second Line have been here some time, and in that time have been blooded to the grim adventure of this war. After hard training in a base camp (all the science of war is taught them by professors straight out of the trenches) they were put into an old part of the line, and one fine morning were ordered to support an attack of some importance. It was not a great success. Some of the second line men got tangled up in the German wire. Some of them poor lads, are there still. They learnt their lesson, saw the meaning of it all, the price of mistakes, the value of discipline, the price difficulty of getting on in the face of machine gun fire and heavy barrages. After that the second line men could say to the first line men—"All right, (continued on Page Four.)"

Many a Doctor's Bill will be Saved by Wearing Rubbers this Spring

SPRINGTIME in Canada means wet feet to all who try to get around without rubbers—and to most people wet feet mean colds, coughs or more serious sickness, besides the damage to shoes that cost so much these days. This last item alone will more than pay for the rubbers, while the protection from sickness and doctors' bills is many times what they cost.

AS in the case of everything else, when you buy rubbers it pays to buy them right. Our Trade Marks illustrated here are recognized the Dominion over as a sure guide to rubbers of highest quality and longest service. Look on the sole for one of these Brands:

2,000,000 Belgians Depend on us for Bread!

Since shortly after the German invasion, the Belgians have depended for food entirely on the "Commission for Relief in Belgium". Their own store of food, even if not destroyed or pillaged, would last only three weeks—they have had no chance to raise more—and the ruthless Germans refuse to supply them!

Backed by the

so generously contributed in the British Empire and the United States, the neutral Belgian Relief Commission has imported enough wheat, flour and other foods to feed the whole nation so far. The great majority of the 7,000,000 Belgians left in the country have been able to pay for their daily allowance of bread—but a steadily growing number have no money left.

Unless we are willing to let these hundreds of thousands of women, children and old men starve, they must be fed at the expense of the Belgian Relief Fund. To make this possible someone must contribute nearly $3,000,000 a month—every month—all this winter!

No people under the Allied Flags are so well able to contribute generously as we Canadians! No cause has ever been more deserving of help! In the name of Justice and Humanity—for the sake of our own self-respect—let us give all we can to help our martyred Allies!

THE SECOND LINE NEW BATTALIONS

not so much swank. We know all about it too." Heroes! Well, soldiers don't use the word except with humorous chuckles. But if you like an old-fashioned word and want some heroes—the men would say stout fellows—you will find them already—and its pretty soon—in the Second Line out here.

Many have gained rewards for valor in the Second Line battalions, and many have gained no rewards but did well. They are old and familiar stories. I have been writing them about our men for nearly two years. The new men are like the old, and their courage is the same. Give them good leadership, and they will fight as those who fell at Le Cateau and checked the bull rush of the enemy's pursuit.

I met a crowd of these men the other night in a queer spot at the cross roads in a wild upland deep in snow with a blizzard blowing. They had built a big wooden hut there and fixed up a stage, and something like 600 men who had come tramping through the snow at as close as salted herring when the curtain went up for a performance of pierrots, who were their comrades in the trenches. The pierrots were all private soldiers of the Second Line except an officer who led them (he played Shakespeare parts in Benson's company before he put on khaki), but they had great talent in wit and humor, and the shed shook with laughter and then was very quiet when a fine tenor sang "To Anthea" and four good voices sang old glees. The D.A.D.O.S. had his usual share of chaff (he sat in front of me and chuckled at it). A grand piano had been brought from Paris after enormous difficulties in the way of transport, and the shed was a masterpiece of carpentry, and the engine which worked the lights was a very fine engine, though it froze during the performance. . . . And all this work would be utterly destroyed, because in three days those Second Line regiments were moving away. (It often happens like that—. But it was good to see the crowd—to see that in all their make-up they are like the men who come out before and done great things and endured all things without a moan, and because their courage is known—go singing the song of the old soldier down the roads of France. The Second Line has the right to sing it now—

I want to 'om!
I want to 'om!
The Maxims spit and the Johnsons roar,
I don't want to go to the front any more.
Oh, let me go over the sea,
Where the Alleymans can't get me!
Oh, my.
I don't want to die.
I want to go 'om.
