In his retreat Hindenburg is making an endeavor to keep his battle front at right angles to the main lines of communications which is highly desirable, indeed necessary to prevent disaster. The route taken by the Germans in their victorious advance they now must take on their retreat. The arrows show the retreating direction they must follow.

ANXIOUS TO GET FIRST TO THE FRONT

That large numbers of Americans were preparing to enlist in the United States army, in order to be the first forces from that country to meet the Germans, was the statement of Colonel West, the American Consul General in Vancouver, recently. He has already compiled a formidable list of Americans in Vancouver and district who are willing to serve.

Since the United States decided to enter the war, he said, there has been a decided enthusiasm to enlist on the part of the local colony of Americans. Many have already returned to the United States to take officers' courses and train at some of the military camps across the line. Meanwhile Colonel West has compiled a big list of Americans in Canada who are anxious to serve, so that they may be notified immediately should any instructions come from Washington.

WEDDING BELLS

A pretty wedding took place last Friday evening at the Presbyterian Church manse. The high contracting parties were Mr. William J. Smith, engineer at Digby Island, and Miss Josephine Johnson, late of the Rupert Hotel staff. Miss E. Thain was the bride's maid, and the groomsmen were Mr. J. Clark.

After the Rev. Dr. Grant had tied the knot, the wedding party drove to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Steen on Borden Street, where supper was served. A very pleasant evening was spent by the guests, and the time passed lightsomely.

The happy couple will make their home on Seventh Avenue, West. The numerous presents were handsome and pretty.

RECIPROCITY AND THE BORDEN GOVERNMENT

Ottawa, May 7.—The Hindenburg line has its analogy in the order-in-council granting a free exchange of wheat with the United States. This is a strategic retreat on the part of the Borden Government from an indefensible position and foreshadows the defeat which they will surely incur when they make their last stand in a general election.

All the good guessers believe that the free wheat ruse indicates a general election not later than September. The Honorable Bob is a brisk poker player and this is the way he opens the pot. The story runs that the Honorable Bob has been pressing for free wheat for two years back, and that lately his voice has been joined by that of Arthur Meighen, who looked things over and reported that the West was irretrievably lost to the Conservative party unless the Government gave its faithful supporters a good point to talk about. Free wheat is the result. It is the last card.

Even at that the Borden Government hesitates to play it boldly. It would like to stand in with the farmer, but it doesn't like to fall out with its old friends, the millers. The upshot is that free wheat is announced as a "war measure." It is not accepted as a permanent policy—at least, not yet—and the Northwest farmer is warranted in keeping his eye on it till he sees it implemented by a special clause in the Tariff Act. The Northwest farmer does not forget that in 1915 he was beguiled into raising the biggest wheat crop on record and was then denied a market. Never again for the Northwest farmer. The Borden Government will have to show him first. The best guarantee of good faith will be an amendment to the tariff. Without this the farmer is justified in supposing that the Borden Government is trying to put another one over. Hoodwinked once he will be twice as suspicious.

The order-in-council is dressed out with a good deal of buncombe to explain why a government so adverse to truck or trade with the Yankees in 1914 should grab at it so eagerly now. The reason put forward is that the United States is now an ally, and

RUSSIA SEEKS PEACE WITHOUT ANNEXATION

Duma to be Convened Immediately in Extraordinary Session—Delegates Desire a Durable Peace.

(Special to The Daily News.)

Petrograd, May 7.—Russia seeks peace without annexation or any indemnities. The delegates of the workmen and the soldiers declare that Russia does not aim at domination over other nations or deprive them of their national patrimony. They desire a durable peace being established on the basis of the rights of nations to decide their own destiny. An extraordinary session of the Duma will be convened immediately.

LABOR DEMANDS FOOD CONTROLLER

Victoria, May 5.—Protest will at once be made to Premier Brewster by representatives of the Victoria Trades and Labor Council against the proposed reimposition of the poll tax in British Columbia. This was decided at the regular meeting of the Council this week, on the recommendation of the executive. Protest will also be lodged against the income tax proposals.

A resolution was passed asking that the Federal and Provincial governments take action at once to appoint a board to control food prices through the country, because of the "alarming increase in the prices of the necessities of life, which is the cause of undue suffering on the part of the wage earner."

"Some portion of this increase is due to war conditions, but the major part is unquestionably due to the unscrupulous methods of the profiteer," says the resolution. "We believe the time has arrived for the Federal and Provincial Governments to take drastic action to remedy these conditions."

The Dominion Trades Congress, the Provincial Federation of Labor, and all central bodies in the Dominion are being asked to demand such action from the Governments. They ask that as the question directly affects labor, that labor should be adequately represented by fully accredited representatives on such a board.

THE WOMEN'S PART

One of the most significant features of Mr. Lloyd George's speech at the Guildhall a few evenings ago, says the Victoria Times, was his statement that three million acres of fresh land was under cultivation in the United Kingdom.

A little study will reveal behind that bare announcement a remarkable chapter of achievement. The area of new land thus described is equivalent to almost one-third of the area under wheat in the three prairie provinces. It is equal to one-quarter of the entire area under food crop in the kingdom when the war broke out.

In 1914 the extent of land under corn crop, that is, wheat, barley, oats, rye, beans and peas, was 8,216,000 acres. The area under green crops, comprising vegetables, was 4,056,000 acres. There were 50,000 acres under flax, 37,000 under hops and 101,000 under fruit. Clover and mature grasses accounted for 6,605,000 and permanent pasture for 27,350,000 acres.

The 3,000,000 acres of newly cultivated land will produce food stuffs, and will be in addition to the 12,700,000 acres already devoted to this purpose. It is not hard to visualize the scene of agricultural activity the figure represents. Spacious country estates, parks, golf courses and public resorts are responding to activities which at other times would be regarded as desecration. The land problem which in other years formed the subject of the Prime Minister's most burning periods is being solved by the grim necessities of war. And Mr. Bull will take mighty good care that for a large part the new order will become permanent. He will not expose himself to the same risk twice.

Where is the labor coming from? From the beginning of the war up to the present the United Kingdom has had more than 5,000,000 men under arms. There must be more than 3,000,000 of these overseas now and the stream of reinforcements is flowing more strongly than ever. To meet the extraordinary demand for munitions not only in France but in Russia, Saloniki, Mesopotamia, East Africa, Palestine and possibly Italy, fully 5,000 factories are in operation. Now the shipyards are expected to turn out new shipping on a huge scale as a counter-measure to the enemy's submarine campaign. The mines must be kept going at high pressure to supply coal and other materials for the fleet and factories. Numerous auxiliary services must be operated, while the country's industries apart from the war cannot be allowed to languish.

The women of Britain play a big part in answering the riddle. Without them all these extraordinary demands upon the nation's human resources could not be nearly met. Without them, it is not too much to say, this war could not be won for the Allies. With their help the "tight little isle" is achieving one of the marvels of this marvelous age. This is the picture of which the announcement of Lloyd George regarding the agricultural production of his country is the frame.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Eastern Liberal papers are having no little fun with their Tory contemporaries over free wheat. They are asking if the new order will mean the annexation of Canada to the United States, the diversion of our east and west trade routes, the dissolution of the Empire, etc., etc., and those other weird things Laurier's opponents declared would certainly follow the free exchange of wheat and similar products between the two countries. The responses are both novel and conflicting. One says the change is a "wartime measure." Another says "conditions are no longer the same," and so forth. Their explanations are about as contradictory and incoherent as their arguments against it were in 1911.

At the P.G.E. inquiry a few days ago the leader of the Opposition said that if Mr. Tate made more definite statements regarding the distribution of the campaign fund he (Mr. Bowser) would tell of something that would be of particular interest to Liberals. Mr. Brewster invited Mr. Bowser to state what he knew—if he knew anything—pointed out that as a public man it was his duty to do so and expressed his readiness to furnish the fullest investigation. Mr. Bowser did not accept the invitation. The inference to be drawn from his silence is a severe reflection upon him, to say the least. It is that Mr. Bowser, fearing the result of the committee's investigation of Messrs. Tate and Welch, tried to bluff the Government off the trail. Supporting this inference is Mr. Tate's sworn statement that he "handled the campaign fund as far as the Conservative party is concerned." In the vernacular of the great American game, Mr. Brewster has called Mr. Bowser's bluff. It will be called again when Messrs. Tate and Welch come under an examination which they will not be able to run away from.

with it because the Borden Government was their friend. At the very outset the government assumed power by means of the War Measures Act to regulate prices or anything else that needed regulating, but they had no intention of hurting their friends. The War Measures Act was a rod in a pickle and that was where they kept it—in pickle. They had no idea of chastizing with it. They simply took the rod and put it away safely where nobody else could get it. The theory was that the people would look at the rod and say, "What a stern disciplinarian this Borden Government is!"

However, you can't fool the people all the time. In the course of a year or two the people got wise to the fact that the last thing the Borden Government wanted to do was to use the War Measures Act against their friends who were treating Canada as their oyster. Naturally enough the people noticed that the half dozen or so high-cost-of-living commissions reported as tardily as possible and that, when they did report, nothing was ever done. Nor did they fail to observe that on every one of their "economic" commissions was posted one of the biggest, if not the biggest, food profiteers in Canada, whose cue was, of course, to see things coming and then head them off. The final evidence of bad faith on the part of the Borden Government, which handed Canada over to the looters and said, "Get rich while you can," was when the Minister of Labor, Mr. Crothers, broached a plan to investigate the high cost of living in such a way that there were four chances to one against the results ever reaching Ottawa.

Free wheat as a "war measure" as a favor extended to "our ally," not as an election trick of Bob Rogers and Arthur Meighen's, has a queer smell to it. You may take it for granted that the good of the people is of less concern than the relief it is expected to afford the Borden Government. This high tariff government, which had cheerfully jumped the tariff 60 per cent. in two raises, has not been suddenly converted to freer trade. It simply wants an election cry that will alienate the smallest group of rich friends. This group, no doubt, happens to be the millers. The Borden Government hopes to lose them only for a short time. Remember that free wheat is a "war measure."

Of course this move of the Borden Government admits the whole case of reciprocity, the fatuity of the arguments about "East and West haul," "our wheat losing its identity," and so on, but what does the Borden Government care about consistency when it is in the last ditch? Unfortunately for the Borden Government this country has a good memory. It is a sadder and wiser Canada than it was six years ago when the Borden Government turned the profiteers loose. It was bad enough, heaven knows, in the piping times of peace, but war was the profiteers' moon. When the Borden Government goes out, as it will in the near future, it leaves Canada looking like a sucked orange.

That these fruits of repentance on the Borden Government's part are only shadow pictures is shown by the fact that the tariff is still maintained at its present height. This ring fence is high enough to enable the middleman to shear both producer and consumer and at the same time prevent cheap food from climbing over. The Borden Government may sacrifice the millers temporarily, but it won't get back to the food fore-stallers who put it in office and who keep it there.

As for the western farmer, shrewd student of public questions, he will laugh at this eleven hour stuff. If the Borden Government really believes in freer trade it would have removed that handicap on wheat six years ago. Ten cents a bushel on the exportable surplus of western wheat foots up many millions of dollars in six years. The statisticians can figure it out for themselves. Whatever it amounts to it is that much the western farmer has to forgive. It's a safe bet that he won't do it. He will reckon that a government as badly spotted with war scandals and chronic misdeeds as the Borden Government has too many spots to change in a hurry.—H. F. G.

Keep Chickens

This is National Service

The cost of meat is the heavy item in the food bill.

Poultry and Eggs will help take the place of meat.

The food that goes to the garbage pail from the average table will provide one-third the feed for a flock of 8 to 10 hens.

Poultry will thrive where vegetables will not grow. The outlay is small. A few minutes a day is all the time required.

A small flock in your back yard will go far to keep you supplied with eggs, broilers and roasters.

Write for Poultry Bulletins to INFORMATION BUREAU THE DOMINION DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, OTTAWA HONOURABLE MARTIN BURRELL, Minister.

They will help Keep you

How to go about it
BUY eggs for hatching or day-old chicks; borrow or buy a broody hen or an artificial brooder. A slatted packing-box will house the hen and chicks. Feed the chicks bread crumbs soaked in milk and squeezed dry. Feed five times a day, alternating with prepared chick feed, only as much as they will eat up clean. Remember that a hungry chick is a healthy chick.
CAUTION: Chicks must not be fed until at least 48 hours old, and then only sparingly.
If you can, start now with eggs or chicks; if not, arrange at once with the local poultry association for pullets in the fall.

There is very little real estate bought these days as a speculation. One citizen has cast out the petrich quick ideas that prevailed among them not so long ago. Since there is no speculative buying, prices have fallen in some instances to normal—some of us think below normal. This has cleared the way for the investor.

The soundness of investments in well located properties is as real today as it ever was. Take for example, lot 27, Block 34, Section 1. It is on the south side of Third Avenue, opposite Second Street. The owner is forced to sell this lot and it can be bought for $3,150. It is a good location for a retail business now, and grows better day by day. By erecting a suitable building, the property will earn enough in rents to return a good rate of interest on the investment. And it is safe, because it is so located that the tendency of the retail business is to gravitate to that vicinity.

ROAD MAKING IN MACEDONIA

If you have never lived in a roadless country, it is difficult to picture Macedonia as it was before the days of the Saloniki army. It is true there were two roads—to Seres and Monastir—but beyond that nothing, except tracks from village to village. These tracks may be compared to people who take the line of least resistance—they just meandered out of village, across plain, through a mountain pass, or around a hill, across streams or marsh and eventually into the next village. If a stream in flood gradually undercut its bed, where the track crossed, the track changed its course accordingly. If a boulder fell from the mountain side and rested on the track was it moved? No, the track wound afresh round the boulder! If the track led over a slippery rock surface—did the local inhabitants take upon themselves to prevent their beasts of burden falling there? No, the track was altered.

No attempt was made at a causeway over a marsh—nor was any use made of the material often close to hand, that with breaking, would have made an excellent macadam surface. At a few places could be seen the remains of roads with a surface of large stones. These were of little value, as more often than not they were found at irregular intervals and "to and from" nowhere! Their ancient "to's and from's" have long since been razed to the ground.

At the end of 1916 you could drive almost anywhere in Macedonia in a motor car.

Can you recall how we used to run to see a motor car pass? Twenty years ago betting among the boys at Harrow school was often brisk, on a Sunday afternoon—on or against—the varied cars who sought to conquer the hill. The children of Macedonia will long remember the arrival of the first motor in the beautiful Costo Dori valley. Roads, yes, Macedonia is now really opened up by roads.

French and English and later Italians built them. Greek gangs now keep them in repair—some were good, some fair and a few indifferent. The latter, however, were those which were hurriedly constructed. The majority were dug in the summer (there is little spring and autumn in the Balkans) and it was hot work.

It was amusing to watch the three allies at work. The British soldier worked quietly, honestly and at times sadly—officers and men—all in scanty attire. The most popular job was boring holes for blasting—the least popular, carrying large stones for culverts. The unmarked tombstones of neighboring cemeteries were in much demand. On the whole the soldiers took road making like we take our pleasures—sadly.

The French, splendid workmen, seemed to do so little and accomplish so much. They seemed to be always talking and discussing the world and his wife, but the road somehow seemed to broaden, lengthen, ascend or descend, or work its way gradually up some steep hill, at an almost uncanny rate.

Last but not least the Italians—ah, but it was beautiful to hear Alfredo's song from Traviata or "La Donna Mobile" coming drifting down the breeze from some cliff, the orchestra being pick and shovel and the inevitable hammer or the boring iron. All joined in the chorus, while the soloists changed with every song. Comparisons are odious, but the Italians' road surfaces were easy winners.
