Ten distinct classes are set out in the bill, from which drafts will be made. The first class will be drawn on men who were born since the year 1894. This class will comprise all single men between the ages of twenty and twenty-three. Two men will be appointed to sit on a Board of Exemption in each locality. One member of this board will be chosen by the senior county judge, and the other by Parliament. Any man who does not get exemption will be considered eligible and liable for service. An Appeal Tribunal will also be established.

MOTHER RUPERT MAN IN "BLIGHTY"

Word has been received in town from Mr. H. L. Harris, late of Bella Coola and this city, and now in hospital in England. Private Harris was in the 47th Battalion and took part in the battle of Vimy Ridge. Coming through the fight without scathe, he was sent to "Blighty" with an attack of pleurisy, contracted by exposure in the field. He has some very interesting things to relate of the battlefront. On account of the defections among the Saxons, he says they are all sandwiched in now between the Prussians and the Bavarians.

The Prussians are terrors to fight, is how he describes them. They will stick it to a finish. Their fortifications were wonderful. The dug-outs being forty to sixty feet deep, with the entrances often concreted four feet thick, so that nothing less than a direct hit from a big gun could injure them. Pte. Harris is at Leckhampton Court, Cheltenham. This is a mansion house which has been given up for hospital purposes, and he is being treated so well that he will be sorry to leave it. His children are at the Metlakatla school here, being cared for till his return. Private Harris wishes to be remembered to his many friends in this district.

THE POLICE COURT

Before Magistrate Carss this morning in the police court the case against Tony Leucich, an alien enemy, for not reporting regularly, was resumed. Evidence was had which showed that the accused had reported, although his card was not marked, and the case was dismissed.

Joe Davis, who was charged with the theft of a compass from the fishing boat Karl F., belonging to Geo. A. Tessier, was again up, and he was let off on suspended sentence.

THE EQUIPMENT AT SHAWATLANS

At the council meeting held last night a report was brought in by the superintendent of utilities, and the city solicitor regarding the equipment supplied by the Canadian General Electric Company for the electrical plant at Shawatlangs. According to the report, this has never worked properly practically since it was installed, and it was proposed to take action against the company for breach of contract.

There was considerable discussion on the matter and it was finally decided to hold it over for a week until all the facts of the case could be assimilated by the council.

DIG CROWD ATTENDS LECTURE LAST NIGHT

The Presbyterian Church Hall was filled last night to capacity to hear the lecture given by Mr. Boulton on the subject of "All the World at War." The nature of the subject is one that was of interest to everyone present and the whole evening's proceedings were thoroughly enjoyed. Dr. Grant, who presided, explained the objects of the meeting and that the proceeds through the Red Cross would go for comforts to the soldiers in the field. A short programme preceded the lecture, to the musical part of which Mrs. Armstrong and Mrs. Williams contributed a pianoforte duet. Mrs. Jarvis McLeod sang "The Long, Long Trail," and two songs were rendered by Mr. Forest. Principal Brady contributed two readings by Robert W. Service, the Canadian poet at the front, in his own inimitable style.

The speaker, Mr. Boulton, was introduced by Dr. Grant, who stated that he was a journalist from the old country of extensive experience. At the outset of his lecture, Mr. Boulton wished to emphasize the need of personal service in this war. He told how the viewpoint of the people of Great Britain has changed until now they realize that they are up against a very big thing. In fact the speaker sometimes thought that the war was only just beginning. He showed how the voluntary system changed, under the Derby system to one of moral compulsion, and from that to absolute compulsory service. Every eligible man there now had been called up and their places taken in all businesses by the women folks. Production was practically nationalized and the country placed upon a war footing.

Mr. Boulton told of many happenings regarding the Zeppelin raids that we are not accustomed to see in print. He went on to show that the afterwar problems which would confront the nations would likely be greater than the winning of the war itself. What will become of the enormous mass of maimed men? That was only one of the many problems. Mr. Boulton thought that a deeply religious and co-operative work was ahead of us. Every one must stand out for what is good and pure and manly. The co-operation of all religions as well as of capital and labor was essential, or else conditions after the war would be worse than before. Each should feel that the work of the war was

This will afford the council an opportunity of discussing with the minister of lands in person matters relating to waterfront and other things.

The Hon. Mr. Pattullo expects to leave on Saturday morning's train and will stop off at Prince George and investigate the town-site situation there. Thereafter he will make his way southwards through the Cariboo country, where other matters demand his attention.

SUICIDE AT PORT ESSINGTON

News was received in town yesterday of a tragic occurrence at the hot springs near Port Essington. The victim was named Ankar Stenersen, who has been around this coast for some time past. He worked at the construction of the drydock here and had also been fishing lately. For some time past he had been afflicted with the hallucination that some person or persons were always after him. He was convinced that they followed him from the north to Prince Rupert, and lately, on his journey to Port Essington to visit some of his friends, at Haysport, he fled to the bush in fear of the same mythical people.

The day after he arrived in Essington he deliberately dug a grave, took a rifle and shot the top of his head off. He had been recently discharged from the mental hospital at New Westminster. The case seemed so clear that Dr. Large, the coroner, did not consider an inquest necessary.

The proceeds of the evening amounted to $53.40.

stitution of a new government in which he and Sir Robert Borden would alone have the say was quite out of the question.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The Hon. "Bob" Rogers was one of those who in Ottawa inflexibly opposed the formation of a coalition government. The nature of his objections would not be hard to seek. One of the chief of these would be that in such an administration, there would be no "Minister of Elections."

The people of Canada will look with great suspicion on the new "whitewashing" commission that has been appointed to investigate into the findings of Mr. Justice Galt in regard to the matter of the Manitoba Agricultural College contracts and the Hon. Robert Rogers' connection therewith. This commission is of the same standing and is of no higher capacity than the Galt Royal Commission. A committee of Parliament would seem to be the proper court to hold such an investigation.

That the appointment of a food controller would have no effect upon prices and that the law of supply and demand is responsible for the high cost of living is the assertion of the Hon. Martin Burrell. Presumably, among these peoples more directly affected by the war than Canada, the appointment of such an official is for merely ornamental purposes. The curious fact remains that in some of the countries who have to import a great portion of their food stuffs, the people there have to pay less for the necessities of life than in Canada, which is a producing and an exporting country.

AT OTTAWA

What has been happening at Ottawa during the past few weeks and what is going to happen during the next few weeks is the subject of much discussion all over the Dominion at the present time. The correspondence between Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Robert Borden on the question of a coalition government is quite interesting. Sir Robert Borden's first proposal was for the formation of a coalition government upon this basis, says the Sun, that outside of the Prime Minister, each of the two political parties should have an equal representation in the Cabinet, and he emphasized the importance of avoiding, if possible, an election during the war.

Later on Sir Robert appears to have withdrawn his objection to a contest during the war, and on being pressed for a clear statement formulated the terms of his proposal as follows:

"That a coalition government should be formed.

"That the military service bill should be passed.

"That a pledge should be given, not to enforce it until a general election.

"That parliament should be dissolved and the coalition government should seek a mandate from the people."

One thing made very clear by Sir Robert's proposal is that conscription should not be enforced until after a general election and that "the coalition government should seek a mandate from the people." It is important to remember these stipulations as they make the methods of the leader of the government abundantly clear. At the same time we may take it that Sir Wilfrid Laurier also favored, and like the premier, will continue to favor the idea of securing a mandate from the people. Whether this can best be done through the medium of a general election, or by a referendum, is probably not a consideration of first-class importance. It is important to remember Sir Robert Borden's very definite stipulation, because if a government made up of both parties could not take the first step towards conscription without a mandate from the electors, it must follow that a government made up of one of the parties, and which has long outlived its term, could be in no better position. It may be assumed, therefore, that conscription without an election or a referendum is not being considered.

The full reasons for Sir Wilfrid's inability to accept the premier's proposals has not been divulged, and will probably not be made known until the whole matter is discussed in parliament. Although the correspondence refers to equal representation it is quite evident that the supposed equality was to be more fanciful than real. The stipulation was that "outside of the prime minister, each of the two political parties should have equal representation." In other words, the equality would be that which exists in a joint stock company where one section controls, and the other is in a permanent minority. Sir Wilfrid may have seriously hesitated to commit his party to an arrangement by which they would become helpless factors in a ready made government in which neither he nor his followers, nor the public for that matter, possessed the least confidence.

Questions of personnel may also have led to considerable disagreement. Indeed Sir Wilfrid's letter contains an interesting allusion in this connection: "At the conference Friday," he writes, "the 1st of June, and again on Monday, the 4th, the possible personnel of a coalition government was considered; some not insuperable difficulties in that personnel were anticipated, and the subject not concluded."

The choice of colleagues seems to have been the subject of two conferences, and even then the matter was not disposed of. This was the very moment, however, which Sir Robert Borden chose for appointing a whitewashing commission to re-hear the charges against Hon. Robert Rogers, whose case had already been disposed of by the Hon. Mr. Justice Galt. That single act, without precedent in political history, must have made it clear to Sir Wilfrid Laurier that Rogers continued to control the Borden Government, that any such thing as the con-

An Army of Internal Bathers

Over half a million bright, keen, up-to-date Canadians and Americans have found that Internal Bathing is more essential to their well-being than External Baths. Have found that, taken occasionally at night, they feel like different people the next morning. No more of that bilious, tired, nervous condition—but, having by Nature's own cleanser, antiseptic warm water, removed all the poisonous waste from the Lower Intestine, they awake thoroughly refreshed by normal sleep, with all their functions acting in healthy accord, bright, happy, clear-headed and confident, eager and capable for the duties of the day.

RUSSIA MUST COPY CANADIAN RAILROADS

That the Canadian system of railroads must be copied by Russia, if that country is to achieve her destiny, was the opinion expressed by Sir George Bury, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, who was on a visit to the coast last week.

Sir George visited Russia recently as a member of a special commission headed by Lord Milner. When he reached England the other members of the party were already in Russia, so he proceeded by rail to the north of Scotland, whence he was conveyed by a fast destroyer to Bergen, in Norway, going from there by rail to Petrograd. He was in that city during the revolution.

He travelled over the principal Russian railroads from Lapland to the Caucasus, accompanied by Russian railroad officials, made a thorough inspection and on his return to England presented comprehensive reports to the government, for which he was warmly thanked by the Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George.

Follow Canada's Example.
 In a recent interview Sir George Bury stated that there was no doubt that after the war Russia would have to build several thousand miles of railway. "Canada," he said, "has ten times more railway mileage per unit of population than has Russia. Then, again, Russia made the mistake of patterning her railway transportation after that of Europe rather than America.

"Traffic in Russia moves vast distances in great bulk. The country lends itself to low grades and easy curvature. If that great country is to achieve the destiny in store for her she will have to come to the large train and large car, because these two factors make for economical transportation, and economical transportation is essential if a producing country of wide distances is to hold her own in the markets of the world.

"Had Russia been equipped with railway transportation, say as in Canada, she would have been able to have played a much greater part in the war."

Hard to Drop Meat?

All depends on what you eat as a substitute. It is a good time to study "food value." You may be eating the wrong foods, the foods that cost most and give the least nutriment. Shredded Wheat Biscuit contains more real, body-building nutriment, pound for pound, than meat, eggs or potatoes and costs much less. Two of these Biscuits with milk and a little fruit make a nourishing meal at a cost of a few cents. Make Shredded Wheat your "meat." A satisfying breakfast on which to start the day's work. It is ready-cooked and ready-to-eat. Made in Canada.

You Can Make Excellent Cake With Fewer Eggs

Just use an additional quantity of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, about a teaspoon, in place of each egg omitted.
 This applies equally well to nearly all baked foods. Try the following recipe according to the new way:

CREAM LAYER CAKE

- | Old Way | New Way |
|---------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| 1 cup sugar | 1 cup sugar |
| 1/2 cup milk | 1 cup milk |
| 2 cups flour | 2 cups flour |
| 2 teaspoons Dr. Price's Baking Powder | 4 teaspoons Dr. Price's Baking Powder |
| 3 eggs | 1 egg |
| 1/2 cup shortening | 2 tablespoons shortening |
| 1 teaspoon flavoring | 1 teaspoon flavoring |

Makes 1 Large 2-Layer Cake

DIRECTIONS—Cream the sugar and shortening together, then mix in the egg. After sifting the flour and Dr. Price's Baking Powder together, two or three times, add it all to the mixture. Gradually add the milk and beat with spoon until you have a smooth pour batter. Add the flavoring. Pour into greased layer cake tins and bake in a moderately hot oven for twenty minutes. This cake is best baked in two layers. Put together with cream filling and spread with white icing.

Of great power, with mingled pathos and gaiety, this play ranks among the finest that have come to Prince Rupert. The Topical Budget shows some of the very latest events, in which President Wilson figures. It is right up to date and is of an especially interesting nature.

ANTICIPATED

At the meeting of the city council last night, Ald. Nelson mentioned that as an honor had been done to one who has left this city in the person of Lieut.-Col. Peck, it would be a good thing for the council to communicate with him and to extend to him congratulations on his being awarded the D. S. O. Lieut. Col. McMorde, continued the alderman, has received the same honor, and I would include in the motion that he be congratulated. I think that a letter should be sent to each of them conveying the congratulations of the council.

Other aldermen spoke in favor of this course, whereupon Mayor McCaffery informed the council that he had already written to both of these gentlemen with congratulations in the name of the city. It was agreed that a formal resolution of congratulations be forwarded to both of the officers.

ASK OTTAWA FOR MORE DATA ON MACHINERY

Victoria, June 11.—While awaiting further details in regard to the plans and specifications of the engines and auxiliary machinery for the ships contracted for in British Columbia by the Imperial Munitions Board, the board's representatives on this coast are negotiating daily with representatives of the British Columbia metal trades firms, and although no definite statement has so far been made, beyond that in all probability 12 sets would be built in the province, assurance has been given that all the auxiliary machinery for the vessels so far contracted for will be built in British Columbia.

The Victoria, Vancouver, Prince Rupert and New Westminster plants have appointed a joint committee to take the matter up with the Munitions Board, of which Mr. Bushby, president of the British Columbia Metal Trades Association, is chairman; Mr. Norman Yarrow, of Yarrow, Limited, being the representative for Victoria.

With regard to the engines the attitude of Mr. Buchart and Capt. Troup is that the British Columbia works will be given the fullest opportunity to build as many as they are able and the helpful manner is highly praised by the members of the Metal Trades Association.

THE NEW SMELTER

At the council meeting last evening, a letter from the Hon. Wm. Sloan, minister of mines, was read, which stated that in the locating and building of the proposed smelter and ore refining works, every consideration will be given to the facts as stated in the communication from the city, and that the fact that Prince Rupert was the centre of a large mining area cannot be gainsaid.
