TURKEY FORMALLY ANNEXED EGYPT, SAYS BERLIN

HEAVY FIGHTING IN FLANDERS FAVORS ALLIES—ROCKEFELLER TO ASSIST WAR SUFFERERS

EGYPT FORMALLY ANNEXED BY TURKEY, SAYS BERLIN

TURKS FEAR RUSSIANS WILL NOT GIVE THEIR AMBASSADOR SAFE CONDUCT—GERMAN CRUISERS ARE NOW ASSISTING TURKEY.

(Special to The Daily News—2:30 P. M.)
London, Nov. 2.—Tewfik Pasha, Turkish ambassador to Britain, has handed his passports today.
Bombard Sebastopol.
Petrograd, Nov. 2.—The Goeben, Breslau and four Turkish cruisers bombarded the shore near Sebastopol yesterday, inflicting great damage.
British Vessel Burned.
London, Nov. 2.—A Petrograd report says the British vessel Mermaid was burned during the Turkish bombardment of Sebastopol.

MORE CATHEDRALS FOR THE KAISER TO BOMBARD.
On the left is the Church of St. Paul at Ostend. On the right is the Cathedral of St. Bavo in Ghent, now occupied by Germans. It dates from the ninth century and contains many fine examples of the old masters. Belgium was famed for its cathedrals.

ENGLISH CHANNEL MENACED BY GERMANY.
The map shows Ostend, whose occupation by the Germans was short. It is Belgium's only free seaport, Antwerp being on the Scheldt, with the outlet in Holland. The map also shows Dunkirk, Calais and Boulogne with their proximity to England. The black diamonds in England denote British naval stations, the black circles with white centers denote airship stations.

INVASION OF BRITAIN BY THE GERMANS IS NOT A DREAM

NAVAL EXPERTS THINK PLAN IS FEASIBLE—WHAT WILL HAPPEN IF GERMANS LAND IN ENGLAND.

London, Oct. 31.—The possibility of an invasion by a German force continues to be the topic of general discussion here. H. W. Wilson, the naval expert, outlines, in this morning's Daily Mail, a possible German plan of invasion. Once they have captured the French coast, he says, they might lay two lines of mines across the Channel, from Cape Gris Nez to Dungeness and from Ostend to Deal, thus enclosing the Straits of Dover and hampering or preventing the patrol of the Straits by British warships. This mine area could be protected on the Continental side by monster coast guns and submarines. Flat bottom pontoons would be moved by canal to the coast and then towed across the Straits with troops by motor launches, when preparations were completed. The torpedo boats of the German fleet might be expected to move out, with the best and most modern ships, to meet the British grand fleet, while the other battleships would proceed to the Straits of Dover to cover the landing. Mr. Wilson, however, maintains that the Germans, after the sacrifice of a hundred thousand men killed and wounded in the fortnight's fighting in their attempt to take Calais, are apparently no nearer the execution of the first stage of their project.
Mr. H. G. Wells, in The Times, declares he does not believe in a raid, but maintains that the surplus men, after all available for systematic military operations have been taken, should be enrolled and armed. The ordinary people are going to fight if they find German soldiers in England, one morning, and he declares: "If we cannot fight with rifles, we shall fight with shot-guns. If we cannot fight according to the rules of war, apparently made by the Germans for the restriction of British military experts, we will fight according to our inner light. Many men and not a few women will turn out to shoot the Germans. If experts attempt any pedantic interference, we will shoot the experts. If the raiders, cut off by sea from their supports, ill-equipped as they certainly will be, and against odds, are so badly advised as to try terror-stricken reprisals on the Belgian pattern, we irregulars will massacre every German we can put gun to. We shall hang the officers and shoot the men. A German raid on England will, in fact, not be fought. It will be lynched."

ENEMY REPULSED ALL ALONG THE LINE ON EAST AND CENTER

WE HAVE MADE PROGRESS IN THE VOSGES MOUNTAINS AND IN ARGONNE FOREST AND CAPTURED THE HEIGHTS OF VERSINNES.

(Special to The Daily News—2:45 P. M.)
Paris, Nov. 2.—An official bulletin issued today says that in Belgium nothing new is reported. During the day we repulsed attacks by the enemy in the vicinity of Lips, Lequesnoy, En-Saint-Léger and Vailly on the Aisne, and in Bois de la Grurie in the Argonne forest district.
To the north of Houain we have made slight progress.
In the Vosges, through offensive movements, we have taken the Heights of Versinnes, De Sainte Marie.

GERMANS HAVE ENORMOUS LOSSES AND FORCED TO RETIRE

BELIEVED THAT LILLE IS EVACUATED NOW FOR SURE—STRONG PRESSURE OF ALLIES FORCING THE GERMANS BACK.

(Special to The Daily News—3 P. M.)
London, Nov. 2.—(Latest)—A correspondent of The Times in northern France telegraphs that the Allies have penetrated to the north and east of Lille, which he believes has been evacuated by the Germans, and there is good reason to believe that it has now been occupied by the Allies.
A Holland report says that after enormous losses the Germans have been driven farther back along the coast and the Allies have reached Leffinghe, three and half miles south by southwest of Ostend.
Germans to Withdraw.
Paris, Nov. 3.—An official bulletin says the Allies' troops are still determinedly meeting the latest vigorous offensive movement of the Germans. They expect an early general and definite withdrawal of the Germans from the right bank of the Yser. The German attack on the French line between Dixmude and Lys was continued with great violence yesterday but the French made some progress.
GERMAN CASUALTIES.
Berlin, Nov. 2.—The German casualty list last week amounted to 62,000 men, a total to date of 420,000.

J. D. ROCKEFELLER WILL AID WAR SUFFERERS

(Special to The Daily News—3 P. M.)
New York, Nov. 2.—John D. Rockefeller is determined to employ his resources for the relief of non-combatants in countries afflicted by the war, and stands ready to give millions if necessary for the purpose.
This was announced by J. D. Rockefeller, Jr. The Rockefeller Foundation will send a commission to Europe in a few days to report how, when and where aid can be rendered most effectively.
At a cost of $275,000 he has already chartered a ship and loaded 4,000 tons of provisions for the relief of the starving Belgians. The ship will sail tomorrow for Rotterdam.

McMORDIE APARTMENTS.

The McMordie Apartments, on Second Avenue, at the junction of First, Second and Third Avenues, are completed, and ready for tenants. Each suite has three rooms and a bath of its own and a range. The rent, too, has been reduced to $17 and $20 per month. Bainter & Collart are agents.

TURKS DO NOT TRUST RUSSIANS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 2.—Turkey has announced that Russian consuls will not be permitted to leave until assurances of safe conduct are given Turkish consuls from Russia, according to a cable received by the Washington government today.

"PEACE ON EARTH" IS SUBJECT FOR SERMON

"Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men" was the subject of Rev. H. R. Grant's sermon last night, and in spite of the contradictory circumstances his point was well taken. He showed how Christianity was not responsible for the bloodshed, since the most Christian people in the world had nothing to do with it and the most Christian nations had to be dragged into it.
He then outlined the subversion of the text in the German philosophy of force. The people had become so imbued with this idea that when it came to considering the rights of others it trampled them underfoot. The Germans cannot understand the world's objections to their treatment of Belgium. This teaching had also made them dishonest. The balance of trade due Switzerland was thrown into the German war fund and Switzerland told they must wait.
The Christian way of securing peace was through perfect understanding and trust. Secretary W. J. Bryan, for the United States, had just signed the eighteenth treaty with foreign powers, each of which agreed to submit their disputes to arbitration, the decision to be given after the expiration of a year. This allowed time for the local feeling to disappear.
Mr. Grant has a full house every night and is making a splendid impression on his people.

BRITISH CRUISER SUNK BY SUBMARINE

(Special to The Daily News.)
London, Nov. 2.—The British light cruiser Hermes has been sunk by a German submarine in the Straits of Dover. This is the official announcement made here. Nearly all the officers and men were saved.
The Hermes was built in 1899. She belonged to the Highflyer type and was of 5,600 tons displacement. Her armament consisted of eleven 6-inch guns, nine 12-pounders, three 3-pounders and machine guns and two torpedo tubes.

IRISH FUSILIER DIES IN LOCAL HOSPITAL

The death occurred this morning, at the hospital, of Private Lewis Stevens, of the Irish Fusiliers. He took sick on October 12 and was operated on on the twenty-fifth but continued to grow worse. His mother arrived here from Vancouver last week and was in constant attendance. He was only 24 years of age. Peritonitis is believed to have been the trouble.

OIL TANKS EXCAVATION.

Work is getting well under way on the Imperial Oil Works at Hays Creek. The ground has been broken and tracks laid to carry it away. A standard gauge track is being placed on the right-of-way for this purpose and may be left there permanently if it is ever decided to connect up with the cold storage plant. At present it extends only about half-way from Hays Creek to the cold storage.

CRIMINAL JOKE PLAYED IN NAME OF HALLOWEEN

Somebody in Prince Rupert has a coarse notion of what a Halloween trick is. Saturday night the delivery wagon of Stalker & Wells was taken from the stables of the Pony Express, McBride Street, hauled down to the cliff near the city lighting plant and thrown over. It must have fallen fully ten feet, landing right on its back, crushing down the awning covering and wrecking the wagon badly. The cliff there is full of big sharp rocks and a more destructive place could not have been chosen. A man who could deliberately do a deed like that must be all black inside with a chain round his neck ready for the millstone which he himself is creating for his own destruction.

EDITORIALS

It will be remembered that a few years ago when this country was visited by a modified money panic it was discovered that the Canadian Banks had shipped every available cent to New York, while the Canadian people suffered for the want of it. In view of these facts it will not be surprising to find that the Canadian banks were again playing the same game when war was declared and as a consequence got thirty-four millions of good Canadian money tied up when the New York Stock Exchange closed its doors. As this money is still tied up, Wall Street not having opened, it will be understood how necessary it was for the banks to receive government support and perhaps gives a reason for the tightness of money in spite of government assistance.

Several years past a campaign has been carried on to show how fortunate Canada was in having such a strong and flexible banking system. Strong no doubt it is, but recent experience has shown that it is certainly not flexible and one of these days Canada will wake up to find out that she is in the grip of a real Money Trust. Whether our statesmen will be strong enough to take this business in hand at once as the United States has done it is yet impossible to say but the day is not distant when this must be done. Not only have the banks too much power but the whole system is wrong. In finance, like in government, centralization is absolutely wrong in an enlightened age and this is what we find in our banks. Not only that, but a system of branches should not be tolerated for it puts the whole country at the mercy of a few head offices.

When the Canadian system is compared with even the American it appears to great disadvantage. Across the line a bank is not allowed to have branches. Consequently the owner of the bank usually lives where his bank is situated and usually has all his interests there. Besides that, he is quite familiar with all the local conditions and is a much better judge of local credit than a general manager a thousand miles away. In Canada some financial magnate in Montreal gets the "creeps" and he immediately wires his bank branches all over the West to pull in, without any consideration of local conditions. Again, he may see a chance to place a big sum of money in New York at a big rate of interest and withholds legitimate credit all over Canada in order to gratify his passion for gain. Local complexion and competition is what is wanted to straighten out the banks of Canada.

A lumber dealer in Vancouver a week or so ago had an opportunity to dispose of a large shipment of logs to an American firm. Before he could move them, however, he must pay for them in cash. The banks of Vancouver flatly refused to advance the money even for a few days and knowing that the sale was already made. Consequently the dealer was compelled to cross over to Seattle and secure the necessary funds to do business in Canada. That very transaction shows why American towns spring up faster than those in Canada. The American banker on account of his local knowledge is a better judge of conditions and can do more for a city than a bank with its headquarters some thousand miles away.

FLOWER GIVES UP FIGHT FOR LIBERTY

Aged Promoter, Broken in Health, Money Gone, Pleads Guilty Larceny Charge.

New York, Oct. 30.—Dr. Richard C. Flower, promoter of mining enterprises, who, after being indicted here on a charge of larceny growing out of his transactions, evaded arrest from 1903 until he was caught in Toronto last Wednesday, pleaded guilty in the Supreme Court to two indictments charging him with grand larceny. He was remanded until next week for sentence.

Broken in health, old and penniless, the man who is said to have made millions through mining swindles, declared he did not care to fight conviction any longer. When Justice Davis told him to consider his action carefully, he replied: "I have considered. I have spent all the money I made in trying to get out of being obliged to do what I now do voluntarily."

Justice Davis, while accepting the plea of guilty, appointed counsel for the aged man, and advised him to consult with the lawyer before being arraigned for sentence.

Dr. Flower was indicted on five counts by a grand jury in New York in 1903, when he was charged with the larceny of various sums from women whom he induced to invest in his mining enterprises.

The showers that fall here merely chill you, they do not muss you up and kill you. But over there the rains are snorters, it showers bombshells hurled from mortars.

CHARACTER SKETCH GENERAL VON KLUCK

Only German Leader Who Has Risen From the Ranks.

The prominence of the name of General von Kluck in the cable dispatches of the first two months of the war has served to impress the American public with a belief in his generalship; and this in spite of the fact that very little has been published concerning this game and clever warrior. The only source of information seems to be "Wer Ist's"—the German "Who's Who." There one learns that Von Kluck is 68 years old, born of a middle-class family, and a soldier since his nineteenth year. He fought in the war with Austria in 1866 and in the Franco-Prussian War. At the outbreak of this war he was in command at Koenigsberg; since then he has won the attention and the admiration of all observers by his masterful advance on Paris through Belgium. A celebrated military expert in The Netherlands is quoted as asserting that Von Kluck is more than the "buffer general" that some have called him since he has withstood the Allies' major attacks. In a dispatch to the New York Herald the Dutch general is credited with the statement that Von Kluck is in reality the Kaiser's only hope in the west. There are too many princes, he says, in command, inexperienced, with an utter disregard for human life, and unacquainted with the men with whom they are fighting. Outside of these, he insists, the German generals now leading the Kaiser's armies are, for the most part, men who have been for some or many years on the retired list. There is left none equal to Von Kluck, who, says the Hollander, would have achieved lasting fame already in his intended capture of Paris, had not the plans of the General Staff been modified. Of his personality and the part it must play in the present situation, we learn: He is a fine officer, tall, thin, and truly Latin in aspect, except for his spike helmet and his tooth-brush mustache. He owes his rank neither to noble birth nor to intrigue. In fact, he reached the rank of colonel before the Emperor bestowed nobility on him, and he apparently did not care very much about being "Von Kluck" after having been for so many years simply "Kluck."

The general is thoroughly popular with his soldiers, partly because he treats them well, partly because they recognize him as a real chief, a true leader. He is a man of few words. His writings on strategy make him an authority—academically, of course,—on military science.

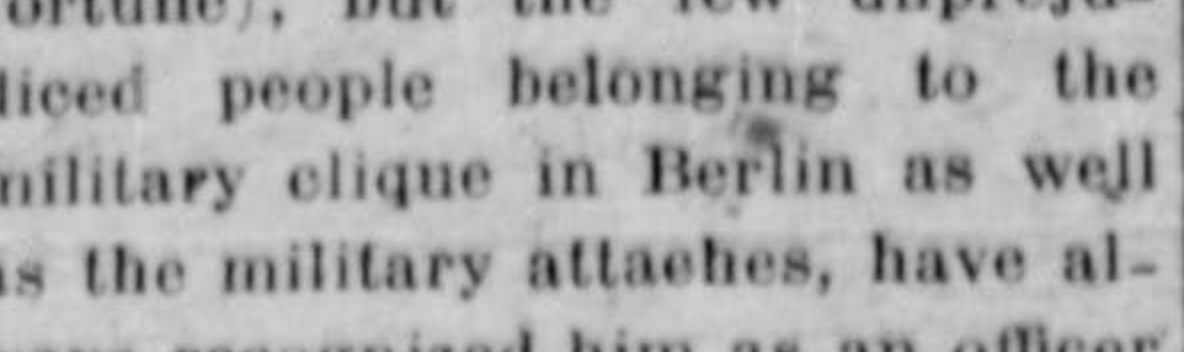

The court ignores him because he is "not born," and because he has only been a few years allowed to write the prefix "von" before his name; and they have given him a rude nickname "General von Ungluck" (General Misfortune), but the few unprejudiced people belonging to the military clique in Berlin as well as the military attaches, have always recognized him as an officer of outstanding ability.

He is in many respects, however, an exception in the German officer corps, and should he prove unequal to his rising reputation, what would Germany do and to whom would she give the command of her army?

I am told that such veterans as General von Bernhardt and General von Pritwitz und Gaffron have been approached and asked if they would consent to place their sword, however rusty it may be, at the disposal of the Fatherland. Even the veteran Field Marshall von Haesseler, who is 84, has been asked; and it seems probable that they will all accept any command that may be tendered them.—Literary Digest.

JUDGE URGES ENLISTMENT.

London, One., Nov. 2.—Mr. Justice Lennox, at the opening of the Fall Assizes here, urged the grand jurors and all present in the court room to further enlistment for the war by all means within their power. The European conflict he termed a righteous struggle, and counselled that Germany's resources be not underestimated.

LIEUT.-COL. J. E. CONOE, Of Welland, Ont., who commands an infantry brigade of 3,000 men in the First Canadian Contingent now in England.

ENGINEER WAS FIRST SURVIVOR SIGHTED

Chief John Munro Was Brandishing a Rifle in Reply to Greetings to Relief Boat.

Chief Engineer John Munro, the man who was left in charge of the Wrangell Island camp after Captain Bartlett started out on his long journey across the drift ice with Nome as his objective point, was greeted with many a strong handshake when he came ashore from the Bear at the Esquimaux naval station wharf.

The Karluk engineer modestly refused to discuss the awful privations that he and his comrades have gone through since leaving Victoria last summer. Munro was the first man sighted by Captain Olak Swenson and his rescuers aboard the King and Winge, when that vessel was being forced through the ice as the party was approaching Rogers Harbor.

All three had been living on walrus hide for several days. Maurer and Templeman could not have survived much longer as they were very weak and had to be assisted aboard the vessel.

PRINZIP AND COMRADES ARE DECLARED GUILTY IN TRIAL AT SARAJEVO

London, Oct. 31.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Rome gives the following, received from Sarajevo, Bosnia, under date of Monday: "Gavrio Prinzip, the assassin, and Grabez, a student, Nedeljo Gabrinovic, and twenty-one of Prinzip's accomplices, were found guilty of treason today for the killing of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife."

"ROLL UP!"

The call for enlistment was greatly aided in Britain by patriotic songs. To the tune of "The British Grenadiers," a lot of people have been singing a song by W. M. L. Hutchinson, of which the first and last verses are:

"Roll up the war map of Europe!" The German Kaiser cried, "For I'm the new Napoleon. An' England's hands are tied!" But another sort of rollin' up is comin' into play—"Roll up! Roll up!" sez Kitchener, "An' we're rollin' up all day."

The boys in Toronto are singing the following to the tune of "Tipperary": "It's a long way to St. Helena, it's a long way to go, it's a long way to St. Helena, where the Kaiser's bound to go. Good-bye, Kaiserin, farewell Germany; it's a long, long way to St. Helena, where the Kaiser will be."

PLAN TO DEAL WITH FOES IN CANADA

Registry Offices and Concentration Camps for Austro-Germans.

Ottawa, Nov. 2.—A plan to deal with the Germans and Austrians in Canada was adopted by the cabinet at a special meeting held Saturday. An order-in-council was passed, which will be signed by the Governor-General today, when an official statement will be made by Sir George Foster, acting Premier.

It is believed the scheme provides for the establishment of registry offices in all large centers, and in places where there are colonies of alien enemies. They will all be required to register. Those who are not of military age will be given permits to leave the country if they wish, or to move freely.

As there are hundreds of Austrians and Germans unable to get employment, and yet not allowed to leave the country, it is felt that they must not be permitted to starve, and to become a burden on municipalities. Concentration camps will be established at various points, where they can be fed, and when possible put to work.

The men would be put at work clearing the bush and culling lumber, which could be used for needy settlers in Alberta and Saskatchewan. This is not official, but it is understood it is along these lines the government is working.

THREE THINGS TO BE AVOIDED

There are three things Canadians should avoid: First, letting their fears run away with their fancies and foster panic among their fellows; second, abusing one another during the conflict for the Empire's failure to be ready for a worldwide struggle; and third, comparing the relative merits of the soldiery of the allies to the discredit of either British or French troops.

VISITS LONDON TO STUDY CONDITIONS

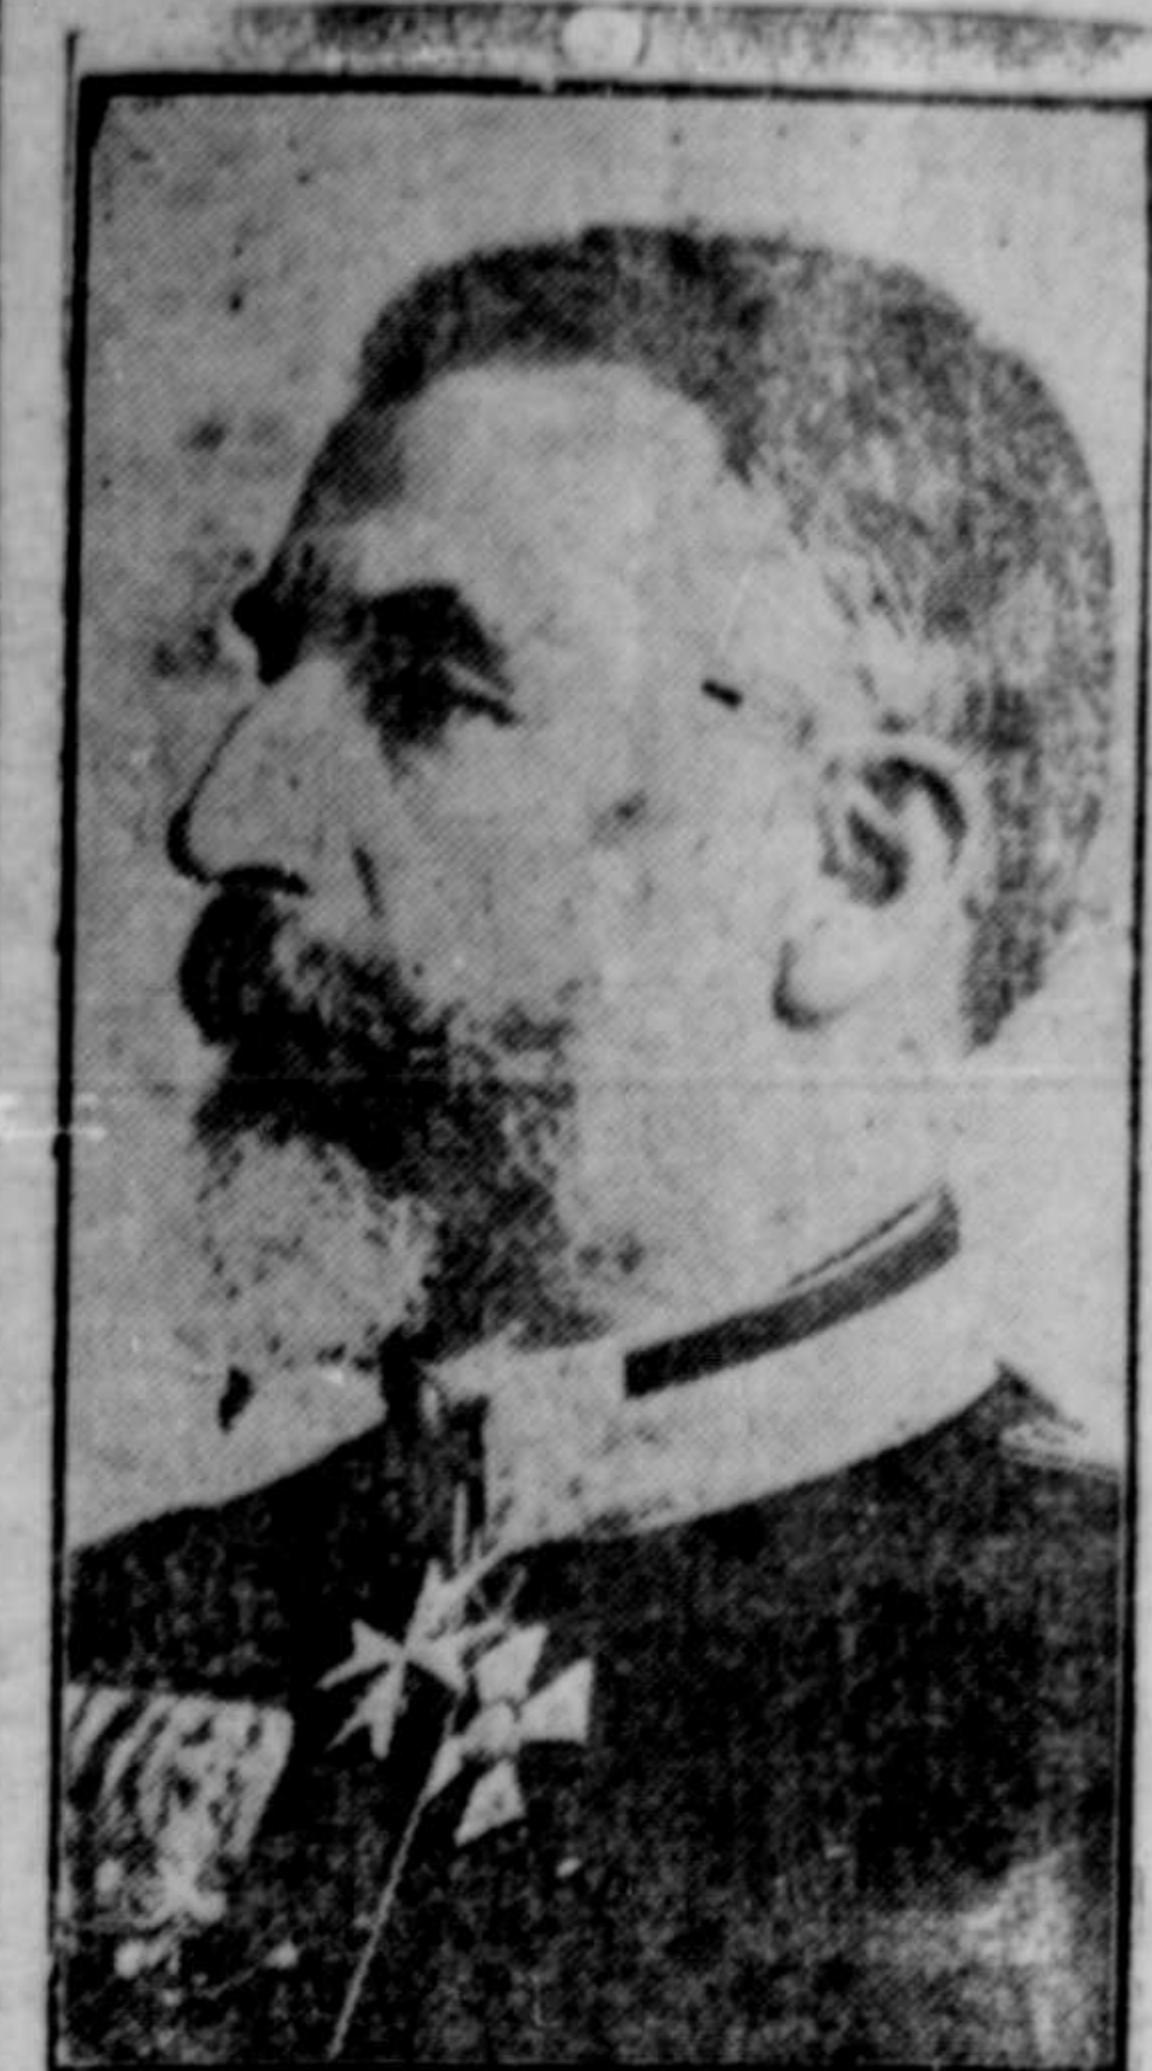

Sir Richard McBride, the Premier, Sailed from New York a Week Ago—Absent Three Weeks.

Vancouver, Oct. 30.—The Premier, Sir Richard McBride, sailed from New York on Saturday for London. He will be absent about three weeks.

During his stay in the metropolis, Sir Richard will make a study of the financial situation in its bearing upon present conditions affecting British Columbia. The war having given an entirely new aspect to questions involving the introduction of new capital for development enterprises, it is felt that, inasmuch as the whole future of this province depends upon the successful consummation of an infinite variety of large projects, a number of which are already on hand, it is important that first-hand information should be obtained in London, the money centre of the world.

Sir Richard, who left for the east some three weeks ago, spent a portion of his time at Ottawa, and also paid a visit to New York and Montreal. Prior to sailing from New York on Saturday he telegraphed to Hon. W. J. Bowser, acting premier, that all the necessary preliminaries had been attended to in connection with the Federal loan of $6,000,000 to enable construction work to continue on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

A German submarine officer tore up and trampled under foot the British flag carried by the steamer Glitra. However, there are other British flags left, and he will see some of them above his reach if he lives.

LANGFORD IN FOR A LIVELY BOUT
To Box Twenty Rounds With Willis in Los Angeles Soon.

Sam Langford, of Boston, who threatens to start a little monopoly in restraint of the trade of "white hoping," will meet a foe-man worthy of his steel on November 13. On that day he will cross gloves with Harry Willis, the negro from New Orleans, at Jimmy Coffroth's arena in San Francisco in a twenty-round bout.

Although it has been denied, these men were to have boxed in Los Angeles on November 10, but the match was declared off pending the result of the Smith-Langford bout in Boston. If reports are true, Smith and the "Tar Baby" were to have met in a return battle on the Coast, but when Langford cut loose and won, the plan was abandoned.

Willis, according to one who has seen him work, is not to be despised. He is as big as "Batling" Jim Johnson, but a much better man. He is fast, knows how to hit with either hand and can box cleverly.

The startling announcement has been made that Ad Wolgast will soon start active training for his match with Freddie Welsh. Seems reasonable that he should train with a chance to regain his lost laurels.
