KING IS DEAD—LONG LIVE THE KING!

The circle around the Council grows smaller every meeting. Last night there were only three members present and there was almost a tear in every eye. Not only had they lost their mayor but their acting mayor had as well deserted them. While it seemed as if they had made up their minds that it was time to appoint any more mayors less they, too, would blow up and disappear. Yesterday, City Clerk Woods arose in ominous silence and proclaimed, "The King is dead; long live the King," or words to that effect, and before you could say "Robinson" Alderman Kerr nominated as acting Mayor in his many bearing was soon riding over the councils of the city with seeming dignity.

To the Electors of Prince Rupert

Ladies and Gentlemen,—As a protest to the way in which civic matters have been conducted of late and more particularly the Montreal trip fiasco I have resigned my position as Alderman of this city and offer myself as candidate for Mayor in the forthcoming bye-election. If you see fit to elect me I believe I shall be able to conduct the affairs of this city with competence and dignity.
Yours faithfully,
THOS. McCLEYMONT.

ARRIVALS BY THE PRINCE GEORGE THIS MORNING

Amongst the first class passengers arriving on the Prince George this morning were the following: James D. McBurney, W. Greenleaf and wife, R. C. Schael, F. E. Fey and wife, S. McGill, J. A. Rogers, John Hobin, C. W. Newton, Joseph R. Mathews, Mr. Amoss, Mr. Klontz and wife, J. Moen, E. Pearson, Frank H. Franks, Mr. Graham, Thos. R. Biggs, W. A. Rowan, T. Best, A. E. Best, Mrs. McNab, H. P. Jones, Jr., W. J. Pascoe, S. Raney, T. Wallace, Mr. Shortridge, Mr. Henderson, Mr. Whippis and wife, Miss Ostrander, Mr. McDonald, F. A. Fisher, Mrs. Margaret Isbester, Mrs. Muir, J. Enomoto, L. Moskersten, J. H. McLean, J. Jones, J. D. Ormsby, Mrs. F. H. Robinson and two children, Miss J. A. McBean, F. H. Worlock, D. Heal, E. J. Dawn and wife, Mrs. A. Campbell, M. C. Drew and N. D. Catham and wife.

SWAPS CLERKS.

A. Brooksbanks has been attached to the city electrician's office on trial for thirty days in addition to his job of city purchasing agent. The city engineer inferred that they would be able to carry the weight of that department for a little while without Mr. Brooksbanks's aid. The former clerk to the city electrician was Mr. E. H. Patterson but he got a chance to go back to the Cold Storage Company, where he was prior to going to the city a few months ago, and he went believing that the City Hall full of politicians is more of a "cold storage" than the one at Seal Cove.

CITY AUDITORS PAY.

The city auditor, W. E. Hodges, presented his bill for the year last night. It amounted to $2,100 after a couple of hundred were knocked off for luck. He offered to do the work next year for $1,600. The extra price this year came about on account of revising the city system or, as others say, by reporting on whether there could be a reduction in the City Hall staff or a cut in the salaries, both of which he reported in the negative. It has not come out yet as to who asked for these reports.

MORE EASIMONY.

Friday's election will cost the city well over $100, including $25 for returning officer and $7.50 deputy returning officer. But there will be another election the following week and the costs will be doubled. City Clerk Woods was appointed returning officer and no doubt he wishes that the aldermen would keep on resigning, for it means $25 a clip. Of course, the clerk has extra work thereby and no doubt earns it—but that makes it none the less welcome. Somebody has suggested that Alderman Maitland, Nicol and Kerr should pay the cost of this extra election for if they had done their duty and attended Saturday's special Council meeting there would be no need of an extra election. Others say why not make ex-Mayor Newton pay for it as his emissary had done all in his power to prevent a quorum being there.

"BLACK BOX" NIGHT AT MAJESTIC THEATRE

The fourth episode of Oppenheim's great serial, "The Black Box," will be shown at the Majestic tonight and tomorrow. An entertaining drama entitled "On Suspicion" and "The Skeleton," a farce comedy, along with the usual up-to-date Animated Weekly will complete a strong bill.

T. H. Johnston and ninety-six others petitioned the Council last night to have a road put in connecting Seventh Avenue, Section 7, with the cold storage.

GREAT BASEBALL COMEDY AT WEST HOLME TONIGHT

At this season of the year the baseball fan begins to show the first signs of returning life and to take an interest in things pertaining to the great American national game. A timely picture entitled "Hearts and Diamonds" will be shown at the Westholme tonight in which a game of baseball between two rural teams forms the centre of attraction. Needless to say, this is a comedy and an excruciatingly funny one at that. The famous "Bunny" takes a hand in it and the things he does would make a horse laugh. There are two full reels of clean wholesome fun with an appealing little love story between "Bunny" and Flora Finch thrown in for good measure.

The management of the Westholme is making a very important announcement this week to the effect that on Wednesday and Thursday, April 14 and 15, there will be a special five-reel Paramount feature shown entitled "The Eagle's Mate," with Mary Pickford as star. Further announcements will be made later.

BEEHIVE A FOOTBALL.

The cottage for the hydro-electric employee at Shawatians is turned into a football. A week ago the Board of Works was given authority to proceed with the work. Last night they reported back and asked the Council to decide whether it should be done by contract or day labor. Alderman Montgomery moved that they do it by day labor with a maximum cost of $1,060. This was not seconded, and it was finally decided to refer it back to the Board of Works for estimates as to cost. In the meantime the future occupants must enjoy love in a log cabin.

MCCLEYMONT RESIGNS.

The first business of last evening's Council was to accept the resignation of Alderman McCleymont, who has decided to become a candidate for Mayor in the approaching bye-elections. Alderman Montgomery moved and Alderman Beveridge seconded it that "it be accepted and that no fine be imposed." This passed.

TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT SWEEPS OVER THE STATE OF ILLINOIS

MORE THAN HALF THE COUNTIES GO DRY, MANY FOR THE FIRST TIME—CHICAGO ELECTS A REPUBLICAN FOR MAYOR AND A NEGRO IN THE CITY COUNCIL.

(Special to The Daily News.)
Chicago, April 7.—Yesterday was a great day for the temperance movement in Illinois. The result of an election held there is that 55 out of 102 of the counties in the state went dry. In Centralia, which has been wet for sixty years, thirty-eight saloons were voted out.

The election in Chicago resulted in William Hale Thompson, a Republican, being chosen Mayor. He secured 61 per cent of the women's votes. For the first time in the history of the city, a negro, Oscar DePriest, was elected to the City Council.

LIBERTY AHEAD

According to the Morning Journal the Conservatives believe they have all the voters on the Islands ear-marked and tabulated so that they are sure of their votes. As a matter of fact, this is just in line with the policy carried out for the last few years. The political bosses have persistently intimidated the voters until they did not even possess their own souls. They were candidly told that if a certain number of votes for their candidates were not forthcoming at the election they would get no road work in that district. Now, however that the machine has been broken on the rocks the people are beginning to hold up their heads and imagine that they are alive again. "McBride's Day Is Done" and Bully Bowser is to be banished so everybody is beginning to rejoice and they will vote solid for the Liberal candidate, T. D. Pattullo.

KEEP 50,000 CANADIANS IN FIRING LINE A YEAR

If War Office Needs More What is Necessary Will Be Voted.

Ottawa, April 6.—"It is proposed to keep 50,000 Canadians in the firing line throughout the whole year if necessary," is the announcement of General Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia, made when the war appropriation bill was passed by Parliament recently. "If the British War Office decides that this number should be increased to 75,000 or more, this will be done, and more money will be required." "And more will be voted," commented Mr. F. F. Pardee, the chief Liberal whip, amid cheers.

COURT OF REVISION IS MEETING TODAY

The Court of Revision met in the City Hall today, Acting Mayor George Kerr presiding. The other members of the court are Aldermen Edge, Beveridge, Montgomery and Nicol, the last two being chosen last night to replace the ex-Mayor and ex-Alderman Morrissey. Mr. deGex, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce; Mr. Clancey, of the Bank of Montreal, and Mr. Broderick, of the Union Bank, were the chief objectors to the assessment, although there were many others of less prominence. Mr. deGex maintained that the assessment should be reduced 75 per cent; others said 50 per cent. They based their argument on the revenue produced. The corner leased by the Bank of Commerce takes in $1,200 per year and it is assessed at $50,000. Mr. Patmore, speaking to this, said 75 per cent reduction would bring it to where the revenue was an investment. The Bank of Montreal corner is rented at $150 per month. In order to make this a reasonable revenue it should be assessed at much less than its present assessment of $49,000.

The Merchants Bank corner was leased at $125 per month and assessed at $90,000. Mr. Patmore contended that we must get down to a basis of revenue for our Continued on Page Four.)

To the Electors

Ladies and Gentlemen,—Being an Aldermanic candidate in the approaching municipal bye-election, I beg to announce my policy as standing for a square deal for the wealth producers of the city.
Respectfully,
GEORGE B. CASEY.

To the Electors

Ladies and Gentlemen: Requested by a large number of citizens, I have consented to offer myself as a candidate for Alderman for the election to take place on the 9th inst. Your vote and influence are hereby respectfully solicited.

 Better known as "Hooks," for years a member of the New York Giants' pitching staff, who has been appointed manager of the Jersey City team of the International League.

LIBERALS FOUGHT FOR BRITISH PREFERENCE

The offer of the Liberals at Ottawa to withdraw all opposition to a new tariff, provided the clause increasing the duties on imports from the Motherland was dropped, secured scant consideration in the House of Commons from the members of the Borden government. It will be more justly dealt with and more favorably regarded by the electorate should it become one of the issues in a general election. Behind the government stand not a few men who are as strongly opposed to the importation of goods from Great Britain as from the United States or any other foreign competing country. They know that under normal conditions the duties on British goods could not have been increased without serious protest from the mass of the Canadian people, and they have done and still are doing all they can to mask the protectionist features of the increase behind the idea that it is not a tariff measure, but a war-time necessity based entirely upon the need for more revenue.

In offering to withdraw the amendment, which was regarded by the government as a motion of want of confidence, provided the taxation upon British goods was permitted to remain as it had been before Mr. White's budget was brought down, the Hon. Geo. P. Graham spoke for Canadian Liberalism. His words should have the widest possible publicity, not only in Canada, but in Great Britain, where there must be sore disappointment over an increase in the Canadian duties upon British goods at the present time of stress and strain. Mr. Graham said, in part:

"The fact remains that to the extent of 5 per cent it will be more difficult to do business with Great Britain after this proposed legislation becomes law than it was before. Let me put it this way to the Minister: Great Britain is giving us $150,000,000, the interest on which at 4 1/2 per cent is $6,500,000. We import from the Motherland about $133,000,000 worth of goods yearly, the duties on which at 5 per cent would amount to $6,550,000. There is, therefore, but a slight difference between the interest we are going to pay the Motherland on the money we are getting from her and the value of the barrier we are placing against British trade. That is, we say to the Motherland: We want your money and we will pretend to pay you interest, but we will put up a barrier against your trade which will enable us to get the money back from you.

"At a time when we have as our allies the great nations of the world—Great Britain is not our ally; Great Britain is ourselves—is it a time to take such a course as this? The world is largely controlled by sentiment. Is it a time for the Dominion of Canada, whose men are fighting side by side with the sons of the Mother Country, to put up trade barriers against Great Britain, who is supplying us with money? The Minister of Finance himself told us that we could not get our money except by the consent of the British government. When our sons are fighting side by side with Tommy Atkins in the trenches, is that the time for the daughter to put up a trade barrier against the great mother of the household? Even if my honorable friend were right—and I do not admit for a moment that he is—are the interests of Canada which might be served by these proposals paramount to the great object lesson that would be given to the world at the present time if, while compelled to raise taxation against the goods coming from other countries, we should not increase the taxation against Britain, who is bearing so large a part of the burden of the world's war at the present time? The Finance Minister ought to see to it—and this is the gist of the amendment to the Right Honorable Leader—that the tariff against Great Britain be not raised at the present time. I have not consulted with my leader, but I think I am safe in making the proposition that if the Finance Minister will agree not to raise this barrier against trade with Great Britain at the present time we will withdraw the proposed amendment."

The offer was not accepted. In the division that followed the Conservatives were lined up solidly in favor of the increase of duties on British goods. There is still a final court of appeal, before which the case must come. Whether the government goes to the country this year or next, Liberals will insist upon placing the facts before the electors, Sir Wilfrid Laurier's amendment deprecating the increase of taxation upon British goods represents one of the cardinal principles of Liberalism in Canada. Upon this principle the party takes its stand, and for it Liberals will fight, no matter who the assailant of British preference may be.—Toronto Globe.

EDITORIALS

One thing stands out conspicuous and insistent in all this sordid and shameless mess of graft and selfishness at Ottawa: that one thing is the supreme national necessity for an investigation into each and every department involved in the war supplies scandals. That investigation must be impartial and thorough. There must be no shielding of any man. If any man's conduct has been crooked he deserves no pity. If he talked "patriotism" on the platform and "did" graft in his factory or through his office he is the less to be pitied, even as the hypocrite is more contemptible than the crook. If any man has been merely "weax" his exposure may warn other mere weaklings away from Big Business.

same political ideals and ethical standards. Will the Ethiopian change his morals even if he seems to change his skin? . . .

One thing more: has not the time come for honorable and capable manufacturers and business firms to interfere and make public protest against nefarious business of this vulture brood of middlemen who, without taking business risks, and often without either business standing or capital, have secured government contracts, made honest business their servitor, and by their graft brought Canada's commercial honor into disgrace before the world? If the motto "Made in Canada" is not to become a by-word and a hissing, Canada's uncompromised manufacturers must interfere.—The Toronto Globe.

One other thing: the firms that have proved their incapacity or their unwillingness or honest failure to manufacture for the government honest goods at honest prices ought not be allowed to go on robbing the country, endangering the lives of Canadian soldiers, and making the good name of Canada a rank offence in all the business world. The government is already highly blameworthy in that, as the sworn evidence shows, some of the firms have gone on, month after month, manufacturing soldiers' boots by the thousand pairs on bad models and out of materials condemned by the governments own experts as "shoddy" and "rotten." The soldiers are still being supplied with those condemned boots, and the country will be expected to pay for all this villainy out of the taxes of the people. In itself that thing means complicity in crime.

WAR IS NOT A CHARACTER BUILDER

You can hardly go amiss by pointing at random to any young, healthy man in any crowd and saying, "He will make a good soldier." To say that he will give a satisfactory account of himself under the much more trying conditions of ordinary life is a very different matter. To say that war develops heroism and character is the greatest nonsense. What it develops is blind obedience to a shoulder strap. A man meets twenty situations in civil life that really try his character to every one he meets in war.

More than 2,000 years ago a Greek dramatist made one of his women characters exclaim: "They say, while they fight with the spear, we, in our homes, lead a life without danger. They say amiss; for I would rather thrice endure the shock of arms than once bring forth a child." So would any one else who is sufficiently informed of the two conditions to judge between them.—Saturday Evening Post.

A third thing: it is almost an insult to the intelligence of the people of Canada for the government to ask authority to spend $100,000,000 of the people's money for war purposes, some $15,000,000 of it for more supplies, without any assurance that the expenditures will be in any way different, so far as incompetence and graft are concerned, from what the past seven months have revealed. The Cabinet ministers responsible for letting these contracts to party friends and to middlemen with a "pull" are still members of the government, with the same authority and power they have had all through all these months of "exploitation," and with the

PASSION PLAYER BECOMES SOLDIER

The dispatches inform us that Anton Lang has gone to war. For fifteen years Anton Lang has been known as the Christ of the "Passion Play" given by the peasants of Obereammergau in conformity with an ancient vow.

But what does this dispatch mean? Nothing save this—that another peasant has been ordered to the front under penalty of being shot. Anton Lang is a peasant. So long as the younger peasants lasted, he was free of war service. When finally the younger peasants had been killed or wounded, the older peasants were ordered out. And Anton Lang is 41 years old.

There is no significance whatsoever in the dispatch, save this, that it doesn't matter a straw who a man is or what he is—under militarism he is food for cannon whenever he is needed.

Anton Lang didn't volunteer. In his close following of the life of Christ he did not reach the conclusion that his duty to God lay in the killing of his fellow men.—Detroit News.

SIR JOHN FRENCH SAVED THE DAY FOR ALLIES AT BATTLE OF YPRES

MODEST REPORT OF BRITISH COMMANDER PUBLISHED IN A FEW WORDS, BUT PREGNANT WITH MEANING AND IMPORTANCE FOR THE ALLIES.

"I was present at Hooge between two and three o'clock on this day."

Those thirteen words will ring down through the ages in British history. They were written by Sir John French in his official report of the Battle of Ypres, just published.

It has taken the British people five months to learn what a gigantic crisis in the history of the Empire was behind this phrase.

They were sixty short, terrible minutes which were the climax to twenty days of terrible fighting. Each day had seen a battle historic in its intensity...

The fate of France was decided in each clock tick and the future of the British Empire was hanging in the balance. The Germans had taken Antwerp and were swinging down toward the English Channel and Calais.

The Thin Little Line. For twenty days French had been strengthening his line until he had 120,000 men, but during the same time the Germans had been piling up their forces...

A British flying man came down out of the sky that morning who was white and sick. "It isn't the strapnel I mind," he said, as he staggered into headquarters...

General French realized that after twenty days of sparring the Germans had decided where to strike. The Kaiser himself had sent word that this battle of October 31 "was of vital importance."

The battle began early with contests along the whole line. Napoleon, standing near the Belle Alliance Tavern, where he had established his headquarters...

Back at Ypres, General French studied the battle by means of maps. As the day advanced the fighting on the wings grew less; in the centre it grew fiercer and fiercer. The burden of the day was falling on the First Army Corps.

A shell struck the headquarters of Sir Douglas Haig, commander of the First Corps. Sir Douglas Haig was not there, but all the staff officers were either killed or wounded.

Half an hour later the automobile of General French whirled into the little town of Hooge. A short distance up the Menin Road was the very heart and core of the battle.

French Brought New Life. To see French come into the heart of the battle, amid the shells; to know that he had not given up hope, was an inspiration to the officers. New life came into the British.

Cooks, wagoners, mechanics, servants, chauffeurs, interpreters—every man fought. Every rule of orderly warfare was broken.

It was shortly before 2:30 that General French got his first chance to hit the Germans on the flank. It happened at Gheluvelt.

The Worcestershires used their bayonets. The German line was broken. With cold steel alone the Worcestershires retook Gheluvelt and closed the Menin Road.

The British lost about 50,000 men, all told, on this momentous October 31. The French and Belgians lost about 75,000 men and the German losses were estimated at about 350,000.

Forty men out of every hundred on the British side were killed. This is the highest death rate ever known in battle.

Broken and Falling Back. Back at Ypres, General French studied the battle by means of maps.

Some day, perhaps, the world will know what desperate determination came into the mind of

ANOTHER ELECTION MUST BE HELD

The failure of Aldermen Maitland, Nicol and Kerr to appear at Council meeting last Saturday night—and tradition says that this was all staged—in order to receive the resignation of Alderman McClymont as alderman, makes an extra civic election necessary. His resignation only having been accepted last night, nominations for his successor could not yet be received.

When the question of fixing the date for this nomination came up there was a great deal of amusing sparring carried on by Alderman Tom Maitland and Alderman John Nicol on the one hand and Alderman Montgomery on the other. Alderman Maitland at the first wanted it fixed for Thursday but in that case the election would be on the following Monday and that would conflict with the regular Council meeting. Then he suggested Friday, but that, too, meant a Monday election as it must be three days after nomination, Sunday not counting. The city clerk suggested next Tuesday, but that didn't suit Alderman Maitland. He wanted to know if the nomination couldn't be arranged before Friday.

Alderman Montgomery, who has won the distinction of being very fair to friend and foe, broke in at this time and wanted to know what all this hurry was about. If the aldermen in question were so anxious for an early election, why didn't they attend last Saturday night? It looked to him as if there was an attempt to make it impossible for the defeated mayoralty candidate to run for the office. He didn't think this would happen; but if he wanted to, why shouldn't he? The people should be left to decide who would be elected.

This 42-centimetre seemed to knock the bottom out of the opposition, and Tuesday was finally chosen as nomination day and Friday election day.

Throughout the artillery duel it was amusing to see the way the insurgents took their cue from a well known politician who occupied a position at the door. Any time they were not sure of their ground their eyes immediately turned to the door with an enquiring look.

MORE KNITTING.

Anyone visiting the postoffice today could see an exhibition of practical patriotism. At one of the wickets there was a young lady seated with a piece of knitting in her hands which she plied between times when there was no other duty in hand. It is not told whether there was a story knit with every stitch.

Mr. Franks expects to start development works there this summer and hopes by fall to be supplying Prince Rupert with coal. Several good-sized seams are exposed on the surface and can be tunneled out.

McBRIDE'S DAY IS DONE

Ottawa, April 7.—The Commons Boot Committee heard some surprising evidence when Charles E. Slater, who acted as agent for the Gauthier Shoe Company in securing orders for 17,000 pairs of army boots from the government, stated that he had received a commission of 50 cents per pair, making a total of $8,500. The Gauthier price for the boots was $3.82 per pair, made up of $3.32, which the company got, and 50 cents commission which Mr. Slater got. Before the war his commission for getting orders from the Militia Department was 10 per cent.

"Why was your commission increased for the war orders?" asked Mr. Macdonald.

"I offered to take over the business and handle it," was the reply of the witness.

valuations and assess them accordingly.

Mr. Peters, city solicitor, maintained that a revenue basis for valuation here in a new town like this did not apply as it did in the older centres. According to this, he said that a Section Two lot which couldn't be assessed for anything. It was all very well for the bankers to contend for lower valuation, but would they be willing to sell for these prices. He thought not. Then it would do no good to lower the assessment for that would mean a larger millage, for the same amount of money must be raised.

G. R. Naden thought it was foolish to be lowering the assessment even to 50 per cent its present value. He thought if it was lowered from 15 to 25 per cent all worthy purposes would be served.

The court adjourned at this juncture and is sitting again this afternoon.
