DEFEAT OF THE TURKS NEAR JERUSALEM

AUSTRIANS AND GERMANS AMONG PRISONERS TAKEN--MANY TURKS CAPTURED

GREAT DEFEAT OF THE TURKS IN PALESTINE

Many Prisoners Taken and Heavy Casualties are Inflicted Upon the Enemy--Much War Material Taken.

(Special to The Daily News.)
London, March 30.—An official report from the Egyptian expeditionary force is published here today stating that a Turkish force numbering about twenty thousand has been completely defeated. The scene of this latest battle is near to Gaza, which lies about 48 miles to the southwest of Jerusalem. Very heavy casualties were inflicted upon the enemy.

The British troops took nine hundred prisoners among whom were the General and Divisional staff of the 53rd Turkish division. The staff included four Austrian officers, and thirty-four other Austrians and Germans, which shows that there must have been some element of surprise in the attack. Two four-inch howitzers were also taken. Full details are lacking.

WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE NOW GRANTED IN BRITAIN

(Special to The Daily News.)
London, March 30.—In the British House of Commons this week the franchise has been issued to the British women. The women of Great Britain have fought long and hard to get the vote. They have fought in very many different methods, from argument and coaxing to vandalism, and at last they have won their desired point. That the women have proved themselves worthy of having a say in the country's affairs has been shown in the manner in which they have proved their capabilities in the war work. That this vexed question is now settled will be a cause of satisfaction to everyone.

MORE MEN FOR THE ARMY

(Special to The Daily News.)
London, March 30.—The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Bonar Law, has introduced a re-examination bill into the British Parliament. Under its provisions it is proposed to re-examine all men of military age who have been previously rejected, as unfit for military service. It is expected that this bill will affect a million men. More men are required for the army in France to make up the wastage and to fill up the reserve battalions. Men who have been rejected previously will be taken on for non-combatant service, where their physical condition would not permit them going into the firing line, and in this manner relieve many who are so fit.

ALLIES ARE STILL FIGHTING ON THE WESTERN FRONT

Struggle at Hindenburg Line of Feroocious Character—British and French Press Enemy.

(Special to The Daily News.)
London, March 30.—Very little information as to the operations on the British front have come through. The Canadian troops are not engaged in the great advance, but are engaged in controlling No Man's Land. The enemy is being harrassed without cessation and no peace is being given to the German horde. Early morning raids and continuous activity of the Canadians keep the Germans worried.

French Front.
Paris, March 30.—An intermittent duel has been in progress from the Somme to the Aisne during the night. Soissons has been bombarded by the Germans by guns of a large calibre. An important German munition and material depot has been captured by the French troops.

The latest word received is that the battle of St. Quentin continues to rage with unabated fury. The French are taking all precautions that the nature of the operations call for and in the face of desperate resistance by the Germans. The advance is necessarily slow, owing to the character of the ground. On the German left the French have carried the strong position on the plateau of Essigny and Benay. This section runs through a gentle undulating country, which offers admirable fields of fire to the defender. It is considered certain that the Germans will make determined efforts to retrieve their failure here.

GERMANS PLAY TO GAIN TIME

London, March 28.—British military experts today say a play for time is the reason behind the German retirement on the western front.

It is an attempt to husband her resources of men in the hope of deterring the Allied offensive. In the meantime Germany hopes her submarine blockade will bring the Entente to starvation.

According to the British military experts, Germany's leaders have foreseen the necessity of combatting, very soon an offensive from the Entente of unprecedented power.

The German military machine is coldly calculating the necessity of saving as many men as possible for the manning of Germany's industries after the war, realizing the nation will be hard put to survive in the fierce commercial war which will follow peace. Withdrawal and devastation of the land intervening between the old line and the new "Hindenburg line" means that the Allies, before they can start their grand offensive, must rebuild everything. They must fight over a desert.

In the meantime Germany hopes her submarines will accomplish economic defeat of the Allies.

GERMANY AND THE UNITED STATES

(Special to The Daily News.)
Washington, March 30.—Senator Saulsbury, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, advocates the abrogation of the existing treaties between the United States and Germany, because of Germany's gross violation of the treaties in the sinking of American ships and the taking of American lives.

From London comes the report that all Americans are warned to leave Germany before April the second. This shows the seriousness of the situation.

A wireless from Berlin states that the German chancellor declares that Germany has no thought of war with the United States and does not desire it today.

Notwithstanding the Chancellor's statement, it is understood that the United States will be in a state of preparation when Congress meets next week and it is felt that actual hostilities cannot be avoided at this late time. It is not expected that Germany will be able to offer any guarantees which will be accepted, to prevent the entrance of the United States into the conflict. Guarantees made by the German government have proved to be worthless in the past and no change has been noticeable in Germany which would lead the States to believe that any future guarantees would be of any greater effect.

HALIBUT ARRIVALS

The Nautilus has arrived with 2,000 pounds of halibut and the Joe Baker, with 4,000 pounds. The first quantity of any size of spring salmon has also come in, there being between six and seven hundred pounds in port today. The halibut arrivals for the whole week have been very light. A while ago there were few cars and lots of fish and now there are lots of cars and no fish.

War films showing "The Canadian Army in Action" and "The Advance of the Tanks" will be shown in the Westholme Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, April 4th and 5th. Reserved seats now on sale at Orme's Drug Store.

BUSINESS CHANGES IN PRINCE RUPERT

Mr. George P. McColl, who for long has been in the grocery trade in this city, has sold out his business to Mr. George H. Munro. Mr. McColl is one of the old timers in Prince Rupert, having been here since the early days, when the city was in its infancy. Mr. G. H. Munro will take over the business of the 1st prox, and is no stranger to the trade. Before coming west Mr. Munro was in business in Montreal and has a long and successful experience of the trade. Mr. Munro is well and favorably known in the city, having also been here for many years. His many friends will wish him every success.

WESTHOLME THEATRE

At the Westholme tonight will be screened William Farnum in "Samson." From dock laborer to the greatest financial power in the land. That is the story of the twentieth century Samson. Maurice Brachard, by natural shrewdness wins his way to the top. In the midst of his success, he marries the daughter of a family of impoverished aristocratic schemers. She despises him for his low origin, although his heart is breaking for her love. They drift apart and "the other man" appears. Samson, to crush the scoundrel who seeks to destroy his happiness, wrecks the market. In the terrific financial upheaval that follows, Brachard himself is ruined. But in his ruin he finds his wife's love and exclaims, "At last I have come into my own."

ASSISTANCE OF KIND WELCOME TO ALLIES

London, March 29.—The Times commenting this morning of the prospects of the United States entering the war, says, regarding a report that has been received here that any American action is likely to be confined to the protection of American and neutral interests on the seas and to assisting commercially and financially the Entente Allies:

"If we may say so without the slightest suggestion of indiscretion we have no doubt that it is help of this kind which would be most useful and most welcome to the Allies. We should rejoice to see American armies fighting alongside our troops in vindication of righteousness and humanity, but we agree with the President and the American press that such aid, although invaluable, would be necessarily delayed beyond the date at which we hope victory will be placed beyond doubt."

The Morning Post expresses the hope that whatever action the United States may take, it will include the placing in the United States prize courts of all German shipping interned there. The newspaper doubts whether the United States, once in the war, could long maintain the distinction between restricted warfare and a full offensive. It contends that the sea is an essential factor in America's problem and urges that the sole specific for the submarine menace is to defeat Germany's main fighting forces and control her naval bases. The Morning Post remarks in this respect that the assumption that the Teutonic fleet can not be destroyed as long as it remains in port, has not yet been proved, and speculates whether it is impossible to devise a method for reaching German ships in port.

"We commend this suggestion to the inventive genius of America," says the newspaper, which adds:

"If America will bear her part in exterminating the submarine, she will confer the greatest and most enduring benefit on humanity."

THE SUBMARINE MENACE STILL VERY SERIOUS

Allied Shipping is Still Being Sunk by the U Boats—Loaded British Transport is Sent to the Bottom.

(Special to The Daily News.)
London, March 30.—The weekly official returns of the losses to merchant ships from enemy submarines and mines continue to indicate that the underwater menace is exceedingly serious, according to the naval correspondent of the Times. Notwithstanding this, however, the renewed confidence of the neutral nations in the capacity of the Allies to meet the situation is indicated by the larger number of ships which are using Allied ports.

Three Ships Sunk.

The British steamer Alnwick Castle has been sunk by a submarine and thirteen men perished. Full details are lacking yet. The British transport Tindareus with a battalion of the Middlesex Regiment aboard, struck a mine off Cape Agulhus. All were saved. Cape Agulhus is near Cape Town in South Africa. The British barque Neath, of 4690 tons, with a cargo of sugar has been torpedoed without warning twenty-eight miles to the southeast of Festnet, off the Irish coast. The vessel sank in seven minutes, but there was no loss of life. The captain was taken prisoner as hostage by the submarine commander. It is believed that the British captured the submarine later and released the captured skipper.

MARRIAGE CELEBRATED ON THE G. T. P. TRAIN

An occurrence altogether out of the usual happened on the last train for the east, which left Prince Rupert. That was the union of impatient lovers right on the train. The contracting parties were Miss Lucy Lavaleur, of Stornoway, N. B., and Mr. Archie McDonald, who also hails from the eastern States, but who is now ranching at Topley in the Bulkley Valley. Miss Lavaleur came up from the south and joined the train at Prince Rupert, and on arriving at Hazelton was joined by Mr. McDonald. Shortly after leaving Hazelton, Mr. Pike, the Methodist minister, was seen on the train and arrangements were made right there and then for the knot to be tied. Mr. McDonald had the licence in his pocket, so everything was all right and proper. When the train would be about Morrice town at 3 o'clock in the morning, the happy couple were united. Two other passengers on the train stood up with them and witnessed the union.

THE RUSSIAN REVOLUTION

How great a debt civilization owes to the Russian Duma (says the "Times") and those who supported its victorious struggles with the dark forces that dominated the court, the record, illumined by recent events, vividly reveals. The outside world knows now—that it little imagined before—that the issue of the war was really bound up in Russia's struggle for self-government, that upon the decision of that epochal internal conflict depended actually the life of the anti-German coalition. Had the reactionaries won there would have been a separate peace, and more than two million Teutonic troops with their equipment would have been released for service on the western, Italian and Balkan fronts. The Turkish forces in Armenia—the bulk of the Ottoman army—would have been available for use on the Mesopotamia and Syrian fronts. Germany would have been able to launch new operations involving Holland, Denmark and Switzerland, while, more important than all, she would have had in Russia a base of supplies which would have made her independent of overseas communications.

The difficulty in the way of the plot, however, was the army which with its leaders was wholeheartedly loyal. The Grand Duke Nicholas, Alexieff, Brusiloff, Baratoff and Ruzsky supported the Duma. How to overcome that obstacle was the problem Sturmer & Company set out to solve. Their solution was simple. It was to hamper the army, to disorganize its transport, cut off its supplies—in a nutshell to facilitate its speedy destruction by the outside enemy. Protopopoff was to augment this plan by spreading discontent among the people and causing workmen's strikes. If necessary it was decided to inaugurate a specially-controlled revolution with which to cap the climax. All these measures were carried out. The transportation system was disorganized when winter set in. German prisoners were deliberately sent to Archangel to explode munition depots. Starvation threatened the people of Petrograd, Moscow and other large cities. Alexieff, Russia's greatest strategist, and a friend of the Duma, was dismissed. The stage was set for Russia's humiliating defeat at arms which was to be the excuse for making a separate peace.

But the Duma was alive to the conspiracy. In November Mr. Miliukoff delivered a terrific arraignment of Sturmer and his group, exposing all the details of the conspiracy. The censor forbade the publication of the speech in the Russian press, but thousands of copies were surreptitiously printed and circulated all over the country. The Duma was then prorogued, but it had done its work, Russia was aroused. Even the nest of traitors did not dare to touch Miliukoff or dissolve the Duma, although they delayed the resumption of proceedings until February. When the Duma met, its leaders tried to wean the Czar from the traitorous influences which surrounded him, but failed, one of the reasons for the failure being the fact that the chief of those influences was his German wife. There was no other way to save Russia, therefore, than by proclaiming a Provisional Government and calling upon the people to revolt.

It was a narrow escape for the Entente, the narrowest escape it has had in this whole war. From first to last these agents of pan-Germanism had been playing the Kaiser's game. The Roumanian debacle followed the meeting between Protopopoff and Warburg at Stockholm. When we consider the terrible handicap under which they have struggled we are able to appraise at something like its real value the magnificent devotion and heroism of the Russian army and the unparalleled skill of its leaders. Betrayed and hampered at every turn, its plans conveyed to the enemy, its supplies cut off and its transport systematically interrupted it has fought under difficulties such as no other army in this and perhaps any other war has had to surmount. The Duma, the Russian army and the Russian people at last have come into their own.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The refusal of the Dutch government to permit armed merchantmen to enter the ports of Holland will not, as some correspondents think, be the cause of reprisals by the British. With the fate of Belgium close under her eyes, Holland may be excused for seeking to avoid any excuse for invasion of her territory by the Germans.

History is being made in London these days. The Imperial conference is in session, and for the first time representatives of the overseas Dominions are in consultation with the British War Council on the military plans of the Empire.

ABDICATION FOR KAISER WILHELM

Paris.—The abdication of the German Emperor is forecast by the former German magistrate who wrote the celebrated book, "J'Accuse," in an interview published in Oude. He says: "The Kaiser is obsessed with the thought that he is responsible for the war, a thought which poisons his whole existence. He feels that he is menaced by the three enemies at home, without counting those abroad: First is the Crown Prince, the real author of the war; second, is the junker pan-Germanist—you can not imagine the smouldering hatred of the Emperor for those whom he believes to be the maniacs who are driving him into an abyss; third, are the people, not the Socialist party, but the people who are starving and who he feels are growing in number and rising little by little against those who organized the war."

Opposed to Break.

"In particular he was personally opposed to a break with President Wilson, but he was forced to consent. Documents will be published one day which will prove that secretly he did everything not to bring America down upon him and that he considers that the rupture was an irreparable mistake. The failure of the submarine war will soon show that he was right but it will be too late."

He wants to continue popular at any price and that is why he spoke the first word of peace. The people were grateful for it, but the submarine war came and spoiled everything.

Suffers in Pride.

"It is hard to realize how the Emperor, who enjoyed a popularity unexampled in our epoch, suffers in his pride. He alone perhaps in Germany knows the whole truth, since he alone has in his possession the elements for forming a judgment in the situation as a whole."

"Once he tried to initiate peace negotiations and failed. To try again would be to admit and proclaim to the world, but above all to the German people, which he fears most, Germany's real situation. If the Allies solemnly declared, as they did with Napoleon in 1815, that they would refuse to treat for peace with the Hohenzollern it would be a knockout blow. Our German people, who still believe in him would abandon him, for peace at any price will soon be the unanimous and hidden thought of tortured Germany."

Led by Crown Prince.

"What recourse is left to him but a dramatic abdication in order to retain the sympathies of the German people and save the political future of Prussia. He will say: 'I sacrifice myself to make peace. Without me, those only are responsible who desired a savage war and the complete isolation of Germany; those who took at the beginning my son as their party leader and forced me to mobilize, a measure I hesitated to take.'"

Keep up the Food Supply and Help Make Victory Sure

OUR soldiers must be fed; the people at home must be fed. And—in spite of Germany's murderous campaign to cut off the Allies' Food supply, by sinking every ship on the High Seas—an ample and unflinching flow of food to England and France must be maintained.

*This is National Service—
Not to the Farmer only—
But to YOU—to everybody—
This appeal is directed*

WE must unite as a Nation to SERVE—to SAVE and to PRODUCE. Men, women and children; the young, the middle aged and the old—all can help in the Nation's Army of Production.

EVERY pound of FOOD raised, helps reduce the cost of living, and adds to the Food Supply for Overseas.

PLANT a garden—small or large. Utilize your own back yard. Cultivate the vacant lots. Make them all yield food.

WOMEN of towns can find no better or more important outlet for their energies than in cultivating a vegetable garden.

Be patriotic in act as well as in thought.

*Use every means available—
Overlook nothing.*

In the Letter Box

To the Editor, Dear Sir:—Regarding the letter signed "W. E. Williams" published in The Daily News of the 29th inst., criticising certain articles, Mr. Williams says that one is "without qualification reprehensible." Mr. Williams here states his own opinion as a fact, which displays a very arrogant state of mind. Does he prove it to be so? He calls the news of the arrest "supposed evidence." How does he know it is only supposed? He fails to cite the testimony of one single witness to prove it only supposed. Mr. Williams' statement regarding "lynch law" is rubbish, and as for "contempt of court," that is as yet outside Mr. Williams' province. He speaks of a British subject, who has an ordinary public school education being guilty of a lapse, etc. Would it not be well for Mr. Williams to turn his attention to his own letter? Does Mr. Williams not acknowledge the freedom of the press? Is any interested attorney to be permitted to censor the press? As to egotism, unjustness, unfairness, viciousness, improper influence over a court, etc., would not these terms be quite fitting to the letter of Mr. W. E. Williams. Why does not the council for the defence produce evidence instead of writing for publication? Must he appeal to public sentiment with a "reprehensible" letter? Like Mr. Williams, I regret having to write this article, but we should remember that it is our duty to avoid limiting the freedom of speech and the freedom of the press to the will and the prejudices and desires of any certain citizen or citizens. Yours truly, H. HILL.

WOULD WELCOME AMERICAN TROOPS

Paris, March 28.—An official of the French military organization, discussing the political and military situation today, said regarding American participation in the war: "It is often said America's role must necessarily be confined to material and financial aid to the Allies, with certain naval cooperation, but that actual participation of American military forces in Europe is out of the question. Personally, I do not agree with this view. One hundred and thirty years ago, when transport facilities were very primitive compared with the present, France was able to send an army across the Atlantic to fight for American independence. All the more reason that America today should be able to send her troops to France. "I hope we shall soon be able to welcome American soldiers on French soil. You have a proverb (this to an American correspondent) that blood is thicker than water. This will be borne out when American soldiers have fought side by side with French and Allied troops and shed their blood in the same cause. "The moral factor involved is even more important than the material aid of American troops. The present war, in its last phase, appears, more than ever, a struggle of all the liberal, progressive nations to overthrow a reactionary, effete governmental system, as represented by the Central Powers of Europe, and Russia is about to become one. Germany and Austria alone stand for old orders. It is of the highest moral importance that the United States, the most progressive power in the world, should be represented in this new army of crusaders."
