LEAGUE SEASON ENDS WORLD SERIES WEDNESDAY

Baseball's Major League season ended on Wednesday with the National and American League World Series. There was little excitement. It didn't matter who won, or lost in the pennant race—New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers decided last week that they would play the World Series classic.

Hit by Thieves Second Time in Month Looted of $500 in Goods

Jack McNulty said the loot included shotgun cartridges, several kinds of wrenches and other tools.

Four weeks ago thieves entered the same store at 609 Second Avenue West and made off with $50 in cash, several rifles and some ammunition.

Nick Pawlucki, operator of Wesholme Rooms which adjoins the hardware store, first noticed the hardware store had been entered when he went to attend the furnace in the rooming house on Sunday morning.

He notified Mr. McNulty and subsequent investigation proved that entrance was gained through the basement of the rooming house and then by prying open a rear window of the store.

Besides making off with the tools, $2 worth of pennies were taken from the cash register. Nothing in the safe, which contains only office records, was disturbed.

Other crime in the city during the week-end was at a minimum and only four persons were taken into custody on drinking charges.

The quartet appeared before magistrate W. D. Vance this morning and were levied fines of from $10 to $35.

POLICE CURB DRINKING
RCMP said their efforts of recent weeks to curb drunkenness and fighting in downtown sections are beginning to pay off and cited the past week-end's activities as an example.

Last Tuesday two men were fined $100 each for fighting in the streets. They were Donald Alexander Cottrell of Port Essington and Maurice Morrison of Port Simpson.

Police said the men were arrested last Monday night and charged under the Criminal Code. Fines were levied in police court the next day by magistrate W. D. Vance.

Hume Orders Investigation Of Librarian

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mayor Fred Hume of Vancouver said Saturday he will order an immediate investigation into how and why a married woman civic servant now attending the Communist "peace" conference in China was given leave of absence.

The servant, Mrs. Kay Gardner, clerk of a branch of the Vancouver Public Library, was given two months off to "go abroad" with her husband Ray, an official of the British Columbia Peace Council.

Powered Boat Blows Apart at 200 mph

Speed Specialist Crashes to Death

Scotland (CP)—A speedboat Crusader blew apart in a cloud of spray on the Loch Ness, carrying British speedboat specialist John Rhodes Cobb to a three-mile-a-minute death.

Cobb, six-foot-two speed specialist who piloted an automobile over the Utah flats at better than 403 miles an hour in 1947—the fastest man has ever traveled on land—used a speedboat

MEETING THE LLAMA—Eight-year-old Patsy Whalen wanted to meet the llama on the African Zoo Train last week and was told she could sit on its back, but she decided against it. She took her dad, Mayor Harold Whalen, with her to see the unique zoo on wheels which left Saturday night for Terrace. The zoo was sponsored by the Prince Rupert Shrine Club of which the mayor is a member.

BCHIS Changes Regulations Regarding Dependents Claims

By The Canadian Press

VICTORIA — Relaxation of hospital insurance regulations concerning dependents has been announced by Health and Welfare Minister Eric Martin.

Organizer Confident of Popularity

Confidence that the Social Credit party could seat 30 members in the legislature in another provincial election was expressed here Saturday by Peer V. Paynter, Vancouver party organizer for B.C. and first vice-president of the Social Credit national association.

"Our strength through the province has already increased by at least one-third and we are gaining more support all the time," Mr. Paynter said.

"Many I have spoken to say they refrained from voting for us in the last election because they did not think we stood a chance. But, after seeing the showing we made, they have changed their minds and would support us next time. Our increased strength in the Skeena district is particularly noticeable."

Mr. Paynter forecast another general election before next spring. While here he held discussions with Art Murray, Social Credit candidate in the last election, and other party representatives. His visit included Smithers and Terrace.

WEATHER

Synopsis

Precipitation amounts in excess of one inch for the past 24 hours were again reported from most stations on western and northern Vancouver Island and along the northern mainland. The Charlottes reported only about one-half inch while elsewhere only very small quantities were recorded.

This is the result of an extensive low pressure area covering southern Alaska and the north Pacific. This storm is spreading a flow of very moist air over all coastal regions.

No change in the picture is expected in the next 48 hours so the present weather and temperatures are likely to persist through Tuesday.

Forecast

Gale warning cancelled. Cloudy with showers today and Tuesday. Little change in temperature. Winds southerly 20 in exposed areas, otherwise light. Low tonight and high tomorrow at Port Hardy, Sandspit and Prince Rupert, 52 and 58.

Some 34,000 Finns constitute the largest group of foreign workers in Sweden.

Logger Found Bleeding In City Rooming House

Musial, Fain Win Batting Titles

NEW YORK (CP)—Stan Musial, the silent but destructive menace of the St. Louis Cardinals, and "Holla Guy" Ferris Fain of Philadelphia Athletics, won the 1952 Major League batting championships.

Musial finished the season Sunday with a .336 mark to capture the third straight title and the sixth of his career.

Fain, the $10,000 draft bargain of the Athletics, ended his season with .327 average in winning his second straight title.

Not since 1913-14 seasons have the Major Leagues boasted the same batting champions in two successive years.

UN Troops Lose Ground In Bombing Error by Jets

SEOUL (CP)—Four United States jets Sunday accidentally bombed newly won allied hill on the Korean western front and helped counter attacking Chinese Reds drive the Greek infantry off the position.

Greek casualties were not announced but the mistaken bombing is reported to have hit only a small number.

Greek troops had seized the Big Nori hill before dawn and held the crest through three furious Communist counter blows.

Five hours later, just as the Reds were hurling the fourth drive, U.S. F-80 fighter bombers swooped down to support the Greek's U.S. Eighth Army said some bombs fell short on southern slopes where the Greeks were fighting.

The Greeks pulled back to their jump off position.

An official spokesman of the Eighth Army said without qualification that it was the fourth Red counter attack that knocked the Greeks off the hill.

Major League Player Held On Sex Count

CHICAGO (CP)—Rookie outfielder Jim Rivera was arrested Sunday in the Chicago White Sox clubhouse on a complaint of the 22-year-old wife of a soldier that he raped her in her apartment Saturday night.

Booked for rape but not formally charged, Rivera was held for questioning by the police sex bureau Monday. Police said he denied Mrs. Janet Gater's accusation and told them the attractive brunette statistician submitted willingly after inviting him to her south side apartment.

She identified Rivera as her assailant while he played baseball Sunday in the final game of the season against St. Louis Browns.

Booked as Joseph M. Rivera, the former Seattle, Wash., Pacific Coast League sensation said he is separated from his wife, Maxine, but they recently made plans to reconcile.

Rivera, New York born Puerto Rican, entered the major leagues amid a storm of controversy. He had served a five-year term in Atlanta Penitentiary after being court martialed at Barksdale Field, Los Angeles on a charge of attempted rape while serving in the army. Complainant against the 30-year-old outfielder was the daughter of an army officer.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said when Rivera came to the majors:

"If in future, he shows he has not profited by his experience, this office will take action."

Average farm price of Canadian ample sugar in 1952 reached 43 cents a pound, compared with 40 cents in 1951.

Immigrant Fights For Life While Police Launch Probe

A 34-year-old man who came to Prince Rupert Saturday in search of a job in a logging camp is fighting for his life in hospital.

Sven Gevelen, an electrician by trade, was found in a hallway of a downtown rooming house shortly before 7 o'clock Sunday night with blood streaming from his chest.

He was unable to speak coherently and was rushed to the hospital.

RCMP are investigating and an officer is on duty at the hospital.

Gevelen is reported to have come here by train from Vancouver following a stay on the prairies. Prior to that he lived in Ontario. He came to Canada in April, 1951.

A logger from an interior mill who was visiting friends in the rooming house said he saw Gevelen slump to the floor of the hallway. He said the man stood beside a wall for a few minutes before he fell.

He helped him into a chair and it was then he noticed the man was bleeding.

When the police and ambulance arrived, the injured man was unable to tell them what happened.

The logger said Gevelen appeared to have "seven or eight stab wounds" in his chest.

Liquor Probe Begins Today

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia's three-man liquor inquiry board will meet here today and it is expected hearings of briefs will begin shortly thereafter.

Dean Cecil Swanson, one of the board members, has returned to the city from the meeting of his Anglican synod in London, Ont., and from a couple of unscheduled talks with liquor control authorities in Toronto.

Other members of the board are H. H. Stevens and George Home.

Meanwhile, Attorney-General Robert Bonner has advised all members of the legislature to inform interested parties in their constituencies to prepare briefs ready for a visit by the board.

AORANGI LEAVES PACIFIC SERVICE

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—The liner Aorangi will be withdrawn from the Sydney-Auckland-Vancouver service next May, it was announced last night.

Union Steamship Company, agents for the Canadian-Australasian Line, owners of the Aorangi, said the withdrawal will be made because of the Aorangi's age. The vessel is 28 years old.

It will mean an end of passenger service in the Pacific under the British flag.

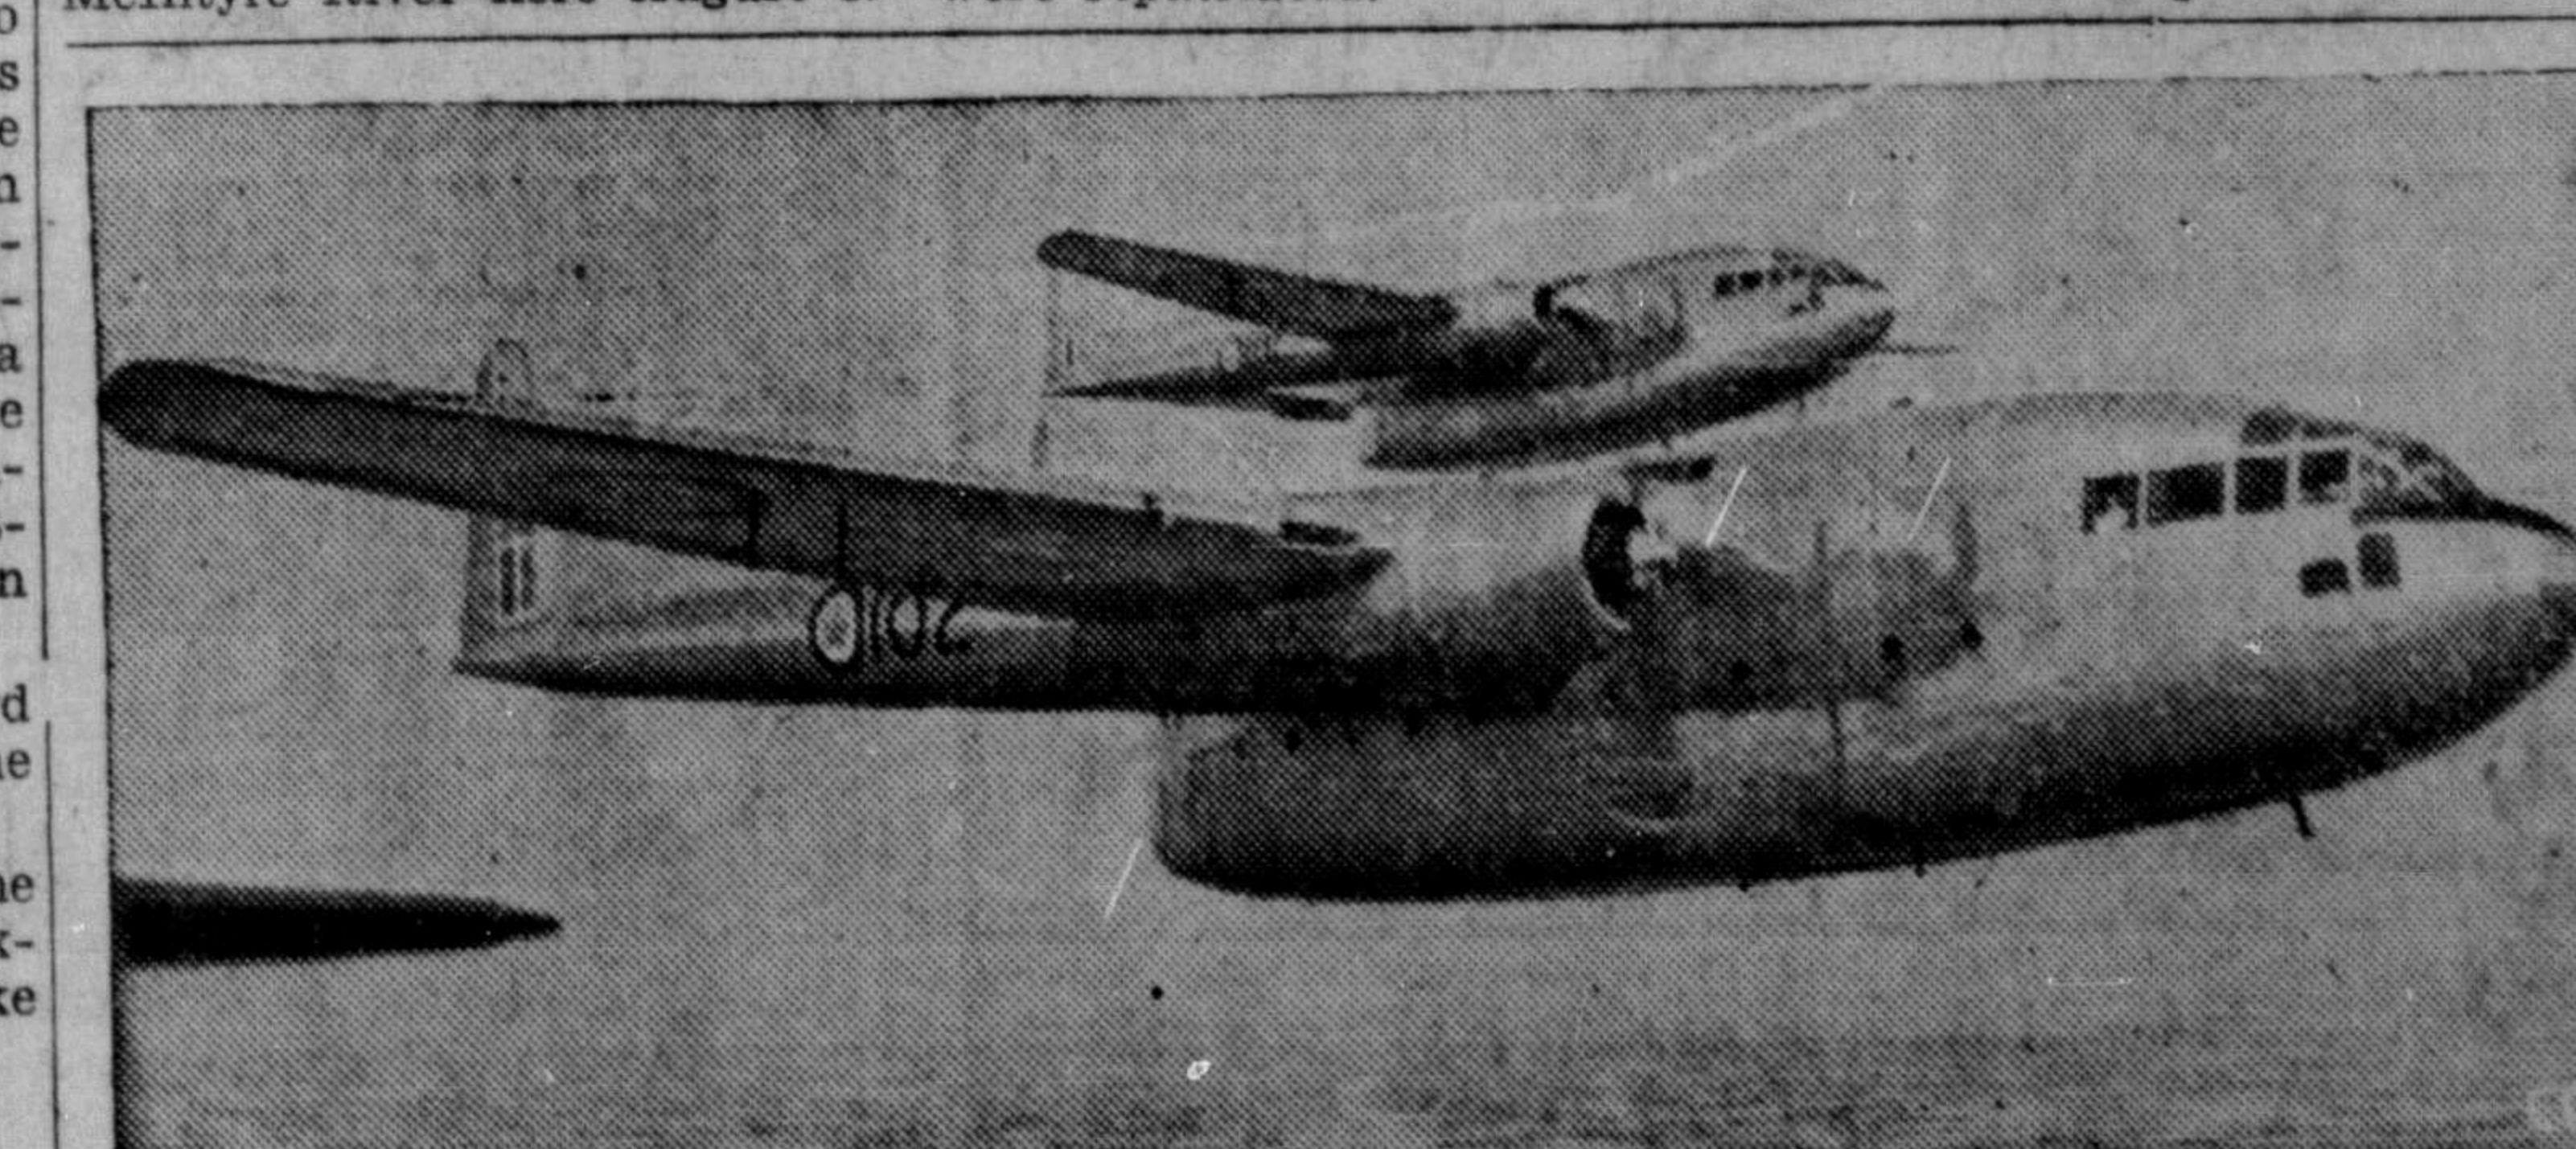

LET'S PLAY—This baby monkey hardly gives its mother any rest and played a big part here entertaining the children who visited the African Zoo Train. The specially-built railway cars that house the birds and animals is on show at Terrace today.

Man Sentenced To Hang Dec. 9

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—George Hlady, 35-year-old Ukrainian immigrant, was sentenced to be hanged Dec. 9 by Mr. Justice D. R. J. Kelly in Assize court Saturday for the murder July 26 of another immigrant, Josef Panok.

Panok's body, trussed around the neck with ropes and with two railway plates weighing 20 pounds each wired to his neck and feet was found floating in McIntyre River here August 8.

RCAP PACK MULES—Looking as if one were giving a "piggy-back" ride to the other, two C-119 Fairchild Packets of the RCAF, recently received from the United States, are seen aloft. With a range of 1,100 miles, the Packet is scheduled to become the "pack mule" of the RCAF, eventually supplanting the Dakota for transport and freight duties. (CP from National Defence)

As I See It

by Elmore Philpott

But Listen, Lady

WHEN I first heard the Los Angeles controversy about banning the Unesco program from the schools I thought I must be dreaming.

At first I simply could not believe that people in U.S.A. would deliberately, frontally challenge the One World hope.

I knew, of course, that the Russian government had banned the Unesco program from all Communist territories. But I did not expect to find the same arbitrary ideas taking hold in L.A.—the western dream city of light.

But after thinking over that remarkable episode I have come to the conclusion that it makes sense.

THE LIBERTY Belles, Veterans Of Foreign Wars, and Daughters of the American Revolution are groups which glorify the past. They look back on the "good old days" when nobody in the U.S.A. had to bother much about old-world wars—for those were part of what every American escapee from Europe had eagerly left behind.

But by a process which they do not understand the U.S. entry into the First World War seems to them to have started a chain of tragic consequences. Now U.S. troops literally girdle the earth and may be plunged into war at any moment thousands of miles from home.

I LISTENED to one of the Liberty Belles on the radio. It was enough to make even the most hard-boiled go misty-eyed—for the cracked-voiced old girl was so obviously sincere—but O God, how muddled.

Her son was in the Korean War and the whole inference of her talk was that this sinister UN had dragged the Americans into that dead-end. Unesco was part of UN—and hence she wanted no part of it. You felt like grabbing a taxi, hunting out the dear lady and trying to tell her:

"Don't you see that the whole Unesco program is based on the knowledge that wars begin in the minds of men? Don't you see that the whole UN is but the first clumsy, crude attempt by mankind to establish the rule which will make it illegal and impossible for your boy or any other mother's boy in all the earth ever again to go to ANY foreign war?"

AS A Canadian, proud of our British past, I don't blame any American for having a burning sense of patriotism and for longing, heart and soul, I feel that way about the sailing smacks of happy boyhood. But the American turn-back-the-clockers seems to me like King Arthur's beloved lieutenant who will not obey the dying king's command to throw the mighty sword Excalibur, into the lake. But finally the dying king has his way and as Tennyson puts it, says:

"The Old order changeth, yielding place to new, And God fulfills himself in many ways, Lest one good custom should corrupt the world."

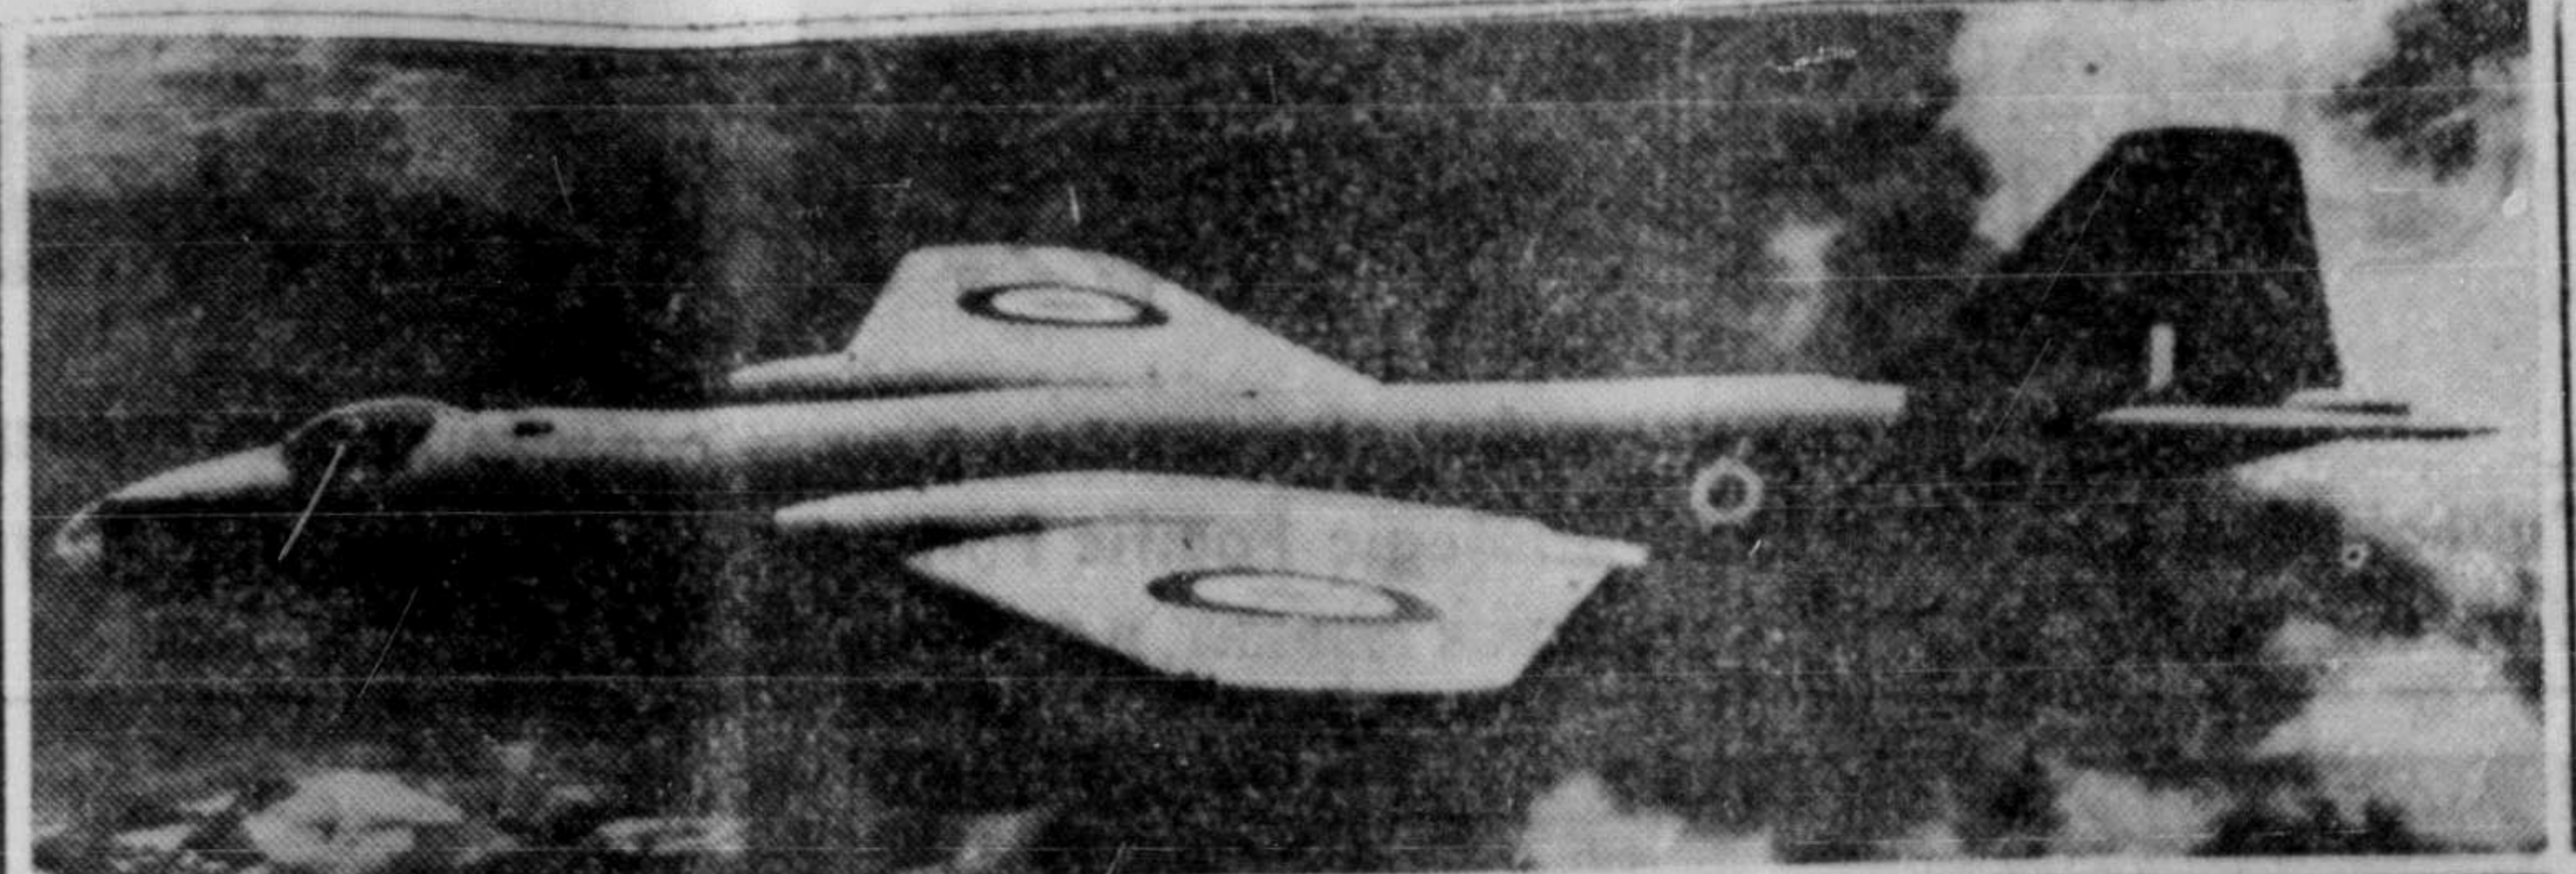

There, I think, you have one of the greatest political and social truths ever uttered. The now-dead days for which the Daughters of the American Revolution yearn in vain, were great days when nations were compelled to try to live alone. But the world must learn to live and work together, or perish.

BELFAST—Air pilots are always more deaf in the left ear than the right, says Dr. K. G. Bergin, medical superintendent of London airport. Speaking on aviation deafness at a session of the British association, Dr. Bergin said it is caused by constant bombardment of the pilot's ears by noise of the aircraft.

First noticeable symptoms is the inability to distinguish consonants and sounds of high pitch. The left ear is more vulnerable than the right because normally the pilot sits on the left side of the craft.

The doctor said there is no immediate cure for this difficulty but in time it will probably be remedied with improved insulation of fuselages and provision of suitable helmets and ear plugs.

OLD MAN TIME and the mighty Atlantic have both been made to look very small by a two-engine British jet bomber, which crossed twice between Aldergrove Northern Island and Gander, Newfoundland, in a total flying time of 7 hours 59 minutes. Top: The record breaker, the English Electric Canberra. Left: The crew (left to right) Second Pilot Peter Hillwood, Chief Pilot Ronald Beament and Navigator Denis Watson. The British have already turned over the Canberra for U.S. manufacture.

Evidence of Ancient Indian Civilization Found in Tweedsmuir Park by UBC Party

VANCOUVER—Prehistoric villages, hunting and fishing camps, have shown that an ancient Indian civilization existed in northern British Columbia centuries ago.

Dr. Charles E. Borden, professor of archeology at the University of British Columbia, returned with his 15-man party today to report: "We have driven an important wedge into the hitherto unknown archeology of the northern interior of British Columbia."

In a race against time, Dr. Borden and his associates made a search of Indian village sites in Tweedsmuir Park, 450 miles north of Vancouver. Sooty the villages will be under water, flooded by a 120-mile lake behind a dam of the Aluminum Company of Canada.

It will be a year before the complete story of the ancient civilization is known. Dr. Borden must classify and analyze some 3,000-antifacts, piles of maps and volumes of notes he collected on the three-month expedition.

"You might liken the archeological problem to a gigantic jig-saw puzzle of which we have placed 10 pieces," he said. "There are huge gaps to fill before we know the whole story."

His research has already disclosed that the now lonely area around Echu and Natalkuz Lakes housed a bustling Indian civilization more than 300 years ago, and that other men preceded them perhaps by thousands of years.

There is a possibility he will find clues to the first Americans who migrated to Asia across the Bering Straits after the ice age ended in Canada. The Indians lived in huts about 30 feet in diameter and carried on trade for giant mussel shells and for volcanic glass.

Remains of arrow heads, stone adzes, awls and other working tools appeared to be centuries old. The expedition also found that trade existed between the Indians and early white fur traders. This was shown by findings of metal implements shaped in the same design as stone ones.

"The Indians must have carried on trade with the early white as native metal is not found in this area," Dr. Borden said.

A semi-circular earth lodge was found. The charred rafters, 15 feet long, were buried about four feet below ground level. Centred in the lodge was a rectangular fire pit, about six by nine feet.

Fire strikers, sewing needles of stone and antlers, and cooking utensils were found by the explorers.

New York-born Dr. Borden had with him on the expedition Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tolstoy, Columbia University, New York; Kenneth MacPherson and Douglas Stevens of the University of Toronto; and Robert Theodore Apu, Roy Carlson and Natalie Burt of the University of Washington.

Others in the party include UBC students, two Boy Scouts and Jack Sewall of Vanderhoof, B.C., an expert in the art of chipping stones.

LETTERBOX

CNIB TAKES STAND Editor, Daily News: It has come to our attention that solicitations are being made for advertising in a publication sponsored by the Canadian Federation of the Blind. We would like to emphasize that this Federation has no connection with the Canadian National Institute for the Blind which has been supported so generously by citizens of this city in the past.

It is unfortunate that a clashing of interests should occur, particularly at this time when the CNIB is making its national appeal for funds. The executive of the Prince Rupert Branch of the CNIB wish to draw the following facts to the attention of your readers:

1. No permit to solicit advertising has been granted by the city authorities to the Canadian Federation of the Blind, or to any person representing that organization.

2. The Canadian National Institute for the Blind is recognized by the federal, provincial and municipal governments by annual grants: the Canadian Federation of the Blind is not so recognized.

3. Permission for a tag day, to be held Oct. 4, has been granted by the city council to the local branch of the CNIB.

4. The local branch of the CNIB has not authorized a personal appeal canvass, nor has it any connection whatsoever with any advertising in this city.

The CNIB carries on a wonderful work among the blind, teaching them to do much for themselves, to earn money, to be in a great degree independent. But it takes money to carry on this work, and the help of the Prince Rupert branch is valued. For that reason the present financial campaign is presented to the people of Prince Rupert with the earnest hope that it will be well supported, and certainly with the hope that it will not be confused with the effort of the Canadian Federation, should a canvasser from that organization call.

F. ST. JOHN MADLEY, Chairman Prince Rupert Branch, C.N.I.B.

BUSINESS SPOTLIGHT

Dollar Parity Essential For Better Relations Says Banker

VANCOUVER (CP)—L. Stuart Mackersy is one banker dissatisfied with the present high discount rate on the American dollar.

Mr. Mackersy, general manager of the Imperial Bank of Canada, now on a tour of British Columbia, said here Canadian exporters are suffering because of the high discount.

And, he has found that Americans' feelings have been hurt because of the discount on their dollar.

"It is not so much a matter of the dimes and nickels that it is costing the Americans, but rather that their pride is hurt."

Mr. Mackersy believes Canadian and American dollars must be brought back to equal value or within one cent "one way or the other."

"Parity, or near parity, is absolutely essential," he said.

Exporters of pulp and paper, lumber, metals and agricultural products are the losers under the present high discount.

He hoped parity could be brought about through natural market forces.

"It will be a good thing if it does occur and a bad thing if it doesn't."

Mr. Mackersy is against an arbitrary return to parity by agreement between the governments of Canada and the United States.

Such an agreement, he said, would be "disastrous." It would put government back into the field of foreign exchange control.

Parity can be attained without "artificial" props, he said, by a slowing of U.S. investments in Canada and a reduction of municipal borrowings in the United States.

Lawyer Fails In Bid to Bar Newsmen

VANCOUVER—A lawyer's attempt to bar newspaper reporters from a narcotics hearing failed today in city police court.

"I see no reason why the press should not stay," said Magistrate Mackenzie Matheson after T. G. McClelland, defence lawyer, argued that the press should not report juvenile hearings.

He tried to bar the press from the opening of the preliminary hearing of Shirley Taylor, 18-year-old baby-sitter, and Irvine Anderson, 19, charged with contributing to the delinquency of young children. They are alleged to have taken narcotics as the children watched.

Magistrate Matheson said he trusted the press and knew that they would not overstep the rules governing publicity about children.

The press stayed by the public was barred as a nine-year-old girl gave evidence that the pair took drugs in her presence.

"They put white powder into a spoon and they heated it with matches," the little girl testified. "They put a needle in their arms."

Mrs. Glenna Simister, a housekeeper who had hired the baby-sitter to look after the children, was sentenced to five months in jail on a similar charge last week.

Brought from jail, she told the court today: "I thought the child only saw us once. One day she came in while we were taking a 'fix.' I had thought the door was locked."

Tricky Campaign Manoeuvre

THE strange case of Richard Nixon in his Republican campaign for the U.S.A. vice-presidency seems to be fooling the experts. Instead of losing ground for accepting as Senator large financial contributions from private interests, he appears to have gained.

When the transaction first became known, it looked for a while as though the Republican drive had struck rocky ground and might have to jettison Nixon to get rolling again. Evidently, however, those who were alarmed had seriously underestimated the public antagonism against Communists, of whom Nixon has been a particularly outspoken foe. So strong does this sentiment seem to be that it will condone almost any kind of move that will further the battle.

Again, too, the psychology by which the public so often favors the underdog appears to have been a factor. Not taking into account the special fund that was established for him, Nixon is far from a wealthy man which somehow puts his crusade against the Communists in a still more heroic light. Then when the storm broke his plight took on a certain brave appeal which, judging from the thousands of encouraging messages he has received, may prove an asset to the Republican cause when election day finally comes around.

Nevertheless the whole incident threw a bad scare into the G.O.P. forces and does not represent a manoeuvre which could normally be recommended for a presidential campaign.

What You Said, Helena!

IT may have been that Helena Rubinstein, high priestess of glamor, was merely drumming up business in saying so, but she must not be allowed to get away with her accusation that "Canadian women are a little under-done in matters of make-up and beauty, and they are slower than the women of other nations."

It is hardly credible that Miss Rubinstein means that Canadian women are homelier than the average but, if this is the correct interpretation, we suggest without any attempt at gallantry that the high priestess must have rubbed a little cold cream in her eyes.

Those who know about such things maintain that a good mixture of national blood strains is apt to produce a better physical specimen than is found in countries where there is only a small foreign element. If this is true, Canadian women are done to a nice turn, Miss Rubinstein notwithstanding, and a walk down any busy street will usually prove it.

It is noticeable, too, that Canadian complexions are a blush above average. Perhaps this is an inheritance from the British, or maybe it has something to do with a fresh northern climate, but in any case it is hardly calculated to please Miss Rubinstein to whom poor skin means money in the bank.

She does, in fact, admit to hiring girls with deficient complexions so that, after using her preparations for a while, they will become delighted and loyal staff members.

Far be it from our thoughts to do Miss Rubinstein out of any business, but for her own good she should not go around saying things like that about Canadian women. There is so much contradictory evidence for all to see that it makes her judgment look unsound.

Scripture Passage for Today

'Mr. Pickwick' Goes on Broadway

By MARK BARRON NEW YORK (AP)—The new theatrical season on Broadway took on a brighter and more humorous reflection at the Plymouth Theatre with the premiere of Stanley Young's "Mr. Pickwick."

This colorful story based on incidents in Charles Dickens' "The Pickwick Papers" should be a joy to Dickensian societies as well as the theatrical audiences who enjoy the atmosphere of English life in the 1830s.

Playwright Young completed this dramatization seven years ago but couldn't find a Broadway producer. He took the play to London last spring and it received such an ebullient reception that the playwrights company decided upon the production for Broadway.

Although Dickens used 98 characters to relate the misadventures of the Pickwickians, that number has been condensed to 25 for the stage version.

Housework Isn't Fun Even If Mates Help; Matrons Prefer Jobs
By ADELAIDE KERR
NEW YORK (AP)—Out of 100 wives in two big New York housing developments, more than one-fourth like nothing at all about housework; more than half hold jobs; and the husbands of 63 per cent help with the housework.
The women also disclosed in a survey that the husbands of about four-fifths do not get a regular night out; that one-half think their education failed to prepare them adequately for careers or home-making and that, contrary to one of the most cherished male beliefs, 84 per cent do not want to be a man.
The survey was conducted by Town and Village, a weekly newspaper covering Stuyvesant town and Peter Cooper village, huge post-war housing developments on East Side Manhattan.
HIGH INCOMES
Forty-four per cent of the women who participated are in the $5,000-$10,000 income bracket and all have incomes of $3,000 or above. The average age of the women is 34 and the average number of children in their families is 88.
Twenty-six per cent reported they only partially enjoy motherhood. Five and a half per cent said they do not enjoy it. The remainder said that they definitely do.
Of the 52 per cent who hold jobs, 29 per cent work because they like it, not because of economic necessity. The rest reported they work partly because it is necessary and partly because they wanted to.
Sixty-three per cent have a regular family budget and stick to it. More than half save regularly.
SHARE INTERESTS
Of the 69 per cent who hold college degrees, 91 per cent are married to college graduates.
Discussing home life, 80 per cent said they shared regular interests with their husbands; 37 per cent said they had no differences with their husbands, 21 per cent differed over relatives, 17 per cent over "rebellious attitudes," 10 per cent over disciplining the children, nine per cent over sex.
Sixty-eight per cent said they took active pleasure in sex; 21 per cent reported only passive enjoyment.

LONDON (CP)—Asked his occupation, a 63-year-old man in court here said "I have done no work for two years because I am too old." The judge replied: "Good Heavens. A man of 63 is not old nowadays."

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Mr. Champion Wins As He Sees Muzzy Set
If Mr. Abel passed his partner's double after the one spade bid, Mr. Champion thought it might be pretty bad. He therefore bid two clubs. A few seconds later Mr. Muzzy was in FOUR spades. Mr. Champion shuddered but felt a little better when nobody doubled.
Mrs. Keen opened the king of hearts and Mr. Muzzy won with the ace and promptly ruffed a heart with dummy's lone trump. Checking up (too late as usual) he saw that he still had two heart losers and a diamond loser.
If he let the defenders in now, they would surely cash those tricks, so he tried to get rid of one of them on dummy's clubs. It is hard to see how he expected to do this as he had two clubs himself and, with only five clubs outstanding, one opponent had a doubleton at the most. Anyway, at trick three Mr. Muzzy led the ace of clubs. He followed with the king and Mrs. Keen ruffed and cashed two quick hearts and the ace of diamonds. She still had the ace of trumps for the setting trick.
Mr. Champion hit the ceiling. "Muzzy, why do you always have to win the FIRST trick?" he snarled. "All you had to do was win 10 tricks. Any 10. You can give up the first three or the last three or any three in between as long as it's not more than three."
"I can't make the hand," replied Mr. Muzzy excitedly, "with only one trump in your hand."
"Want to bet?" continued Mr. Champion. "With a club suit like I had, you don't need two trumps, too. All you have to do is give them the first heart trick. Then there's nothing they can lead that will beat you."

Mr. Champion was right. If Mrs. Keen wins the first trick, her best continuation is another heart. But this can be trumped on the board and a diamond led. Mrs. Keen would win with the ace and fire a third heart.
But Mr. Muzzy could win the ace, enter dummy with a club, pitch his last heart on the queen of diamonds, and re-enter his hand by ruffing a diamond. He could then drive out the ace of trumps and just barely outlast Mrs. Keen in the trump department to rack up 10 tricks.

Trespassing ... With Sandy

Besides being an oldtimer and an authority on Prince Rupert, Jack Fuller knows what it's like to live in places where it's either too hot or too cold.

Prince Rupert has been maligned about its weather from outsiders, says the 83-year-old resident, but we don't get snowed in during the winter nor do we have to put up with the hot weather they have in South Africa where you have to be on guard at all times for snakes and ants.

There's many a worse place than Prince Rupert, he told friends.

Mr. Fuller lived in New Bedford, Mass., for five years and spent 3½ years of his life in South Africa.

Another oldtimer, veteran newspaperman Bill Raymond says there's no centre in the west that has greater promise than Prince Rupert.

Editor of the Old Empire for many years until it was sold five years ago, Mr. Raymond is going to retire from active work this week. He's been in the business 52 years. A veteran of the Boer War, he has been in Rupert since 1909 and has many memories. He's going to continue writing his column for the Daily News and he'll have a daily routine of some kind.

Mr. Raymond arrived here on the old Princess May and says if he had the chance he'd live the same life all over again.

Asked to speak about Rupert on a new series of programs being prepared for the CBC by Bob Harlow, regional producer at Vancouver, he said he didn't know his interview was being recorded on tape and admitted he said some things about the city before he had much time to think about them.

His comments will be heard when the new program series is announced.

For the first time since he was injured in an accident at Kemano last May 10, Jack McRae donned his navy uniform to attend a dance Saturday night. Jack, who served aboard the Royal Navy aircraft carrier HMS PUNCHER during the war, is commanding officer at HMCS Chatham.

Art Murray is wondering if his new son is stalling or perhaps a little backward. Arthur Jr., is three weeks old and hasn't started to work yet.

Ole Varfeldt has been trying to get away for a vacation for a week and finally boarded the Coquitlam for Vancouver where he will take a plane to visit Denmark, Germany and Sweden. He'll be away about six weeks.

Howard Bary left with his Africa Zoo Train on Saturday night after a week-long stay. More than 4,300 people walked through the train. He's going to stop at Terrace first and then after covering the Okanagan district will arrive in Vancouver on Oct. 20.

A Portland, Oregon, man who was here on a vacation during the summer wants to come back and set up a business. He isn't sure what he wants to do, but says if he can't go into business, he'd like to come up and "at least build a cabin" so he can return each year to fish and hunt. He thinks Prince Rupert has everything for a holiday resort.

Rowland Miles thought he had a lot of work making sure everything was in order for the Alaska Music Trail concert but he's even busier now. He's a leading light in arranging for the one-night membership drive by the Civic Centre Association this Thursday. Bill Stone and Dr. R. G. Large are set to tell the citizens all about the centre in a radio broadcast tomorrow night.

100-Year-Old Lady Feels, Acts Lively

MONTREAL — Mrs. Agnes Sanctuary of suburban Hampstead is celebrating her 100th anniversary, but you would take her for a much younger woman. A fine looking lady, with snowy-white hair, Mrs. Sanctuary is confined to her chair, but she's lively and very much interested in the world and its affairs.

A widow since she was 35, she had four children, three of whom are living. She looks at the rising generation with a good-natured eye. "Any words of advice for them?" she said, repeating a question "I should say not. They wouldn't listen anyway. Let them find out the hard way."

GOOD VIEW—Four young members of Toronto's Fairbank Presbyterian Junior Church Choir had a good view over the heads of the crowd when held up by two caber-tossing Scots during the Braemar Games in Scotland. The young choristers, boys and girls six to 13 years, return to Canada this week after a month's tour of England and Scotland which included a special performance before the Queen at Braemar. They also sang at the Edinburgh Festival. (CP PHOTO)

Air Cadets Go on First Parade Tonight—50 Boys Enrolled

The Armories on Sixth Avenue theoretically will turn into a "hangar" tonight as 50 boys make up the first parade of Prince Rupert Air Cadet Squadron at 7 p.m.

Commanding Officer Dick Garrett says enthusiasm among the boys is exceptional and is confident of a successful year. The Air Cadet Sponsoring Committee also meets tonight and will visit the squadron later in the evening.

A three-day drive for funds opens Oct. 1.

Timely RECIPES

We're proud of this recipe because it makes 9 of the very best rolls you've tasted. "Raisin Caramel Rolls" are so easy to make and turn out so perfectly, you'll be annoyed with yourself for not having gotten into the "roll" habit long before this. And as for making a hit with the family, you'll be the star performer.

Raisin Caramel Rolls
2/3 cup seedless raisins
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/4 cup granulated sugar
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/3 cup shortening
2/3 cup milk
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup brown sugar (packed)
1 tablespoon corn syrup.
Rinse raisins and drain. Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening. Add raisins and milk, and mix well. Roll out to rectangle about 9 x 15 inches. Spread with 1 tablespoon butter and sprinkle with cinnamon. Roll from long side, as for jelly roll. Cut into 9 1/2-inch slices. Spread remaining butter in 8-inch square pan. Combine brown sugar and corn syrup, and spread over butter. Place rolls cut side down in pan. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) about 25 minutes. Turn out sugar side up. Makes 9 rolls.

Public Speaking Classes Open

The public speaking classes sponsored by the Prince Rupert Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold its first session at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Civic Centre. The classes are open to both men and women.

Successful Sale Staged by Catholic Women

A successful rummage sale was staged by the Catholic Women's League Saturday in spite of adverse weather conditions.

Under sponsorship of Mrs. N. J. Galbraith the arrangements committee consisted of Mrs. George Fleming, Mrs. Lloyd Evans, Mrs. Norah Bond and Mrs. G. P. Lyons.

Next big event to be staged by the CWL is the fall bazaar to be held Oct. 7 and 8 at the Annunciation School. The regular weekly card games will start a few weeks later.

Student Admits Everest Flight

LONDON — Kenneth Neame made a wartime flight over Mount Everest in his Spitfire fighter plane but he never told anyone about it.

He feared disciplinary action by the RAF because he flew over territory in the Himalaya mountains which had been ruled out-of-bounds.

A friend let the cat out of the bag by producing notes from Neame's diary and photos to add weight to the claim.

Neame, now a medical student in London University, says he doesn't fear any trouble now since he's been out of the service for some time.

Neame took pictures of the world's tallest mountain—more than 29,000 feet—through the plastic top of his cockpit.

Woman Food Expert to Lecture Canadians On Mass Feeding in Case of Atomic Raid

By HEATHER GRIME
LONDON. (Reuters)—Canadian and American housewives will soon receive advice from a British nutritional expert on mass emergency catering in case of an atom bomb raid, it was announced today.

Edith Walker, chief adviser of the food ministry, will leave Oct. 8 for a visit to Canada and a lecture tour of the United States to recount her experiences in organizing homemakers to set up a country-wide network of emergency kitchens. Miss Walker, who was awarded the Order of the British Empire for her role in helping feed Britain in wartime, since 1948 has enlisted a 61,000-member army of housewives who can swing into action at a moment's notice, utilizing supplies of food stockpiled at key points all over Britain.

Her plan got its first actual test on a small scale recently when it cared for the hundreds left without food or shelter by a flood in Lynnmouth, Devon. If war comes, the organization would be immediately doubled in size.

Washington's civil defence administration, recognizing her wartime work, has arranged for Miss Walker to appear before public health groups, C.D.A. employees and other official bodies.

Then she will spend 10 days in Ottawa as guest of the Canadian Health and Welfare Department, which controls civil defence.

Her invitation follows the visit last year of American and Canadian scientists, food experts and defence officials to study emergency feeding plans here.

Harking back to the days of the London blitz, Miss Walker will also explain "curbside cooking" with the aid of such improvised materials as bomb rubble, mud and old tin cans.

She explained today that the British organization depends heavily on local officials, handling arrangements for no more than a section of a village or a city block. They would be given extensive authority in times of emergency and have a thorough grounding in improvisation. Commercial and publicly-owned catering facilities would be placed entirely at their disposal.

Essential foodstuffs supplied by the food convoys would consist chiefly of tea, margarine, soup powder, canned milk, preserved fruit, and canned beans and vegetables.

CRAWLEY, England (CP)—Engaged in cleaning out a stream running through this newly-constructed town, workmen unearthed a sword which experts say dates back to the bronze age.

City Approves New Concrete Sidewalk For Second Avenue

A cement sidewalk 8 1/2 feet wide is being built on Second Avenue between First and Second Streets.

The original design and plans for the sidewalk were changed on approval of city council after the Cobb locker plant owner sought permission to harden the portion of property between his store and the sidewalk.

The sidewalk 17 feet wide would be too expensive at this time. Council voted 7 to 1 to build the sidewalk 8 1/2 feet wide and assume one-third of the cost of the portion in front of the locker plant. Retaining walls will be built at each side of the locker plant portion.

Mr. Stewart also explained that Imperial Oil Company, Limited, which owns property on the corner at Second Street has agreed to assume the cost of material needed to strengthen the cement content at places where heavy trucks cross.

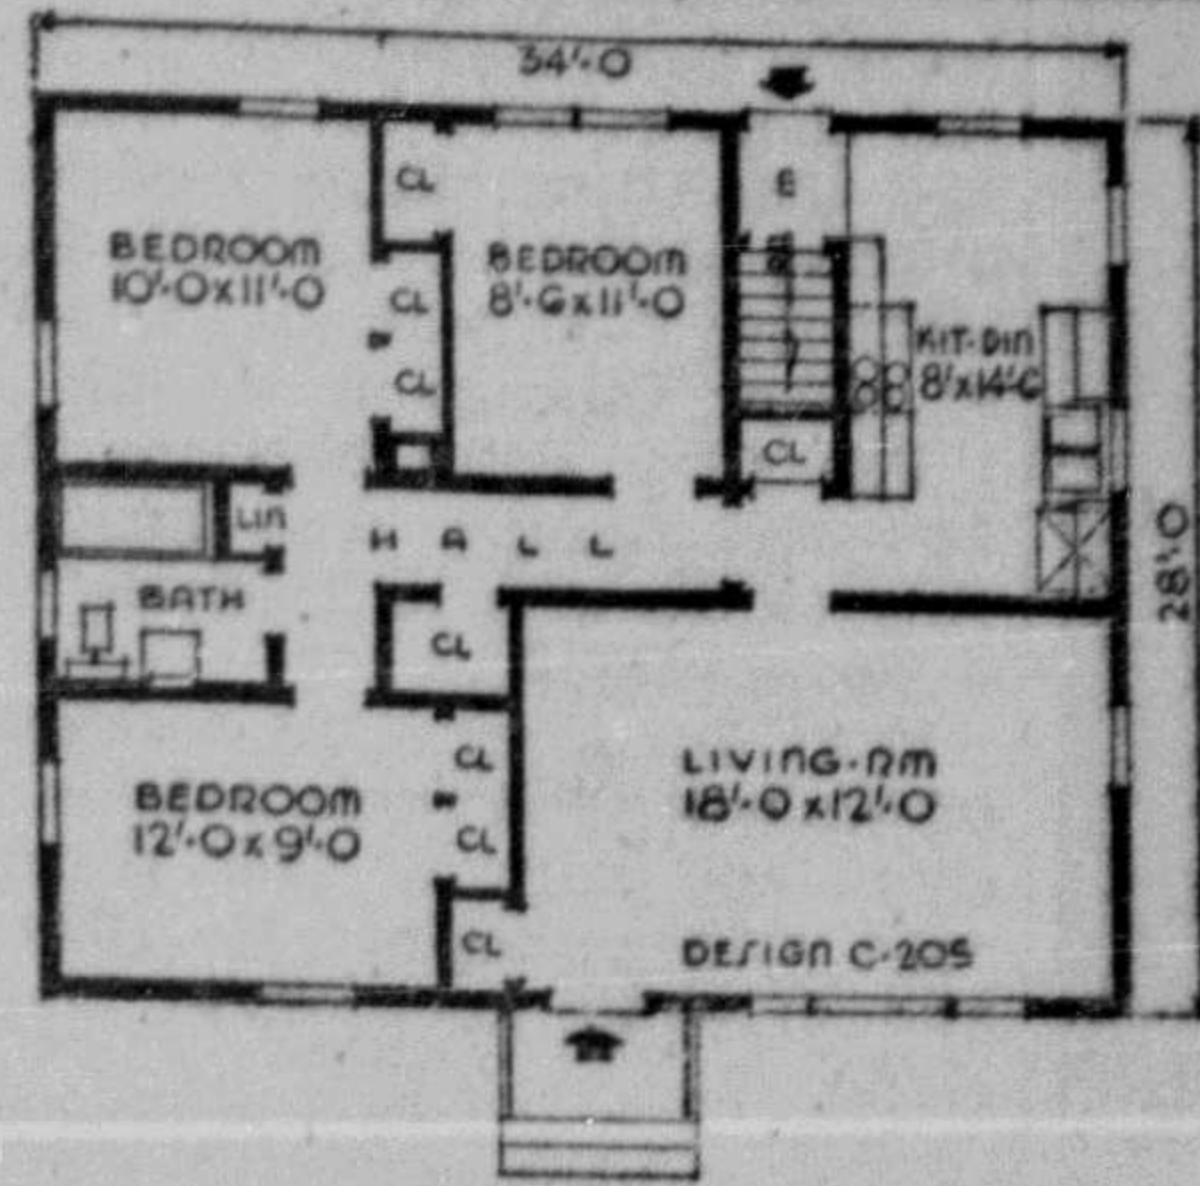

The company, however, so far has not announced the type of building or whether it intends to build any structure on the property.

LONDON (CP)—Britain's postmen are to be supplied with a new style cap of better quality. But they must make it last two years, compared to 18 months for the present cap.

Stewart, city works superintendent, told council there have to be some fill necessary to construct the walk and men agreed that to build

PLAN OF THE WEEK

THE CASLON is recommended for a maximum livable floor space in a small area and for economy in construction. There is a full basement and the first floor consists of three bedrooms, bath, living room and combination kitchen-dinette.

An abundance of closet space answers the storage problem with wardrobes in the bedrooms, linen and general closet in the bedroom hall and closets in the living room and kitchen.

Exterior walls are in the form of a rectangle, without projections, and finished with wide siding and vertical siding in the front gable. Other features include picture window, galley type kitchen with cupboards on opposite walls, privacy for all rooms, wrought iron railings and asphalt shingles.

Dimensions are 34 feet by 28. Area is 952 square feet while the cubage totals 18,564.

For further information about THE CASLON write the Small House Planning Bureau of Canada, Box 1193, Saint John, New Brunswick.

Electric Heating Makes Gains in B.C.

Increasing popularity of electric heating emphasizes that no other heating system has made such rapid strides in such a comparatively short time, particularly in British Columbia.

One result of the growing increase in local installations has been the keen interest by non-users of electric heat, who want specific answers to such questions as: What are the advantages of electric heating? How much to install it? Is the electricity bill high?

To put these questions in their true perspective, it should be clearly understood that maximum efficiency and best results from electric heating are obtained when the following basic essentials are observed:

1. The house to be heated should be properly insulated.
2. The electric heating system should be properly designed.
3. The system should have some form of thermostatic control.

4. There should be a regulator to control the "demand" of power during peak loads.

With these essentials complied with, the advantages of electric heat can be many and varied. Comfort, convenience, cleanliness, safety and health must be considered.

THERMOSTAT CONTROL

Advantages may be summarized briefly. For perfect home comfort and convenience, electric heat provides individual room thermostat zone control, to the temperature desired. Electric heat is clean—there is no dust, dirt, smoke or fumes to discolor curtains and decorations or streak walls. Electric heat is the safest form of heat, free from the dangers of fire. To protect health, electric heat provides fresh, pleasant air and can eliminate drafts and cold spots through even distribution of heat.

USE DIFFERENT TYPES

Where electric heating is installed in individual units, it is often advisable to make use of different types in various rooms. Radiation type units each have particular advantage for heating requirements.

Economy is achieved since no basement or fuel storage space is needed, and often the entire chimney and heating ducts can be completely eliminated. Every house is, of course, different, but on the average, for existing homes, the cost of electric heat installation is usually less than other systems.

For new construction, savings up to $500 are possible, due to ease and simplicity of installation, and elimination of chimneys, furnaces, ducts and fuel storage bins or tanks.

With electric heat installed, maintenance troubles are avoided. There are no level problems and nothing that can leak or freeze. Depreciation and maintenance is only two per cent compared to about eight per cent with other forms of fuel-fired heating systems.

Considering actual operating costs, apart from the savings effected in annual depreciation and maintenance, electric heat often compares favorably with other heating systems. One hundred per cent efficiency is obtained under all load conditions as against fuel systems where efficiency drops drastically when not operated at full load.

Another important feature of electric heat is the simplified method of payment. Heat is paid for after use, not before.

No money is laid out in advance for a season's fuel before any benefit is obtained from the heating system, and the headaches of seasonal supply are avoided.

Every house is different, but an average well-insulated house of 1000 square feet will cost from $125 to $150 per year to heat electrically, according to electric heat experts.

For installation and operation figures, as well as advice on any electric heating question, the interested householder may consult any member of the Electric Heating Association of B.C.

Plans, specifications and estimates are also available without obligation.

Fall is Time to Plant For Lovely New Lawns

Nothing enhances the beauty of your home like a luxuriant lawn and you grow one easily if you follow these five simple steps:

1. Spade—Dig down 6 to 8 inches and turn the soil over. Break up the large clods and work in black dirt and peat moss as required. The ideal soil is a mixture of sand, organic material and clay.
2. Rake—Cultivate soil into fine texture. Take out stones and foreign material. Mix a good grade of fertilizer into the top five inches of the soil. Use about 40 lbs. of fertilizer per 1000 square feet.
3. Seed—In early fall sow five lbs. of good quality grass seed per 1000 square feet of new lawn. For reseeding old lawns use half this amount. Cover seed by raking one-eighth to one-quarter inches of soil over it. For best results divide seed and plant the first half lengthwise and then cover same area walking crosswise. Rolling lightly helps make soil compact.

- 4. Water—Immediately after planting water area lightly with fine spray. Repeat daily until grass sprouts. On established lawns wet thoroughly so that water penetrates to a depth of four to five inches. Don't sprinkle lightly and often. Wet thoroughly once or twice weekly.
- 5. Fertilizer—After lawn is established apply 30 to 40 lbs. of fertilized per 1000 square feet. Spread fertilizer evenly preferably just before a rain. Otherwise water thoroughly to prevent burning.

Decorative Shelving Give Kitchen That Old-Fashioned, Homey Look

This year the kitchen wears an old-fashioned 'homey' look. All of the new patterns of decorative-bordered shelving paper being introduced by the country's leading manufacturers brings back nostalgic memories of the days when grandma was setting up housekeeping.

Yet, all have been brought right up to date with sparkling 1952 "pasti-chrome" beauty. The patterns are bright with flowers from old-fashioned gardens and designs which simulate fabric trimmings popular in days gone by.

Dominant colors are the perennial kitchen favorites — red and yellow with greens and blues important as secondary colors. All the patterns are extra bright and extra durable, even jiffy-washable because they have been coated with a thin film of plastic which protects and strengthens while it brightens!

Ventilators Cut Down Bills

Kitchen ventilators pay for themselves many times over in cutting down redecorating costs throughout much of the house.

Steamy, oily vapors from cooking carry vegetable oils and grease in a fine mist which often circulates through a house, condensing on walls, ceilings, curtains and upholstery. As dust settles on this film everything becomes dull.

To install a blower in a kitchen window is a simple matter. The more ambitious handyman can get even better results by building a hood over the kitchen range with the blower vented to the outdoors.

Cleaning Out Attic Brings Back Memories

This is the season for cleaning out the attic, tidying up dark corners and sorting out old memories. Going through the attic is the best fun of all—finding old trinkets and discarded baby clothes—a dress form, stark and naked, a mute reminder of slimmer days.

Spending bemused and dreamy hours with old letters and pictures — wondering why you've saved such useless things, but help, even now to throw them away.

Billy Meyers Gives up Trying

CINCINNATI (CP)—Billy Meyer, oldest National League manager in both age and service gave up Saturday after five years of trying to nurse a pennant contender from the rookie-studded Pittsburgh Pirates. Meyer has managed the Pirates since 1948 when he was named the manager of year for directing Pittsburgh to fourth place finish. Then the Pirates hit the skids, finishing sixth in 1949, last in 1950 and seventh in 1951, and last again this year in one of the poorest seasons in the club's history.

West Coast Fisheries Expert Enjoys Ceylon; Directs $1,000,000 Canadian Aid Program

OTTAWA (CP)—A husky British Columbian flew back to the Orient Saturday to spark a $1,000,000 Canadian effort to start the modernization of the primitive fishing industry of Ceylon with gifts of three new ships, a refrigeration plant and human skulls.

This latest Canadian government move in the Commonwealth Colombo Plan to build up South and Southeast Asia was announced here and it represented a considerable triumph for Donald M. Haywood of Vancouver.

He is the young executive loaned by British Columbia Packers, Ltd., a year ago to go to Ceylon—smallest of all the Commonwealth's dominions—to see what could be done to build up its backward fisheries. He came back to Canada two months ago to sell the government on a varied program. They accepted nearly everything he sought—including diving equipment for pearls—and Saturday he left to return to Ceylon and to his wife and two children and another eight months in which the program should bloom.

Another 15 Canadians—fishing boat captains, two fisheries scientists, people to build Ceylon's first fish refrigeration plant—will follow him as well as three new boats to put the program into stride.

Mr. Haywood, obviously fond of Ceylon and its people, told reporters his year as consultant to the government in Colombo showed him an "obsolete and inefficient" fishing industry where 70,000 men fished with hand-lines and where the island's potentially larger, off-shore fishery was untouched.

Canada is going to provide a nucleus that can chart the lines for long-range fishing and marketing policy out there, Mr. Haywood said.

Canada is providing:

1. Two fully-equipped 44-foot fishing boats to be built in B.C. shipyards and to be ready by late December. The contracts will be announced shortly.
2. A 145-foot, steel deep-sea trawler being bought in Britain.
3. Six expert fishermen from the two coasts to train Ceylonese fishermen.

1. The refrigeration plant with freezing, storage and drying facilities as well as other equipment and further technical assistance.

Return Bout Scheduled For Walcott

NEW YORK (AP)—Home television fans may get a look at the return fight between newly crowned heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano and "unretired" Jersey Joe Walcott.

While nothing regarding this major fight has been settled by the interested parties, it was learned from a good source that the chances were better than 2 to 1 that there will be a general telecast of the second bout. The fight may take place in January in either Chicago or Miami.

The first scrap between the two on Tuesday was beamed only to theatres in 31 cities via a closed circuit.

Felix Bosshicchio, the manager of Walcott, will come here in a couple of days to talk things over with promoter Jim Norris and Al Weill, manager of Marciano.

The announcement of Walcott's decision to fight once more came as no great surprise to anyone. Walcott is contracted to get 30 per cent of the return and that could add up to over $200,000 counting all the extras.

Immediately after the Philadelphia fight, Felix announced that Jersey Joe was through. Today he said he had given in to Walcott's plea for a chance to "make boxing history by recapturing the championship."

"We're ready to fulfill the contract," said Weill when he was told of the "unretirement." "But Rocky needs a nest and time to heal his cuts. I think Felix and Jim Norris will waive the 90-day clause for the return. We won't fight until after Jan. 1. I think Chicago or Miami is a good place for it."

"That's okay with us," said Bosshicchio. "We won't quibble over the date."
