33 DAYS IN RUSSIA AS CANADIAN LABOR ENVOY

Moscovites 'Happy, Contented' Union Delegate Tells Meeting

People in Moscow are not contented, John Hines, trade union delegate, told more than 100 delegates to the Common Labour Centre last night.

The 33-year-old member of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Decorators and Painters of America (AFL), who spent 33 days in the Soviet Union, eight of them in Moscow.

"You must declare the amount of money on your person when entering Russia and on leaving," he told how a 19-year-old boy working in a Russian factory made 800 rubles a month and explained that because "the Soviet Union does not want our money, it is difficult to compare the value of a ruble against the Canadian dollar on a monetary basis."

He said, however, that 800 rubles would be "about equal to $250 a month here."

"But rents would range only between four and seven per cent of our high rent, and his living costs would be much cheaper than ours because there are no hidden taxes on meals, cigarettes and other articles."

"The only tax is on income and that is on a sliding scale," Mr. Hines said construction of huge apartment blocks is gradually replacing old homes in and around Moscow. The apartments, in many cases, are built behind rows of old homes which are torn down and the streets then widened.

"That's the main reason for such wide streets in Moscow."

SET WAGES

Wages for men and women are the same for identical jobs, he told the meeting, and said "the scale is set by the trade union movement." Salaries for doctors and other professional persons are established by the ministries of the government.

Mr. Hines said he saw no unemployment and while the hotels in Moscow and other cities are "very busy, it is not from tourists. There is a great deal of travel within the country without letting tourists come in."

Explaining that working women can take their children to nurseries and kindergartens built near factories, he said "there are equal opportunities for women who take a practical part in the trade unions."

He said "annual vacations vary from 12 to 48 days according to the nature of the occupation."

One of the few persons to visit Russia since the war, Mr. Hines left Vancouver last Aug. 4.

Asked how he was selected as the B.C. delegate, he said "my name just happened to be the one chosen."

Trade unionists in the Soviet Union had invited Canadian unionists, through the Canadian-Soviet Friendship Society, to visit Russia. The society in Vancouver asked the unions to set up a sponsoring committee which selected several names.

Mr. Hines moved to Canada from his home in England at the age of two. He was back for

Radio Firms May Enter Television

New Powers Sought In Throne Speech

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Government announced it will allow private companies to enter the field of television, now occupied solely by the publicly-owned Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

The government also announced it will seek the renewal of its peace-time emergency powers, first granted by Parliament following the outbreak of war in Korea.

An associated minister of national defence will be appointed.

The announcement was contained in a 2,000-word speech from the Throne, read at the opening of the Seventh session of Canada's 21st Parliament.

The session may be the last before a general election, expected in the Fall of 1953.

The speech, read by Governor-General Massey, said Parliament will be asked to vote money to enable the CBC to establish television stations in Halifax, Winnipeg and Vancouver.

Applications will be considered for private TV stations in cities where the CBC has no television outlets or immediate plans for a station.

The speech said resistance of United Nations forces in Korea and increasing strength of the forces of freedom in Europe have lessened the dangers of war.

Ralph O. Campney, appointed solicitor-general a few weeks ago, is being mentioned as likely choice for the new post of associate defence minister.

The speech said income tax regulations dealing with deferred depreciation on property will be eased; plans being made for the development of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project and navigation improvements on the Pacific Coast will be studied.

The national health grants program will be extended; provision will be made for greater educational aid for children of fathers who died as a result of war service, and amendments to the National Housing Act are planned but details were not disclosed.

76-Year-Old Man Spends Lonely Ordeal in Ravine Near City

VANCOUVER—A 76-year-old man is catching up on his eating in hospital here after being held captive for three days by the steep walls of a ravine.

The lonely ordeal didn't take place in the wilderness but on the outskirts of Vancouver in Burnaby municipality.

Hauled up by a rope and sling Wednesday from a point 150 feet down a ravine to which he had elung for more than 70 hours after tumbling over its brink was Theodore A. Wink.

Wink's first words to police and ambulance men when he reached the top were "I'm very hungry and have a sore back."

New Applications Must Be Made by Home-Seekers First House Ready for January

Appointment of a housing authority to administer the 50 rental homes being built here by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation was announced today with Orme G. Stuart named chairman for a three-year term.

Other members, all of whom received a certified copy of an order-in-council from the provincial secretary's office at Victoria, naming them are:

Norman Bellis and Mrs. M. Willa Ray, who will hold office until December 31, 1954; Robert G. Moore and Hugh A. MacKenzie, who will hold office until Dec. 31, 1953.

Known as the Prince Rupert Housing Authority, first body of its kind appointed in B.C., they will select a secretary-manager who will supervise the general operation.

Allotting of the houses to qualified applicants "will not be done on a first come, first served basis, but on a fair assessment of all the facts concerning the case," said Mr. Stuart, adding that first of the new units is not expected to be available for occupancy until early in January and "rents will run from $70 to $90 a month."

Members of the authority will serve without remuneration and will be guided in their activities under the joint agreement between the Dominion and Provincial governments and the city.

The secretary-manager will receive a salary and his duties will include assessing present accommodation of applicants.

New application forms have been printed and are now available at the city clerk's office at the City Hall.

Mr. Stuart said persons who filled out forms last April must also fill out the new forms.

"The fact that any person completed an application form does not constitute an undertaking or obligation on the part of the Prince Rupert Housing Authority to provide that person with a house."

"Until a secretary-manager is appointed, the city is assisting in the distribution of application forms which should be completed and returned to the city clerk's office until further notice."

"It is emphasized that this arrangement is temporary, designed only to assist the Authority and save time."

"The city has no part in housing administration or allocation."

VANCOUVER (CP)—The chairman of British Columbia's liquor inquiry board charged Wednesday that a "substantial number" of hotels in the province are "a disgrace to the community, existing only to boost liquor consumption."

Highway 16 Closed for Construction

Eastern section of the stretch of Highway 16 under construction just east of Galloway Rapids Bridge will be closed for four hours tomorrow.

J. A. Easton, general superintendent of Wood & McClay contractors, said a portion also was closed today from noon until 4 p.m. to allow removal of muskeg from beneath the old road.

While the closure cuts off travel between here and Terrace, he said an arrangement could be made to allow passage for any emergency trip.

Portions of the road will be closed daily for the next "three or four days," he said so that all the muskeg can be cleared away and replaced with rock. The whole job is expected to be completed by the end of the month.

The eastern section will be closed tomorrow between 10 a.m. and noon and from 2 p.m. until 4 p.m.

TCA to Buy New Aircraft

MONTREAL—Purchase by Trans-Canada Air Lines of 15 Viscount turbo-prop aircraft costing about $11,500,000 was announced Wednesday by G. R. McGregor, TCA president.

The planes, purchased from the British firm of Vickers-Armstrong, are powered, by four Rolls-Royce Dart engines.

Sabre Jet Sets Speed Record

THERMAL, Calif.—A roaring, flame-spewing F-86D Sabre jet plane piloted by Capt. J. Siade Nach, of Edwards Air Force base Wednesday established an unofficial world speed record just a shade under 700 miles an hour.

Nash, 31, made four low-level passes over a measured three-kilometre course at the edge of the Inland Salton Sea, 235 feet below sea level.

Nash topped the 670.981 mph mark set Sept. 15 by Maj. Richard L. Johnson who flew an earlier Sabre model, F-86A.

Famed Fighter Dies in Ring As Referee

VANCOUVER (CP)—Hector McDonald who started his fight career with his pal Jimmy McLarnin and fought many of the world's best featherweights and lightweights, died here Wednesday in the boxing ring.

The 43-year-old McDonald, who became one of the Pacific Coast's best known referees after hanging up his gloves, died after collapsing from a heart attack in the ring at Vancouver College.

B.C. Premier Forecasts Next Election

PENTICTON—Premier W. A. C. Bennett indicated in a by-election speech here last night that B.C. will have a general election, probably soon after the spring session of the Legislature.

Once during his speech he referred to the election "in the next year," and later said "when we come back to the people as we will do within a few months."

He told his audience B.C. will collect $9,000,000 annually in royalties when the Westcoast Transmission gas line is in full operation.

Former Red Czech Leaders On Trial in Prague Court

By The Canadian Press
 VIENNA—Fourteen former top leaders of Communist Czechoslovakia, including former foreign minister Vlado Clementis, went on trial in Prague court today on charges of treason and espionage.

Austrian Press Agency reports said Clementis had confessed to the responsibility for the death of Jan Svermo, Slovak Communist hero who took part in the anti-Nazi uprising of 1944.

Reports said Rudolf Slansky, former secretary-general of the party and another of the chief defendants, had admitted to preventing medical treatment to Svermo.

Slansky was charged also with plotting "elimination" of President Klement Gottwald.

No western correspondent was permitted to witness the court room drama, which compared with the famous Moscow trials of 1936.

Slansky, one of the architects of the Red Czech regime, was arrested in November, 1951, along with scores of other top government and party officials.

His Excellency To Rest After Strenuous Trip

OTTAWA (CP)—Governor-General Massey, advised by his doctors to rest, has postponed a planned pre-Christmas trip to the Northwest Territories, only part of Canada he has not visited.

Government House made the announcement Wednesday.

A spokesman said the announcement was not to be construed as meaning the Governor-General is ill. He is not cancelling other engagements.

Growth of a Province

ALTHOUGH the past year, with its labor problems and political confusion, has been a difficult one for British Columbia, anyone who is discouraged by this is giving way to unwarranted pessimism.

The outlook for the province is as bright as it ever was, and maybe brighter. For confirmation of this, one need only to study the regional reports of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce submitted during the convention at Vancouver last week.

It is natural that each spokesman should wish to give a promising picture of his territory, but they had the material to support their words. The province is riding high, and in no place is it higher than in the north.

Prince Rupert's delegate, Arthur Nickerson, president of the Associated Boards of Trade of Central B.C., reported that the Alcan development, to be the biggest aluminum smelter in the world, and the Columbia Cellulose forest industry, had sparked "unprecedented growth."

He pointed out that retail business in this area is at a high level, forest production is good, mining is active with base metals leading and two coal mines in operation. Agriculture is booming.

Elsewhere through the province the word is just as good, or almost as good. Vancouver Island suffered badly from the lumber strike and later the fire closure but is now finding new wealth from its pulp and paper industry.

Speaking for the province as a whole, retiring president Dr. C. H. Wright of Trail referred to production losses in lumber, coal, fish and farm output, but added that retail sales for the year are substantially higher.

One alarming note which emerged from the meeting and which should spur definite action was voiced by the highway committee chairman, T. J. Trapp, who observed that the proportion of current government revenue going toward highways has been steadily decreasing.

For Prince Rupert the meeting was an occasion for special pride in that two of its citizens were elected to high posts in the organization. They were J. T. Harvey, who becomes a vice-president, and Mr. Nickerson who was made a director.

Mortgage Exchange Expected To Flourish in Eastern City

By FORBES RHUDE, Canadian Press Business Editor

You may think that mortgage on your home rests in somebody's strong box until your payments bring it forth to make a bonfire on your at-last-solvent hearth.

It's not necessarily so. Some fit from hand to hand and many people may take a piece of profit out of one before it returns to you.

A Toronto firm has decided that there is an opening for a place where such procedures—buying and selling of mortgages—can be done quickly and conveniently, even as stocks and bonds are bought and sold, and have opened a market.

The market is called "The Mortgage Exchange," set up by Tower Investment Corporation, Ltd., a company organized for the purpose.

Steven Polon, manager, says so far as he knows it is the first such medium for quick mortgage turnovers. He says that by supplying a place where mortgage buyers and sellers can get together, transactions now are accomplished within a couple of days that formerly took two to six weeks.

Dealings so far have been in second mortgages only, but the firm plans to extend shortly to first mortgages, and to service the mortgages—collect payments, etc.—for those who wish this service.

The attraction of the second mortgage is its high return on the money invested—but there is risk. Because of the risk, the value on a second mortgage is ordinarily much higher than the money advanced under it.

To get $2,000, a man may contract for a second mortgage of from $2,500 to $4,000, depending on degree of risk, plus interest on the higher amount. Why will a man pay this much?

He may be trying to buy a home which calls for a $6,000 down-payment, when he has only $4,000 cash. The $2,000 from the second mortgage gives him the extra he needs, and apparently he considers the high cost as part of the cost of his home.

The mortgage exchange is to provide a place where a property buyer, an agent, or perhaps the

As I See It

by Elmore Philpott

Premier's Slight Error

IN HIS Golden speech Premier Bennett honored me with personal reference.

What, he asked, was behind the plunge into the by-election by Elmore Philpott, "who has never campaigned for the Liberals before?"

O come, come now Premier Bennett. You are woefully misinformed. I cast my first vote with the 33rd Battery in France in 1917. It was Tory. Again in 1921 I voted Conservative, for our family friend General Newburn of Hamilton.

In the elections of 1925 I actively campaigned for the Liberals through the columns of the paper for which I then worked, The Montreal Witness.

In the Ontario election of 1929 and the federal election of 1930 I wrote numerous editorials for the Toronto Globe and also made dozens of speeches for Liberal candidates.

I ran second to Mitch Hepburn for the Ontario Liberal leadership in 1930, and ran for parliament—twice as a Liberal candidate—once in West Hamilton in the by-election of 1931 and again in 1935 when I was defeated in South York by the late Hon. Earl Lawson. In that same election I made a dozen speeches for Hon. C. D. Howe.

We came to B.C. in 1937 and I supported the Liberals in this column in the election of 1940—when I also spoke for Messrs. Mayhew and Chambers. In the provincial election just about then I supported Nancy Hodges, Mr. Straith, etc. In the election of 1945 I spoke repeatedly over the radio for a slate of my own. It included General Pearkes and Howard Green, Conservatives; Hon. Jimmy Sinclair, George Cruikshank and several other Liberals as well as CCF men like Angus MacInnes, Tom Aisbury, Bert Herdidge.

I thought everyone knew that in every election or by-election I back the party, parties, or candidates, who seem best fitted to do the jobs.

I am sure it would be a disaster if in the federal election of next year we got the same kind of mess and mix up that came out of the B.C. election of last June. A Social Credit defeat now would help avert that.

MEANWHILE I am delighted to have done my small bit to attract the entire cabinet, save one, to the bracing Rocky Mountain riding of Columbia.

The people in Columbia never had the chance to see so many cabinet ministers before. A relaxing swim in the hot pool at Radium will do no cabinet minister any harm. It is a wonderful tonic after sliding around the skiddy mountain roads!

I AM NO indiscriminate supporter of the Liberal, or any other party, right or wrong. But I think it would be a disaster for B.C. and for all Canada if the great Liberal party were to abdicate, or wither away and die, bit by bit.

That is why I gladly accepted the invitation of the Liberal candidate, George Keenleyside, to speak for him. If the Liberals win this by-election there will be no further talk of them curling up and dying in B.C.

I think intelligent Conservative and CCF voters see the sense in that too, which is why Messrs. Coldwell and Winch indicated to voters as plainly as they could, under the circumstances, to give their second choices to the Liberals—who have the better chance to beat the Social Credit man in Columbia.

VICTORIA REPORT

... by J. K. Nesbitt

VICTORIA—In a few days now we'll know the results of the all-important by-elections in Columbia and Similkameen ridings.

The Social Credit government, naturally, breathlessly awaits the outcome. Seldom has any government been so on the spot. This government just cannot afford to lose these two by-elections. If it does, Social Credit could well be through, before it's really started. If it wins, Social Credit is in for a long time. It's as simple, as important as that. Like most governments in time of crisis, this government has forgotten all about the people's business in recent weeks, and is paying full attention to the business of the politicians. Which makes this observer sure, all over again, that fixed election dates must come if we're to have any political stability.

Many people ask what will happen if the government should lose one of the by-elections—or both. Will Opposition Leader Winch become Premier right away? The answer is this—No, he won't, not right away, not until after a general election, anyway, if then.

The Social Credit government is in, and there's only one way of getting it out—defeat on the floor of the House. The Lieutenant-Governor could, of course, ask Mr. Winch to form a government, if the CCF has more seats than Social Credit—but His Honor won't. The Crown always follows the advice of the Ministers—and, in this case, even if Social Credit had fewer seats than the CCF, the Premier isn't going to advise that Mr. Winch form a government.

Even if the government loses both seats, it could still carry on in the House, provided Liberals and Conservatives give it support. And no doubt they will. There's no reason to believe either of the badly shattered old-line parties want a general election, until they can build up strength for another fray. They are pretty weak, morally and financially, after last June's epic battle, which left them gasping for breath. As they look at themselves, Liberals and Conservatives wonder how they're going to achieve that: there were those who wanted annexation to the United States and those who said B.C. would never prosper under Ottawa, only under the British government in far-away London. Less than 100 years—what truly astonishing growth has this province experienced. James Douglas, Amor DeCosmos, Henry Crease, Robert Dunsmuir, John Robson, J. D. Pemberton—how they would blink their eyes if they could see us today. Or would they be surprised? They were men of vision and they labored for this province, because somehow they knew that someday British Columbia would be a great place.

Tory Charges False Voting

MONTREAL (CP)—John Crankshaw, Montreal lawyer, has charged the federal Liberal party organization in Quebec has perfected a "telegraphic machine" to impersonate voters at by-elections in this province. He told more than 300 delegates from 48 federal ridings at the annual meeting of the Progressive-Conservative party of Montreal district, that he obtained first-hand information regarding impersonation at the Brome-Missisquoi federal by-election last June 26. He said he had a number of Liberal "telegraphic" agents arrested at that time.

LETTERBOX

SOCCERS COULD DO NO WORSE

Editor, Daily News: Having followed the observations of Elmore Philpott for some time I am at a loss to understand what is wrong with him. Possibly there is something wrong with me, but thank Heaven it is not the same malady.

Recently he prognosticated that Ike would be defeated. I won $5 on Ike. At least I was right once.

Now he is stating that the Socreds are nothing but camouflaged Conservatives. I regret to disagree with him. In my estimation Socreds are people who became disgusted with Liberals, Conservatives and CCFers, and had the fortitude to vote for a change. (The same applies to the USA). As nearly as I can figure it out Liberals and Conservatives are camouflaged CCFers, and in that case I would put Mr. Philpott in that category. The same will therefore apply to all others who hold his opinions.

If anyone will look back over the history of Canada for 50 years, one will find so much that has been done wrong by both parties that I certainly would not want to brag about the fact that I have voted for all three of the other parties—in an effort to choose the lesser of several evils; not because I thought any of them were little tin gods. It does not seem possible that the Socreds could pull off as many dizzy ideas as the others have pulled off; why condemn them before they have had a chance to demonstrate what they can do? Certainly B.C. has nothing. (Continued on page 4) to brag about, as compared with Alberta.

LETTERBOX

After a try with Labor in Britain, Churchill was called back to see if he could save the country. The USA became fed up with the policies of Roosevelt and Truman and had the good sense to make a change. B.C. was fed up with her dictators, etc., and called for a change. Mr. Bennett and Ike should receive our sympathy, and our co-operation, instead of being knocked before they have pulled off some of the assinine stunts of our past misrepresentatives.

After the results of the election in the USA both Stevenson and Truman offered to co-operate with Ike. The people had spoken, and the election and politics should be forgotten. Politics be hanged—now it is time to work for the good of the country. In which case we would suggest that the camouflaged Liberals and conservatives get behind the Secreds instead of the CCFers; as if they split the vote, in an effort to get back their fat jobs, it will result in a CCF victory. We wonder if that is what Mr. Philpott would like to see. There are so many reasons why that would be a calamity that it is time to stop, look and listen.

When one takes a good look at the present conditions in Canada, Britain and the USA, it is enough to give one delirium tremens. Just what does our present so-called prosperity actually mean? Figure it out, fellow victims. If the Secreds can manage to think up such a mess of goofy ideas they will have to be magicians.

Some time ago the government fined the bakers, and now are going after other concerns who have combined to fix prices. It seems it took four years to get the incriminating evidence. Now if they would just open their eyes they would find hundreds of criminals who are doing just the same thing, and to make matters worse the government upholds them. Do I need to tell you who these (legalized) crooks are? If the Secreds can clean up this mess we should all give them our support, instead of knocking them, and asking for more of the terrible things of the present and past.

OBSERVER.

ENCOURAGEMENT FOR SOCIAL CREDIT

Editor, Daily News—
The most heartening omen Social Credit is likely to observe in the current southern provincial by-elections is the fact that your worthy columnist, Elmore Philpott, foresees the almost certain defeat of their candidates come November 24. Too bad, because we anti-Secreds figured maybe we had a fair chance of handing the government a rebuff until Elmore came out with his prediction. One would think he would have become a little more cautious after his dismal showing in guessing the results of the U.S. presidential vote.

I think Elmore's a good writer on a lot of subjects, but I also think political prognostications aren't his meat. Perhaps it's a case of the shoemaker sticking to the tools of his trade and he should discard this particular "last." Anyway, were I a political aspirant, I'd just as soon not have the columnist's blessing—I'd be afraid it would more likely develop into a "kiss of death." W. H. P.

THANKS TO CASEY

Editor, Daily News:
Could I beg space to express my appreciation of Mr. George B. Casey's letter, "CCF and Liberals Join Hands?"

This letter settled a query in my mind as to whether or not socialism could be included in free franchise and enterprise, although it is my hope that our parties do not endeavor to form a coalition but rather to leave our anticipations to the free vote and patronage of our participants.

Mr. Champ's Sniping Puts Crimp in Partner's Game

Mr. Abel is not at his best when playing with Mr. Champion as a partner. The great man's constant criticism throws him off his game. He is either nervous or confused or both. This leads to the loss of thousands of points in the course of time. And of course it is understandable.

But here is a sidelight that is beyond understanding. As fine a technical player as Mr. Champion is, he seems unable to realize that his arrogance costs him, too.

Mrs. Keen led the jack of diamonds and dummy's queen won. Mr. Abel saw that he might lose three spades, a heart and a club. After some thought he banged down the ace and king of hearts. This good guess brought no comment from Mr. Champion. Only the bad plays rate his notice.

At trick four Mr. Abel led a club and finessed dummy's queen. Mr. Dale won with the king and was in no hurry to try to cash spade tricks. He merely returned a diamond which was won in the closed hand with the king.

Mr. Abel now cashed his other high diamond, discarding a small club from the board. He led to the ace of clubs and returned a small spade. Mrs. Keen killed the jack with the king and a spade return through dummy seller of the property, may find someone interested in buying such a mortgage immediately.

It also provides a place where the mortgage buyer may quickly sell it to someone else.

The exchange itself takes a commission of one per cent of the cash paid for the mortgage.

The exchange classes the second mortgages A, B, C, D, with A having the least risk and D the most.

Take a $4,000 class D high-risk mortgage, running three years at six per cent with payments of $35 a month for principal and interest.

Class Ds are currently quoted at 55 per cent. Thus the buyer would get the $4,000 for $2,200.

In three years at $35 a month he would draw $1,260 and then, at maturity, would get about $3,427, the capital amount still remaining. So, in three years, he would get a total of $4,687 for his $2,200 investment, close to 38 per cent if averaged over the three years.

Actually, most yields are lower than this and at present are running about 10 per cent yearly for class A; 14 to 15 per cent for class B; 20 per cent for class C, and 25 to 30 per cent for class D.

Great Runner 72, Revisits British Home

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON

LONDON—Alfred Shrubbs, one of the greatest runners of all time, has been back for a glimpse of the scenes of his more memorable British triumphs after nearly 27 years in Canada.

Now a resident of Bowmanville, Ont., the famous star of the Edwardian era, returned to his homeland to celebrate his 72nd birthday, as honored guest of friends and admirers that cheered him on to several world records half a century ago.

Wined and dined wherever he appeared, the veteran had special reason to remember the reception accorded him at his old club, the South London Harriers. It was there in 1901 he began his track career and in whose colors he subsequently gathered in almost every international record from 1½ to 11 miles.

As a South London Harrier he also became British amateur champion four times over the four and 10-mile distances, holder of the mile title twice, with the national and southern cross-country championships, thrown in for good measure. His achievement in covering 11 miles, 1,127 yards in one hour, has never been equalled.

Special tribute was paid to the 112-pound former champion by the president of the club, A. S. Pirie, father of Britain's 21-year-old Olympic runner, Gordie Pirie, who has been nibbling away at Shrubbs' hard-to-beat records. Only last summer, Gordie sliced off more than 10 seconds from the veteran's amateur native mark of 19 minutes, 31.6 seconds over the four-mile route, a record that had stood the challenge for 50 years.

"Do I mind my own records being shattered?" Shrubbs smilingly asked. "Not a bit of it. In fact I welcome it and as for young Pirie I predict great things of him in the 1956 Olympic Games."

Shrubbs also reminisced about his thrilling track duals against the American, Johnny Hayes, who supplanted him and the "grudge" battles against the Indian, Tom Longboat, Canada's great long-distance champion of another era.

Later, he talked about the current crop of track stars. He thinks they are "tops," particularly Emil Zatopek, Czechoslovakia's winner of the 5,000 and 10,000 metres as well as the marathon at last summer's Helsinki Olympic games.

TRAINING BIG FACTOR
"He is scarcely human in winning those three gruelling events against the world's best," Shrubbs said. "The modern athletes have gone on improving on our old records because they specialize more, are better trained, and very important indeed, wear better running shoes than we had. Zatopek does not specialize which makes him phenomenal."

For the benefit of those who seek the sports limelight, Shrubbs advised that every runner should wait until he or she attains the age of 18 or 19 years before taking part in major competition. Too many youngsters, he said, burn themselves out trying to do too much too early in life.

Before returning to Canada the famous runner stopped off at his birthplace in Slindford, Sussex and also paid a visit to Cambridge and Oxford University where he served for a spell as track coach.

"It's been a grand trip and I've enjoyed every minute of it," he said as a final salute. "If all the reservations aren't booked I may be over again next year for the coronation."

Rugby Ousted On East Coast

By KINGSLEY BROWN, JR.

HALIFAX—English rugby has lost a one-sided battle against Canadian football in this east coast port which for 200 years has been noted for its close association with the Old Country. The glamor of colorful uniforms, brilliant quarterback strategy and mid-game attractions took the crowds away.

A rugby league official who asked not to be identified admitted today that "rugby here is dying on its feet. A recent crucial game saw the biggest attendance this season—25 persons."

"But a couple of blocks up the street," he said, "Dalhousie University Tigers and Stadacona played a regular league game before some 2,300 persons. The bleachers and end zones were packed."

It was not always that way. In 1926, for instance, when the University of New Brunswick played Halifax Wanderers 6,000 fans watched Wanderers win the Maritime rugby title.

Provincial centres and Maritime colleges still support the game and Cape Bretoners, in particular, cling to their rugged with admirable tenacity.

It is considered only a matter of time, however, before nearly all colleges take up the new game.

The game caught on here shortly after the Second World War. It now is played in the city's three high schools and a vocational school and at Dalhousie University.

In New Brunswick, a four-team Canadian football league is operating with success.

The game is steadily gaining popularity. Attendance, at an average of 1,400 a game, has doubled since last season. The average at a rugby game, according to a Maritime Rugby Union executive, is five persons.

Hamilton Win Forces Third Big Four Tilt

TORONTO (CP)—Hamilton Tiger-Cats struck with shattering force in rain and semi-darkness Wednesday to whip Toronto Argonauts 27-11 and force an unexpected third and deciding game here Saturday for the Big Four football championship.

Originally a two-game, total-point playoff, the series was extended to a third tilt by Hamilton's winning margin which wiped out the Argonauts' 16-point first-game lead and deadlocked the score on a round at 33-33.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Speaking strictly from hearsay, there apparently will be no great popular demand for Sugar Ray Robinson to stick with the stage and abandon his ring career permanently.

A local critic who caught the middleweight champion's show argued, "I know where the old ones went—somebody sold them to Robinson."

Indications continue to mount that the rebuilt Bowtie track, which opens its season today under the dynamic direction of Larry MacPhail, will before long take its place among the U.S. racing horse parks in every region. Stanky's disclosure that he has the right to hire and fire his coaches indicates that the cardinal holds one of the strongest hands in the managerial guild.

It is customary nowadays for 'futbol' rough, bad game says Soviet Paper

MOSCOW (AP)—The news- Soviet Sports indicated that American 'futbol' is rough, bad game that cripples players both physically and mentally.

The Russians previously described 'beizbol' as a "beastly game, a bloody fight with mayhem and murder."

It were as if American 'futbol' had been created for inciting beastly instincts both in the audience and in the athletes themselves," the organ of the sports committee said.

The story was part of a general article which purported to prove that all American student sports are corrupt and intended solely to prepare American youths for militarism.

a manager to keep maybe one old crony around just because he likes him, but in most cases the front office picks the assistant brains with great care and the manager likes them or else. A real good signal stealer is always assured of a job.

Lady Curlers Plan Social

A social evening will be combined when all rinks of the ladies' curling club gather at the Seal Cove rink Saturday, it was decided at a club executive meeting yesterday.

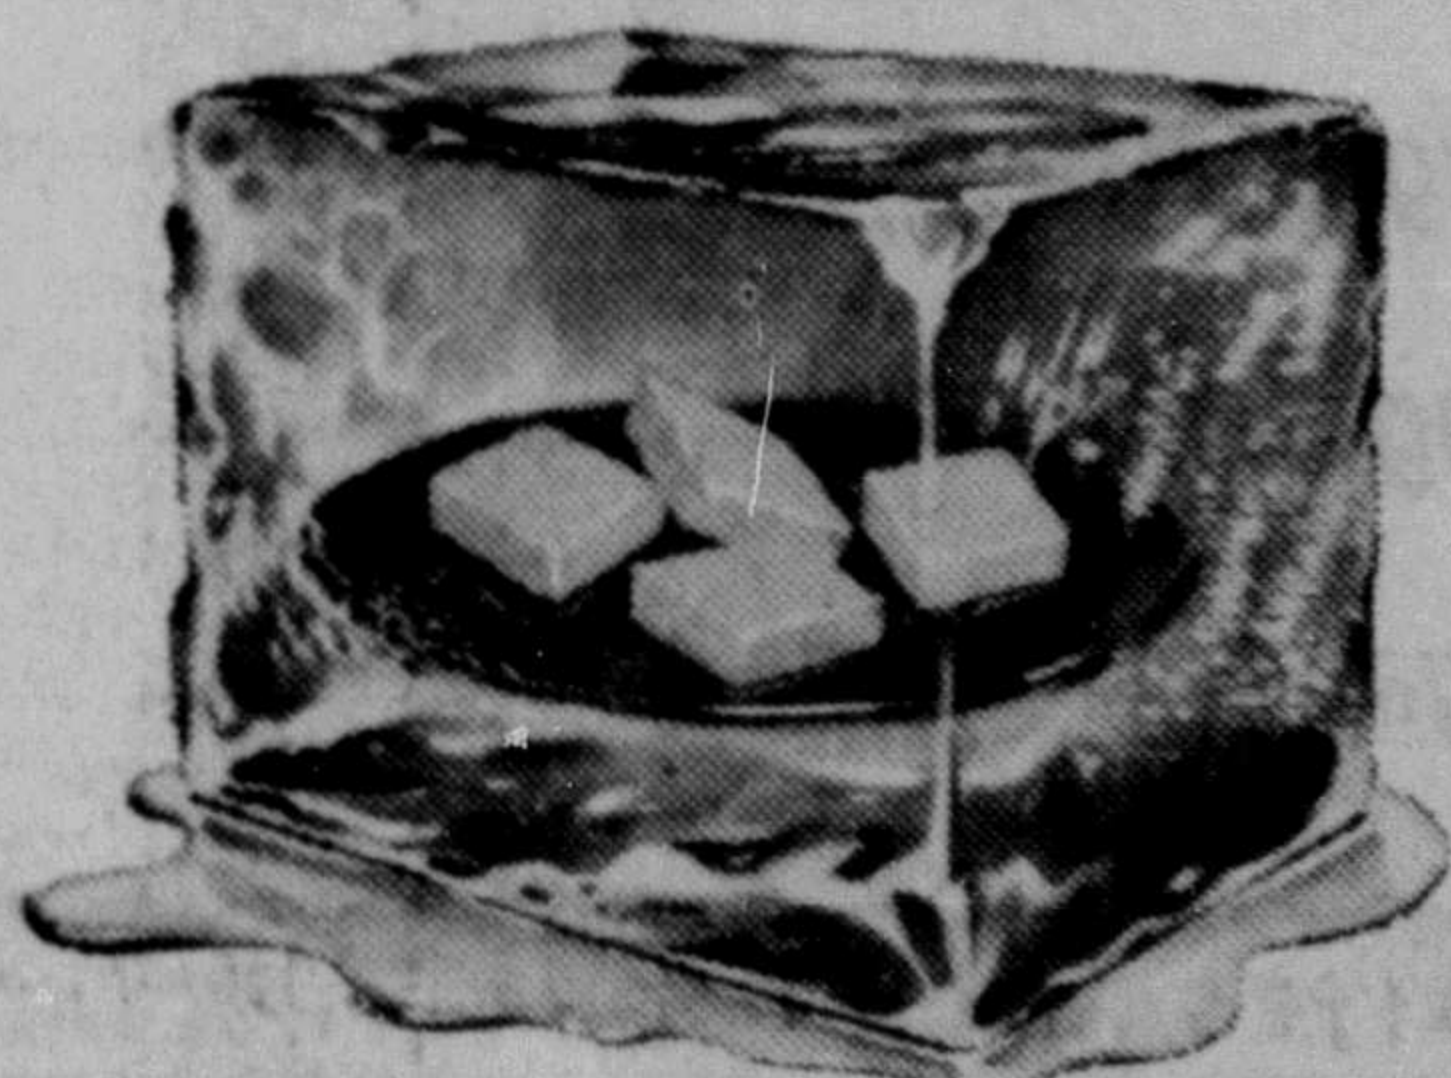

The evening was planned as a means of getting all members together for one night before the regular season opens. Members of the men's curling club also are invited.

The club also decided to open its membership to single women, rates to be announced.

The draw for Saturday night will be announced tomorrow.

Possibility of 'Artificial Satellites' May Be Probed by U.S. Army Guided Missiles Experts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some top-ranking United States businessmen are so impressed with prospects of man-made islands circling in space that many today believe such a project should be financed for defence purposes.

Several members of the business advisory council of the commerce department said at the council's closing session at Sea Island, Ga., yesterday that a recent report by an army guided-missiles expert had "excited a lot of interest."

Werhner von Braun, the ordnance expert, told the group two months ago that a space station of military value could be built within 10 years at a cost of $4,000,000,000 or less. Von Braun, project director of the army ordnance guided-missiles centre at Huntsville, Ala., said the country that controlled outer space could achieve world peace.

It was brought out yesterday that many council members now think the government might do well to put a few million dollars into a program of study and planning.

Robert T. Stevens, council chairman, told a reporter that although some labelled it "Buck Rogers stuff," others were impressed.

Von Braun told the council getting materials to the station's site a little more than 1,000 miles from earth would be done by an enormous, three-stage rocket, similar to one already successfully tested. The cargo would be left suspended in space while rockets returned for more. The materials would be assembled in space, creating an artificial satellite in the shape of a wheel. It would rotate on its axle and circle the earth at 16,000 miles an hour.

Air conditioning would provide oxygen for a crew of 200 to 300 men.

Apart from its value in weather observation and scientific research, Von Braun said, the space vessel would have obvious usefulness in reconnaissance and observation and might also serve as a base for atom-tipped missiles "against which there cannot well be counter-measures."

Pretty Blonde on War Front Causes Sensation

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA—A good-looking fair-skinned blonde driving through the Canadian sector in a jeep can cause a sensation.

The first soldiers dilate their eyes, gasp unbelievably and shove back their caps. They shout the word ahead. "Hey, get a load of that jeep—she's white." The road lines. The troops whistle.

It happened the other day with and for Mrs. Marjorie Heath of Donalda, Alta.

Square Dance Big Hit in English Town

STELLARTON, N.S.—Western songs and peppy Canadian square dances are making a hit with English residents at Kelton, near the North Luffenham air base in Rutlandshire where the No. 1 fighter wing of the Royal Canadian Air Force is stationed.

Mr. and Mrs. George MacPherson here received a copy of the Leicester Evening Mail which had a picture of their son, LAC Don MacPherson, and his wife attending a square dance at Kelton.

This dance was part of the carnival staged by the Canadian armymen to raise funds to repair the bell of the church at North Luffenham which had been silent since it was cracked two centuries ago.

The carnival was regarded by Kelton residents, according to the English newspaper's account, as one of the biggest events of their lives.

TB Groups Launch Drive Against Killer

Tuberculosis associations in 230 communities of Canada launched their annual drive for funds by sale of Christmas seals this week.

Money from these annual campaigns, held in Canada at the same time as a similar drive in the United States, is spent by the various committees on a variety of preventative measures, including education programs and mass x-ray surveys to find tuberculosis cases in the early stages when they are most easily treated.

The double-barred cross on this year's Christmas seal marks the 50th anniversary of the choice of this symbol by an international conference of many countries in Berlin.

In those days, tuberculosis was the primary cause of death in all countries. Today, tuberculosis is between sixth and eighth place as a killer in various countries but an estimated 5,000,000 deaths occur annually in the world from TB.

Korea Reconstruction Agency.

While she has been with a film unit in Seoul—not far from the Canadian area—officers of the 25th Brigade, and especially of the RCHA, have been getting a lot of first-hand information about UNKRA during their visits to the capital. The number of reasons that can be produced to justify a trip down from the front is apparently infinite.

Invitations to visit the unit increased and multiplied, until finally she said she might go. A United States army brigadier-general said he'd give her a lift in his plane.

A jeep was waiting for her at the advanced airstrip and by the time it was climbing the hill into brigade headquarters, officers and men were piling out of the command tents. The brigade major, who hadn't believed his corporal, took a casual look out of his caravan window and in the next breath was on the wing.

Over at the RCHA area, where she lunched at the officers' mess, Mrs. Heath's arrival was a sensation.

Lt.-Col. E. M. D. McNaughton, to whom this had never before happened in action, jocularly ordered soldiers who had doled out tools to "rubberneck."

"Okay, you wolves, back to work."

To the delight of the regiment, she fired a gun, then went up to the forward area to see a shoot of air-burst shells detonate over enemy positions.

Said the colonel: "She was a tonic."

Churchmen Urge More Field Work

Churches Charged With Complacency

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A prominent American churchman warns that church communities are in danger of becoming a "complacent collection of clubby, chubby people who are satisfied only with themselves."

Rev. Jesse M. Bader, executive director of the department of evangelism of the United States National Council of Churches, yesterday told the Canadian Council of Churches that preachers are always speaking of evangelism, but they need to do more of this kind of work themselves.

He urged Canadian churches to increase their work on the university campus.

Rev. W. G. Berry, associate secretary of evangelism and social service for the United Church in Canada, said he is afraid of the "shot-in-the-arm method" of evangelism. "We pep people up and then send them home. But it's the follow-up that is so important."

Rev. H. B. Stainton of St. Thomas said he thinks one reason why churches are not reaching outsiders is because they are trying to reach people denominationally. The unchurched were not interested in such an approach, but they would listen to the interdenominational evangelist.

Speaking at the opening session of the meeting, Rev. W. J. Gallagher, general secretary of the council, said the church still stands, although she is suffering from sickness within and foes without.

The census report of religious profession of Canadians and the statistical reports of the churches themselves hinted that churches are falling short in the matter of evangelism.

Speaking on gambling and indecent publications, Mr. Gallagher said: "We are confronted with a combination of greedy exploitation on the one hand and deterioration of moral standards and decline of taste on the other."

He added that whether radio and television would prove a bane or a blessing depended upon the use made of them and upon who controls them. It was evident there were grave dangers in the misuse of radio and television. He said ministers should be trained as specialists who could conduct various types of religious broadcasts.

Delegates voted unanimously in favor of accepting the Canadian Overseas Missions Council as their department of overseas missions. The organization, which had expressed a wish to join the Council of Churches, promotes the work of all denominations and will continue its work as it has in the past.

New Publishers Begin Printing Canadian Books

A new publishing house has gone into production in Canada. First books off the Brunswick Press, of Fredericton, N.B., are juvenile fact and verse. Others are to follow.

The fact books are "The Children's Guide to Canada's Capital," and "The Children's Book of Roads," written by Leonard L. Knott, and illustrated in color by Jacques Gagnier, both of Montreal. These will be followed at regular intervals by other children's books about Canada and Brunswick Press also takes over sales rights to the previous books in the same series.

The book of verse, "The Cow with the Musical Moo," is an original Canadian work by Professor Desmond Pacey, of UNB and is illustrated by two new Canadian artists who have made their home in Fredericton. This and other books for young children will be published under the series title, Beaver Books, and represent the first major effort to produce original nursery rhyme books for the Canadian market.

Managing director of Brunswick Press is Brigadier M. Wardell of Fredericton who had a long and successful publishing career in England before coming to Canada two years ago. He also directs the University Press of New Brunswick, a printing company which is fully equipped to print and bind Brunswick Press publications.

The Canadian venture, Brigadier Wardell states, is the result of a survey which showed that the great majority of books sold in Canada, particularly in the juvenile field, are imported from other countries. His directors also felt that a great part of the demand for juvenile reading was being filled by comic books which many people consider entirely unsuitable for young readers.

Ancient Castle, Home of Clive Becomes Property of Britons

WELSHPOOL, Wales (Reuters)—Powis Castle, 800-year-old landmark and showcase of the fabulous wealth brought home by Clive of India in the 18th century, has become the property of the British public.

The National Trust, a non-profit, non-subsidized government agency set up to maintain Britain's ancient homes, acquired the red-walled mansion under terms of the will of the fourth Earl Clive, who died Nov. 9 at the age of 90.

For the first time, the public will be able to inspect both the 70-bedrooed castle and the fortune of jewels, carvings and other treasures which the original Clive brought home after his career as Britain's foremost empire builder.

Clive, through his military and administrative gifts, established

India for the crown and built up a personal wealth by methods which would make the present day "protection" racketeer seem like a Boy Scout operation.

He tested the soundness of his business methods as a boy in Shropshire, the son of an impoverished country squire. He organized an army of playmates and sold "insurance" to all storekeepers in the area so that their windows would not be broken.

As the leading power in India 25 years later he found local tribal princes willing to pay much more handsomely to insure peace was kept.

His trophies included one from Britain—a jewel-encrusted golden sword presented by a grateful public in appreciation of his military victories over Indians and the competing empire builders of France.

He gave up soldiering for administrative work in 1757, after achieving fame by freeing the 150-odd Englishmen "cramped into 'The Black Hole of Calcutta'" by a local prince, Suraj-ud-Dewlah. He also took the city, dethroned the prince and put his own nominee in charge.

By modern standards Clive would have been a candidate for prison, but a parliamentary inquiry, formed in 1764 to investigate charges that he had unscrupulously gathered his own ends, concluded instead that he had rendered invaluable services to the throne.

The wealth and lack of excitement of Clive's later years were too much for him. He took to smoking opium and in 1774, in a fit of depression, he used a pistol to end his life.

Plucky Artist Paints While Fighting Polio

LONDON (CP)—David Jackson, a 22-year-old British artist who nearly became a Canadian, has drawn comment with a painting shown at a London exhibition.

Paralyzed from the neck down by infantile paralysis, Jackson paints with the brush between his teeth, and spends most of his time in an iron lung.

He contracted the disease about two years ago on returning to Britain after visiting his sister, Mrs. Gladys Buckland of London. In 1948, Jackson and his parents went to Canada, intending to stay, but the elder Jackson became seriously ill and they returned to Britain.

Jackson contracted infantile paralysis and his father died the same week.

"After The Storm," a painting of the River Thames seen from the window of the disabled servicemen's home at Richmond where he is treated, is Jackson's first art exhibit. His interest in art started in London, Ont., where he had a junior position in an art department.

A gift of prints of Canadian paintings sent by Toronto Art Gallery during his illness stimulated his will to paint and he's hoping that some day he will be good enough to support himself and his widowed mother.

New Guinea Warriors Stage Week-Long Siege

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (Reuters)—A hundred painted warriors, wearing ceremonial war decorations of shell and dogs' teeth, fought a pitched battle with "killing spears" on a grassy hillside near Rigo last week.

District Commissioner W. B. Giles, just returned here from the Rigo area, 60 miles to the south, said the battle was over a land dispute among the villages of Kamabolo, Gabone and Bonanamo. On Nov. 8 war parties from each of the villages met at noon on a hill.

amos hurled a shower of spears and six Gabones dropped with spears sticking from their chests and thighs," he said.

"The natives fought it out for 45 minutes in bloody hand-to-hand brawling. One native hit by four spears died. Another died of a gaping spear wound in the stomach. Another 10 natives were wounded. The grass on the slope was slippery with blood.

"The war parties had brought their 'killing spears,' which have been hidden from white men's eyes for many years."

Giles, called by a runner summarily sentenced 35 combatants to two months in jail and committed four others for trial on murder charges.

Public Aroused by Writer's Exposure of Irish Horse-Trade

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The most publicized newspaper published in Britain this year was written by a man named by chance. Young Keatley of Vancouver, British Columbia, wrote the Manchester Guardian to Ireland on a "rough" note. He came back with a story that brought a fat bonus in at least a dozen copies of the Irish horse trade, documented by Keatley. He took himself to London and, after a few days after the last appeared, Prime Minister Churchill personally intervened, ordering a committee of inquiry.

The committee has been appointed and is to start work with Keatley as star witness. The Manchester Guardian received more than 3,500 letters in the first few days, ranging from a Boer War pensioner's story to an anonymous letter from a woman in Los Angeles, Capetown and a Saskatchewan farmer.

Keatley's story was a six-stanza poem. A meat dealer suggested that Keatley should look into the horse trade in Canada.

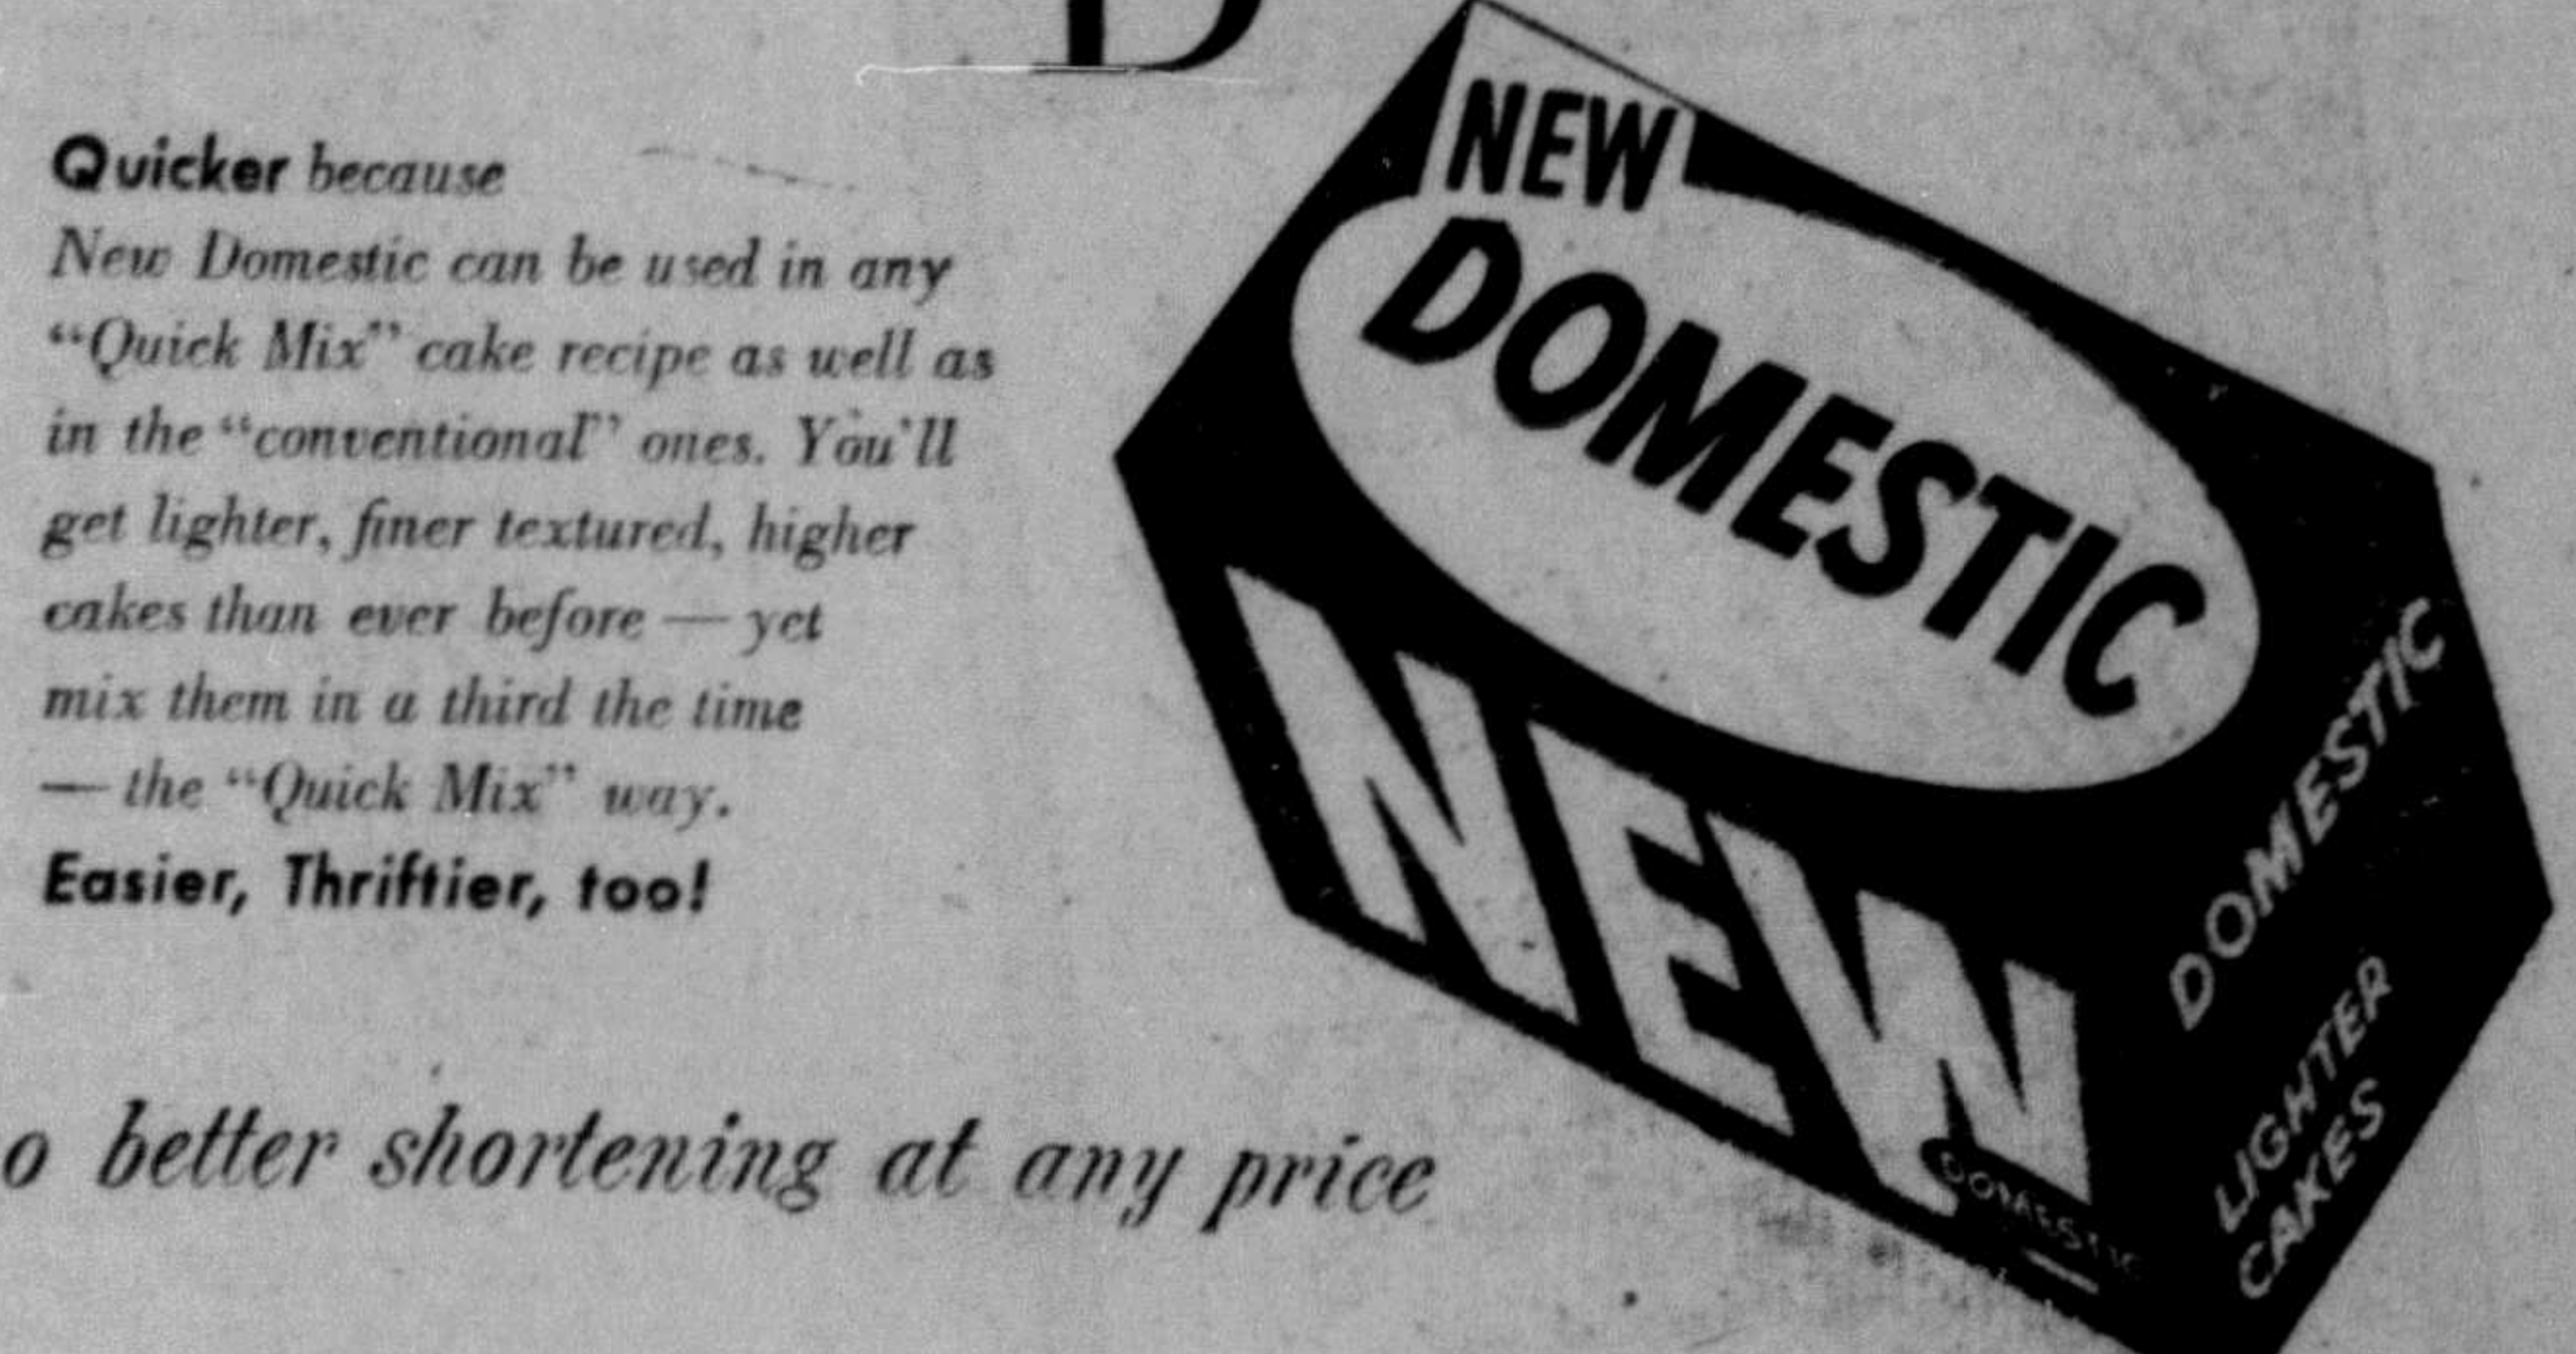

At 32 a boyish-looking, decorated veteran of 12 years in Canadian newspapers, Keatley came to Britain from the Vancouver area to look for a Commonwealth exchange plan. The editor, uncertain of Keatley's story, sent him to a newspaper in London.

Keatley got a bonus and a raise. He'll probably return to Canada next summer, though he admits he hasn't a "whiff of homesickness" as yet. A native of Vancouver, where his widowed mother still lives, he was educated at Upper Canada College in Toronto and at the University of British Columbia, where he started his journalistic career by working the night shift on the Vancouver Province. He now is on leave from the Vancouver Sun, where he was marine editor.

Three years ago he took a holiday from the newspaper game and worked first as a "whistle punk," then as rigging slinger in the logging country of northwest British Columbia. He also worked as a herring fisherman and got a newspaper beat when one of the ships in his fleet made one of the largest catches in history, 1,163 tons in one net.

MONTREAL, November 20th—“Just a minute, kids!... breakfast will be ready in a jiffy! That's because it's fast, Quick “CREAM OF WHEAT”. And no wonder your youngsters are so eager to settle down and begin eating it. M-mmm!—wonderful, topped with brown sugar and cream. It has such a delightfully different flavour. Fairly melts in your mouth. Yes, the kids will agree, Quick “Cream of Wheat” is good. And, mother, it's good for them, too. For, in addition to other benefits, Quick “Cream of Wheat” provides Iron, Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements.

Your Husband will change his mind about instant coffee when he tastes INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE. It's delicious. The flavour's there—and the body and the real lift. That's because Instant Chase & Sanborn is the instant coffee made by real coffee people. Nearly a century of coffee experience makes it the best instant coffee you've ever tasted. I know your husband will like it. And he'll appreciate the money it saves you, too... up to 40¢ a pound compared with ground coffee! The regular size jar of Instant Chase & Sanborn gives you the same number of cups as a pound of ground coffee and there's a big difference in price.

There's Nothing Slow about the way babies grow. Almost every day they surprise us with some new development, like a shiny new tooth. And it's wise, mother, to keep up with your baby's rapid growth by giving him nourishing, wholesome food made specially for him. Before the tooth baby will grow healthy on Heinz Pre-Cooked Cereals. Then (post-tooth) he can graduate to HEINZ STRAINED BABY FOODS... meat food products, soups, vegetables and desserts—all expertly blended to give baby needed nourishment—and pre-cooked to suit his taste and tummy. Then, when baby's a little older he's ready for HEINZ JUNIOR FOODS. Your dealer has all of the Heinz Baby Foods. Next time you're shopping—look for them.

I Made Out My Christmas Gift List Today. A lot of question marks, of course... opposite Aunt Harriet, for instance, (she has everything)—and my young nephew who's at college (he needs everything)... and so on. I guess you run into the same kind of thing. But it's no longer a problem for me... BANK OF MONTREAL Christmas Cheques, Money Orders and Passbooks provide the perfect solution. I sent them last year and it turned out happily for everyone. For me—because sending them was such a time-saver. For the folks who received them—because it was a short-cut to the things they really wanted for Christmas. So again this year, I'm sending a Money Order to Aunt Harriet—gift-wrapped in a special Christmas envelope—one of the B of M's newer services. And a Christmas Cheque (all bedecked with lolly) to my college-age nephew. And for my little nephews and nieces—Christmas Passbooks showing inside the balance of the Savings Accounts I'll open for them at the B of M. (Youngsters love having B of M Savings Accounts of their very own!) Yes, I'm looking forward to my Christmas “shopping” at the BANK OF MONTREAL again this year!

His father, Alarcie, heard the shots and come along to investigate. He saw another bear and dropped it.

Queen's Yacht to Include Latest Scientific Safety Devices, Also Luxurious Provisions

LONDON (CP)—One of the most scientifically-perfect vessels ever constructed will soon slide down the slipways in John Brown's famous shipbuilding yards on the Scottish Clyde-side. It is the luxury yacht, valued at some £1,000,000, being built for the Queen and her sailor-husband the Duke of Edinburgh. Work on the “dream ship” is already well advanced and if the present construction pace is maintained, officials believe she will be ready for launching next April. A firm decision has not yet been reached on the question of a name but the most popular proposal favors “King George VI,” to honor the memory of the young Queen's father.

Designed by Admiralty experts, the yacht will be 380-foot long, 55-foot wide and driven by twin screws capable of a cruising speed of more than 20 knots. The vessel will be equipped with a variety of safety devices, including some still on the Admiralty's secret list. Among these safeguards is reported to be an instrument on the bridge that flashes a warning if anything goes wrong with the steering gear and automatically brings the ship back on true course.

Special precautions are being taken to minimize pitch and roll in stormy weather, while the reinforced hull and watertight bulkheads will make the vessel as near unsinkable as science can devise. To save weight, aluminum is being used extensively, while every conceivable labor-saving device, including electric deck-scrubbers, will be provided for the hand-picked crew. But the chief feature of the yacht's novel design is the speed with which she can be converted into a hospital ship. Staterooms, drawing rooms, reception halls, cinema and even

Court Hands Out Stiff Fine For 'Assault'

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (Reuters)—Airliner operator Robert G. McCoy was convicted of assault because he punished a hostess with six strokes of a cane, even though she agreed to it.

He was fined £50 or 50 days in prison.

Hostess Silvia Banfield testified that McCoy caned her because she remained on her feet during a landing instead of fastening her safety belt.

Despite her consent, police went ahead with the prosecution when they heard what happened.

Testimony showed Miss Banfield took off her girdle and received the caning on panties and slip, her dress tucked up to her waist out of the way.

Afterwards McCoy gave her a cigarette and took her home. McCoy said the incident was “only a silly piece of fooling with no harm meant to anyone. I used no force at all.”

Canadians May Have Peak at Royal Robes

LONDON (CP)—Canada is likely to get a close look at the robes the two royal princesses wore at the 1937 coronation of King George VI. It was learned today. Mrs. Doris Langley Moore, who runs a one-woman “museum of costume,” said she is taking the robes on tour in the United States starting Jan. 3, and the chances are she'll visit Montreal and Toronto. The collection includes coronets, royal dresses and robes which will be worn at next summer's coronation by a peer and a peeress. The Queen recently gave permission to exhibit the robes which she wore at Westminster Abbey in 1937 as an 11-year-old princess. The robes worn by Princess Margaret will also be shown. The “museum of costume” is an old London mansion near Hyde Park. Mrs. Langley Moore, a South African by birth, has been collecting royal and ceremonial clothing for 20 years, but it took a Vancouver man named Shallter to provide one of her prize exhibits. “He came in one day, breezy figure with a wrapped newspaper in his arm,” recalls Mrs. Langley Moore. “He hadn't even up for an appointment. I ed out he wanted to give woman's riding habit back to about 1820, in condition—an extremely item.” The Vancouver man said he tried to persuade his daughter to wear it, but she wouldn't riding habit came into the city from an English grandmother.

Dutch Carving to Show Nazi Defeat Nears Completion

EDMONTON (CP)—A carving masterpiece—a Dutch carpenter's impressions of Nazi Germany's defeat in the Second World War—is nearing completion here after two year's work in Holland and Canada.

John Wieling started the carving in 1950 in his native Holland and now is near completion. The work has been done on Indian teakwood. Various pieces were bound, glued and screwed together to make a slab about four feet high, 30 inches across and three inches thick.

The finished carving will weigh about 120 pounds. The carving represents Holland's resistance in the Second World War and pays tribute to the Allied nations in freeing the Netherlands.

Cereals Form Most Important Part of Breakfast For Children

To many, the words "breakfast" and "cereal" are synonymous, for cereal is usually the main dish around which breakfast is built.

By setting the example, parents should see that children form the cereal habit early. It is not necessary to have the same cereal day after day—you can avoid monotony by varying the cereal served and the ways of serving it.

For example, the home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture suggest that honey and molasses may be added to cereals while they are cooking, and fresh fruit, maple syrup, honey, fruit juices, preserves, or jelly are flavorful alternates for sugar.

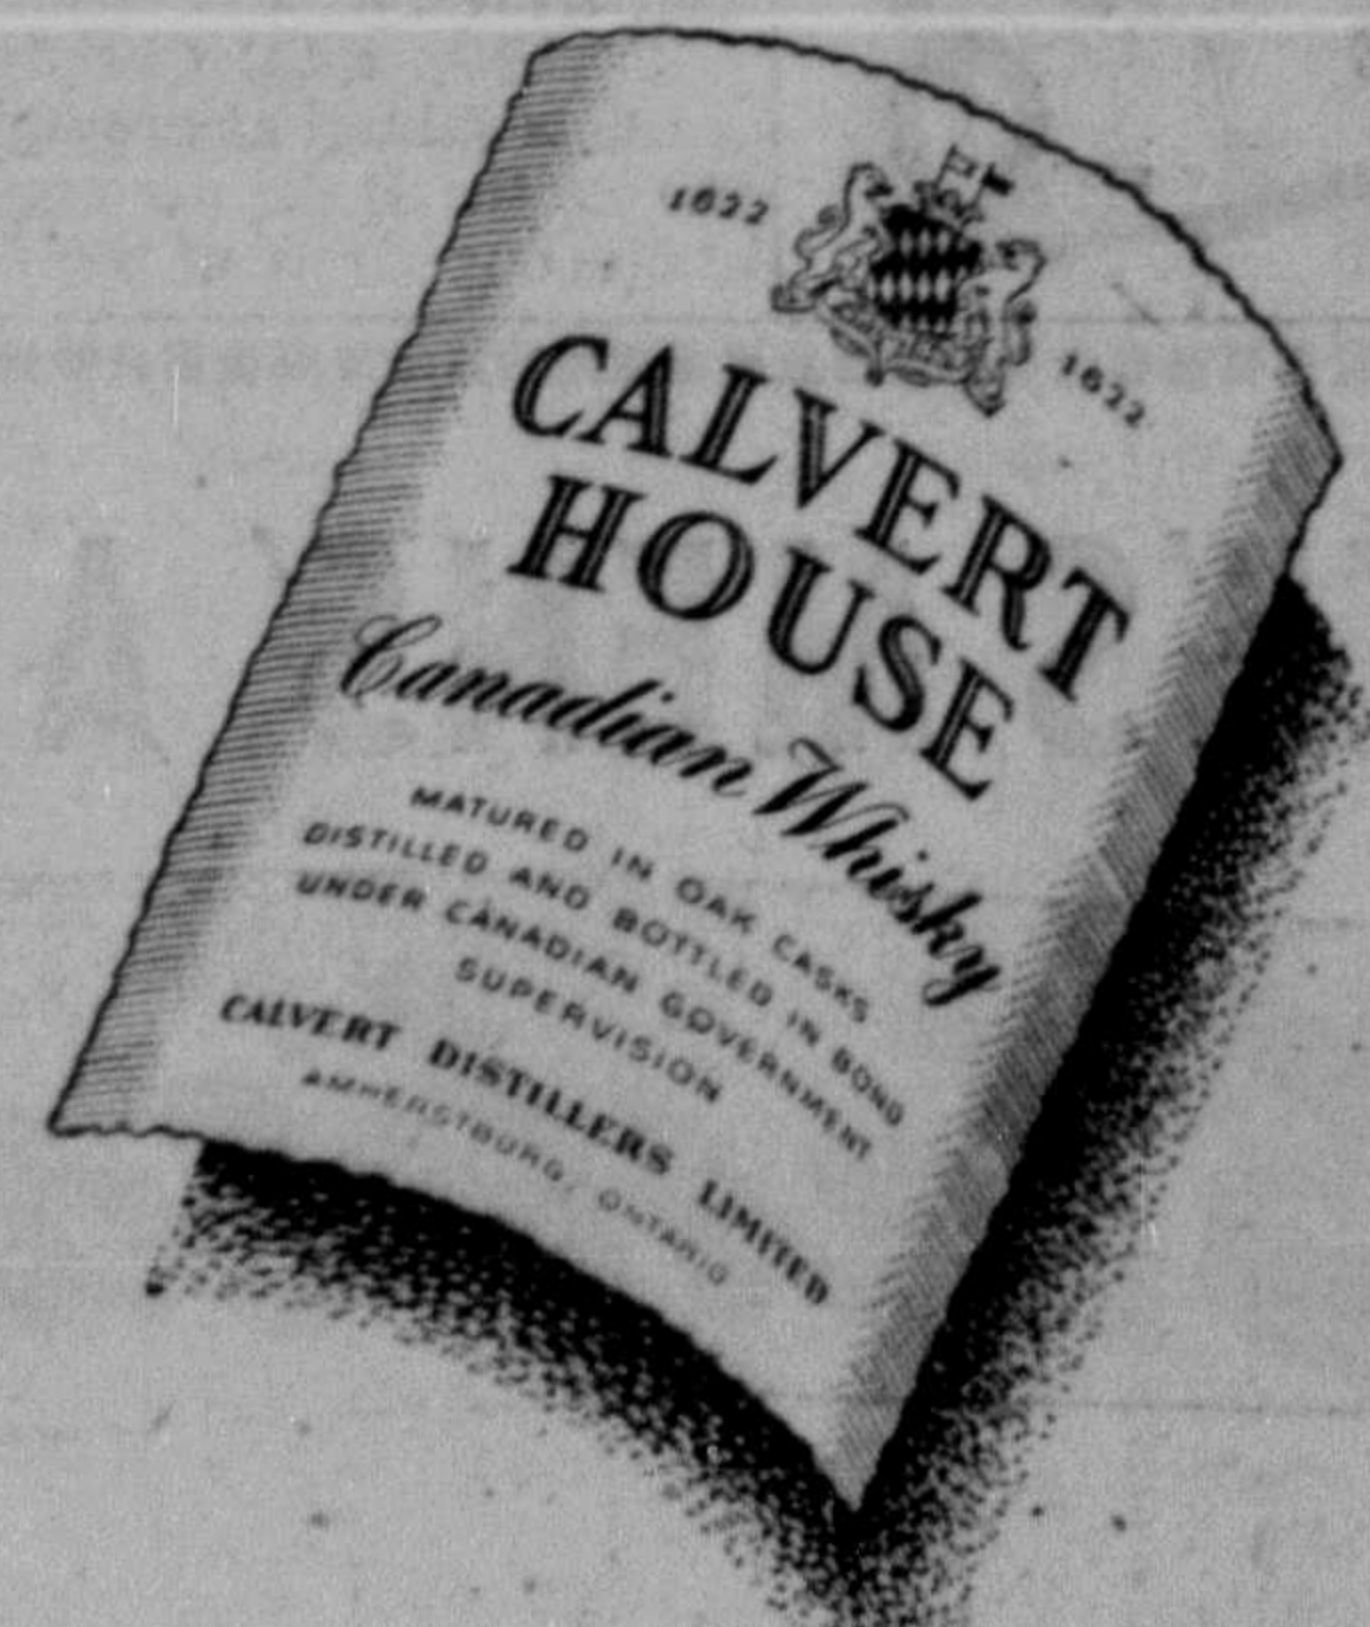

The term "cereal" comes from "Ceres," the name of the mythological goddess of all plant foods. Cereal grains are among man's oldest foods, and the story of grain is a fascinating one which parallels man's development through many civilizations up to his present form. It was grain that first made the cave man stay-at-home, for when he discovered that the wild plant with the nourishing seeds could be cultivated, he settled down to farming instead of roving and hunting.

Eventually, communities formed and they learned to share or trade the food instead of fighting for that which grew wild. In later years, the abundance or lack of cereals often meant the difference between starvation and plenty in a country, and they were frequently factors in the rise and fall of nations.

For centuries, cereals were chiefly used as gruel, porridge, and mush. Then, housewives of the Gay Nineties were amazed and delighted with a great and dramatic change for around the turn of the century, the first quick-cooking and ready-to-eat cereals made their debut. In many homes, the new simple products which required only a few minutes to prepare soon replaced the slow-cooking, long-bubbling porridge of grandmother's day.

The types of cereals available today are many and varied. Wheat and oats are the most common breakfast cereals, al-

OUTSTOPS ALL OTHER TIRES

The charts of actual comparison tests above show that B.F.G. Mud-Snow tires stop quicker on ice and snow than other leading tires. B.F.G. Mud-Snow tires give a safety margin that can mean the difference between a safe stop and an accident.

OUTPULLS ALL OTHER TIRES

Independent laboratory tests proved that the B.F.G. Mud-Snow tire is the best and safest tire for all winter driving. In mud and snow they outpulled all other tires with up to 25% better traction.

SCIENTIFICALLY DESIGNED TREAD

The B.F.G. Mud-Snow tire has an exclusive traction tread, with flex-lug cleats that bite into mud and loose snow. These flex-lug cleats have a windshield wiper action on ice, packed snow, and wet pavements to provide tremendous traction with long wear.

POPULAR CHOICE FOR QUIET RUNNING AND LONG WEAR

The B.F.G. Mud-Snow tire is actually quieter and smoother riding on clear pavements.

Christmas Tree Harvest Begins in B.C.

VANCOUVER — The annual harvest of B.C. Christmas trees for the prairie and United States market is well under way.

The Canadian National Railways says that the first shipment of trees have already left the Kamloops area and that many more will follow during the next two weeks.

Most of the trees shipped from B.C. come from the Kamloops and Okanagan areas. They go to the Canadian prairies and the U.S. prairie, mid-western and southern states.

Trees vary in size from two feet high, used for table decorations, up to 30 feet high, used for parks and special installations. In between these two sizes are those used for churches, homes and stores.

Canada's total Christmas tree trade is valued at around $2,300,000 with B.C. accounting for about one-sixth of the total.

HAPPY LISTENER—Cows are happy watchers of television, claims farmer Russell Fleming of Whitby, Ont. He installed a television set in his barn for his own pleasure but soon found his cows enjoyed the set too. Milk production has increased 15 gallons a day since he installed the set, he said. Comedians Arthur Godfrey and Eddie Cantor, he added, "seem to do the cows for most good." (CP PHOTO)

SO FOGGY, SHIP'S LAUNCHING TAKES PLACE BY RADAR AID

CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—It was so foggy on the Delaware River Monday a ship had to be launched by radar.

Fog threatened to postpone christening of the Delaware Sun, a tanker.

Another vessel's radar was used. The river in the vicinity was scanned and five ships—hidden in the fog—were spotted on the radar screen. All were ordered to stand by until the launching was accomplished.

North Koreans Might Welcome U.N. Victory

By GEORGE McARTHUR

TOKYO (CP)—An Allied intelligence survey says civilian morale in North Korea has dropped to "catastrophic depths" and "the majority of the population would welcome a U.N. offensive to terminate the war."

The survey, compiled by Gen. Mark Clark's Far East Command says an all-out Red offensive is extremely remote, and nearly impossible from a supply standpoint.

The report makes these main points:

North Korea probably would collapse immediately without Russian and Chinese Communist backing.

Troop morale at the Red front is good. But the soldiers are being fed at the cost of near-starvation among civilians.

Near-famine conditions exist in many areas. Much of the civilian population is migratory, looking for food.

About 75 per cent of North Korea's food production is confiscated for the Red armies. Communist leaders maintain control only through iron-fisted police state methods.

Civilians have all but abandoned the cities. The Red capital, Pyongyang, has only 1-10th of its pre-war population of 500,000.

North Korean workers receive the equivalent of 50 cents a day. An ordinary aspirin tablet costs a day's wages.

Farmers and other civilians are forcibly conscripted to repair roads, rails and fortifications. The North Korea economy is virtually non-existent. Rear area industry is on a shoe-string basis.

North Korea can produce only small arms and light equipment, and that in limited amounts. Heavy equipment such as tanks, aircraft, artillery pieces and big shells must come from Russia or Red China.

The report was compiled to determine some of "the broad effects of air power as employed in Korea." It was distributed by the Far East Air Forces.

Royal Gown Reproduced By Londoners

LONDON — A surprise for October shoppers was the speed with which reproductions of the dress worn by the Queen at the Royal film performance reached London's West End.

First copies of the Stain gown, with its slim lines, halter neckline and tailored revers, were sold next day before buyers could place them in the windows.

With its black back and white front, the Queen's gown was a striking picture of elegant simplicity among the jeweled crinolines worn by many film and stage stars.

And like most simple styles it has caught the public imagination. "Within 5½ hours of ordering the dress," said assistant buyer Mrs. Eleanor Sharp, "we had one in the shop, and it was sold before we got it into the window."

Norman Hartnell, who designed the Queen's gown, commented: "Imitation is the sincerest form of flattery."
