SCHOOL BOARD INJUNCTION IS REFUSED TODAY WITHOUT HEARING DEFENCE

Company Moves to Send Magistrate to Jail and Sheriff McDonald

...October 8.—The Canadian Pacific Wine Co. moved through its solicitor to have Deputy Magistrate and Sheriff McDonald of the county of Vancouver committed to jail. Premises of the company were raided recently and liquor worth $250,000 was seized, together with books and papers, confiscated by the city's dry squad. Company started suit in the Supreme Court to recover the amount they now claim there was contempt of court in that regard, representing the city, was allowed to examine the magistrate and the action had commenced and that subsequently the magistrate had issued a search warrant allowing officers to search the books in the magistrate's office and Sheriff McDonald to take the books to be taken away.

and that was the last he actually saw of Brunich. Patrick J. O'Conner told of how he had struggled with the accused and finally recovered the loaded weapon, the trigger of which, however, had snapped on his thumb during the tussle. Even with the assistance of Taku Jack it had taken some time to wrest the gun away from the man and the struggle had been long and over a good deal of ground. When finally the gun had been taken away, the accused said, "It's all over now, throw it in the lake."

Other witnesses were Taku Jack, a picturesque appearing native of the North who came into the courtroom wearing mocassins and highly colored socks. Jack Taylor, a youth who had been an eye witness, also testified as did Peter Gabrio who gave some light on the brooding character of the accused. He had stated that all ministers and especially Father Allard should be shot.

With the testimony of Constable Webster who said he had had no difficulty in effecting the arrest of the accused the evidence for the crown was concluded. Brunich was then called to the box to give evidence on his own behalf. The accused is a man of 60 years of age, grizzled of hair and moustache and of an emotional appearance. His story bore the earmarks of truth and no attempt was made to deny the occurrence in main testified to by the crown witnesses. The defence rested on the point that there had been no intent to inflict injury to anyone, but that the actions were merely an attempt to scare Father Allard.

When I was a little bit of a thing in Austria," said the accused in broken English, "about eight or nine years old the priests put a damnation on me and since that time things have seemed to go against me. When I came to Atlin I was a good member of the church, attended services and tried to do right. My wish was to marry one of the girls there but I was condemned by the church people, both Catholic and Presbyterian, although many a girl liked me and would have married me. It was my intention to settle down in my cottage and live with a wife like a gentleman. Although at first we seemed to be good friends, Father Allard crossed my path when I attempted to make love to the Indian girls.

"When I heard that he had returned to Atlin I made up my mind hastily that something must be done to stop Father Allard who had cut me out of my love, my Jesus, my Christ and my redemption and had damned my soul with preaching. Then and there I do-

WAR WAS WORTH WHILE IN SPITE OF THE LOSSES SAYS W. H. TAFT

Clever Address given by Ex-President of the United States at Canadian Club Luncheon here yesterday afternoon

"The war proved that the men of the British Empire and those who had come from their loins, were the strongest race the world had developed."
"In the outset the effect of prohibition has been good in getting rid of the saloons and destroying the necessity of workhouses and institutions for inebriates who did not keep within the ordinances."
"It is easy to be a democrat when with the majority, but the real test is when in the minority, to bow to the will of the majority."
Progress is a matter of action and reaction. Let us pray that in the reaction we may not go so far as in the action."

Answering the question "Was the war worth while?" Hon. William H. Taft yesterday afternoon addressed the Prince Rupert Canadian Club at the Prince Rupert Hotel in one of the most meaty speeches that has been made in the city. He dealt with a few of the outstanding features of the war's aftermath such as the changed position of women, prohibition in the United States, the revelation by the nations of themselves, the strengthening of democracy with its "dreadful trace of Bolshevism."

Judge Young presided and with him were a number of prominent visitors including Sir Thomas White, Hon. F. B. Carvell and Hon. N. B. Nantell. Sir Walter Cassels was unable to be present. Mr. Taft spoke of the object of his visit and of the pleasant conditions under which he was carrying on his present duties. He opined that the people here were not as much interested in the outcome as were those whose livelihood depended on the decision. He spoke of the similarity of his position with that of Sir Thomas White who was with them today. They had both held the highest positions in their respective countries. Sir Thomas had refused to continue to hold it when it had been offered to him, but he (the speaker) had not received such a flattering offer in his country. He found that they agreed in regard to the deficiencies and defects in politics in their respective countries. These defects were the price paid for self-government, the only kind of gov-of the people to themselves. It was a test of courage, of patriotism and of sublime ideals. It had revealed traits of which they had not been fully advised, but of which they now knew. Most of the men had never faced death until then. The people of Canada found themselves and now knew what they could do in case it was required of them. They had been used to luxury and some doubted if the patriotism of the young men brought up in comfort and ease had not been sapped. It was of the highest benefit to know that they had this fundamental virtue. It had proved that the men of the British Empire and those who had come from their loins were the strongest race that the world had developed.

Sex Vindicated
The speaker went on to say that the war had abolished many conventions. By way of illustration he referred to the case of women. In the past they had been excluded from many avenues of labor, but if ever a sex was vindicated by war it was the female sex at that time. Woman had been called on to do many things which she would not have done, especially in the way of government. She had been called upon to take a half interest in the framing of government policy.

Mr. Taft said he thought at first (Continued on Page Two).

Judge Murphy says that Newton Case Waste Time

Dismisses Action and finds no evidence of School Board expending unauthorized money in school construction.

The application of S. M. Newton et al against the School Board to restrain the latter from expending more than $150,000 in the erection of the new Hays Cove School was dismissed with costs this morning by Mr. Justice Murphy after L. W. Patmore, the witness for the School Board, had been heard. G. E. Oughton, of the firm of Fisher & Oughton, conducted the case for the applicants and Alex. Manson, of Williams & Manson, appeared for the defence.

"You have to get facts," said Judge Murphy replying to Mr. Oughton, "to show where Newton as a ratepayer has the right to an injunction and you have to show that the official body is going to damage him. Where is that evidence? There is not a shadow of it, while, on the other hand, you have Mr. Patmore who has sworn on oath that the School Board is not spending more than $150,000 while the government is adding $60,000 additional.

"Newton's right lies, I may tell you, only if the body is injuring him as a ratepayer in expending more money than authorized and you have no evidence of that. The sum of $150,000 is authorized by bylaw and they are not exceeding that. Why waste time with it. I will have to dismiss the action." No argument for the defence was heard.

Local Government Board Turned Down

Exemption of Church Property Refused and Superannuation Scheme Proposed by Union of B.C. Municipalities

NELSON, October 8.—With a vote of 54 to 14, the Union of Municipalities yesterday refused to endorse the proposed local Government Board and by practically the same vote refused to endorse a proposal to enlarge the powers of the inspector of municipalities. The resolutions were the climax of an all-day discussion on the question. The inspector of municipalities favored the proposal. The convention opposed the exemption of church property. The convention endorsed the superannuation scheme for firemen and policemen with the suggestion of its being broadened to include all municipal employees. The convention also asked that all liquor confiscated by the municipal police officers should become the property of the municipality interested.

Address of the Ex-President.

The address of Hon. William H. Taft before the Canadian Club yesterday was clever. It was reasoned out, and at times it was witty.

The clever politician is an adept at drawing a herring across the trail. He tries to lure off those who do not set their minds on the main object in view.

Is Prohibitionist Against His Will.

The ex-president was against prohibition before it became law, yet he admits it has been of great benefit to the country.

Age of Experiment In All Matters.

This is an age of experiment. We are always looking for new things. We want to try new methods. In municipal government we are never satisfied.

The Provincial Government is now asked to take charge of all high schools, and of course that means the financing of them. It is an attempt to get the Provincial Government to take over some of the burdens from the city.

There are doubtless good reasons why the Provincial Government should take over the high schools and there are also powerful reasons why there should be local control.

We have always believed the hospitals should be run as provincial institutions, but whether the present is the time to make the change or not, there is doubt.

TORTURED BY TERRIBLE ECZEMA

Suffered Three Years Until She Tried "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

DAME PETER LAMARRE

"I think it my duty to tell you how much your medicine has done for me. I suffered for three years with terrible Eczema. I consulted several doctors and they did not do me any good.

Then, I used one box of 'Sootha-Salva' and two boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives' and my hands are now clear. The pain is gone and there has been no return. I think it is a marvelous cure because no other medicine did me any good and I tried all the remedies I ever heard of, without benefit until I used 'Sootha-Salva' and 'Fruit-a-tives'.

'Fruit-a-tives' cooled the blood and removed the cause of the disease, and 'Sootha-Salva' completed the cure."

WAR WAS WORTH WHILE IN SPIITE OF THE LOSSES. SAYS W. H. TAFT

The enfranchising of women would reduce the average of governmental capacity, but they would be trained so that in the end there would be no reduction. He had talked to men living in the States where women were enfranchised and they said that it made no difference. Generally the wives voted the way their husbands and the daughters with their parents. It did not make a radical change in the results. The difficulty that they might encounter was in rousing women to broad views and prevent the concentration on emotional points without seeing the whole issue.

Prohibition Good

The war had been responsible in the United States for the passing of the eighteenth amendment to the constitution. While some of them did not like prohibition they were in for it and it would take the vote of 36 states to change back. In the outset the effect has been good in getting rid of the saloons and destroying the necessity of workhouses and institutions for inebriates who did not keep within the ordinances. The law, however, would have to stand the test of time.

Many were of opinion, he said, that prohibition was a mistake, but it had come and while there were those who were growling, protesting and damning it as a foolish notion, it was on the statute books. He was a democrat with a small "d" and as such he must play the game according to rule. The law was inevitable and they must accept it. It was easy to be a democrat when with the majority, but the real test was to bow to the will of the majority. We were not always in the minority, but some of us have had a large experience. (Laughter).

Mr. Taft spoke of the bright young lives that had been sacrificed, millions of them. The present generation would pass before the loss could be made up.

There was also the loss of wealth to the world which it would take fifty years to make up. "Think of the sweat and agony of labor energy and devotion gone up in smoke. It means production, saving, and struggle for half a century."

Effort to Reorganize.

Another result of the war was the effort to reorganize society and bring the bottom to the top by plundering and division. That was a bad result of the war. The war was a good thing, however, in that it had shaken up and interested people to end abuses under the social system. It strengthened democracy with the result that abuses were not the same as before. They must not, however, make war the basis for the reversal of sound principles which had brought about the present civilization. To change this would be impossible and utterly destructive of future progress. It was fortunate for people here, although unfortunate for that country, that the experiment had been tried out in Russia and they had seen its failure. The motive of gain made men work, the reward of capitalistic society made for world progress. War had held up to the world the dross of mere material gain and exalted the supremacy of self-sacrifice.

Action and Reaction.

The immediate reaction of war had been extravagance. That was human nature. There was bound to be a recurrence of weakness and vanity, but this was only temporary. The lessons would not be lost. Progress was a matter of action and reaction. "Let us pray that in the reaction we may not go so far as in the action."

Referring to the work of Canada the speaker said her loyalty to an ideal had given her a standing as an independent nation in the world. The burden of debt she had incurred would soon be paid, for the country was young and energetic. The experience of Canada would be somewhat similar to that of the United States following the civil war. The thing to do was to give nature a chance to heal the wounds and keep the government from interfering. The law of self-preservation was as strong in the nation as in the individual. With courage and energy, intelligence and high ideals the country would achieve great things.

A vote of thanks to Mr. Taft was moved by L. W. Patmore and seconded by Fred Stork and carried with enthusiasm.

WHEN IS A TOWER CALLED A HOIST?

School Board is Doubtful as to Whether Cost of Structure at Hays Cove Should be Paid.

The definition of a hoist and whether that big structure at the Hays Cove School would properly be called a hoist in the usage of the trade, was a point that caused considerable discussion at the meeting of the School Board last evening. This arose over the application of S. P. McMordie, contractor, for a payment of $431.90 for the erection of the structure. At the last meeting of the board it was decided to withhold payment of this and last night Col. McMordie again made application for the payment.

J. C. McLennan moved in favor of paying it but Mrs. Kirkpatrick and Fred Shaw wanted further time to consider the point so the matter was laid over.

Under the terms of Col. McMordie's contract he is required to supply the hoist in the erection of the new school.

What Would You Do?

Ten-to-one, you too, would use Zam-Buk! Everyday mishaps by the score, and most forms of skin and scalp disease are "doctored" quickly and efficiently at home by this highly concentrated herbal balm. Zam-Buk's rapid antiseptic healing and wonderful soothing and pain-killing power has been a world revelation.

Here's evidence from Canadian homes.

SCALPED FOOT. Mrs. Smart, 270, Harbison Avenue, Elmwood, Winnipeg, writes:— "A patch of boiling water upset over my foot. The flesh was scalded red raw and badly blistered. When my husband applied Zam-Buk it soothed the inflamed surfaces splendidly and more Zam-Buk brought perfect healing."

GASSED HAND. Mr. Austin Finlayson of Esk, Sask. writes:— "I gashed my hand severely on the saw. The wound was painfully sore and festering until I treated it with Zam-Buk. This grand herbal healer worked a complete cure. I know nothing to compare with Zam-Buk."

CHILDREN'S ECZEMA. Mr. W. D. Love, 38, Rand Street, Central Falls, U.S.A., writes: "My children had dreadful eczema on the face and scalp. We paid out dollars to the doctors before we used Zam-Buk. The first application soothed away the itching irritation. Continued treatment banished every trace of disease."

TORN FINGER. Mrs. J. Randall, of Silver Stream, Sask. writes:— "My daughter tore the top of her finger in the washing machine. As we are eighteen miles from the doctor, I applied a dressing of Zam-Buk. The wound never caused the least trouble afterwards, and healed perfectly."

FEISTED FOOT. Mr. D. J. Shaw, Belfast, P.O., P.E.I., writes:— "I had a nasty festering sore through a boot-heel piercing my foot. I tried different treatments, but the foot remained badly swollen and inflamed until I used Zam-Buk. This wonderful balm effected a speedy and complete cure."

An Open Letter to the Electorate

Ladies and gentlemen,—There are a number of men who voted for prohibition previously and who at the forthcoming plebiscite intend voting for government sale and control. Frankly, I am a prohibitionist, but if there is a better way, and it would seem that these gentlemen have found a better way, else they would not seek to change their vote, I also will vote that way if, like them, I can find it.

Gentlemen, you voted prohibition last time, why have you changed your minds? Is it that prohibition has hindered development? The statistics, not only of this province but elsewhere, do not seem to support that view. Is that crime has increased? Our closed jails and our criminal records are not on your side.

And this also should be borne in mind that any legislation aimed to restrict evil and promote better conditions, i.e. factory acts, child labor, etc., has always been heavily discontenanced by those who previously had profited by rotten conditions.

Who has tried to increase crime? Not those who hitherto had walked decently in the eyes of the world. Not many who have been convicted under this law were noted previously for their white wings.

Is it the mal-administration of justice where technicalities have defeated the spirit of the law? That has always been with us and always will be until our administrators prove worthy of the prominent position they hold.

Is it that the Prohibition law has not been enforced as you wanted it enforced? Surely you are more logical to blame the law when it has suffered from its non-enforcement. The blame rests upon weak mayors and police commissioners who are not concerned to enforce the law and policemen who are friendly to law breakers.

Is it that bootlegging has become prominent? There was no transgression until there was the law; but in voting for the alternative you fling open the door to bootlegging with a vengeance.

Is it that the Government Sale attracts you? Hardly that, for the governments which have tried it have given it up. You are being asked to take up a discredited and rejected thing which has been tried and proven a failure.

Is it that the alternative has the happy phrase, "Government Control"? Ah! that looks like a real prohibitory act after all—but what is this control? Do you know what it means? Has the Government told you? The Moderation League tried to tell the Government how they would interpret it and the consequence was they had to withdraw their little outline—but it is not dead, merely waiting a more auspicious moment. What control can the Government have to once more fill its present empty jails?

The Prohibition Party has all its cards on the table, gentlemen!

Coqualeetza Institute Filling Valuable Place

Principal George H. Raley and his Assistants train Native Boys and Girls in the secret of true citizenship and useful lives

The Coqualeetza Institute, a residential school or college for the academic, technical and vocational training of the Indian boys and girls of British Columbia, is the centre of a good deal of interest to the north for from this portion is drawn a large proportion of the students who are completing their education there in preparation for trained and useful careers. Annually a reunion of the alumnae or graduate body of the institute is held in Prince Rupert where Rev. George Raley, the principal, is in domestic economics; Miss E. Bailey, matron; Miss E. Bell, assistant matron; Miss E. Hudson, teacher of cooking and domestic economics; Miss E. Morrish, teacher of laundry and domestic economics; Miss C. Balderston, senior classroom teacher; Miss B. Archibald, junior classroom teacher; E. Wilbourne, instructor of vocational agriculture; A. G. Jamieson, manual training instructor; D. Caudle, instructor in vocational horticulture, and J. G. Gibson, instructor in boat building.

attendance. To this annual affair gather graduates from all parts of Northern British Columbia and it has now become a yearly fixture.

Thirty-five Years Old.

Coqualeetza Institute which has been in existence since 1886 is located about 70 miles east of Vancouver at Sardis in the fertile Chilliwack valley. Here boys and girls, indeed men and women, are trained under ideal and most comfortable conditions in useful trades and professions, the necessary requisites to true citizenship. Manual training in all its branches are taught the boys and the girls are instructed in the arts of good housekeeping and home nursing. Regular school subjects, as well, form a part of the pedagogic work.

Boat building is a training that has just recently been added to the curricula and there is at present under construction in the workshop of the Institute a mission boat for northern waters to replace the Thomas Crosby which was recently commissioned for the government service. The new boat which is being built by the boys of the school is 36 feet in length and ten feet beam. The instructor is Rev. J. G. Gibson, an expert boat builder and a missionary. Exhibits of the manual work were shown at the recent Prince Rupert Exhibition and were the source of much favorable comment and interesting examination. Besides this horticulture and agriculture are taught.

The Staff.

The staff of the Coqualeetza Institute consists of twelve members under the principalship of Rev. George H. Raley, formerly of Port Simpson. Many of this staff have had experience in the schools of the North and it is with understanding of conditions and character that the students of the north receive their training at the Institute. On the staff are Miss B. Johns, teacher of sewing and

Hundreds of Thousands of Pounds in Britain Await Investment

OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—There are hundreds of thousands of pounds of British capital being held awaiting favorable opportunities for investment in Canada and these funds will be sent across the Atlantic as soon as the exchange problem has righted itself sufficiently to appeal to British investors, according to J.
